THREE ARAB ARMIES INVADE PALESTINE

West Floods Claim 16th Victim

Using Sandbags As Barricades To Stem Waters

WINNIPEG, May 1.—(CP).—Spring floods continued to cause concern today through parts of Western Canada despite strenuous efforts by workers to erect barricades that would stem the encroaching waters.

The swollen waters claimed their 16th victim last night when Lloyd Kraft, 23, was drowned when he sought to cross the Horseguard River at Eckville, Alta. His was Alberta's 10th death of the flood period against three in each of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Kraft was returning home to Eckville, 90 miles southwest of Edmonton, with a companion, Gordon Cohn, who saved himself by grasping bushes along the river bank. The Horseguard and Medicine Rivers, which both run near Eckville, have risen eight feet in 24 hours.

At Westaskwin, 40 miles south of Edmonton, everything depends on a dam six feet wide and six feet deep which is holding back water from the main sections of the town. Close to 900 volunteers have struggled to keep the dam sound.

In Saskatchewan, the main danger point appears to be the town of Lumsden on the Qu'Appelle River.

Greek Laborer Attacks Minister

ATHENS, May 1.—(AP).—A May Day assassination attempt was made on Justice Minister Christos Ladas today by a man who police said confessed he was under orders from a Communist execution squad. A policeman was killed and the assailant wounded seriously.

Ladas, hit in the head by three hand grenade fragments, was reported in serious condition. He underwent an emergency operation.

Police identified the attacker as Efstratos Moutsoyanis, a factory worker about 22.

Dr. Apostolis Orphanides, Minister of Hygiene, saw the 55-year-old Minister of Justice in a hospital operating room and said his condition was "tragic but not desperate."

Police said Moutsoyanis told them he is a member of Opla, a Communist execution squad which gave him orders to assassinate the minister.

They said Moutsoyanis threw a grenade through the back window of Ladas' car and it exploded, wounding the official. He threw another grenade which was a dud, they added, and then killed a policeman with a third as he fled. He was wounded by police fire and captured. Police threw a cordon around the small square where the attack occurred.

A Liberal party leader, since taking office last October he had followed a vigorous program of the death penalty for persons convicted of murder. More than 125 had been in jail under death sentence in the previous two or three years were executed after he took over. Virtually all were convicted during the 1944 revolution.

It added: "Premier MacDonald and Senator Robertson, government leader in the Senate, are being spoken of in Liberal party circles in Halifax as likely dark horses."

"Both Premier MacDonald and Senator Robertson, it was said, had backing with the Federal cabinet and in influential party circles outside."

"Among those reported as pulling for Premier MacDonald were Trade Minister Howe and a group of prominent Liberals outside the government who vacationed with the Nova Scotia Premier in the south several months ago."

Liberal Chief Would Lift 3-Cent Gas Tax

NEWMARKET, May 1.—(CP).—Lifting of the three-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax, housing assistance through tax relief and increased old age pensions were pledged today by Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, in a statement of party policy.

In what was regarded as his keynote Ontario election speech, prepared for delivery at the North York Liberal convention, he also said that if a Liberal government is elected June 7, it will increase workmen's compensation and hospital grants, assist mines, extend rural hydro, establish a university in northern Ontario and give the north cabinet representation.

He said the Progressive Conservative government, besides reporting a 25,000,000 surplus for last year, exceeded estimated expenditures by approximately $7,500,000.

"If you add the surplus of $25,000,000 to the $7,500,000 difference between income and outgo, you will see that the Conservatives actually took from your pocket-book the handsome total of $32,500,000 more than they should have collected to administer our public affairs."

A "tremendous amount" of provincial revenue came from the provincial tax on gasoline and the Liberal party held the view the gasoline tax was excessive for a vital commodity.

"When the Liberals are elected to be the government of this province, we will immediately eliminate the three-cent-a-gallon tax which the Conservatives levied on gasoline."

The Liberal Party would do three things for labor:

"We will co-operate with the Dominion Government for the establishment of a national labor code in which the rights of both labor and management will be preserved."

"We will increase the benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Act from 66 2-3 per cent to 75 per cent and we will shorten the waiting period before payment of benefits begins from seven days to three days."

"For all employees in industrial undertakings, we will provide LIBERAL CHIEF

UN Morale At Lowest Ebb In Its 28-Month History

LAKE SUCCESS, May 1.—(AP).—The Palestine situation has reduced morale among United Nations delegates to its lowest ebb in the 28-month history of the peace agency.

Developments in the Holy Land have produced an atmosphere of frustration and bewilderment. Everyone is conscious that fighting in Palestine is increasing even as so far fruitless debate drones on here in the special assembly, trusteeship council and security council.

Palestine was made a UN problem last spring when Britain asked the Assembly to find a solution. Endless discussion has gone on since then, including another special Assembly session now under way. But the UN still hasn't been able to come up with a solution acceptable to the Jews and Arabs.

Neither has the UN been able to stop the fighting. Three Security Council cease-fire directives have been ignored.

After two weeks of special session, the Assembly has approached only one result. The 38 delegations instructed the trusteeship council to devise ways to safeguard Jerusalem. That council got the Jews and Arabs to agree in principle to a cease-fire order covering only the old walled city section of Jerusalem. Now it is not certain that this agreement will be formalized and carried out.

Detracting from even this meagre action were remarks of representatives of the Jews and Arabs. They said there was no fighting in the old city anyway.

Persons who have watched the UN move through its turbulent days here sense a more serious atmosphere than during days of the sharpest United States-Russian clashes. On those occasions there was at least a feeling that delegates were coming to grips with the issues.

No one is ready to claim that the UN now is meeting the challenge offered by the crisis in the Holy Land.

The core of the difficulty centres around two factors: partition and the absence of UN enforcement machinery.

Last fall the assembly voted 33 to 13 to split the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab states. The Jews stick by partition; the Arabs bitterly oppose it.

Several weeks ago the United States reversed its position and called for an interim UN trusteeship in Palestine. However, no formal trusteeship proposal has been made to the assembly so far by the United States or any other nation. Through this manoeuvre no test vote has been possible on the retention or scrapping of partition. Instead the assembly is debating a so-called American working paper on trusteeship.

Britain insists she is giving up the league of nations mandate over Palestine May 15. Invariably delegates refer to the chaos that will come then in an unruly country.

Car Hits Train Girl 10 Killed

BROCKVILLE, May 1.—(CP).—A 10-year-old school girl was killed and eight others escaped death when their car crashed into the side of a north-bound Brockville-Ottawa train seven miles from Brockville yesterday.

Killed was Marjory Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dixon, of Fairfield East, Ont. The eight other children in the car, driven by John Williams, of Fairfield East, received minor cuts and a severe shaking up. The car, used as a school bus, was demolished.

The crash occurred at a level crossing, near Clark, bordered by a woodlot which is reported as an obstruction to motorists watching for rail traffic.

First indication by the C.P.R. locomotive crew of the crash was the sight of the wrecked automobile in a ditch alongside. The car had struck the locomotive on the cylinder, was thrown 25 feet into the ditch.

The young Dixon girl had been sitting in the front seat of the car. On impact the car door flew open and she fell against the side of the train. Her father, a district farmer, was brought to the scene, but the girl died before he arrived.

Polish Chief Says U.S. 'Most Hated'

Expect No Disorders On May Day Except In Trieste

By The Associated Press

Labor throughout the world celebrates its 59th May Day today in an atmosphere marked by rival observances, strike threats and fresh Communist blasts.

Police generally expected no disorders. One exception was Trieste free territory where the Communists have threatened trouble.

Moscow's artillery was primed for a 20-salute salute to the workers' holiday. A million or more Soviet citizens lined up to tramp through Red Square.

In a broadcast order of the day, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, minister of armed forces, urged preparedness against "the intrigues of international reaction."

Communist vice-premier Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland, opening Poland's May Day celebration in Warsaw last night, said the United States is well along in becoming the "most hated" country. He got a big hand from party members and left-wing socialists when he declared the United States would not succeed in stringing "strands of economic barbed wire" around Europe.

In the majority of western Europe's democratic capitals separate observances were planned. Socialist and moderate labor groups turned a chilly shoulder on the Communists.

In New York, parade routes of left wingers and anti-Communists were separated by three long downtown blocks. The veterans of foreign wars sponsored the anti-Communist "loyalty day" parade up Fifth Avenue. A Roman Catholic mass to pray for Russia was to be said before the start.

Paris members of the autonomous (anti-Communist) union of motormen picked May Day for a subway strike. They want more pay and better working conditions. The Communist-led Confederation General du Travail which controls most other French subway employees, went along and invited its members employed by the subway system to leave work and join May Day parades.

Premier de Gasperi of Italy, whose Christian Democrats gave a trouncing to the Communist front in the recent election, called for national solidarity.

London joined the "dual observance" ranks as the Labor party snubbed the rival parade.

The Hard Way

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 1.—(AP).—The rover boys of the roulette table learned it the hard way. Albert Hibbs, 23, Chillicothe, O., and Dr. Roy Walford, 23, San Diego, gave up the whirl yesterday. Pockets empty after 14 hours of lucklessly trying their "system" at a local club. They admitted they lost $610, $310 of it won last week using the system at another club.

The pair, University of Chicago graduates, appeared shaken, in contrast to their winning moments which earlier included an $8,000 take in Reno.

"We may try again," Walford ventured. Hibbs wasn't so sure.

Insurance Plan To Encourage Home Building

OTTAWA, May 1.—(CP).—In an effort to encourage the building of low-rental housing units, the government plans to launch a rental insurance program.

Under legislation now on the Commons order paper, builders will be guaranteed an annual return for periods up to 30 years on rental housing.

Full details of the legislation have not yet been disclosed, but a government source said last night that the insurance plan will be handled by the Crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

He said that to qualify for the insurance a builder will have to conform to construction standards set by the Corporation. In return for guaranteeing the rent, the Corporation will also have to seem say in rent charged by the builder.

The amount of the guarantee will vary according to the type of house built for rental. There probably would be a ceiling put on the guarantee, the source said. The Corporation, he said, likely would reserve the right to purchase, under certain conditions, the dwellings on which it is guaranteeing the rent.

The official said the move is aimed directly at getting more builders to go into the low-rental housing field. Most of them, he said, now are steering clear of the field because of the uncertainty of returns on investments.

Trade Minister Howe will sponsor the legislation in the Commons. The same measure will provide for dissolution of Wartime Housing Limited which built most of the houses erected in wartime for industrial workers.

U.N. Telegram Kept A Secret

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., May 1.—(CP).—A suppressed telegram from the United Nations trusteeship commission in Palestine held the centre of interest here today.

Dr. Alfonso Lopez, April president of the Security Council, yesterday made public one telegram from the three-member consular commission but left unheeded a plea from the Jewish agency to reveal the contents of the others.

The telegram read to the 58-member political committee which rambled on in fruitless discussion of a United States proposal for trusteeship of Jerusalem, warned that operations greater than the recent capture of Haifa, were expected soon.

The message not made public was said to report the failure of the commissioners — consuls in Jerusalem of the United States, France and Belgium — to bring about truce negotiations between Jews and Arabs.

It was reported that the Jewish Agency for Palestine had told the commission that it would negotiate on condition that unlimited Jewish immigration be authorized; that Arab fighters from outside Palestine be removed; and that Jews be allowed access to holy places.

The Arabs were said to have laid down the condition that the seven Arab League countries be made a party to the negotiations.

Dr. Lopez, said to have suppressed the message at his own discretion, will be succeeded today as president of the Security Council by Alexandre Parodi of France, president for May.

Syrian And Lebanese Forces Along With Egyptians Move Against Jewish Posts

70 Irgun Infantrymen Killed At Jaffa When British Order Ignored; Invading Forces Said Using Tanks

JERUSALEM, May 1.—(AP).—Arab states ringing the Holy Land launched their invasion of Palestine in simultaneous pincers thrusts today, Arab and Jewish sources reported, even though the British mandate has 14 days to run. Tel Aviv headquarters of Hagana, the Jewish militia, said Syrian and Lebanese forces invaded at dawn from the north in heavy attacks. Hagana reported Jewish outposts at three settlements within Palestine engaged in fierce fighting against invaders using tanks and armored cars. The announcement said the attackers "are using guns, mortars and machine-guns."

Unofficial sources in Cairo said the Egyptian army crossed into southern Palestine at midnight and that King Ibn Saud ordered his Saudi-Arabian army to join Egyptian troops on the southern front.

Arab dispatches to Damascus, Syria, asserted King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan ordered simultaneous invasion of the Holy Land by six Arab states' armies. The reports said Iraqi planes flew above invading troops from Iraq, showering the soldiers with leaflets "welcoming" them into Palestine.

Arabs Broke Truce

Fighting continued in the battle for Jerusalem, where Hagana consolidated its hold on the strategic Katamon sector in the southern part of the city.

In the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area, where the Jewish Irgun, Zvai Leumi had virtually isolated the Arab port of Jaffa, British sources said at least 70 Irgunists were killed when the Arabs broke a truce and the Jews returned fire. An earlier British announcement said the men were killed when Irgun broke the truce, but this report was amended later.

Some Trans-Jordan troops already were in Palestine, holding Jericho, 20 miles north-east of Jerusalem.

Five Arab states held a council of war in Trans-Jordan. They were planning operations which, King Abdullah said, "will tighten the ring around the Jewish enemy." AP Correspondent Daniel De Luce reported from Amman.

Arabs Hopeful

"The time when the Arabs will be masters in Palestine is near," Abdullah's statement said. "In the past there always have been disagreements and mistrust between the various Arab countries, but these have been settled by the Palestine issue."

Abdullah's statement did not specify a D-Day for Arab invasion nor did it identify any one Arab figure as commander-in-chief for the operations. It repeated a previous offer of peace to the Jews if they would accept an Arab majority state and abandon the idea of a Jewish state.

An Arab news agency dispatch said Abdullah had appointed Gen. Sayeb Pasha, Iraq Army Chief of Staff, as over-all invasion commander.

Irgun Zvai Leumi was understood to be transferring the wrecked border-zone Mansheh area of Jaffa, seized from the SYRIA AND LEBANESE

May Head Off Rail Strike

Mediation Officer Sees Bright Spot

CHICAGO, May 1.—(AP).—There appears a possibility of heading off the crippling United States railroad strike over wage demands set for May 11, Frank P. Douglas, federal mediation chief, said last night.

Commenting on the effects of the National (Railway) Mediation Board to effect a settlement between the carriers and three operating unions, Douglas said:

"There is a possibility that we might be able to make some recommendations that are not already included in the emergency board's report which might stave off the strike."

Railroad representatives met with the board yesterday after the three unions met conciliators on Thursday. Today separate meetings with both sides were planned by conciliators.

Before conclusion of the session with the railroad representatives yesterday, Douglas had described both sides "unyielding." He said that direct negotiations appeared the only hope of calling off the walkout. Neither side is in favor of further arbitration.

The "big difficulty" in the long-standing wage dispute, Douglas said, is the demand by the three unions for more pay than recommended by a presidential fact-finding board.

Deportation Order Being Fought

Reserve Judgment Until May 5 On Union Agent

TORONTO, May 1. (CP) — Judgment in Reid Robinson's appeal against a deportation order will be handed down May 5.

The eastern vice-president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) took his case before the Ontario Supreme Court yesterday in his fight against deportation as a Communist.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer reserved judgment after a full day of argument by Robinson's counsel, C. A. Martin, and J. J. Robinson, who appeared for the Immigration branch of the Resources Department.

Mr. Martin said there was no evidence before the Immigration Board on which it could reasonably order Robinson's deportation as a Communist or as one who advocated overthrow of government by force.

He said evidence that Robinson was listed as a member or sponsor of alleged Communist-front groups and was described in a report of the Dies committee on un-American activities as "one of the shrewdest followers of the Communist party line" was insufficient.

He said Robinson had not been proved a member of the Communist party.

Mr. Robinson said the board had a right to act on the evidence. It was for the board to determine what evidence it believed credible and trustworthy.

The board was in a position to conclude from the Dies report alone that Robinson believed in the overthrow of government by violence he said.

"It was open to this board to draw the same inference that the Dies committee drew from his changing political ideology—that Robinson followed the Communist party line... with that report before them what else could the board do?"

Golden Gift

why Saul hated him and sought to harm him. Jonathan tried to comfort his friend and promised to warn him when he was in danger. Jonathan contrived a way to let David know how Saul felt about him and whether it was safe to continue to court.

The king's son would take a boy to a field where David was hiding and shoot three arrows into the field. He would then send the boy to pick them up. If the arrows fell between David and the boy, the news was good and David could stay; if they went beyond, David should flee.

David, hidden, got the message. "The arrows are beyond thee," and fled for his life; but not before Jonathan and he had pledged eternal friendship.

Jonathan risked his father's wrath in his fidelity to David, and suffered as a consequence. The relentless Saul pursued the exiled David from place to place, but never caught him.

At last, the Philistines attacked Israel again with a mighty army, and this time there was no David to help his people. In the terrific fighting Jonathan was killed and Saul sorely wounded.

Seeing his men flee from the Philistines and knowing the battle was lost, Saul commanded his armor bearer to kill him, but he refused so Saul fell upon his own sword and died.

When David heard the dreadful news he tore his clothes and wept, mourning for his friend. "My brother Jonathan, thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women," cried the stricken man.

Down the ages this friendship has been a beautiful legend and an ideal of friendship between two human beings. If the spirit of David and Jonathan should spread through the nations of the earth, that other ideal—world friendship—would be realized. Let us pray for it and work toward it.

Chas. Hayward Hit By Train Dies In Hospital

More than three hours after he was struck by a train on Friday night, Charles Hayward, 79, 261 Lake St. died in hospital. Mr. Hayward, a C.G.E. pensioner, was believed to have been walking north on the east sidewalk of Aylmer St. shortly before 9 p.m. when he was hit by the west-bound train at the Perry St. intersection.

Fireman Gordon Fellion, Toronto, said he was looking out of the left side of the cab of the engine as the train went through the intersection. When it drew abreast of the Aylmer St. sidewalk he saw a body hurled through the air apparently struck by the left front corner of the engine and it came to rest on the gravel on the north side of the track.

Conscious When Picked Up
Mr. Hayward was conscious when picked up and rushed by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital. He complained of pains in the chest and back and remained conscious for about an hour after the accident at 12:15 a.m. he died.

C. F. Cahill, attending physician, said death was due to crushing chest injuries and shock. Because of Mr. Hayward's age the shock was believed to have been particularly severe. He suffered a deep gash in the forehead and broken ribs.

W. A. Edwards of Mimico was the engineer of the train but he said he did not see the accident. E. P. Daniels, Toronto, was the conductor. So far as is known the fireman, Mr. Fellion, is the only witness.

Police Constables A. Dalton and D. Farthing investigated. Born in England.

Mr. Hayward has lived here for 36 years. He came originally from Oxfordshire, England, where he leaves one brother, Frederick, and one sister, Mrs. Bloomfield. He leaves two relatives in Peterborough, a nephew, R. T. Glead, and a niece, Mrs. V. Blair. He was a member of the Quarter Century Club at the C.G.E., where he was employed for 28 years, and was also a member of All Saints' Church and the Sons of England.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, from the Bellegem Funeral Home. The officiating clergyman will be the Rev. W. E. Kibberville of All Saints' Church and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Tragedy Strikes 2nd Time In 6 Years

OSHAWA, May 1 (CP). — For the second time in six years the family of William Herrington has been left homeless because of a fire. A blaze which broke out about noon yesterday demolished their two-story house just west of Oshawa. Mrs. Herrington had to carry two young sons, one with the mumps, to safety. Two other sons were in school at the time. Mr. Herrington was at work. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

The party would increase old-age pension benefits from $30 a month to $40. In co-operation with the Federal Government it could drop the age qualification for old-age pensions from 70 years to 65.

It would make provision for representation for municipalities on the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commissions, speed completion of power development to reduce the period of the power shortages and remove present restrictions for rural hydro service of two consumers to a mile.

"We propose to assume the municipal taxes on new houses, exclusive of the assessment on land or local improvement rates. This relief from local taxation will be given on houses which are built during the next two years and which do not cost more than $8,000. This relief will apply to owners who are war veterans for five years and to other new home owners for four years."

The party also proposed to improve the position of Northern Ontario.

"We propose to revise existing legislation to aid mining municipalities, after consultation with the municipalities and other interests involved."

"We will aid in establishment of a Northern Ontario University, composed of colleges and schools in various sections of the North."

"We will establish at least three Provincial Government offices in Northern Ontario."

"And the Liberal Party will make sure that there is a representative from Northern Ontario in the Liberal Government in order that the voice of a growing Northland may be heard in the councils of the whole province."

Arabs, to squads of the Hagana fighters.

The Hagana announcement said the Arab forces were attacking the settlements of Dafne, Ramot Naftali and Dan in the first outright invasion of Palestine by any of the neighboring Arab states.

The report said the thrust was made into the northern thumb of Palestine from two directions, one force crossing the Lebanese frontier and the other the Syrian frontier a few miles away.

The neighboring settlements of Dafne and Dan are two to three miles from Syria, Ramot Naftali four miles from Lebanon.

The announcement said the armed forces had fought their way up to the outposts guarding the settlements.

"The attackers are using guns, mortars, machine-guns and armored cars," Hagana said. "At Ramot Naftali six Lebanese tanks have reached the settlement defenses. There is heavy fighting. First reports of casualties have begun to come in."

The British announcement on the fighting in Jaffa said that according to military sources Irgun, using mortars, had occupied a house within 30 yards of the flank of British forces in the border area.

Mortar shells fell within the area held by British troops. An armored car and men of the Argyle Highlanders went into action and drove Irgun back.

Other Irgun forces advancing towards Jaffa's magistrate's court were shelled by the army with mortars and two-pounders. Jews struggling for Jerusalem were warned by the British to stop fighting under threat of armed force.

HAROLD HAWKINS

MILLBROOK, May 1 (ENS). — Following an extended period of ill health, the death of Harold Ernest Philip Hawkins took place at the General Hospital, Toronto, on Wednesday, April 28, in his thirty-sixth year. Born in Cavan township, practically all of Harold (Happy) Hawkins' life was spent in Millbrook, his parents coming here when he was only about three years old. His father, the late Alfred Hawkins, was a veteran of World War I, and was killed overseas during that conflict. Sometime afterward, his widow married John Stevenson, but is herself since deceased.

A faithful member of St. Andrew's United Church, in which his family has been brought up, Harold Hawkins is survived by his widow, the former Marjorie Olan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Olan, of Millbrook; by four children, Alice, Carol, George and Melburn; also by one sister, Mrs. Basil Robinson (Marguerite), and one brother, Lawrence Hawkins, both of Peterborough.

A devoted husband and father, and well liked by all who knew him, Harold Hawkins was of a most industrious disposition, working for years past, when, by medical advice, he should have desisted from any form of active labor. The funeral takes place on Saturday, at 2 p.m., from the G. T. McPherson Funeral Home, King street, with his pastor, Rev. G. C. R. McQuade, in charge of the service. Interment will be in Gardiner's cemetery, Millbrook.

STUART MILLER

Funeral service for the late Stuart Miller, 85, of Warsaw, was held Monday from the residence of his eldest daughter, Mrs. Thomas Russell of Douro. The Rev. E. Unstead of Warsaw United Church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Wilkinson of Oakwood United Church, Oakwood, a former minister at Warsaw. Pallbearers were Percy Cullen, Stephen Miller, John Miles and Eric Dewart, all nephews, Robert Tighe and Hilliard Darling. Burial was at St. Mark's cemetery, Warsaw.

Mr. Miller died a week ago Friday at his residence in Warsaw.

River. The town, only 18 miles from Regina, is ringed by sandbags as protection against the flood waters. Townspeople fear that a shift in wind might cause the waters to course over the dyke and into the town.

Notification was given that the town bell would be rung if the dyke collapsed or was breached by the water.

In Manitoba, the Assiniboine River was reported to have risen three inches at Brandon in the 12-hour period up to 6 p.m. yesterday. The crest of the river, flowing from Saskatchewan and joining the Red River at Winnipeg, was believed still west of Brandon.

Residents in low-lying sectors of Brandon were preparing to evacuate in anticipation of one of the worst floods in the city's history.

At Winnipeg, pumping operations prevented the waters of the Red from rising at the foot of Lombard Street and Portage Ave. East in the downtown section of the city. Dykes were built at the foot of the two avenues with thousands of bags of sand being used.

The weather bureau predicted rain for today and a Dominion government official said that the Winnipeg situation could possibly become very serious if there were two to three inches of rain.

Farmer Badly Beaten But Money Saved

CORNWALL, May 1 (CP). — John D. McCrimmon, a farmer of nearby Dalkeith, was reported in serious condition today after being beaten on Thursday night by four men he met in a beverage room. He said he told the men he had sold $520 worth of cattle and that he had the money with him. He said one of the men struck him on the head with a spanner and the others beat and kicked him, rifled his pockets, and left him lying on the road.

He was found by a taxi driver who said McCrimmon told him: "They beat me but they didn't get the money."

after a short illness. He was born in Douro, son of the late Stephen Miller and Margaret Methven, and resided a lifetime in the district. Before his retirement he was a very successful farmer.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Russell (Helena) of Douro, Mrs. Keith Ross (Verna) and Mrs. Maitland Gardner (Loyall), both of Norwood. A sister, Miss Margaret Miller, lives in Warsaw as well as a brother, Robert. There are two other brothers, Stephen of Peterborough and David of Lakefield. Mr. Miller was predeceased by his wife, the former Catherine Maud Dewart, in 1930, two sisters, Miss Sarah and Mrs. Cullen (Helena) and two brothers-in-law, Thomas and William.

World News In Brief

Taken from Wires of Canadian Press

LONDON, Eng.—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said special foreign exchange provisions have been made for residents of the United Kingdom who wish to visit the graves of close relatives who died on active service in Canada. The special provision will allow a maximum of £25 ($100) a person. The applicant will be allowed to pay the return fare to the United Kingdom in sterling.

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—Mount Ngauruhoe, one of three volcanoes in the central region of New Zealand's North Island, erupted for the first time since 1926. Flames and ash-laden steam erupted to a height of 1,000 to 2,000 feet. Great quantities of lava and rock boulders to be spewed out. No persons live near Mount Ngauruhoe.

URGENT
ROME, Italy's Independent Socialists called upon Italian to revolt against Communist domination in the powerful General Confederation of Labor. The anti-Communist Socialists issued a May Day manifesto declaring Italy's Labor movement is endangered by its identification with the Communists and consequent opposition to the Marshall Plan for European recovery.

MARSEILLE, France.—A Royal Air Force plane crashed outside Verquiere, near Avignon, Agence France-Presse said, and eight bodies were found in the wreckage.

KINGSTON, — Edward Flynn, Wolfe Island Lakeshore farmer, found the bodies of his wife, Elsie, 27, and their three-week-old baby, Mary Ann, floating in the lake. They were drowned in five feet of water, 10 feet off shore. Coroner M. J. Morrison completed investigations and reported that the wife had committed suicide.

LONDON, Eng.—Canada has been invited to send a team of four riders and eight horses to compete in the International Horse Show at White City Stadium here Aug. 16 to 20. The closing date for entries is June 28.

FRANKFURT, — The Czechoslovak government is working a new uranium lode in the shafts of the old silver mines at Pribram, 30 miles east of Pilsen, a Czech engineer, who has filed said. He added that the mines were being worked under conditions of the utmost secrecy and that the uranium ore was being shipped to Joachimsthal (Joachimsthal) for refining.

MONTREAL, — A 17-year-old youth was held by police last night in connection with the slaying of Louis Chasse, 19, during a brawl in front of a restaurant in nearby Sault aux Recollets. Chasse was in critical condition in hospital.

TRIESTE — Yugoslav authorities have invited a group of foreign correspondents to make a three-day tour of Zone B, the Yugoslav occupation zone of the Trieste area, beginning today. This is the first opportunity given western correspondents to visit the Yugoslav zone.

CANBERRA — Specifications and blueprints of German textile and engineering processes, some of which were on the German secret list during the war, have arrived in Canberra as part of Australian reparation payments. They are expected to provide much data for the development of Australian textile, engineering and defence industries.

FIVE FLAT CARS OF RADAR EQUIPMENT

Peterborough's 50th HAA Regiment (PWR) RCA will be a busy crew tomorrow when they will commence unloading of valuable radar equipment and vehicles for regimental training.

The modern equipment will round out the complement of heavy anti-aircraft firing equipment now issued to the regiment and training will commence as soon as the equipments are readied for operation.

The equipment was shipped from supply depot on five railway flat cars and arrived in first class condition at the CNR freight depot Friday. The shipment totals more than 40 tons, and includes three heavy vehicles and two radar trailers.

What Is Collision Insurance?

IN CONNECTION WITH AUTOMOBILE POLICIES

Collision Insurance under the Automobile Policy provides protection against damage to the vehicle insured, arising out of accidental collision with another object either moving or stationary or by upset, for an amount not exceeding the actual cash value of the automobile at the time of loss.

The premium for collision coverage may be reduced when the policyholder agrees to take a deductible clause, in which case the Company pays for the damage over certain amounts, which may be $25, $50 or $100.

Urges Strong Army To Halt Reds

Discuss Communism In Commons Members At Odds

OTTAWA, May 1. (CP) — Members of the Commons found themselves at odds yesterday when it came to suggesting ways of combatting Communism.

Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), Deputy Leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said Canada must have strong military forces if she is to play an effective part in fighting Soviet aggression.

But Bona Arseneault (Bona-venture) said Communism could not be destroyed merely by waging a third world war. The only solution was to make the democratic way of life work "so well that its superiority cannot be challenged."

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East) spoke on somewhat similar lines. As long as the democracies allowed some people of the world to go hungry, those hungry people would be susceptible to the Communist doctrine.

Norman Jacques (SC-Wetaskwin) said the main threat to the country is not from those who admitted they are Communists. It was from those who, while masquerading as supporters of freedom, were plotting against democracy.

The debate was interrupted for an hour after the dinner adjournment to permit the discussion of private members' bills. A bill authorizing the Bell Telephone Company to increase its capitalization from $150,000,000 to $500,000,000 was given second reading—adopted in principle—by a vote of 67 to 24. At six previous Friday sittings, the measure was "talked out."

The company plans to use the increased capitalization to meet the heavy post-war demand for more telephones.

In the external affairs debate, Mr. Graydon held the spotlight, with statements such as these: "Canada's position should be made clear and her armed services should bear a reasonable relationship to our population and economic strength. It may well be dangerous in the extreme for us to have let our forces to remain at the low figure of only 35,000."

"If Russian aggression is halted—and there is every reason to hope that it can be—there still remains the need to remain firm and strong so that an effective role can be played—having regard to our resources—in maintaining peace."

Canon Spencer Returns To St. Aidan's Church

YOUNG'S POINT, May 1 (ENS). — After 38 years, the Rev. Canon C. R. Spencer, MA, returned to worship with his former parishioners at St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Young's Point, and to preach at the evening service on Sunday. The service was conducted by the present incumbent Rev. Canon F. J. Fife. Canon Spencer served the parish and also those of Warsaw and Hall's Glen from 1908 to 1910. At present, though officially retired, the Canon still takes duty at Hastings and Roseneath and had already held services for the day at both points. He was interested to observe that St. Aidan's church bell had come from the old St. George's church at Hastings.

Last Winter Damaged Many Buoys Off Coast

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 1 (CP). — When a harbor whistle buoy fails to whistle, light buoys fail to flash and bell buoys refuse to ring that means only one thing — work for the federal department of transport works.

One of the department's jobs is to keep navigation aids working in Saint John harbor and nearby waters.

The winter of 1947, the department reports, was one of their busiest as heavy seas damaged many of the buoys.

From Saint John the department must keep watch over some 700 different markers all of which can fail for scores of reasons — including ice formation, a broken anchor line, or a cracked wire.

Old Silent Star Gets Contract In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 1 (CP). — It has been a hard, 14-year pull up the comeback trail—but Monte Blue is finally hitting his stride. Monte has just signed a featured player contract with Warner Brothers, where he once resigned as one of the great stars of the silent era. The event was another milestone in an amazing career that has raised him from the heights of fame to the rank of an extra player.

Monte, a ruggedly handsome Indianapolis orphan, spent an exciting youth as a reporter, miner, circus bareback rider, locomotive fireman, cowhand and seaman.

His wanderings finally led him to Hollywood where he landed a job with D. W. Griffith—as a laborer. One day Monte got into a fight with four other men. The battle ended with only one of the men standing, and Griffith was impressed with the performance. He gave Blue his first acting job—quelling a mob in "The Absentee."

Blue stayed five years with Griffith as stunt man. The got his first break in films with Toronto's Mary Pickford and Cecil B. DeMille. In 1922, he went to Warner Brothers, then a made-over livery stable in a barley field. He was a top star for Warner's during the 20s.

Monte was a casualty of sound. He tells a story about his year's stay in Tahiti for "White Shadows of the South Seas." One scene showed him hallooing across a lagoon. In Hollywood, a tenor's voice was dubbed in. The industry thought he was unfit for sound.

"I made a few sound films," he says, "but the first talkies were technically crude. Players were being crucified on the altar of experimentation."

He retired from films in 1931, took a world cruise and returned to find his savings wiped out in a bank crash. He took a whirl at the stage, then returned to Hollywood.

Rose To Bits. He rose to bits parts and in 1942 went back to Warners where he has been ever since. He's happy with his new status as featured player.

His credo is Lewis Stone's advice when Monte was returning to films as a character actor: "Monte, don't aim for glory stay just this side of it."

Swedish Graphic Art On View In Montreal. MONTREAL, May 1 (CP). — An exhibition of Swedish graphic art held here recently at the Montreal Art Association galleries was the first display of its kind seen in Canada.

The exhibit included etchings, lithographs, wood-cuts and dry points by 28 modern Swedish artists. All the artists, except Alex Fridell who died in 1935, are living.

The predominant influence of English graphic artists was acknowledged in the Swedish Institute's catalogue. There was great variety in the 133 works shown. They varied from the meticulous dry points of Stig Borling, whose

New Zealand Natives Like Educational Radio Shows

By J. C. GRAHAM

Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z., May 1 (CP). — A remarkable change has come over the lives of the natives of western Samoa, which is under New Zealand trusteeship, during the last few months.

This has been the opening of a radio station at Apia, capital of the island group which lies in the tropical zone of the South Pacific. Every one of the 150 odd zones villages in the territory has been equipped with a receiving set by the New Zealand Broadcasting Service.

For an hour and half each evening the entire population of each village gathers round the radio set in a communal group to listen to the program. So far the programs have consisted chiefly of recorded music, studio presentations of Samoan songs and dances, and educational and health talks.

The recent change in status of the group from a mandate to a trusteeship territory, together with greater provision for self-government made by New Zealand, has quickened interest in politics in the area and when the newly-formed legislative assembly is in session, day-to-day reports of proceedings will be broadcast.

Experiments to determine the most suitable programs were begun recently. Many observers see great possibilities in improving

Kay Thompson Wins Acclaim On Broadway

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, May 1 (CP). — The current toast of Broadway is Kay Thompson, an entertainer who can claim the distinction of having a night club designed for her.

Miss Thompson has been in show business for 14 years. She had been fired by executives of stage, radio, night club and screen. After the last such blow — from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer where she was coaching singers and choral groups — she decided to do something about it.

Kay and the Williams Brothers, who had suffered a like fate, got together with Robert Alton, Broadway and Hollywood dance director. Kay supplied the ideas, Alton the choreography and staging. They worked out the liveliest night club entertainment since Jimmy Durante first came on the scene.

It was so good that the impresarios began bidding for it like crazy. Herman Jacoby and Max Gordon won out by permitting Kay to write her own salary ticket. They bought the defunct Cafe Society uptown, rechristened it the Directors and redesigned it to the order of Miss Thompson.

Kay and the Williams Brothers now sing, dance and act there in a miniature revue which is packing in the customers and rocking them with mirth. The lady in the case does a series of cleverly-written skits, including take-offs on Noel Coward and a caricature of a Brooklyn lass.

Crime Ballet Scores

Agnes De Mille's new ballet, "Fall River Legend," which had its world premiere last week at the Metropolitan Opera House, has been acclaimed a hit. It is a psychological melodrama suggested by the trial of Lizzie Borden for the axe-murders of her father and step-mother. Morton Gould has written a first-rate score and Miss De Mille excels in the relating of the story and the choreography of its individual scenes.

Can Russia Be Old-Fashioned?

We have been reading with the keenest interest an argument which is contained in the March issue of The Architectural Review between the editors of that excellent periodical and three Russian architects, D. Arkin, A. Bunin and N. Bylinkin. In May, 1947, the Review published three articles written by these gentlemen, under the general title Reconstruction in the U.S.S.R. So alarmed were the editors of the Review by what they call the "banality" of the illustrations accompanying these articles that they felt constrained to write an extended editorial note, lest their readers should be puzzled by the fine words of the architects, and the mediocrity of the buildings they had produced. "According to sophisticated European standards," said the editors, "Russian buildings appear bourgeois and retrogressive".

This comment brought a reply from Moscow, through the Soviet Embassy, which is best described as a shrill scream. To call any artist's work retrogressive is to invite a quarrel, but when the artist has come to regard himself as an interpreter of the spirit of a mighty people, and his buildings as monuments to that spirit, the effect of unfavourable criticism upon him is comparable only to the sensations of death in the electric chair. Messrs. Arkin, Bunin and Bylinkin begin mildly, by saying that the elementary rules of literary ethics and social honesty have been ignored by the editors of the Review, and they continue thus:

Juggling loosely with all kinds of ambiguities, the authors of the preface try to convince the readers that in point of fact there is no such thing as Soviet architecture, as a great organically developing art, and that what is being done in the U.S.S.R. in the field of architecture is a deliberate concession on the part of statesmen and architects to the allegations of the authors of this slanderous preface, are too immature to understand real architecture and so forth. All these slanderous fabrications have a purpose—to belittle the great Soviet people and its new socialist culture. But no editorial lie can deny the true facts, for it is a fact that the Soviet Socialist culture, including architecture, serves the masses and expresses the great ideas of socialism; that the architecture of the U.S.S.R., socialist in content, is developing in national forms which display the vivid originality of the people of the U.S.S.R., that architecture in the U.S.S.R., free from the corrupting influence of the capitalist market, has been able, with the utmost speed, to create superb treasures, to reconstruct old towns and to put up new ones, using for the first time its newly formed principles of socialist town planning. . . . You cannot belittle the Soviet people who have given the world great men in every field of human creative endeavour, who have built a great socialist state and whose blood has freed the peoples of Europe from Fascist slavery".

The editors of the Review comment mildly that "the letter makes it depressingly clear how wide is the gulf that now separates us from the Russians". They also reprint the offending preface, which seems to us to be very mild in tone. But they print several pictures of Russian buildings, and these are what tell the tale. The Frunze Military Academy in Moscow looks, even to our unforgotten eye, like an old-fashioned department store, upon the face of which has been imposed a flat screen, covered with a hammer-and-sickle design; a concrete tank on a stone base completes this curious edifice. An aquatic stadium at Khimki combines a classical grandstand (complete with phoney classical temples) with some very fanciful steel constructions. The State Opera and Ballet theatre at Novosibirsk, built in 1940, is handsome, but as the Review points out it recalls the reign of Napoleon rather than that of Stalin. Of the other buildings shown, those which are not horrors are commonplace.

It seems that Soviet Socialist architecture is as old-fashioned as Soviet Socialist painting. Russian buildings are unimaginative in conception, and in decoration they seem designed to give the Soviet citizen a reminder of the grandeur of past ages rather than to express any grandeur of his own. As the editors of the Review point out, "in England there would be too many men of taste for this to happen". In the face of these pictures, the insistence of the three Russian architects that the buildings of their country are vastly superior to those of the effete West has a decidedly whimsical quality.

Monumental Irony

Sometimes the juxtaposition or sequence of events has a chilling irony. We are not, of course, referring to our local campaign to raise money for a new hockey rink in the heat of spring.

We remember the sunny Cote d'Azur in the south of France and a ceremony at Menton on Easter Sunday of 1939. The air was balmy, and fragrant with flowering wistaria. How exquisite and preciously peaceful was the setting for the unveiling of a statue which the British colony in the town had at long last erected to the memory of an important old lady. The peace had, however, the quality of unreality (like the quiet and loveliness of England itself in the first autumn of the war), for a new war scare was being bruited; French soldiers had been sent to guard the railway viaducts; at the Italian border a half-mile away, Mussolini's soldiers stood thick and armed. The statue unveiled that day was a sedate effigy of Queen Victoria.

Another weirdly incongruous—perhaps congruous—event of the same year comes to mind. The war broke out, as all remember, on Sunday, September 3rd. In the small town of Newry in Northern Ireland there stood in the market square a draped monument, ready for unveiling the next day. The monument was Newry's memorial to her sons who had served and fallen in the war of 1914-18.

Our latest instance of these tricks of circumstance which unite the past and the future is this. On the first day of spring of this year London workmen began to remove the air-raid shelters from Lincoln's Inn Fields. The next day, Britain's former Home Secretary, Sir John Anderson, recommended new shelters against atomic bombs. Such paradoxes of circumstance incline us to believe with Bagehot that, taken as a whole, the universe is absurd.

The First Of May

This is May Day. We prefer to think of it not as the festival of Labour, for that is a very new connotation. It was only in 1889 that the first of May was declared an international Labour holiday. Still more recently did the Soviet Russians adopt it for their impassioned speeches and parade of men and arms. We prefer not to think of it as moving day, though some local shopkeepers are leaving their premises and many householders would like to move from their cramped quarters, if they had somewhere to move. No, the domestic significance is utterly unworthy of the day. Nor do we prefer to think of it as a merely Christian festival, the feast of St. Philip and James. May Day is more antique than Christianity.

May Day comes to us from the Roman Floralia, and earlier primitive celebrations of the rebirth of the year. We prefer to think of it as of old, when our ancestors celebrated with garlands and dancing, and chose a Queen of the May and dressed her gaily and crowned her with flowers and danced around a Maypole and played the May-Game in which Robin Hood and Maid Marian figured. This is the day of Spring, when the warm earth renews her verdure, when the returning sun caresses, when fresh breezes fan the glades. It is a day for our most ancient song:

*Sumer is i-cumen in Lhude sing cucu!
Groweth sed, and bloweth med,
And springth the wude nu—
Sing cucu!*

On this morning boy choristers climb the tower of Magdalen College, Oxford, and greet the sunrise with carolling and the people below hear the chants and bells and their hearts are lifted up. On this day folk the world over hail the reviving earth and take hope from the sun's promise. This is May Day.

"We cannot go back to the oldtime, or simple life", a contemporary editor writes. The illusion that there was a time when life was simple persists, in spite of the lesson of history that it has always been about as complicated as people could make it.

Diary Of A Disgruntled Taxpayer

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Accompanied my Uncle Fortunatus to church this morning. It was an exquisite spring day and the sexton, or janitor, or beadle, or whatever he is called, had done his work with a will, so that the temple was very hot—about 80 F., I should judge—and the smell of hot hymnals hung in drowsy benediction over the worshipping throng. In the middle of the service three babies became Continuing Presbyterians, though from the expressions on their faces, I doubt if they understood the full significance of what they were doing. During the sermon my attention wandered to a question which has engaged my attention, from time to time, for many years: why are Bibles and hymnbooks bound in such poor leather? What is wrong with that black, pebbly-grained morocco, that it should decay so quickly? I have two-hundred-years-old books in my library which are still in excellent condition, but a Bible which is twenty years old is already shabby.

MONDAY: Prepared my Income Tax form today, and reflected that it costs me just about as much to be a Canadian as it would to be an Englishman, and twice as much as it would cost me to be an American. This is a time of year when I think sourly of Government expenditures. I reckon that my Income Tax pays the salary of one minor official, such as the censor of books. What does this minor official do for me that I should support him? Can I march into a government office, seek him out, and say "You're my man. I pay you. What are you doing, and are you making a decent job of it?" No, I cannot. Frankly I think it would be a good idea if every taxpayer were told what government stooze his money maintains. Small taxpayers would then feel that they owned an eighth of a charwoman; modest taxpayers like myself would own petty officials; wealthy men, who pay a lot of taxes, would be allotted ten or twenty clerks, or a brace of deputy ministers. With this knowledge we could go to Ottawa from time to time and chivy and nag our hirelings. Such a scheme would give a taxpayer some pride in his taxpaying, and would greatly increase bureaucratic efficiency.

TUESDAY: Had to make a speech today, and was not in the mood for it. In consequence lay in the bathtub and invented Marchbanks Rhetorical Robot, a type of recording machine for the use of public speakers. You prepare your speech, and record it when you feel at your best. You then go to the dinner, or meeting, and when the time for your address comes you turn on the Robot, which delivers the speech for you, while you loiter at ease, picking your teeth, laughing uproariously at your own jokes, and leading the applause.

WEDNESDAY: Travel by motor today, and developed a powerful hatred of people who want to speed on gravel roads, throwing up dust and pebbles and making life miserable for others. Reflected also upon the nature of Canadian lambs. I have been in several famous sheep-raising countries in spring, and their lambs are spirited little creatures, leaping and bounding merrily on the green grass. But Canadian lambs are strangely subdued; they do not jump, and they rarely move at anything faster than a sedate walk. Now I come to think of it, they taste depressed, too. The agricultural colleges should look into this.

THURSDAY: Tonight I answered a knock on my door, and a mysterious stranger handed me a silver dollar. He offered no explanation, and would not stay, but pressed the coin upon me and hastened into the night. I take this to be a good omen, and I shall cherish that silver dollar, keeping it as a lucky piece. For some years I have carried a lucky nut in my pocket, but I think its magic is beginning to wear off; it was only a pecan to begin with. I suppose it shows a savage, or pagan streak in my character to carry a talisman about with me, but the more I see of the world and mankind the more I think that superstition is respectable compared with the nonsense which people believe on logical grounds. So I shall preserve my silver dollar, and finger it surreptitiously when I need special help from the Dark Powers.

FRIDAY: A man who has just come out of hospital tells me that he heard two old men from the back-country hotly debating the merits of their favourite purgatives in his ward; they had tried every thing from baby pills to dynamite and knew the amperage and wattage of every cathartic on the market. This does not surprise me, for in rural Canada laxation is one of the leading hobbies, and a lifetime may be given to it, as in France men give lifetimes to gaining a knowledge of the wines. True, the passion for purging indicates a want of faith in Mother Nature, but it is probably no more unnatural than a number of other sporting pursuits. In Queen Elizabeth's day heavy-duty purges were drunk in vast quantities, and it was not uncommon for a statesman to refuse to leave his house in troubled times, announcing simply that he had taken physic. Perhaps this custom should be revived. It could do the statesmen no harm and in the case of some of them—Mr. Molotov, for instance—it might open them up to new ideas.

SATURDAY: Raining and I have a cold, so I happily gave up any idea of tidying the spacious, pleasure-grounds of Marchbanks Towers. If I had four gardeners and $25,000 to spend I could make the place look quite pretty, but so long as I am my own outdoor staff squallor will reign and rank weeds and briars may possess it utterly. Let my biographers make what they will of this confession; if the cry is "Root hog, or die!" I shall die with a smile on my lips.

THE CANADIAN APPEAL—THE NEED IS GREAT

Letters To The Editor

THE FIFTY CENT HAUL

Sir: May I compliment the two writers of letters regarding taxi service and at the same time add my nickel's worth.

A couple of months ago I returned from a trip which necessitated me travelling ten hours straight before arriving here on the 2 o'clock train. Due to my fatigue and the extremely cold night I hired a taxi in spite of the fact that I live only a couple of minutes drive from the station. But was I taken home? No! Four other passengers were piled in with me. I then asked the driver if I might be driven home first since I lived so close by. Completely ignoring my request, he drove up to the north end, then made two stops in East City and back over town and home—I thought. Instead he said he would have to drop back down to the station and pick up more passengers. I voiced my disapproval but all in vain. There were no more passengers at the station. Evidently all the rest of the taxis had done the same as this one. Finally nearly a half hour after the train pulled in, I was delivered home and charged 50 cents.

The following week-end when I was in Toronto I could not help noticing the difference. My companion and I hired a taxi to take us from the Maple Leaf Gardens to away out in the West End. Besides having the car to ourselves we made two stops and the charge was only $2.00.

As Miss Palin says you hire a taxi and are forced to ride with drunkards and strangers, and you have to take it. At least I have yet to ride in a taxi in the city of Peterborough.

where a passenger was put out for the use of foul language or conducting himself uncourtously. Probably the reason most respectable women and girls hire taxis at night is to avoid meeting these undesirable characters.

Surely something can be done to remedy a situation like this.

FREQUENT TAXI PASSENGER.

TOWARDS IMPROVING BUS AND TAXI SERVICE

Sir: In reference to recent editorials and letters in your paper, about the taxi and bus service, I would like to use a bit of space to voice my opinions. The taxi service and bus service are equally bad and something should be done about them.

I have heard of a plan which I intend to try in regards to the taxi service. I do not know what the results will be, but perhaps if other people try it too, it might have some effect. From now on when I hire a taxi to take me to my home in East City if the driver does not immediately turn towards Hunter St. bridge I will tell him to stop and let me out at the same time refuse to pay for the ride I have already had unless I am taken home promptly. When I phone for a taxi they always ask "Where are you?" and "Where are you going?" By refusing to say where you are going they will not likely pick up other passengers on the way.

The bus service, I can think of nothing to do about, unless public opinion is enough to change things. I do not ride the buses often except to and from the C.G.E. and except that during the winter months mostly, there are

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Let Israel hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plentiful redemption. And he shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities. (Ps. 130: 7, 8.)

Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue: whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption, that is in the world through lust.

And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall: for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. (II Pet. 1: 2-11.)

not enough buses running and many people are forced to stand. You go directly to the C.G.E.

Perhaps it is not the fault of the bus company but do you think it is absolutely necessary for women with shopping bags and parcels of all kinds to crowd into the buses uptown at five o'clock when workers are trying to transfer from one bus to another?

I sincerely hope that something can be done about both these services and I hope that if anyone tries my plan in regards to the taxi service that they do not get stranded anywhere at two o'clock in the morning.

Thank you.

A CRY AGAINST WHISTLES

Sir: That was a very timely letter in your paper recently on the nuisance of steam whistles in this city. Would that our good Mayor would become the Pied Piper and rid us of this outworn custom. We have an anti-noise bylaw, so if the police of London, Ont., could crack down on the blowing of steam whistles and have them suspended why couldn't it be done here very easily.

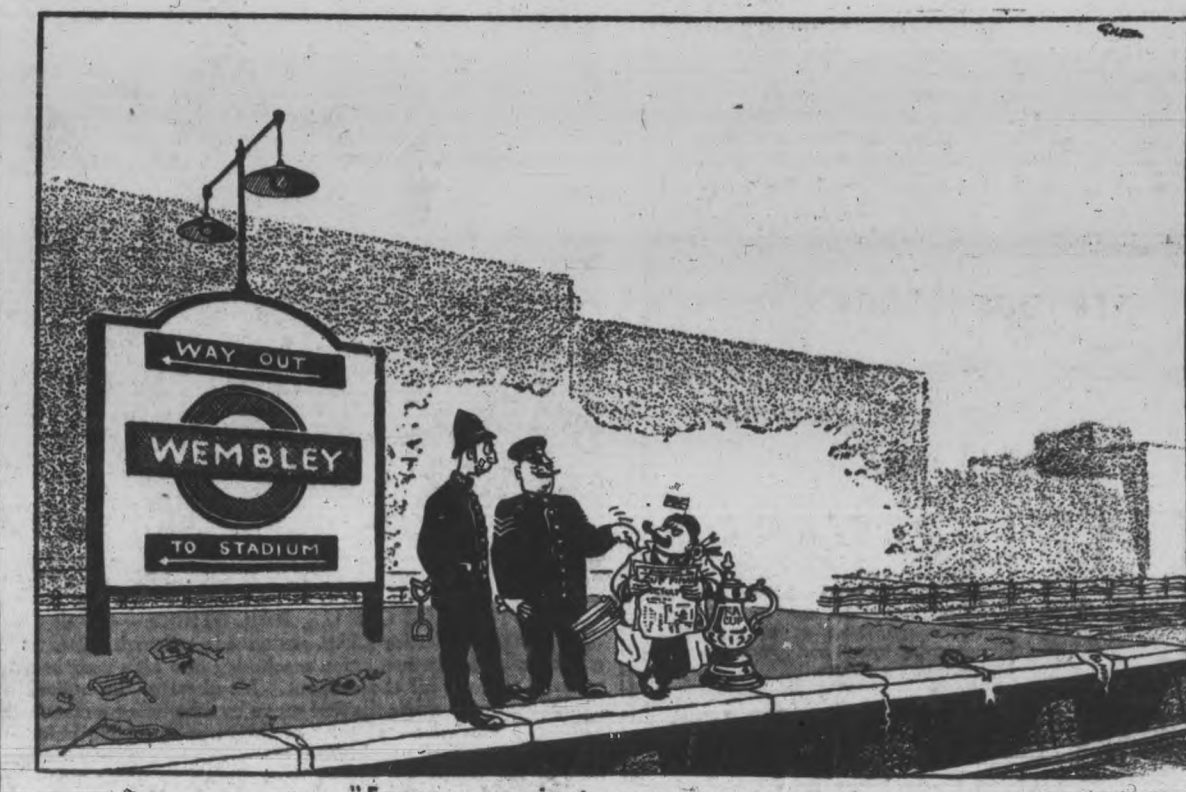

Very true, the Angel Gabriel himself does not take over with five blasts of the C.G.E. whistle rather early in the morning for the sick, the invalid and children, as well.

Surely the electric plant could use an electric bell system but if the whistles are necessary could they not be muffled?

Sincerely,

AUNTIE WHISTLE.

A BRITISH OPINION

"Excuse us just a moment, sir."

With PETE MCGILLEN

IT MIGHT BE a good suggestion if some agency took all those Toronto newspapermen for a trip around Ontario, so they would know their province. Judging from the news stories, there are many reporters who think the Ontario boundaries end at Whitby on the east. Owen Sound on the north and the Bruce Peninsula on the west. For instance, the trout roundup story read: "In past weeks, young fish by the thousands have been poured into waters in the Brantford area, in the London district, in Stayner, Alliston, Niagara Falls, Toronto and Hamilton areas and the Bruce Peninsula." Now, is that just ducky. How about Haliburton, North Hastings (the best speckled trout area of all), the Kawartha, and the Land o' Lakes. Now, all you local trout anglers have to do is catch a speckled fellow large enough to attract a bit of attention. If you do, let's hear from you.

IT IS LEGAL to troll for lake trout using copper wire or silk line in Hastings, Haliburton and other counties, except Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham. Also after May 1, in all counties except the four mentioned it is legal to fish speckled and brown trout in any legal manner. That is one can cast or troll from a boat using any kind of bait. This explanation is given because of confusion in the minds of many anglers, brought on by the special regulations which cover early fishing in the lakes of this district. In fact, during the entire year except during the closed spawning season Oct. 6 to Nov. 7, it is legal to fish lake trout in Hastings and Haliburton. Many city anglers will be heading for Haliburton, North Hastings and the Algonquin Park lakes over the week-end.

CONFISCATED TACKLE. The annual sale of confiscated fishing tackle and other miscellaneous articles on account of infringement of the Game and Fisheries Act will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 3, 4 and 5. Articles included in this sale will be open for inspection in the Department vault, Room B-511, East Block, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, between the hours of nine and four, on the days of the sale. This is an annual clean-up of equipment seized by the game and fish officers in the province during the past 12 months.

TODAY IS MORE than the first of May. It is the start of a new year to a host of sportsmen, a time for resolutions or at least a dusting off of last year's ones. The primary thought should be consideration of that general law, don't take undersized fish, or exceed the bag limit, or tolerate such action by your friends. It's merely a suggestion that anglers play the game and observe the rules, the same as they would do if they were in a baseball or hockey game. Often think fish hogs are a lot like kleptomaniacs who steal without knowing why they do it, and take things they have no use for. Just remember this the next time you decided to cram more than ten pounds of speckled trout into the creel, or take more than 20 fish. The bag limit for brown trout is five per day, and the size limit is seven inches.

THERE IS DANGER from forest fires at this time of year. This is the in-between season when dead stems of grass, plants, as well as the accumulation of last year's fall of leaves on the forest floor make a combination of highly combustible materials. Fires starting in such conditions spread very rapidly. They destroy young seedlings of pine, spruce and other firs, and where pure stands of mature evergreen trees and logging slash are encountered these fires become dangerous and destructive. Many families will be going on picnic parties over the week-end, fishermen will be cooking shore dinners or just making pots of tea. A little extra care in seeing that the campfire is thoroughly doused with water may save valuable trees and perhaps human lives. Remember the old rule of the woods: the man who starts the campfire is the one responsible for putting it out. Don't leave it to the other fellow.

ABOUT TWO WEEKS AGO I expressed criticism of the Dept. of Travel and Publicity because a booth was not taken at the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show. Since that time, I learned that at a conference last autumn in Ottawa it was decided the Canadian Travel Bureau would participate in the three big travel shows at Chicago, Detroit and New York, and at these places, Ontario provided trained girls to staff the exhibits. In other words it was the decision of the conference that more benefit would be obtained from travel shows than from Sportsmen's Shows. Deputy-Minister Tom McCall has pointed out that experience has taught the Ontario Travel Department officials that spending of budgeted funds in newspapers and magazines in the United States brought more results than the spending of an equal amount at Sportsmen's Shows. This strikes me as good business and sound judgment, and if my criticism caused heat under any collars (and I hope it didn't), I can say in all truth, that I agree with the program followed, whole-heartedly.

IT'S HEART-WARMING to learn that beavers are appearing in several places south of No. 7 highway. They are on Rice lake and in several of the creeks feeding the lake from the north and south. These animals are great travellers, and I do hope they don't incur the ire of farmers by creating dams that will result in flooding. Beavers multiply rapidly, too, but they require protection, as poachers have little trouble slaughtering them with spears or clubs when they are in winter quarters. There is some protection in the farming regions south of No. 7 highway than if they were north of Burleigh.

PETERBOROUGH FISH AND GAME Association members have passed a motion seeking opening of the lake trout season in Peterborough county on May 15. That is a long and involved subject, and the law is Federal not Provincial, hence a change would mean amending of the Special Fisheries Regulations passed by the Federal Government and applying to the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham. I propose to discuss the pros and cons of this motion at a later date. Membership in the association now totals 572 and it is hoped every member will bring in at least one other member before the draw is made for the outboard motor late in May.

Peterborough 'Hams' Spend Evenings Visiting With Friends In Other Lands

By NICK NICKELS

Each Thursday evening in a third-floor room above 425½ George St., twelve members of the Peterborough Amateur Radio Club gather, for what they term, "bull sessions". These licensed amateur radio operators call themselves "hams"; they live through evenings, either in their club room or homes, in a world of their own, far from the monotonous daily routine of business. By the magic of present-day wireless, a member may sit down in one corner of the club room before a neat array of radio transmitters and receivers and clamp on a pair of earphones. After manipulating intricate dials to his satisfaction and a little deft tickling of the telegraph key, he strikes up a conversation on the opposite side of the globe with a friend in Coogee, New South Wales. In the Esperanto of the air waves his message would run as follows:

"VE3AEA 2 VK2VA GM OM TNX 4 UR CALL RST 5-6-9."

The preamble deciphered means Peterborough to Coogee, good morning, Old Man, thank you for your call. Your readability is five strength, signal strength six and your tone nine. Then the talk chatter to and fro, a mere 12,000 miles, as each operator describes his type of equipment with casual observations about the weather. Some fellow "ham" in Tampa, Florida, who has now obtained the Coogee signal, breaks in to do a little visiting too.

This is just a sample of how casual things are with radio hams. A query of each member present Thursday night showed that the ability to talk to any part of the North American continent is commonplace: England, Holland, Italy, North Africa and South Africa are more interesting with Australia causing a slight spark of delight in the operator's eye. Jack Stacey, VE3ALO, has logged 40 countries, including Latvia and Russia. His interest is not in reaching for the long distances but to "work" countries in which amateur radio has not developed as fast as it has on this continent. He is willing to sit up nights on end to reach an English trade commissioner in Tibet.

To go back to the club room, and in contrast to the neat club operating station VE3AEA, are other members working on benches of the greatest disarray of materials one could imagine. There are coils, condensers, tubes, resistors, dials, panels, chassis meters and coils of wire. They spend 75 per cent of their hobby time at building, changing and tearing down equipment, always making changes, always improving their knowledge and radio efficiency. "In most of the men's homes, they cannot take up space to do little more than keep equipment in a neat corner. One chap has a small room where he may sit up all night without disturbing his family. Another works in a cupboard but in their club room they can "mess" to their heart's content, and by so doing, exchange ideas, put them to practice and talk their fantastic "jabberwocky" hours on end.

Amateur radio operating is one of the most democratic hobbies in the world. To begin with, they talk in one language, morse code, though their basic mother tongues may total more than 30 languages and 100 dialects. Whether a ham is rancher, shipping clerk or college professor, he is known to air fraternity by the signal he emits. There are no century-old class prejudices to impede his progress and he rises and falls by his own efforts.

Each ham is identified by his station call as well as his name and case histories of Peterborough club members are varied and interesting. Senior man, Bert Crump, VE3BEC, has been in radio for 21 years, first with the Ontario Forestry Branch, General Airways, Rouyn, P.Q., and now technician with radio station CHEX. Once at Red Lake, Ont., he acted as midwife between a doctor in Sioux Lookout and an expectant mother in the remote mining field. His organization and attention to facts enabled a seaplane to beat the storm to a hospital at the Steel; the result was twins. He is a member of the Old Timers Club with more than 20 years in ham radio work.

Jack Stacey, VE3ALO, is well along in experience with 15 years of static globe trotting. He is ex-RCAP and worked on ground radio and radar during his six-year service. Oliver Bradley, VE3AMM has had a 10-year turn and during that time has received over 100 confirmation cards from other hams throughout the world. Ken King, VE3AXQ, is president of the Peterborough club this year, also a 10-year man. George Gould, VE3BAF and L. Thibadeau, VE3ABW have each nine years of amateur radio work to their credit and both are RCAP veterans who now make air visits with friends from wartime days.

Community Hall Marks 25th Anniversary

By O.V.C.

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the Community Hall in the village of Cavan. A celebration of this event was held on Friday when former residents of the community returned.

For many years, the community meeting place was the former Methodist Church building, situated across the street from the present United Church. About 1919 or 1920, the Church Trustees sold the old church. For almost three years, the community had no meeting place except the Sunday School room of the Methodist Church.

The need of a larger and more suitable building in which to hold who live in the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

Men with practically new licenses of one year are Stan Webber, VE3BNZ, and W. Farris, VE3BRC. There are six non-members in the club who keep swatting away until the bright day licenses are awarded them.

One of them, George Wong, was born in Belleville and has spent 10 years in Lakefield and six in Peterborough. He spends his days at the CGE as tool and cutter grinder. He will soon be a bona fide member of that democratic world-wide club that find adventure, travel, prestige and friendship by throwing a switch and pounding signals into the air.

various social events and activities was felt. The first step toward the attainment of this objective followed the customary pattern—informal talks between individuals and groups. Finally, a meeting was called for January 31st, 1922. Committees were appointed and a start was made. Other meetings followed, from time to time. The interest of the Provincial Legislature was enlisted, through the untiring efforts of the member for Durham, Mr. S. S. Staples. Financial assistance was available, to the extent of 25 per cent of the cost, through the Community Halls Act of 1920. A site was purchased from Mr. S. Richards. The first actual construction took place in August, 1922, when volunteer workmen broke the first sod and made the excavation for the basement. On Labor Day, Sept. 4th, a larger gang of volunteers spent the day building the cement footings for the foundation walls. From then on, work progressed steadily and many volunteer helpers assisted the contractors. There was no scarcity of labor and material in those days!

Space does not permit us to record the many activities which took place by means of which funds were raised to carry on the project. Needless to say, a lot of work had to be done. However, the hardness of the task was lightened by the joy of the social activities, and the realization of the progress toward the attainment of a common objective.

At last, the hall began to take on a "finished" look, so preparations were made to have the opening celebration just as soon as the paint was dry. Two nights were selected—February 20th and 21st, 1923. The people of the community responded heartily to the spirit of the occasion, and attended in large numbers. Out-of-town guests included three members of the Provincial Legislature, one representing the Liberal party, one the Conservative, and one the United Farmers of Ontario, also Judge E. C. S. Huycke, of Peterborough. Cavan is justly proud of its community centre which stands as a memorial to the men and women of the community whose vision and efforts were responsible for its erection and maintenance.

A bylaw enacted by the Council of the Municipality of Cavan, dated April 11, 1923, appointed as a Board of Management: Reeve J. L. McCamus, Deputy-Reeve H. Bland (for 1 year); W. J. Tinney, James Kennedy, H. Keegan, J. R. Newton, B. F. Carley (for 2 years). The Board then appointed B. F. Carley, chairman, and James Douglas, secretary-treasurer.

The present Board of Managers comprises Reeve H. Cathart, Deputy-Reeve Robert Armstrong, W. J. Seymour, chairman, William H. Swain, William R. Armitage, Leslie Pritchard, Norman H. Brathwaite, with Oakley V. Carley, secretary-treasurer.

6 Spry Colts Set To Go At Louisville

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, May 1 (AP).—It's Kentucky Derby day again in Louisville, and six spry colts are scheduled to take off flying about 4:30 p.m. to settle a few pressing questions for a roaring crowd of 90,000 or more.

The city was jam-packed, everybody waiting for the big show. Possible showers were forecast, but it didn't seem to affect the possible attendance, which may fall slightly from the estimated 100,000 which poured out a year ago. The apparent Calumet "monopoly" and small field may cut into the gate.

Seven names were dropped into the entry box yesterday for the $100,000 three-year-old classic, but Galedo's bounced right out again in a late afternoon scratch.

This was just incidental, for a couple of half brothers from Calumet Farm named Citation and Coaltown remain the major attraction. So much so, the Churchill Downs management decided against place and show betting.

There'll be no brotherly love lost when Warren Wright's steps break out of the gate to see which can get there fastest and all in one piece. Wright said both Citation, Eddie Arcaro with Citation, and Newbold Person aboard Coaltown, would be sent out to win for dear old Calumet. He didn't care which got their first, just so one of the brought home the $83,400 pot, value of the race with six starters. This will be the smallest field since six ran in 1907.

It might be well to mention the fact that four other pretty fair country horses have more than an outside interest.

Probably everybody in Louisville can spell their names correctly by now—Ben F. Whitaker's My Request, William L. Braun's Escadru, R. W. McIlwain's Billings and Mrs. John Payson Adams' Grandpere.

It would be rude, indeed, if one of the four upstarts should shove his nose under the wire first. The grandstand probably would fall down. So would most in the crowd, who will make Citation and Coaltown the shortest priced favorite since the Derby was invented in 1875.

In the Derby Trial here Tuesday, Citation went away at 1 to 10, winning for a $220 payoff. The same odds are likely when Coaltown joins the act and they try to beat the legso if the others today.

The office of Col. Matt Winn, Downs president, said it would pay off at 10 cents on the dollar as usual if the Calumet entry wins, although this isn't required by law in Kentucky.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

More than a year ago we broke out in a bit of a sermon on the value of sports in crime prevention. On account of four young fellows had just beaten a murder rap in Toronto and drew long terms for manslaughter. Two were of junior age and two in the juvenile class, but they weren't playing hockey the night they killed a merchant in an attempted holdup. They weren't athletes at all. They left the courtroom, after being sentenced, laughing and wise-racking and posing for pictures. We said at the time that providing recreation for youth often costs a lot of money, but it costs a lot sometimes not to provide playing facilities.

We were reminded of that sermon of more than a year ago when we noted the other day where two criminals killed a messenger in a short-lived prison break at Kingston. One of those again facing a murder rap is Howard Uquhart, who was one of the four in that Toronto killing. Definitely a wrong guy. He might have been salvaged some time ago had his energies been directed down an athletic channel. Maybe not, but most of our boyhood pals went in for sports and have never been in trouble, while a few who didn't haven't been so fortunate. As Judge Smoke recently remarked, few names of athletes appear in police court news.

Looking After Youth

It is one of the duties of a city council, we feel, to provide as many recreational facilities as possible for its youth. Generally speaking, most local councils have done this. Most of the present councilmen and the Mayor appreciate fully the part athletics play in the city's life, and they give every possible assistance. A few may not be so concerned. We are glad to learn that the majority of this council favors providing the site for the civic arena here, which will be given to the city when it is completed. How could they lose?

As for the one or two who prefer every cent being laid upon the barrel-head first—and then inconsistently insist upon action by the Memorial Centre committee—we might point out that a great many civic arena canvassers have had call-backs. That is, they've been told to call back and get a donation "when work is started on the rink." That can be proven. Dick Olmest tells us: "We're going ahead and will complete the project as promised, but it is surprising how much the little Joes are doing here and how little many of the big fellows are helping." Well, that's their own business, one supposes—all you can do is urge them to give the younger athletes a boost.

Taxing Them To Death

Along this line, someone in the council recently suggested hitting the senior baseballers with a 20 per cent tax this year. Right after the provincial government decided against taxing amateur sports. Some criticism implied because the Pates paid very little rent for Riverside last summer and didn't aid the minors. Yet they did contribute $380 cash and also uniforms (through Hugh Campbell) to the intermediate team in the Lakeshore League. Eddie Murphy was responsible for this aid to the city loop graduates, which was over and above the small rates drawn by the intermediates. Back in the 20s, the Pates paid good rent for Riverside but they drew huge paying crowds as they had better ball then and not as many counter attractions. Yet the players were paid up to $50 a week for playing, while last year's Pates got $70 each for the entire season.

And when did the oldtime seniors ever help the minors before? Not in our time, and we were playing minor ball in the 20s. Nope. 20 per cent off home gates will kill senior ball in this town. Half of that would be plenty. After all, men like Vern Dawson, Hugh Campbell, George Clark and others spend time and money to promote senior ball in Peterborough, and it would be a shame to see it taxed into oblivion. Indignation was expressed recently by various local sports bodies at the suggested provincial amusement tax—since washed out—as it would have crippled hockey, lacrosse, baseball, softball, football, etc. But this rumored civic tax of 20 per cent (if true), would single out baseball as the victim. Let's be fair about it.

Ornamental Show On

Folks are reminded of the ornamental swimming exhibition in the YMCA pool this evening. The YMCA team of nine aquatic colts, who perform in Des Moines in July, stage their Egyptian medley, while the US junior champs, Iris Forbes-Reilly and Jean Millard, will trace the patterns that won them their titles. Jean Mowat of Toronto, who is the Dominion ornamental swim champion, will perform here, too, at this show, and other acts make it a really enjoyable exhibition. The proceeds go to the civic arena fund.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: Pates' ballsters drill at two this aft-in Riverside; everyone welcome. . . Minor ball executive meets at seven p.m. Tuesday in the "Y" . . . Industrial Softball League calls for entries at a "Y" meeting Monday eve at eight. . . OGE girls have an open practice Monday evening at 6:30 on the Sacred Heart diamond. . . St. Peter's High School field day is May 5 in Morrow Park. . . OGE plays O'Halloran's at 2:30 this aft in a soccer match at King Edward park; Pates go to Lindsay today. . . Ken Kenneth, who wrestled several times here, has returned to New Zealand. . . YMCA men's bowling circuit has a windup banquet at the "Y" at 6:30 Monday evening for all members. . . Knights have open workouts at 6:15 p.m. Monday at the Orphanage and Tuesday at the Bowl. . . And suddenly May is here.

Transport System For Olympics

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, May 1 (CP).—London gets a new transport system this summer—10,000 bus routes to carry the 5,000 to 7,000 athletes and officials from 21 living centres to, nearly 100 training grounds and Olympic venues.

The man behind the job, London-born Basil J. Wainwright who "hates" the city and lives "in the country with my own garden and chicks," has pinpointed routes through thousands of streets with a thoroughness almost unbelievable.

He is responsible for transportation of athletes, trainers and coaches and has worked for more than a year on the job. It is one of the biggest problems in the colossal organization of the games.

From the time athletes arrive in Britain, whether by ship, air or rail, Wainwright and a fleet of buses, station wagons and cars and a staff of about 300 will be ready to serve them round-the-clock.

Cost 10 Cents mile. Wainwright guesses Olympic transportation will cover 341,568 miles at a cost of sixpence (10 cents) a mile. He has figured the exact mileage and route from any living quarters to any training

Ports Can Take Memorial Cup In Four Straight

TORONTO, May 1 (CP).—Port Arthur's West-End Bruins can say it with a victory over Barrie Flyers to-night and take home the Memorial Cup and the Canadian junior hockey championship.

Bruins enter to-night's fourth game of the best-of-seven final set with a 3-0 lead in games and on the short end of 3-1 odds. A victory for the Lakehead team would give the West its 16th Memorial Cup in the 30 years of competition.

Their opposition, Barrie Flyers, are not conceded much chance of winning a single game in the series which they were favored to take handily before the first game.

Flyers will be fighting with their backs against the wall. Besides that, their coach does not like the officials. Doubt as to whether to-night's game would be played originated last Wednesday when Coach Hap Emms flatly stated his team would not play unless new referees were assigned to handle the remaining games.

Emms was overruled by the club president, manager and treasurer on Thursday night. Secretary-Manager George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced the referees in question, Vic Lindquist of Winnipeg and Ken Mullins of Montreal, will continue to work the series.

Bruins, who took a stranglehold on the Dominion title by waltzing through the first two games 10-8 and 8-1, and then squeezing out a 5-4 victory in the third match, are expected to end it all to-night. Barrie fans, however, look back on Flyers' performance in the third game and hope the series will be extended to at least a fifth match.

What About Russia?

By The Canadian Press

Russian participation in the Olympic Games July 29-Aug. 14 remains a big question mark. Lord Burghley, chairman of the British organizing committee, yesterday told more than 100 sports writers and columnists. "Anybody's guess is as good as mine," he said. Lord Burghley, who competed in the British Empire Games at Hamilton, Ont., in 1928, told a luncheon given by the London Press Club that Russia has not yet formed a national Olympic committee—a

Bill Meyer Gets Good Start With Pirates

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Meyer, long celebrated as "the best manager in the minors," seems right at home in big time. His Pittsburgh Pirates, only a half game out of first place, are the surprise-of-the-month in the National league.

For years it looked as though Meyer never would get to the majors. But last fall when owner Frank McKinney decided Billy Herman was not the man he wanted, he let general manager Roy Hamey help pick his next manager. Hamey, who had teamed with Meyer successfully in many Yankee farm cities, called for Bill.

Pirates have to bank on a pitching staff of old-timers like Rip Sewell, now one of three pitchers in the league with a perfect 2-0 record.

Sewell failed to go the route yesterday in the Pirates' 10-4 romp over Chicago. Kirby Hulse had to mop up despite an eight-run spurt in the second inning. Ralph Kiner, Clyde Klutts and Rokej each banged out three hits against the Cubs who outthit the Bucs, 15-12.

New York's lead shrunk to a half game after Boston's 7-2 victory over Ray Post. Tommy Holmes, Bob Elliott and Jeff Heath all hit homers off Post, the Giants' starter, while Johnny Sain scattered five hits for his first win. Whitey Lockman and Willard Marshall homered for the losers.

St. Louis Cardinals, finally beginning to hit, rallied for seven runs in the seventh at Cincinnati, downing the Reds 13-7. Catcher Joe Garagiola broke a 5-5 tie in the big inning with a grand slam homer. Stan Musial, however, led the attack with five hits including a homer and a pair of doubles.

Brooklyn followed up its 17-run romp over the Athletics by bombing the Phillies, 11-2, in a night game that drew 25,834 fans to Shibe Park.

With Cleveland's leaders washed out of their game at St. Louis, New York Yankees proceeded to pick up ground by dumping Boston, 6-0. Allie Reynolds shut out the Red Sox with six singles to defeat Mickey Harris who had held New York scoreless last time they met. They now trail the Indians by a game and a half. Steve Souchock hammered two homers and Johnny Lindell and Bill Johnson one each.

Hal Newhouser suffered his third loss to one win when Chicago knocked him out of the box in a four-run, eighth-inning to grab a 5-4 edge.

Phil Marchildon of Penetangulshene, Ont., pitched Philadelphia into a three-way tie for third place in the American with a four-hit job against Washington, 3-1. Al Kozar and Gil Coan each had two hits off Marchildon who earned his second victory at the expense of Walt Masterson.

Royals, Giants In Bitter Fight

By The Associated Press

Montreal Royals and Jersey City Giants, who waged a bitter battle for the International league pennant in 1947, are at each others throats again.

Manager Clay Hopper's Royals, who lost the flag to the Giants last year on the final day of the season, currently lead the circuit with the Giants second, a half game off the pace.

The Royals jumped from third place to the top last night by nosing out Baltimore Orioles 3-2. The Giants, who had been tied with Toronto Maple Leafs for the lead, took a 17-6 shellacking from Rochester Red Wings in an afternoon game.

FASTEST SWIMMER—Margaret Wellington, 21-year-old bank clerk, England's fastest woman swimmer, has been chosen to swim for her country in the forthcoming Olympic games. She has been given the "freedom of the bath" at Beckenham borough council baths, where she trains for the 100-metre event.

PREPARING FOR PRAGUE FESTIVAL—Preparing for the annual festival of gymnastics and athletics, to be held in Prague this summer, is 24-year-old Miss Libusc Condlova, a shorthand-typist at the Czech consulate in London. Libusc is leader of the London group of Sokol, an organization of Czech youth which has branches throughout the world. All members will merge into one grand display at the summer festival. noon game. The Leafs also lost, bowing 3-2 to Newark Bears to tumble into third place.

At Baltimore, Don Newcombe, rookie Royal Negro pitcher, scattered eight Oriole hits in posting his second win of the season. Newcombe fanned nine and walked only one.

The Royals collected nine hits off young Ernie Groth and Johnny Podgajny including Jim Bloodworth's third homer of the season in the first. Al Gionfriddo batted in Bob Morgan with what proved to be the deciding run in the eighth.

Homers proved the downfall of the Leafs. Johnny Lucadello socked two four-baggers to drive in all three Newark runs. He is the first Newark batter to hit for the circuit this season.

Al Hodkey was the victim of Lucadello's two blasts. Don Johnson went the route for Newark, yielding four hits to gain his first victory of the season.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Over-aged, but still crafty, Jack (Spider) Armstrong, 129½, Toronto, came off the floor twice last night to knock out 19-year-old Tommy Rollins, Boston, in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round boxing bout at Boston. Rollins, a winner of 33 of his previous 35 professional fights, twice appeared to have the Canadian at his mercy.

Forty-eight entries have been received from Toronto, North Bay, Timmins, Sault Ste. Marie and Peterborough for the Central Ontario boxing tournament to be held at Toronto next Thursday and Friday. The event is sponsored by the Central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada to select a 16-man team to participate in the Olympic trials at Montreal. Every weight classification will be represented.

Twenty-three horses remained in the field yesterday for the $50,000 Golden West pace at Santa Anita's grand circuit harness racing program today. But several were expected to drop out before post-time. Dr. Stanton, owned by W. L. (Lindy) Fraser of Forest, Ont., remains the favorite despite his post position in the third tier.

Frank Filchok, much-sought football star, conferred with Hamilton Tiger players for three hours yesterday discussing Tigers' proposed entry into the O.R.F.U. senior group. When he left, Filchok told club president Jack Langs, "it looks like I'll be back. He promised he would give the Tigers, the team he coached in the Big Four last year, an answer before today's O.R.F.U. meeting. He left for Washington after the meeting.

Another way-below-par round yesterday—this time a 66—gave Bobby Locke of South Africa a four-stroke half-way lead in the District of Columbia open golf tournament at Washington. His seven-under-par 65 the first day earned him a two-shot edge after the opening round. Yesterday's 66 brought a 36-hole total of 131—four big strokes ahead of Skip Alexander's 69-66-135.

Ottawa bowlers took leading positions in events yesterday at the Canadian Bowling Association's 22nd annual five-pin tournament at Toronto. The tourney opened Thursday and will continue to May 15. Ed Aubin of Ottawa rolled 410 in one mixed event to chalk up highest single score. For three games his total was 815. F. Martin of Kingston placed second with 68 for three games.

Sault Ste. Marie last night won the Canadian Intermediate A basketball championship for the first time when Collegiate Grads won 118-59 over Montreal Montrealers in a two-game points-to-count series. The Grads took the first game on Thursday night 55-24 and last night thumped the visiting Quebec and Eastern champions 63-35.

London Group's Leading Lady Wins Praise

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, May 1 — (CP) — A rich interpretation of "Saint Joan" gave a Dominion drama festival audience three hours of solid drama last night, and almost moved adjudicator Robert Speaight to go overboard in praise of the leading lady.

Mr. Speaight was "reluctant" to discuss in detail the performance of Olga Landiak, as "Saint Joan," in the London (Ont.) Little Theatre production. He said any criticism would be mere quibbling.

Hers was "the most satisfying performance of Saint Joan, that lives in my recollection," said the British actor and producer.

Played before a packed house, the George Bernard Shaw classic drew an audience from miles around. One woman, Mrs. Clarence Gibson, said she had travelled 400 miles from her home in Stratford, just to see the production.

Handling Good
Mr. Speaight described the general handling of the play as "extremely good." Just before leaving London, Eng., he had seen it performed at the Old Vic, and had wondered whether the Canadian group would have enough good actors to carry "the load of parts." But from the moment the curtain went up he felt at ease on that point.

As for Miss Landiak, he said she had successfully achieved that sense of profound interior life, so necessary in her role as a saint. From the moment she came on the stage, almost as an "apparition," she managed that "extraordinary" quality of being apart from all the people around her.

Two one-act plays are billed for tonight when Les Compagnons of Montreal, and the University Alumnae Dramatic Club of Toronto enter DDF competition.

The Toronto group will present "Years Ago," by Ruth Gordon.

"Antigone," by Jean Anouilh, will be Les Compagnons' DDF entry.

Exiled Costa Rican Arrives In Panama

PANAMA, Panama, May 1 — (AP) — Manuel Mora Valverde, exiled Costa Rican Communist leader, arrived here last night in a bullet-riddled plane and a Panama official said he was placed in police custody to await the first available transportation out of the country.

(A later Havana, Cuba, dispatch said Mora Valverde arrived there.)

Mora, accompanied by two women, was among five American World Airways passengers whose plane was fired upon by five youths as it prepared for flight from San Jose, Costa Rica's capital.

The Communist leader supported the government of President

Dewey Prepares To Develop Hydro Project

ALBANY, N.Y., May 1 — (AP) — Governor Dewey acted today to develop the vast hydro-electric power resources of the St. Lawrence river as a joint undertaking of New York State and the Province of Ontario.

He directed the state power authority to begin negotiations with the Canadian province for a joint construction of a $32,000,000 power plant on the international rapids section of the river.

The move resulted from the United States Senate's defeat of the controversial St. Lawrence seaway project, a feature of which was to have been development of the river's power potential.

New York's action is necessary

"because the state can no longer go along without additional power," according to a Dewey administration source who declined to be quoted by name.

The proposed hydro-electric dam and power houses would be built at New Long Sault, which lies between Ogdensburg and Massena. It would harness an estimated 2,000,000 horsepower and produce 6,300,000 kilowatt hours of power.

Under the Dewey administration proposal New York state would defray approximately half of the initial cost, $161,000,000, through self-liquidating revenue bonds. This figure is based on 1947 estimates.

Finds Unincorporated Operating 30 Years

WEYBURN, Sask., May 1 — (CP) — When the Weyburn Board of Trade decided to change its name to the Weyburn Chamber of Commerce it found it had been operating for more than 30 years without the federal charter required under the Boards of Trade Act.

This discovery was made when Secretary Ray Schultz wrote federal authorities asking the date of incorporation and issuing the charter.

Replied E. H. Coleman, the undersecretary of state: "I am unable to find any record of the Weyburn Board of Trade having been incorporated under the Boards of Trade Act. This organization has evidently been carrying on as an unincorporated body."

The chamber then planned a special meeting at which all members of an organization which had been in existence for more than 30 years.

The Golden Gift of Friendship.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—I Samuel 18-20; II Samuel 1.

By Alfred J. Buscher

After David had slain the Philistine giant, Goliath, King Saul took him into his own household, and Saul's son, Jonathan, and David swore eternal friendship, Jonathan giving David his robe, girdle and sword.

Saul feared David, however, because the Lord was with him and the people loved him, and he sought to kill him. While David hid, Jonathan softened Saul's heart toward his friend for the time being.

Again fearing for his life, David hid, while Jonathan warned him by a pre-arranged sign. He shot the arrows beyond the boy who was sent to pick them up, and David fled once more into a long exile.

Years later the Philistines again attacked the Israelites, and defeated the latter. Jonathan and Saul were killed, and David mourned deeply for his friend.

MEMORY VERSE—I Samuel 18:1.

Pain and Sickness Produce Sympathy for Sufferer

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The woman came behind Jesus and touched the hem of His garment. Jesus turned Him about and said unto her: Daughter, be of good comfort, thy faith hath made thee whole. Go in peace.—St. Matthew 9:22.

Have you ever been ill in your life? A man of 60 related to me: "Never." What has he lost? He can never really sympathize with a sick man; he had never been in pain. Pain and sickness very often produce a sense of sympathy for the sufferer. With this thought in your mind you will see that this story has a deep human interest.

The three evangelists repeat it, adding or leaving out what they think necessary. In St. Mark's account we see the touch of the eyewitness. Very probably St. Peter emphasized: "Jesus turned about to see her who had done this thing." As a student of the Gospel you will notice the searching eye of the Lord—a striking characteristic. For some reason St. Matthew reduces the story to about 50 words. St. Luke retains St. Mark's account of the multitude thronging Him? All are agreed that the woman came behind and touched the hem of His garment and received immediate healing.

We have a beautiful word picture of a sensitive woman, timid and self-conscious. Are you moved by St. Mark's graphic touch of her feelings: "The woman, fearing and trembling, knowing what she had done, came and fell down before Him and told Him all the truth." Having touched Him and received the healing her only desire was to go away unseen, the multitude helping. Her heart is full of thankfulness. The Master knew within Himself that the cure had taken place—that virtue had gone out of Him. He desired to give her a greater blessing. The Lord knows what is in man. He understands the human mind. She is sensitive and self-conscious. In the coming days, had she gone away unnoticed, her conscience would have troubled her. So the Lord, being Perfect Man desires to deepen her faith and sends her away with the word of peace from the lips of the Man of Peace. Let us not forget that she came behind Him. She could not see His Face. So He turns and looks with a compassionate eye upon her. For the first time she is face to face with the Son of God, the pure One. She will never forget that Face. Its loveliness and compassion. She beheld His glory, the glory of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth.

He speaks to her. She alone of all the daughters of Israel receives the title "Daughter." She is a member of the family of God by faith. "Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole. Go in peace."

This happened about 2,000 years ago. How can I see his face today? In his great love and mercy He has given us four portraits of Himself. A portrait is very different from a shot by a camera. The portrait reveals something of the character of the man sitting before the painter. These portraits were written by men who loved Him. They strive by the help of the Holy Spirit to reveal that something which made men love Him and follow Him to the death. You can buy a copy of these portraits for five cents each. As you read it pray that the Holy Spirit may open your eyes to see Him. You have devoured many a book; some character has thrilled your mind and heart. Will you pray that you may have the experience of Ezekiel. "I did eat the Book and it was in my mouth as honey for sweetness." Then you will get a glimpse of the Son of God Who was made Man by the operation of the Holy Ghost of the Virgin Mary. That glimpse will fascinate you. You will read the other portraits. SHE THINE EYES SHALL SEE THE KING IN HIS BEAUTY.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

In these troublous times, when the world seethes with suspicion and animosity, and aggression casts its shadow on the future, it is good to contemplate the story of the fine friendship of two Israelite youth—David and Jonathan. It is a tale of one of the greatest friendships in history of two men—one a simple shepherd lad; the other the son of the king. Stories such as these renew our faith in mankind and his ultimate redemption, discounting the stories of crime, violence, sadism with which our minds have been saturated in the last decade and our souls sickened.

After David had slain the Philistine giant, Goliath, with his sling shot, and the enemies of Israel had fled, King Saul took the shepherd boy hero into his own royal household, where Saul's son, Jonathan, and David became fast friends. Jonathan, to show his friendship, stripped himself of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow and girdle.

In spite of these honors, David behaved wisely and modestly. One day however, the Israelite women came out of the cities to greet the king, singing and dancing, but the words they sang did not please the King Saul: "Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands."

Saul knew he had once angered the Lord, which made him jealous and suspicious that his throne might be taken away. The Lord, the king realized, was with this shepherd youth who had slain a giant and delivered Israel from her enemies. Therefore, jealousy born of the women's words, and fear for his throne, made Saul hate David and determine to kill him.

Saul heaped honors on David, however, while he secretly planned his murder. He made David his son-in-law and when he saw that his daughter, Michal, David's wife, loved him, he hoped she would prove a snare by which to trap David to his death. She failed him, however. He also spoke to Jonathan and all the servants that he meant to kill him. Jonathan told David to hide in a field and he would come there with his father and talk to him to find out how matters lay. David did so and when Saul and Jonathan came to the field Jonathan reasoned with his father, reminding him of how much David had done for them, and he so

Second Company Refused Causeway Job

At a meeting of the County Council Friday afternoon with all members present, including the County Solicitor, F. D. Kerr, K.C., the matter of the construction of the Chemong causeway was discussed for over five hours, two of them in closed committee. F. G. Gardiner, Toronto, solicitor for the Thompson Construction and Engineering Company, outlined that due to the inability of his company to carry on with the work in 1947, a new company, the Thompson Construction Chemong Company had been set up, ably financed and equipped to carry on the work as a sub-contractor under the original agreement with his parent company.

After two hours' deliberations in closed committee voted that the county of Peterborough would not enter into an agreement allowing the sub-company to carry out the program that had already been arranged with the parent company and that the original contract with the parent company would stand until the council is satisfied that the sub-contractor is able to carry out the contract.

The original performance bond in the amount of $32,750 was not accepted by the council last fall, but it is still in the possession of the county clerk. The sub-contractor company brought on Friday with them a like bona fide cheque, together with a new contract and proof of the necessary equipment and ability to finish the job. However the council decided against letting the Number Two company proceed with the work at this time. The original contract now being held expires on August 31, 1948. If the contractor neither completes the work on the causeway, nor starts the work before that time.

City Assumes Management Of All Civic Properties

City Council became today stewards of the properties of the municipality of Peterborough. This was the effect of the private bill in the Legislature which transferred the administration of lands and buildings, owned by the people collectively from the City Trust to the city fathers.

Present collection of the rents and keeping of the records is a responsibility of City Clerk Outram. A separate account will be opened at the bank. The thirty-five tenants have been notified of the change in landlords.

The larger properties are the market hall and the George St. stores under it, and the Ashburnham town hall with its ground floor stores.

Property committee of the council and the members of the City Trust discussed the switch of control Thursday, with Ald. Gordon Armstrong chairman.

Pulp and paper production in Canada increased from $9,000,000 in 1900 to $730,000,000 in 1947.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SUNDAY EXHIBITION

Paintings from the National Gallery, Ottawa, will be on exhibition on Sunday at the Public Library. The water-colours by famous Canadian artists will be on view from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. The exhibition is still open at the usual times on week-days.

VETERANS' ASSISTANCE

Canadian Legion Service Bureau Officer will be at the Legion Hall on Monday to help any ex-serviceman or woman on any question of pensions, allowances or rehabilitation. He is not a government employee but a Legion officer, and as such represents the veteran in appeal cases with the government. Any veteran of any war, who has any questions or problems he is trying to solve, should have the advice and assistance of the Service Bureau Officer.

Commission Refuses Sale Of Property

Utilities Commission refused at its meeting Thursday to sell any part of its filtration plant property to H. A. Sutherland of Wendenah Camp. Only comment on his letter was that years ago intentions of acquiring the camp site should have been carried out before it passed into private hands.

Policy of the Commission was indicated as discouraging any further occupation of land along the river. It was said that the Commission has a certain control of the river and waterfront for five miles upstream from the filtration plant, and that vigilance is maintained to prevent pollution of the water. Wendenah has a satisfactory septic tank system.

Concert Band, Choral Group Heard At PCVS

Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School Choral Club and Concert Band presented a very pleasant program of light popular music at their inaugural concert held on Friday evening in the Collegiate Auditorium. The principal, C. S. Browne, said in his opening remarks that both the club and band were new organizations and that although the band began in October last, it did not receive its instruments until November.

The concert opened with the singing of three songs by the Choral Club under the direction of Melvin Curtis with piano accompaniment by Patsy Martyn, followed by four guest artists, Babe Smith, Norman Buzel, Shell Richardson, trumpets, and Ralph Fraser, piano, of the Bob Kinsman orchestra. The concert band under the direction of Alfred Croasdale played a selection of folk songs.

A quintet from the band consisting of Richard Crowe, trumpet, John Greatrix, cornet, Robert Bogue, alto sax, Garry Robinson, trombone, and John DeNure, euphonium, played an arrangement of "God Bless America" by Irving Berlin. Judy Hood sang a very pleasant soprano solo "To A Hill-Top," and the PCVS male quartet, consisting of Douglas Crawford, Trevor Davies, John Barlow and Alex McLeod, sang "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" and the air from "Finlandia" by Sibelius. The concert closed with "Bless This House" rendered by both the concert band and choral club.

Red Cross Plans Disaster Relief

Warden Humphries granted a few minutes recess from a very heavy afternoon of business Friday, to listen to a Canadian Red Cross project, ably presented by its Peterborough president, Mrs. Charles Ray. In the matter of disaster relief, she said, the Ontario division had set up 30 divisions of which Peterborough had been allotted three districts, Peterborough and Victoria Counties and Haliburton.

Mrs. Ray outlined briefly and efficiently, that her organization had already established a Loan Cupboard of supplies that can be drawn on at any time. First Aid service with the backing of the two Peterborough nursing alumnae and city doctors and arrangements to use the Armouries as an emergency hospital. She spoke of a 25-bed hospital already being planned at Bancroft. A Nutrition Group has also been organized whereby firefighters and others, in time of emergencies, can be fed.

The object of appealing to members of the County Council was to advise them that the Canadian Red Cross, through the members, plan to have two or three key people in each township trained in relief emergency work who will know how and whom to contact at Peterborough headquarters in the event of emergencies. In this way, Mr. Ray said, a solid network of listening posts, manned by trained personnel, would assist the Canadian Red Cross in offering their worthwhile services and facilities to any part of their allotted district as quickly and efficiently as possible.

BACK TO BANFF

Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart Fairbairn arrived at Montreal Friday from England. Married recently, the bride was the former Catherine Parr Strickland. Fairbairn used to be a guide at Banff National Park. He met the heiress in Scotland when he was in the army.

MANAGER AT CHEX — Russell Baer, native of Galt and former pilot in the RCAF where he won the DFC, has been appointed manager of radio station CHEX. He succeeds Harold R. Burley who took a position with the Thomson newspaper chain.

Former Pilot New Manager Of Station CHEX

Russ Baer, 29, a native of Galt, is the new station manager of CHEX. He succeeds Harold Burley who left earlier this month to go into the publishing business.

Mr. Baer has been in radio 10 years and has held almost every position as he worked his way up from announcer to manager. He started as an announcer with CKCR, Kitchener, in 1938, then transferred to CKGB, Timmins, in 1940 where he became program director. Later he went to CJKL, Kirkland Lake, and CFCH, North Bay.

In 1941 he joined the RCAF and graduated as a pilot. As a Halifax bomber pilot overseas he served with distinction making 40 trips and winning the DFC. At time of discharge in September 1945 he held the rank of Flight Lieutenant.

Less than a month after discharge he joined the staff of CKWS, Kingston, as an announcer. From there he went to program director and later into the sales department as sales manager, serving in this capacity for the last 20 months.

Active in community affairs, he was a member of the Lions Club, secretary treasurer of the Kingston Hockey Association, and a member of the Sports Writers and Sports Broadcasting Association of the Border League (Professional Baseball).

In July 1945 he married Eileen Walford, Galt and they have a two-month-old baby daughter, Linda Marie.

Mr. Baer is enthusiastic about the city in all but one respect: he is confronted with the housing shortage. Until he finds a home, Mrs. Baer and Linda Marie will remain in Kingston.

Stewart Horse Scratched From Big Race

Probably the most disappointed man in Peterborough today is Hugh Stewart of Hilltop Farm, at the west end of Weller St. His fast-Canadian gelding, Stewart Direct, is not going this afternoon in the $50,000 Golden West Pace stake at Santa Anita, Cal.

The Peterborough horse was scratched from the race early this week, shattering the hopes of Mr. Stewart and the thousands of harness fans of Ontario, and others across the border. He had made plans and booked plane passage for himself and Mrs. Stewart to be in the stand at Santa Anita this afternoon. Arrangements were summarily cancelled after receipt of telegrams and long conversation with Clint Hodgins, his representative on the coast.

To appreciate the emotions of Mr. Stewart this week it should be remembered that only a handful of horses qualify for the big money like that of the Golden West stake. An additional example of that survival of the fittest and fleetest is the Kentucky Derby that is being run this afternoon at Louisville, with only six starters, the smallest field in 40 years. Of the thousands of horses born in 1945, especially at all the studs in the United States, representing a vast industry and investment, only six emerge from the nominations and will line up in the stall gate for the running of the roses.

Mr. Stewart began his plans to enter Stewart Direct almost a year ago. Its performance around the circuit of Ontario tracks and across the boundary gradually persuaded him that his gelding deserved a chance in the event of May 1. Scores of horsemen agreed with him, and he sent him down during the winter in charge of Clint Hodgins, a widely known Canadian trainer and driver.

Advised To Withdraw

Then, on the eve of taking off for California, Mr. Stewart got a telegram from Hodgins telling him he didn't think the horse was quite mature enough for the company, and advising that the entry be cancelled. A big telephone account failed to change that prospect. Mr. Stewart virtually had to accept the advice of his agent. Stewart Direct had won three out of four races on the coast in recent weeks. In the other one he finished in fourth place. Mr. Stewart's own opinion was that his horse appeared from the results to be approaching peak form, and that his campaign had developed according to his hopes.

Friends of Mr. Stewart who have been talking with him this week probably sense a strong feeling that the Peterborough horse should be in there this afternoon.

Midst of War Being Fought In Three Different Ways News Agency Director Says

"It sounds unrealistic today to ask whether there is danger of war. We are right in the midst of a war which is being fought three different ways," Robert W. Keyserling, managing director of the British United Press, said Friday night in a lecture given under the auspices of the Catholic Teachers' Federation, held in the nurses' auditorium of St. Joseph's Hospital.

"Firstly there is the cold war fought at Lake Success and all other United Nations' meetings, in western Germany, in Italy, in France and by the subversive fifth columns of Communists in every western country from Bogota to Toronto and from Cape-town to Milan."

"Secondly there is the 'phony' war fought today in Berlin between the so-called Allied members of the Kommandatur where with drawn bayonets, cocked rifles and warmed up fighter planes the Western allies are jostling the encroaching Soviets. There are constant threats of their jostlings turning into a serious clash not only in Berlin, but in Vienna where Communist kidnapped victims are forcibly liberated by United States soldiers or in Trieste where Yugoslav patrols exchange fire with Italian or Allied border guards."

"The Real Thing"

"Thirdly there is the hot war, the real thing because there are hundreds of dead and wounded. It is a real war with artillery bombardments, with infantry action, with orphans and widows. No Greek widow or orphan, no Chinese soldier going into action or Chinese aviator warming up his Canadian or British or United States plane or artilleryman loading Canadian, British or United States shells will ask whether there is danger of war."

The speaker referred to Rt. Hon. L. S. St. Laurent's speech in the House of Commons Thursday when the Minister of External Affairs said that the flood of Communism must be held back. Mr. Keyserling said: "It is the first time in the rapid course of Communist expansion since 1945 that a next-door neighbor, a riparian of Moscow's growing empire, has dared to speak in such unmistakable terms about the avowed foreign policy of the Kremlin. For Canada, it must be remembered, is separated from Soviet Russia by no more than air and water—and not too much of either along Canada's longest frontier."

Clever Myth

"This realization is slow in coming for a myth had been cleverly propagated which obscured clear vision. It was the myth that we owed the valiant contribution made by the Russian people of our common victory over Hitler not to the century-old valor of the Russian soldier but to the political commissars of the Politburo."

"It was quite forgotten that long before Marx was born or either Lenin or Stalin had murdered their first political opponent, Russians soldiers had made military history."

"This myth served to throw an aura of respectability around groups of foreign agents who banded themselves together under the spurious mantle of a political party. We in Canada even had to let them out of imprisonment so they could surround themselves with some of Canada's better names and form friendship groups for their foreign masters. One of them Fred Rose is back in prison as a proven foreign spy, their organizer Sam Carr is a fugitive from justice."

Two Faces

"But what is this Communism which we are being called upon by our governments to stop? Just as the representatives of Communism seem to divide themselves into two categories, the guilty and the guileless, so also Communism seems to have two faces, the real and the imaginary."

Mr. Keyserling pointed out that the only factual Communism as it is practised, the Communism for millions of slave laborers, of the secret police, which rules through terror and suspicion. This new Communism is not new but very old for it is made of the same stuff that ancient tyrannies were made. Today Moscow's agents would like to re-impose on us, on our homes and on our very consciences that ancient tyranny where man but lives to serve the ruler."

The Guiltless Fall

"The second face, the imaginary one is the Communism of the guileless. It exists nowhere but in the imagination of the disillusioned souls who at all times and in all ages have built habitations in that never-never land of the soulless materialism they have themselves created."

"Today's most popular escapism from the reality of spiritual truth

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Fit Your New Home To You Not Yourself To It

No one thinks of buying a dress or suit that doesn't fit... yet countless Canadians each year make the unfortunate mistake of choosing a house that, while a model design, is completely ill fitted for their mode of living. This is true even though a home is the biggest purchase in their lives, with a financial outlay that's around two hundred times as much as the same people pay for that suit which is so carefully chosen to fit.

The Case of John Smith

There are countless examples that might be mentioned... John Smith and his happy-go-lucky wife for instance. John's as pudgy and jolly as can be... his only vice is a pair of carpet slippers that date back from Christmas, 1935, and he wears them constantly at home. Mary makes the most delicious apple pies ever and loves to spend a good deal of time putting around in her garden. They have a big English setter that's continually romping through the house, and their strictly informal parties are as likely as not to see a dart board set up in their pine-panelled kitchen, or corn popped over the living room fireplace.

But now... well, something seems wrong about their new home. You see, they decided on a Georgian style, demanding flawless furniture arrangements and perfect colour schemes, rich materials and elegant accessories... fitted for formal living, maid service and perfect appointments. It's not adjusted to John's slippers, informal entertaining, or corn-popping.

Formal Rooms for Formal Living. It's simply a case of their house not fitting their personalities... it's pathetically wrong for their tastes and architecturally wrong for their way of living. John and Mary would have been far better off with jolly colours, livable furniture arrangements, gay accessories and rooms informally combined.

How much better Mary would feel with a peasant decorated dining alcove than in the formal Georgian dining room she has now.

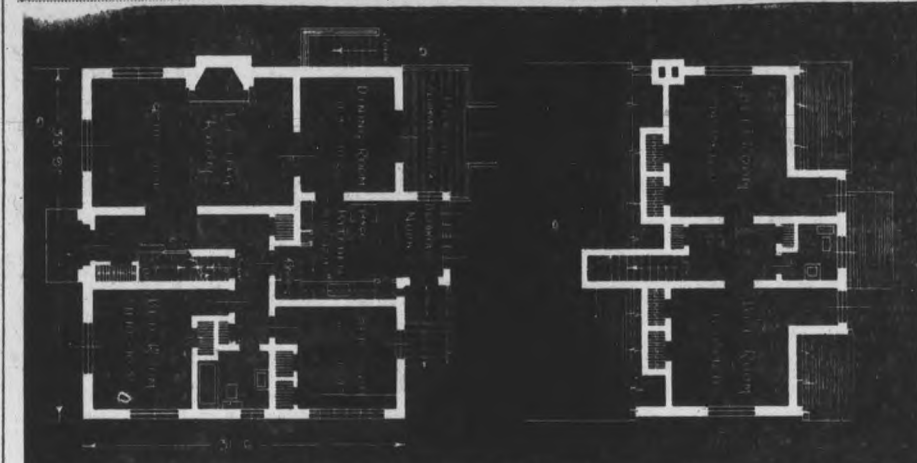

There are countless other examples we might mention... Bill Jones, a rugged type of individual, doomed to live among a profusion of ruffles. Seven-year-old Jimmy White whose need for a play yard was sacrificed to his parents' smart, sophisticated terrace. Bibliophile Allen Clark who has to keep books in an upstairs storage closet, culinary artist Mrs. Sawyer whose tiny two by four kitchen can't begin to hold all the herbs and flavoring that find their way into her masterpieces. Then there's Mr. Johnson who could have afforded a garden room... and forgot even a shed for tools, although he dotes on growing prize-winning dahlias.

The reason for so many families finding themselves with attractive yet unlivable homes is not too hard to find. Too many families simply don't take the time to take their family measurements. A little thought and time can make it possible to gauge your measurements accurately for the present and estimate them quite reliably for the future.

How Large Must It Be?

Fitting your home to you is first a matter of size. From the number of people in the family we may compute not only the amount of sleeping and living space necessary but even the number of kitchen cupboards that should be provided. But the natural cycle of the family... from the time children are added until they leave the family circle... makes demands, variable. With this in mind we must plan for inevitably changing family requirements... not only considering the possibility of adding or subtracting rooms but also of rooms the use of which is changed as family demands are altered. Every effort should be made to obtain an expandable plan. A good plan will also make possible the simultaneous duo-purpose use of rooms.

Ask Yourself These Questions
Ask yourself these questions before you allow yourself to be-

MOST ATTRACTIVE HOME—Chances are ten to one that you're going to be as fascinated with this house as we are. It's one of those love-at-first sight homes! Somehow it reminds us of a little Swiss music box... at any rate it's sweet music to the home-lover who likes simple lines. But don't let yourself be fooled, this home isn't as small as it looks. No, sir, there are seven and a half rooms! Besides the big living room, dining room, kitchen and breakfast nook, there are two bedrooms and baths on the first floor.

Then upstairs are two more bedrooms and another bathroom. You'd never guess, it would you. It is interesting to note that the entrance detail and bay windows are faced with plywood. The cedar siding is stained dark brown, contrasting sharply with the white trim. Living room and dining room have No. 2 oak flooring, kitchen and bathroom have inlaid linoleum, while the other rooms have edge-grain fir. Robert McKee was the architect and further information may be obtained from Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

you would like to spend it when the homework of life is made easier. This question may be your key to the whole thing, for in plotting the daily activities of each member of the family, individually and as they fit into the family scheme, you'll find housing needs will come quickly into sharp focus. You won't choose a house because it looks good then... but we'll bet it will look good all the same.

Yes, a house that fits your way of life, your tastes, your hobbies and your temperament will be a house that's comfortable, becoming, individual and satisfying.

Observer Editor To Speak Sunday

Dr. A. J. Wilson, editor of the United Church Observer, will be the preacher at the 115th anniversary of St. Andrew's Church which is to be held on Sunday, May 2 with services morning and evening. The first services of St. Andrew's congregation were held in a hall, near where the Canadian National station now stands on May 5, 1833. In 1835 a church was built on the site of the present St. Andrew's Church and the congregation has worshipped there continuously since. The present church was built in 1885 and in 1923 the Sunday school hall was rebuilt and extended. The last of the indebtedness due to this extension was paid off last year and the church property is now free of debt.

The choir will be assisted in the musical part of the service by Miss Hazel Solomon, ATCM, a young singer with brilliant dramatic soprano voice of exceptional sweetness and beauty, and the choir under direction of Mr. Harry Northrop, ATCM, will provide special music for the celebration. Mr. Northrop will also present an organ recital for 15 minutes before both morning and evening services.

The pastor, Rev. M. J. Aiken will have charge of both services.

At the close of the evening service there will be a brief social hour when friends of the congregation will have opportunity to greet the guests of the day.

Senate Gets Glimpse of Past As Pioneer Dan Riley Dies

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—Quite by coincidence and quite without any large significance, parliament was talking about the Russian menace and the late Dan Riley at the same time this week. The Commons was locked in a major debate on the foreign policy of a Canada that has become a vital, middle power in world affairs. The Senate was paying its eulogies to a grizzled old pioneer of Canada's western youth.

There was no particular connection, except that when you put the two together you caught a fleeting glimpse of growth, of time, of the essentially swift transformation from national childhood to national maturity that could still be encompassed in the lifetime of one man.

Dan Riley, Liberal Senator from Alberta, rancher, horseman, veteran of the Northwest Rebellion, was dead. Six years older than Confederation, he died this week, west at the age of 87. He used to tramp the corridors of parliament like a lonely, wistful shadow of the past, never quite at home among the petting issues of the modern world, proud that he would ride a horse almost to the day he died.

He used to like to talk about the days when he was a dispatch rider and the west was hunting Louis Riel. Or about the west the railways found. Or he would get an old marliner aside and talk about his youth in Prince Edward Island. Or he would yarn about foothills of the Rockies and the ranching life and his friends, the Indians. And when winter went and spring came he would always want to go back home.

The Senate recalled all these things this week.

But Dan Riley was dead. The past was dying. The links with origin were going. That was the thing you could feel. He was the only man left in Parliament who could wear the ribbon of the Northwest Rebellion. He was one of the few in Parliament whose birth predated Canada. So the Senate paid him tribute, and then passed on to other things, and the Commons stalked through the jungles of doubt and terror that are international affairs and you could feel the country moving on, into the towering tensions of the modern world, away from the past and the Rileys who knew and were the past.

Bequeathed Sword Of Napper Tandy

LONDON, May 1 (CP).—The sword that once belonged to Napper Tandy, one of most picturesque enemies of England that Ireland ever had, has been bequeathed by Maj.-Gen. Wanless-Gowan of nearby Farnham, to his son Lynedoch.

Gen. Wanless-Gowan once lived in Dublin where Napper Tandy came into the general's possession through an ancestor who received it after the Irish rebel was taken prisoner in a battle in 1798. Several times imprisoned, once sentenced to death and reprieved, according to legend through intercession from France, Napper Tandy died in 1803.

Among the songs in which his name was introduced was "The Wearin' o' the Green": I met wid Napper Tandy and he took me by the hand, And he said "How is Ould Ireland, and how does Ireland stand?"

She's the most distressful country that ever yet was seen; For they're hangin' men and women there was wearin' o' the green.

Question Right Of Woman To Get Mortgage

Litigation between the executors of the estate of the late Vincent Joseph Cranley, plaintiffs, and Hazel Julia Cranley, wife of the deceased, and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., defendants, continued all day on Friday at the Non-Jury session of the Supreme Court of Ontario before the Hon. Mr. Justice Genest.

Property in dispute is a 100-acre farm, valued between $3,000-$4,000 and located on the 8th line of Douro.

Plaintiffs claim that Mrs. Cranley had no title to mortgage a portion of this property which was held by husband and wife as joint tenants. They contend that the joint tenancy was entered into on the provision that Mrs. Cranley cease alleged misconduct and look after her seven children properly.

The executors say that by reason of subsequent alleged adultery and desertion she had not complied with the terms of the agreement and she should longer be regarded as joint tenant but tenant in common.

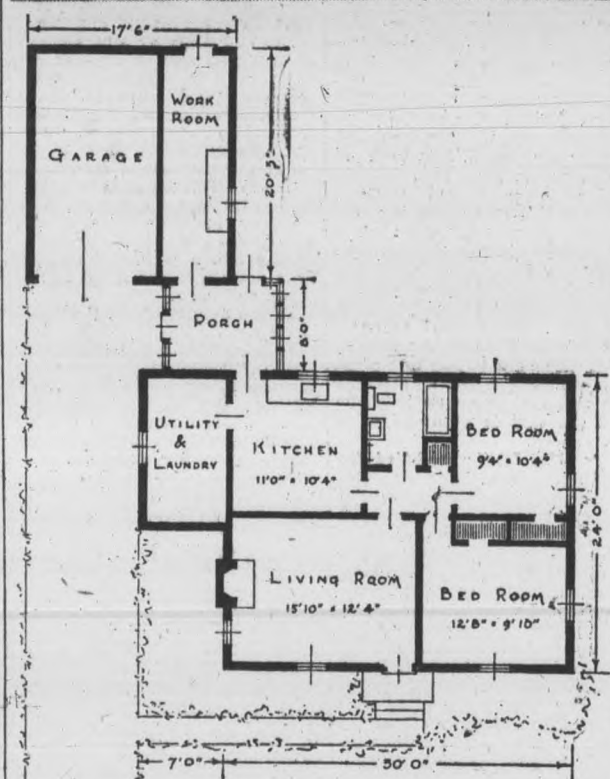

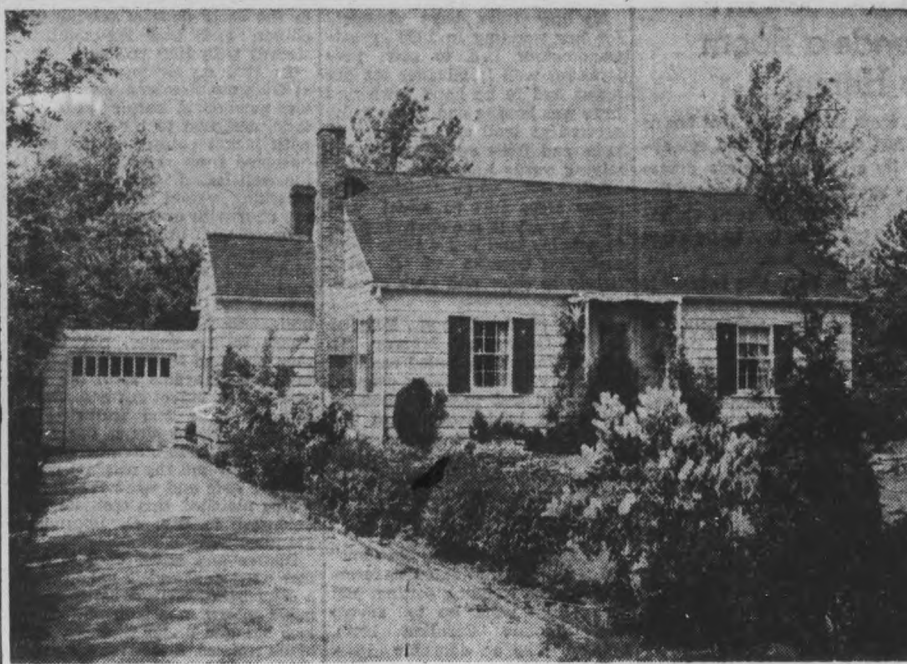

This was further complicated by the fact that Mrs. Cranley mortgaged part of the property to Mr. Gordon for $150 and he, without consulting the executors, installed Joseph Hoey as tenant on the property which was standing vacant. Plaintiffs who claim Mrs. Cranley had no right to mortgage the premises in the first place, contend that this action is trespassing.

Robert Joseph Allen, Douro, an executor, said that Mr. Cranley who died December 19, 1947, had on several occasions mentioned that he had family troubles. He said when he was on the Cranley farm when a sale was being held about two years ago Mrs. Cranley was not living there.

Wellington Joseph Buckley, an executor and former neighbor of the Cranleys told of the domestic troubles of the family. He said that the home was finally broken up in the summer of 1946 and the children sent to other homes approved by the Children's Aid Society. Cranley with four of the children came to live at his place. Last fall he said he was making a routine inspection of the premises when he saw a sign on the door saying that possession had been taken. It was signed by Mr. Gordon. Three days later he said Mr. Hoey and his family had moved in.

He said the executors had received no communication regarding this move and had subsequently received no rent.

Had Sought A Divorce When Cranley died he left a bank account of $1,800 with other assets since sold for nearly $500. Buckley said he knew of no debts. At the time of his death he had WITHOUT BASEMENT—Almost all of us are guilty of building dream houses. It usually starts when we promise to "love, honour and obey," at which time it's a little white cottage with a pretty garden. As the years roll by our imaginary homebuilding progresses through various stages, until, at long last, it is time to retire and the dream house we see through the smoke rings has become... a little white cottage with a pretty garden! In youth or old age this dream grips our imagination. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pegg decided to bring all this dream stuff to earth, and built this lovely garden home on Howard Avenue, Roseland, Ontario. Its exterior walls are wide lap siding painted white, shutters and roof are green. Heat is supplied by an automatic gas-fired hot air furnace in the utility room. There is no basement. Further information may be obtained from Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Robert John Cranley, Roger St., a nephew of the dead man, corroborated other witnesses' evidence that Mrs. Cranley had left her husband and family in 1946 and he said that he had delivered divorce papers to her while she was living near Minden. At that time he said he was told by Mrs.

John Cranley, 16, said his mother left two years ago this July. He testified that he had seen his mother several times since and on one occasion she was living with another man in a two-room shack near Minden.

Foreign-Born Canadians Given Warning

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—Foreign-born Canadians considering returning to their native countries were warned today they'll find things changed if they decide later to come back to Canada.

The Government released a statement drawing attention to provisions of the Immigration Act. One is that an alien living in Canada loses Canadian domicile by "voluntarily residing out of Canada with the present intention of making his permanent home out of Canada and not for a mere special or temporary purpose."

The statement was issued jointly by External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, State Secretary Gibson and Acting Resources Minister MacKinnon.

It is noted that the S.S. Radnik, a Yugoslav ship which took several hundred Yugo-Slav-Canadians to Yugoslavia in 1947, "is understood to be arriving shortly at a Canadian port."

"It is thought that a number of residents of Canada may intend to return to Yugoslavia by this ship," the statement added.

A Yugoslav citizen, for example, will lose Canadian domicile, and therefore the right to re-enter Canada if he goes to Yugoslavia with the intention of making his permanent home there. If, later, he wishes to return to Canada, he will have to apply to enter as an immigrant, as he did before his original entry to Canada...

MUNICH—Gen. Wilhelm von Thoma, former leader of German tank troops and later commander in North Africa, died yesterday.

BEATEN IN HOME — Mrs. Andrew Allan of Sarnia, wife of Capt. Andrew Allan of the CSL freighter Lethbridge, who told police she was beaten and robbed by two men who forced their way into her home Tuesday night.

Easing A Sticking Drawer

Never plane the top edges of a drawer. Remove the drawer and turn it upside down. Lightly plane, file, or sandpaper the bottom edges. Rub the edges and the runways with paraffin, which alone may work in milder cases. Most drawers are made of soft wood which swells and shrinks with the weather. Complete waxing can reduce this action.

Teen-Age Girl Needs a Room To Herself

A room of her own that boasts comfort, double duty and eye appeal is a teen-age girl's dream come true. A place to read, to listen to the radio, to work on her current hobby or just to be alone is important to her.

If possible, she'd like twin beds so that she can have one of her chums spend the night with her now and then. And even though the room may be small, there is usually space for twin beds of the mattress-and-springs-on-legs variety. Because these beds have no bed frame, they actually save 230 square inches of floor space.

The best springs, mattresses and pillows possible are, of course, the chief consideration in any bedroom. "Teen-agers as well as adults need level, resilient support to give them the quality of sleep which aids health, beauty and efficiency."

Headboards with selves in them to hold books, a small radio, clock and what-have-you, are ideal for the girl who likes to read in bed. A compact arrangement of sectional chests, cabinets and shelves along one or two walls makes wonderful storage space for accumulated possessions. She should have a small desk for homework and letter writing, too — and an easy chair if there's room.

If she's distinctly the feminine type, she'll be happier with bedspreads, draperies and dressing table skirt of gaudy or something equally frilly. If she's the tailored type, striped curtains or fine corduroy might have more appeal.

The right furnishings from both decorative and functional angles should be selected to suit the needs and preferences of the "teen-ager" as an individual. The should reflect her personality, from the pictures on the wall to the carpeting on the floor, to provide an atmosphere in which she can be herself and completely relax.

Married Couples Serve Tea To Pageant Guests

A profusion of "apple blossom" branches made a delightfully charming tea-room in the lower hall of Murray St. Church carrying out the traditional pink and white bridal theme. Guests who had been pleasantly entertained at the pageant Friday evening were afterward received at the tea by Mrs. C. Ruth, Mrs. C. Boorman and Mrs. Ivan Morgan.

A handsome tiered wedding cake centred the tea table where Mrs. A. Haddow and Mrs. P. Smednor presided. Bridal nosegays used by the models were the springtime floral note and tall pink tapers and tiny doll "bridesmaids" completed the pretty setting. The large room was filled to overflowing but all were quickly served as the husbands assisted their wives in this joint effort of the entire Young Married Couples Group.

A "shower" table where surprise packages were picked up from salesladies Mrs. E. Shiner and Mrs. G. Duncan, was topped by a frilly pink umbrella with streamers. Aprons in attractive designs were displayed at another decorated table and sold by Mrs. W. Osborne and Mrs. Ted Naish.

Mrs. Max Middleton and Mrs. Ken Jones were co-conveners of the tea. The very effective decorations were the work of Mrs. J. Arnot. While guests were finding seats Mr. Jack Buchanan played piano selections. All models in the pageant, which was convened by Mrs. Jack Buchanan, assisted in the tea room also. Kitchen preparations prior to serving were handled by Mrs. B. Wilkinson, Mrs. G. Whalley, Mrs. Wm. Rice, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. H. Doughty, Mrs. J. McCullough, Mrs. R. Bishop, Mrs. H. Trethewey, Mrs. L. Wilson and Mrs. L. Smith.

Teen Conference Is Summarized For Four Clubs

Four teen-age clubs of the YWCA held a miniature conference on "Youth With a Purpose" similar to the Ontario-Quebec conference held recently. The chairman was Mary Elizabeth Rowell. Eleanor McKee of the Friday Night Supper Club led in the opening and closing devotions. Keynote of the conference was read by Miss Annabeth Riedel. Miss Ruth Telford led a sing-song with Mrs. Muriel Hawkey at the piano. The town crier who summarized discussions of the Ontario-Quebec conference was Jean Russell of the Eager Beaver Club.

Delegates held a panel discussion which gave the girls who did not attend the conference a routine of proceedings. Mary Elizabeth Rowell read recommendations of the conference. They have decided: the purpose of the club be used either at the opening or closing of the meeting; that singing be a larger part of the program; that there be a recognition service for new members so they would meet other members and the executive. Prior to this conference, a buffet supper was enjoyed in the recreation room of the YWCA.

Wedding Gowns of Century Shown in Bridal Pageant

My how times have changed! For her wedding in 1850 great-grandmother had to start preparations well in advance for her gown had to be hand sewn and inserted as well as the series of tucks and frills and flounces involving yards and yards of material. But when finished the gowns were just as sweet and lovely as any of the charming designs today, and just a little more intriguing because of a wide variety in color and type of material.

Wives of the Young Married Couples Group at Murray St. Baptist Church modelled some of these very gowns Friday evening in a delightful pageant showing the actual bridal outfits of the past century. A capacity crowd in the Sunday school auditorium showed keen interest in the cut and design of the old gowns, and expressed thorough enjoyment of the evening's entertainment.

Dainty pink "apple blossoms" and rows of yellow daisies formed a typical wedding setting, and the curtain went up to reveal small blonde Caroline Ruth, looking like an adorable little bride with her escort, Barry Hill who was wearing a shiny black tuxedo-type suit that was the thing for parties in England 62 years ago. To complete the picture Barry sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", and the show was open. Mrs. C. Ruth president, introduced Mrs. J. Hayward as commentator. Mrs. Ivan Morgan at the piano played wedding marches and other pleasing old songs as the "brides" appeared.

Mrs. Don Harwood displayed the lovely ivory satin broncade gown she wore at her wedding in Aurora on September 20, 1947, and the children acted as pages to carry the train of her circular skirt. The tight bodice had a net yoke forming a drop shoulder line and she wore an heirloom gold pin that is about 50 years old.

Mrs. Jim Lusic modelled the wedding dress of her sister Mrs. J. Casey of Peterborough, married in 1945. It was of white embroidered muslin de sole over satin and her finger tip veil was caught to orange blossoms. The gown worn by Mrs. Jim Salenius, Peterborough, who is a China-born daughter of missionaries, when she married a native of Finland in 1938 was worn by Mrs. Frank Ephgrave. Distinguishing points were ruffles at the neckline and sleeves. Mrs. Clarence Boorman wore the gown of her sister-in-law Mrs. Wm. Ansell Taylor, married in 1936, which was of satin striped marquisette with small train and full puffed sleeves in three-quarter length. Mrs. Art Rightmeyer showed the gown she chose for her wedding in Murray St. Church in 1934, and Mrs. Clifford Willis wore the 1935 wedding gown of Mrs. Earl McNabb, wife of a church deacon, both made of eggshell satin with lace.

An unusual gown was that chosen by Dr. Agnes Moffat for her wedding in 1933 at a cottage on Spring Syde Beach, Peninsular Lake, and modelled by Mrs. Ted Naish. It was of silk organza with a long train of ruffles, leg-of-mutton sleeves that came to points over the hand and she wore an over-the-shoulder veil arrangement. Sixteen years ago Mrs. Lydia Telford, also well known in Peterborough, department from the traditional and chose blue lace and net for a lovely gown made with bolero jacket and wide frilled sleeves. It was modelled by Mrs. Len Wilson. A unique dress of appliqued yellow net with deep bertha collar was displayed by Mrs. Herb Tranter. It was 18 years old and shorter in length. By 1928 they were knee length as shown by Mrs. Wm. Osborne in a white chiffon gown with large bertha edged with accordion pleating, the property of Mrs. Charles Hamilton. Bugle bead trim marked the 1926 dress of Mrs. A. E. Buck modelled by Mrs. Jack Quinn, and the separate satin train that hung from the shoulders was a different idea. The height of fashion was reached in 1925 when a lovely wedding gown of white georgette was worn by Mrs. A. E. Buck and had two pointed flounces on the knee-length skirt. Mrs. Ken Jones was the model and she wore a net headdress trimmed with pearls and orange blossoms.

In 1915 an unusual wedding dress was of ankle length ivory crepe de chene, corded and frilled at the waist line. The owner, Mrs. C. Smith of Toronto, was among the interested spectators at the pageant, as Mrs. Earl McNabb modelled her gown. Mrs. M. Middleton wore an elaborate dress of shantung silk, 49 years old that had 12 hand-made blue folds adorning the skirt, a bertha collar trimmed with silk medallions and tucked, a georgette yoke and boned collar. Fifty years ago Mrs. F. W. Moffatt, mother of Dr. Moffatt, wore the gown shown by Mrs. M. Ward. It was two-piece, of organdie, boned and lined with moire and trussed with ribbon and lace and a moire bustle. The voile petticoat she wore had a drop flounce of lace inserts.

Mrs. George Hodgson modelled a story-book wedding gown of grey wool cashmere worn for her wedding at Larkfield in 1894 by Mrs. Frise, mother of Mr. Howard Frise. The waist was tiny and well boned and the high collar was trimmed with ribbons. A 60-year-old dress modelled by Mrs. Tom Smoothery was of china silk, tight waisted, boned and fully lined, worn over a ruffled petticoat of book muslin with frills and lace. It was all made by hand in the early days of sewing machines, and had leg-of-mutton sleeves with tiny ruffles.

In 1883 an Orangeman's bride at Glasgow, Scotland, on July 12, was gown in purple satin brocade, designed to the latest style with jacket pointed at the back, buttoned from the high collar to the well-boned waist. She wore a matching velvet hat tied under the chin with orange ribbons and adorned with orange flowers and she carried a bouquet of orange lilies. The striking costume was modelled by Mrs. Gordon Duncan. Back in 1880 skirts were voluminously full and pockets could easily be concealed, but brides then chose to have them inserted in the back seams as in the case of a brown velvet gown made on princess lines and featuring 36 covered buttons down the front with hand-made buttonholes. The model also had the original comb for her hair and wore the gloves which matched this costume that belonged to Mr. C. Boorman's grandmother.

Mauve and silver shot taffeta, fashioned entirely by hand, made a cameo-like costume with hand-made pillow lace trim and small lace hat tied under the chin with black ribbons. A lace hanky peeped from the hidden pocket in a skirt six yards around and hooped. It was worn by Mrs. Charles Holmes who also entertained delightfully with the favorite wedding song, "O Promise Me."

Mrs. Ken Jones wore the oldest gown of this century-wide showing. The bride was Mrs. W. H. Hales, grandmother of Mrs. Ernie Watson of Peterborough who was wed in Cobourg on July 18, 1855. Dainty blue flowered muslin was chosen and created by hand-sewing into a picturesque hoop-skirt gown, in the fitted bodice boned and lined.

To the delight of all, the three M's entertained with piano trio selections, "Over Hill and Dale" and "Le Carillon". The young artists are Margaret Martyn, Mary McBride and Mildred Hayward. Mrs. A. Aikenhead gave one of her humorous readings entitled: "Levinisky at the Wedding".

Badminton Club Hold Final Party

Annual Badminton Club dance, marking the close of a very successful season, was held Friday evening at Club Aragon. Members and friends who enjoyed the party included, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. K. Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. R. MacGregor, Miss Alicia Langley, Mr. Walter Perry, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shields, Miss Ruth McKee, Mr. Thos. Thomson, Miss Ruth Swenor, Mr. Don Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lucking, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Ireland, Miss Florence Boyer, Mr. Gordon Day, Miss Helen Mathias, Mr. John H. Pickett, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Miss Alice Perry, Mr. Fred Hayes, Miss Bonnie Bell, Mr. Bud O'Toole, Miss Mary Hanlon, Mr. A. Conlin, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Vince O'Donoghue, Mr. and Mrs. W. Elmley, Miss Gerry Lasher, Mr. H. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. H. Collingwood, Miss W. Jaquith, Mr. Peter Donoghue, Miss Mae Smith, Mr. A. Cadigan, Miss Doris Fenner, Mr. David Seymour, Mr. Joe Inglesby, Miss Jean Carew, Mr. Edward Boote, Miss Constance McKelvie, Mr. Bert Paul.

Betty Holdcroft Wed in Toronto

A small family wedding of interest was held in Kingsway-Lambton United Church, Toronto, Wednesday, when Betty Margaret, eldest daughter of Dr. Donald J. Holdcroft and the late Mrs. Holdcroft, Havelock, was married to Mr. William Duncan Jamieson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ross A. Jamieson, Toronto. Rev. Dr. F. J. Horwood officiated, assisted by Rev. H. A. Ben-Oliel, uncle of the bride. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Harper, brother-in-law and sister of the groom. The bride wore a suit of powder blue gabardine, hat of navy tulle banded with white flowers, and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Harper chose a suit of the same shade, with black and white accessories and Talian rose corsage. After the reception at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. S. G. Tatham, The Kingsway, the couple left on a short trip, and will live in Mimico.

James-Brooks

A pretty wedding took place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Lindsay, on Saturday evening, April 10, when Mary Isabel Brooks was united in marriage to Walter Allen James by the Rev. D. McQueen. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. John T. Brooks. She wore a brocade satin gown with lace yoke insert and carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and white sweet peas. Her sister, Miss Betty Brooks, was bridesmaid, frocked in pale blue dotted nylon and carrying Briarcliff roses with mauve sweet peas. The groom's brother, Mr. Harold James, was his attendant. Ushers were Joe Callahan of Lindsay and George Brooks of Hastings, brother of the bride. Mr. Cuff, organist, played the wedding music and Bruce Davidson sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because." A reception was held at the bride's home, after which the couple left on a trip. Mrs. James wore a green gabardine suit and black accessories. They will live in Peterborough where both are employed.

PEACE AND PLENTY—Three-year-old Hans Peter is shown with his mother in Montreal recently enroute to daddy (Maurice Singfield) in Granby, Que. Mother and son are from Germany and are among the 770 immigrants from that country, Poland and the Ukraine who were aboard the liner Beaverbrae which docked at Quebec City. Talking to the mother is Miss Y. Urbanwicz of the Travellers' Aid.

Household Hints

1. Burnt vegetables may be salvaged if they are caught in time. Shake them into another pan and add a little cold water. Heat or finish cooking. (Do not scrape any burned pieces into fresh pans.)
2. Slice a Spanish onion into the juice left from a jar of sweet mixed pickles. Leave in pickling syrup for a week — then use as pickle... very good.
3. Next time you make cream sauce, make twice as much as you need and put half of it in the refrigerator to use in a day or so. This saves both time and labor.
4. Prepare vegetables to bake, roast or steam in the oven at same time and so conserve electricity.

DOROTHY DIX

Wedding Day Is Often Heartbreaking Experience

IT'S MARY LOU'S WEDDING DAY! Her shimmering white satin gown with its accompanying full veil and orange blossoms are stretched out on the bed in the guest room just waiting for her to slip into them. The long table in the living room is covered with silver and crystal and china gifts, and the house is filled with excited chatter of bridesmaids and people coming and going.

But Mary Lou is alone, locked in her bedroom, sobbing her heart out because she has suddenly realized that she has come to the turning point in her life and that in an hour or two her whole world will be changed. She will have another name. Another home. Other friends. Other responsibilities. And she is frightened half to death over the fate that may await her.

It isn't that John isn't everything that she could wish in a husband. It isn't that she doesn't know that he will be true and kind to her. It isn't that she doubts his love for her. It is just that the thought of leaving Mother and Father and the little sisters and brothers and the old home and old friends with whom she has grown up has thrown her into a blind panic that makes John seem the strangest man in all the world to her, and makes her even doubt her love for him.

Not Always a Happy Bride
It is the common belief that a bride is sitting on top of the world on her wedding day. Perhaps it is for some, but for many another Mary Lou it is a heartbreaking experience that scars her memory as long as she lives.

Of course, if a girl marries the boy who has been her "steady" ever since their kindergarten days, and they settle down in the house next door, all of this tragedy is averted. But such is the irony of fate that likely as not Mary Lou marries a handsome stranger and goes a thousand miles away from her old home to live.

Then ensues what is ironically called the honeymoon, but which, in reality, is a period of suffering that entitles any poor young bride to a martyr's crown. For Mary Lou who has been brought up in a small town where everybody knew everybody else, who has always lived in a gay and noisy home, and who has belonged to all of the clubs and run all the societies, finds herself a stranger in a strange land, where no one knows her or wants to know her, where she has nothing to do except to think how lonesome she is.

And it isn't the husband's fault. He has to make the living. He has to work hard at his job all day and doesn't feel like stepping out at night. He doesn't even want to talk, because all day he has worn himself out trying to persuade and cajole people into buying things they don't want and doing things they don't want to do, and he can't understand why Mary Lou isn't satisfied just to sit up in a nice little two-by-four flat and watch him read the papers.

And the chances are that the young husband can't help his wife get acquainted and acquire a circle of friends, because most of the people he knows are the men with whom he is thrown in contact in business. And so the home-coming bride has to drink her cup of bitter tea, and learn to like it.

And they do. They learn to adjust themselves to new conditions. But the honeymoon isn't the happiest time of a wife's life.

For Sunday, May 2

Sunday's horoscope shows the time has arrived for a decisive and quick grasp for a favorable solution of pending issues, long hanging in the balance of doubt, complication, perhaps despair. And while there are difficulties, tempest, maybe vicious antagonism or strife, to vanquish, the last analysis with brilliant achievement, may be sagacious, far-reaching, and spectacular as well, involving a sharp about-face to pleasant, prosperous and social or romantic gratifications and joys.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have the encouraged vision of a sudden turn of events into constructive and pleasant channels, in which there may be surprising thrilling and far-reaching denouements, quite unpredictable and unplanned. There may be much opposition and acrimony as well as vicious strife or attack, in which the mental processes seem lagged or unable to comprehend. Nevertheless there is sign of friendly intervention, with encouragement from social, domestic, perhaps romantic sources, with sudden and dramatic crises.

A child born on this day may have a dramatic and adventurous career, with much to intrigue, and to test its talents and ingenuity. Its social, intellectual and romantic life will have many facets and thrills.

For Monday, May 3

Monday's astrological forecast is for a keen and decisive grasp of existing opportunities for promotion, expansion, new openings in which there is promise of substantial aid from those in influential places. But goals and objectives should be carefully developed, according to regulation formula and routines, that will meet advanced code for progress and major production. Large deals of scope and ambition which in personal or social factors are significant, bring pleasures as well as profit. Career, finances and romance are in line for happy denouements.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may plan for a period of flourishing, expanding and happy conditions, in which the most cherished and advanced hopes and wishes are ready for rich fulfillment. Meritorious and ambitious plans, properly planned, cleverly developed and sagaciously executed should win support from high places, in which credit, capital and preference are in sight. Career, professional ambitions, social and romantic goals are in line of progress, with concurrent pleasure and gratification.

Those whose birthday it is have every promise of progress, prosperity, preference, and fulfilled ambitions, as well as happy and gratifying social, professional and romantic affiliations.

Dos and Don'ts Listed For Raising of Children

By KAY REX

Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, May 1 — (CP). — Fond parents should try a little more diplomacy in bringing up their youngsters—if they want to take the nagging out of child-rearing.

In a breezy little booklet entitled "Obedience," the Health and Welfare Department lists eight dos and don'ts for parents.

1. Expect the child to obey—never let him get the impression that you expect him to do otherwise. If you expect co-operation, you are more likely to get it.

2. Make few demands, but be sure that those you make are carried out by the child.

3. Mean what you say — If you ask him to do something and then do not bother to see that it is done, he will soon get into the habit of paying you no attention.

4. Have the same general rules from day to day—if you are lax with your child one day and strict the next, he is confused and consequently becomes more difficult to handle.

5. Keep your temper — the surest way to make a child sullen is to lose your temper. Either he will lose his temper too, or he will learn to hold a grudge.

6. Do not order, but "ask" your child to do things—use of this method teaches the child co-operation.

7. Avoid bribery and coaxing — bribery will soon teach the child how to bargain with you. Coaxing is an admission of weakness and is an unfair appeal to the child's sympathy. He will soon tire of it.

8. Give the child suitable duties—from an early age he should be taught certain duties. In this way he will develop a habit of responsibility which will make it easy for him to co-operate in more important duties as he grows older.

When punishment of some sort is necessary the child should be put in a room by himself if he persists in wrong behavior. No child likes to be left out of the family group and to be removed from his playmates.

Spanking, strapping, or slapping should be used seldom, and then only as a last resort.

"If this punishment is used too frequently it creates a resentment in the child who is too small to defend himself," says the Health and Welfare Department booklet.

Bad habits will never be cured by spanking, scolding, shaming or bribery, says officials. They advise replacement of possible feelings of helplessness, guilt, or shame, by self-confidence and optimism.

"Correct wrong ideas about his difficulties and any thoughts the child may have concerning inherited traits."

Rhubarb Adds Zest To Spring Dinner

Long pinkish stalks of rhubarb with their spring-like green leaves are appearing on the market. With sugar in plentiful supply the flavor of rhubarb parfait will add sweet-tart flavor to a spring dinner.

As spring advances into summer the flavor of rhubarb changes. The family may be pleasantly surprised if during early-rhubarb time high-flavored preserves from the jam and jelly shelf are added or grated orange rind used in rhubarb recipes. Grated orange rind is particularly good when sprinkled over the top of an open lattice-top rhubarb pie. Later on fresh strawberries can be combined with the rhubarb, and when summer is here the family will welcome the natural tart flavor of the rhubarb itself.

Rhubarb Parfait

One-half pound fresh rhubarb (weighed without leaves), 2 cups hot water, 2 tablespoons minute tapioca, ¼ cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons strawberry preserves (optional) or grated rind of one orange (optional), 1 egg white (or ¼ to ½ cup whipped cream), soft custard-sauce.

Wash and cut the stalks into inch-long pieces; add to the water and bring to a boiling point, then lower heat and simmer until soft (about 5 minutes). (If the rhubarb has thickened add 2 or 3 tablespoons of hot water). Add the tapioca; stir over low heat until the tapioca is clear. Add sugar, then taste the rhubarb. Early in the season it may require the additional flavor of more sugar, preserves or grated orange rind, if desired. Divide the mixture in two parts; use one part to fill parfait or sherbert glasses. Fold into the other part stiffly beaten egg white or whipped cream and spoon this lightly on top of the parfaits. Chill. Just before serving you may want to add a tablespoon of soft custard to each serving.

54 Candidates Chosen By Three Parties

TORONTO, April 30 — (CP) — Nominating conventions for the June 7 Ontario general election were in full swing to-day with the total to date standing at 54 candidates chosen.

The CCF leads the way with 27 candidates picked from the 90 Ontario constituencies. The party, like the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives, plans to nominate in all ridings in the province.

The Progressive Conservative Party has nominated 13 candidates, the Liberals 11, the Labor-Progressive Party 2, and the Social Credit Party 1.

Nominating conventions were held in 18 constituencies Thursday night and 20 candidates were chosen — nine for the CCF, six Liberals, and five Progressive Conservatives.

Five of Thursday's choices are sitting members, including four PC and one CCF. Two were Cabinet ministers — Hon. Charles Daley, Minister of Labor, chosen in Lincoln, and Hon. William Griesinger, minister without portfolio, who was nominated in Windsor-Sandwich.

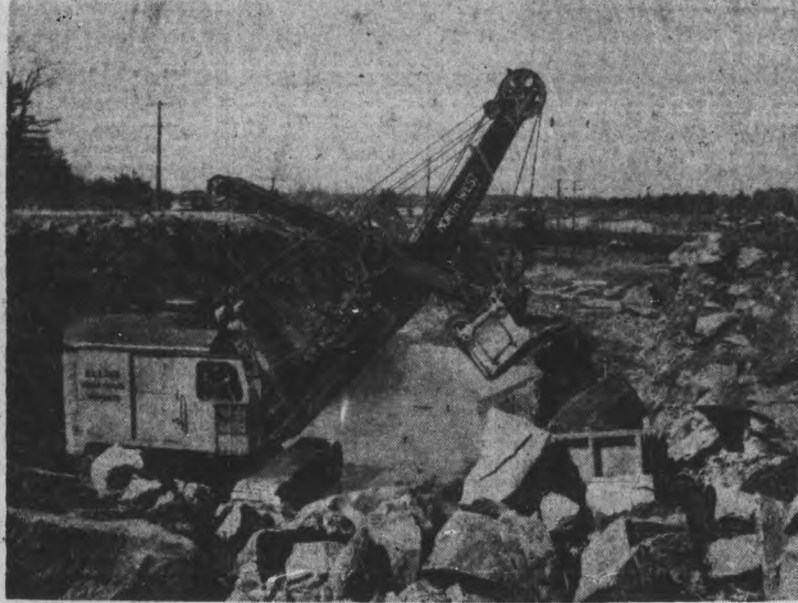

John Hanna, present member for Huron-Bruce was nominated again for the Progressive Conservative Party as was Thomas Dent in Oxford.

Other Nominations

George I. Harvey, CCF incumbent for Sault Ste. Marie, also received his party's nomination. Mayor Frank Kelly of Huntsville was picked to represent the Liberal party in Muskoka-Ontario. The seat is currently held by

Television Full of "Bugs" Sets Still Very Expensive

There are strings attached to television. And there are some knots in those strings. This dramatic industry is in its infancy so far as the general public is concerned, and the manufacturers, dealers, technical engineers, repairmen, telecasters, entertainers, advertisers, and the poised public are going to have to do a lot of co-ordinating and have harmonized co-operation to bring about satisfactory results and reduce complaints. Harry C. Kenney writes in The Christian Science Monitor.

This industry has grown so fast that the public is radically short of vital information. This is not the fault of any factor of the industry. It has not had the time or the personnel to do the publicity job. There have been many technical developments that have slowed the giving of information. No part of the industry is sure that what is true today will be so tomorrow.

There has to be television working in an area before factual information can be correct or the public can actually be told "yes" or "no."

In areas where television is about to be established, it does not necessarily mean that an enthusiast can rush to the nearest dealer and buy and have installed a set that is guaranteed to work. In fact, many legitimate dealers may not even sell him a set. They may not sell him a set even after television is in operation. The well-advised purchaser of a television set will first find out if a machine will operate properly in his vicinity and in his home at a nominal cost. In 90 per cent. of the cases it will work; for the remaining 10 per cent. there is a chance that it won't without very heavy expenditure.

Prices High

The set that is recommended for the home is the 10-inch "picture tube." There are a few 15- and larger. Prices range from $195 to $1,000 and more. There are table and console models. The set that will give satisfaction in the home costs approximately $400 set up and serviced for a year.

Let it be clear that a television set is just that. No more, no less. It is not intended to be a radio, FM, or a player of records. If one wants these units there are and can be provided with the television set. And in harmonizing cabinets.

The consumer cannot be too sure of his television reception until the telecasting studio and tower have been erected and are operating. When this is done engineers of the various manufacturers use mobile equipment, highly technical, to establish the "absolute zone" or where television can be properly received with certainty. This area about the station may not be an even circle.

It may be a saw-toothed ring. There will be areas, or pockets, where terrain, buildings, or other structures affect reception. This may not mean that reception is impossible, but it could mean that the problems involved will require special equipment and more than normal expenditure on the part of the consumer.

"Fringe Area"

Outside the absolute zone is the "fringe area," and the "subnormal marginal area." Here, paradoxically, the reception can be better or worse, according to the factors that support or resist the "signal" or picture. Television travels in a straight line, but when it hits a hill or a structure its gets confused and "bounces" and there is the problem to solve. This kind of problem can be met in some cases by putting up a small power antenna or by placing an antenna on the highest of buildings.

Living in a suburb in a one- or two-family house is not expected to provide major problems unless buildings, terrain, or some unforeseeable obstacle is present. And in most cases these problems can be surmounted. An apartment house is another thing. Each set must have a special antenna. It is not large, but it normally goes on the roof. Where there are, say, 75 apartments in one building, and everyone in the building wants a set, that means 75 antennae on the roof. Will the apartment owner endorse this? If each tenant in the apartment building where I live buys a television set, there will not be enough room for the antennae. But there can be a "master" antenna. This, however, is expensive.

Costly Procedure

To wire a moderate-sized apartment building would cost thousands of dollars. All the tenants are not going to buy sets at the same time and it is safe to say that on buildings now in use the an inside antenna will work. Owners will be slow to provide the expensive equipment.

However, in a majority of cases factually if the building is within the absolute zone where the signal or picture is strong with no absolute obstructive conditions.

Two Appointments

OTTAWA, May 1—The Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence, today announced the appointment of two senior RCA officers to positions abroad. Group Captain L. H. Randall, DFC, St. John, N.B., and Ottawa, becomes Air Attache in Moscow, USSR, and Wing Commander H. M. Kennedy, AFC, Winnipeg and Ottawa, is appointed Attache in Brussels, Belgium. Group Captain Randall has been promoted from the rank of Wing Commander on appointment as Air Attache. Both appointments become effective May 1.

Travel and Publicity Minister Arthur Weish

Other nominations last night: Progressive Conservative — William S. Gibson, York South. Liberal — Edward J. Atkin, Essex South; Wylie Rodman, Sault Ste. Marie; Leslie Glazier, Hamilton-Wentworth; Dr. M. T. Armstrong, Parry Sound; C. A. Elliott, Peterborough.

C.F.P. — Leslie E. Wismer, Toronto-Rivardale; Harry Walters, Toronto-Braceandale; and Joseph L. Easton, Wentworth.

Boy, 10, Risks Treacherous Ice To Rescue Chum WINS DOW AWARD

GORDON ST. ONGE OF WINDSOR, ONT., feared parents' scolding more than danger to himself

It was early in February... and the ice on the Detroit River looked safe enough — near the shore at least — for the four boys to walk on. But, as boys will, they ventured out too far... and, almost before they knew what had happened, a large section of the ice gave way... and into the frigid waters fell young Maurice Palwada.

TWO BOYS RUN FOR SHORE

The two older lads, panic-stricken, raced in to shore. But not so 10-year-old Gordon St. Onge. The sight of his chum foundering helplessly in the water urged Gordon to act. Gingerly he started to walk towards the edge... and then hearing an ominous cracking noise, he got down and crawled.

Gradually, inch by inch, he reached the water's edge... and slowly dragged Maurice out of the river, onto the ice, and in to shore. He then took the shivering little victim home.

Gordon St. Onge of Windsor, Ontario, is a modest hero. In fact, his greatest worry when crawling over that treacherous ice was not the danger to himself. It was the thought of the scolding his parents would probably give him when they learned of the incident.

We are proud to pay tribute to this brave and unselfish boy through the presentation of The Dow Award.

The two older boys headed for shore... but Gordon stayed on the dangerous shell ice... determined to rescue his young friend. Slowly, as lightly as possible, he crept nearer the water.

Carefully Gordon dragged the exhausted boy along the ice... realizing that at any moment they might both be thrown into the water. But luck was with them... they reached shore safely.

UAW Committee Set Strike Date

DETROIT, May 1 — (AP) — The United Automobile Workers (CIO) today set May 12 for a strike of 75,000 employees in 13 plants of the Chrysler Corporation.

The union's top policy committee approved this date for the strike on recommendation of Norman Matthews, its national Chrysler director.

The U.A.W.-C.I.O. and Chrysler began negotiations Feb. 27 with the union asking a straight wage boost of 30 cents an hour. The current wage averages $1.50. The union also asked "fringe" concessions such as better vacations, pensions and the like totaling about five additional cents. Chrysler's only offer to date came a few days ago and was for six cents an hour. The U.A.W.-C.I.O. promptly rejected it and the Corporation then withdrew it.

All legal barriers to a strike previously have been removed.

There was no immediate comment from the company.

Emile Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, headed the policy committee meeting in the absence of President Walter Reuther, in hospital after a shotgun attack 10 days ago.

Meanwhile Chrysler and Briggs Manufacturing Company prepared to put into effect layoffs blamed on the steel shortage. General Motors Corp. continued a program of similar layoffs.

EDMONTON, May 1 - (CP).
 Frank Currie, coach of the western champion Edmonton Flyers, describes his squad as "fit" tonight's second game of the 1948 Allan Cup hockey final. The play Ottawa Senators for the senior amateur championship of Canada, Edmonton having won the first game of the best-of-seven series in Regina Wednesday 6-2.

Currie ran his charges through a "light skate" last night and was pleased with their form. "Pretty good" was his finding.

Coach George Boucher of the Ottawa club could not be reached for comment. He put his club through a stiff workout yesterday afternoon to shake out "kinks" he said bothered the team in Regina.

Getting back to the Flyer camp,
 Coach Currie had welcome news for his followers. Captain Gordon Watt probably will return to his defence post after a two-week absence. His return, while "not definite," is "pretty sure" and comes just in time. Doug Lane, who has been filling in for Watt, developed a sore foot at the practice and could play only under handicap.

Odds quoted about gave Flyers a 2-2 edge on tonight's contest.
 On the series they have been installed as 8-5 favorites.

Third game of the set will be here Monday, with the fourth and fifth, if necessary, in Calgary. Any remaining game that may be necessary will be played here.

Nominate Drew
In High Park

By The Canadian Press
 Premier Drew was nominated last night as Progressive Conservative candidate in Toronto High Park riding in the Ontario election June 7. Since 1943 he had twice been elected in that riding.

In an address to the nominating convention he hit back at opposition groups for their personal attacks on him.

"Any person who says I or those associated with me are influenced or financed by the liquor interests is a contemptible liar," he declared.

In another nominating convention, at Chatham, H. C. Nixon, member of the legislature for Brant and former Ontario premier, declared that if there is an election issue in Hydro it is not on the question of conversion. Rather, it is on what he called "gross mismanagement" of Hydro.

He claimed that if an efficient administration vigorously pushed Hydro development there would be no need for a power shortage.
 Mr. Nixon is seeking re-election in Brant. The convention named George Fry as the Liberal candidate for West Kent.

Other nominations last night:
 Haldimand-Norfolk - Charles
 H. Martin, Progressive Conservative.
 London-Oliver-Hodges, CCF.
 Windsor-Sandwich - Alderman
 M. Catherine Straith.

Chatham-John Foot, Progressive Conservative.

County Farm Notes

—By HARRY THEOBALD

Pimmett Shorthorn Bull Brings Top Price At Western Ontario Sale . . . Ernie McWilliam Plans Extension of Hybrid Corn Test . . . Artificial Breeding Begins in Peterborough.

CONTINUE CORN TESTS

"There is no reason to doubt the success of grain corn in Peterborough county," says Ernest McWilliam of Dewar Milling Co. "What we must do, is plant the right variety at the proper time in the field best suited to fit. This can be established only by well conducted tests of all the common varieties under different conditions."

Mr. McWilliam put his own effort into a demonstration of different varieties of hybrid corn on the farm of Mr. John Lillio, North Monaghan, and with his co-operation last year.

"If present plans materialize, a continuation of last year's corn experiment will be carried out in the county, testing our established varieties, plus some new ones not as yet under general cultivation," Mr. McWilliam said yesterday. "The control of corn borer by field spraying will be incorporated with other factors in the test. It is hoped by continuing the experiment that much useful information will be obtained for the general benefit of the community."

Mr. McWilliam has something further to say about control of the European corn borer as essential to make production of grain corn a success.

"The borer is a moth in the adult stage, depositing its egg masses under the leaves of the young corn plants. These hatch into the larvae stage or grub that quickly bores its way into the stalk and ears of the plant, hence its name. This pest winters in old corn stubble, emerging the following year to attack the new crop. Therefore, it is of the utmost importance that we clear up all this stubble in order to retard the spread of the insect. Profitable production of grain corn will be difficult unless we practice to control this menace."

We will have to adopt the general practice of liberal applications of manure plus commercial fertilizers to our corn fields to produce satisfactory yields, and maintain soil fertility. Corn produces a tremendous volume of feed, and all the basic nutrients of the plant come from the soil. We must replace what has been removed, if we are to stay even with the heavy drain on our soil. That fact indicates the importance of adding commercial fertilizers to the manure."

As corn is a tilled crop and is cultivated while growing, it does not produce a soil cover. This will cause heavy run-off and leaching. If proper selection of corn fields is ignored. To plant corn on a hillside is to ask for trouble from this source, if the rainfall is abundant.

Several farmers have planted corn during the last two or three years with moderate success. They are to be complimented on their initiative for settling the example which others may follow. It is through the efforts of individuals who are willing to try new methods that progress is made.

Interest is being stimulated in the production for grain in this area. Factors effecting this trend include the low yields of oats and barley for the last few years; the introduction of early maturing hybrid corn, and the realization that corn can assume an important place in our grain growing program."

TOP BULL AT LONDON

"Ransom Field Marshall" from the Shorthorn herd of M. H. Pimmett and Sons of Indian River was the top selling entry at the 64th semi-annual western Ontario consignment sale at London this month. He was bought for $775 by Allen J. Sinclair of Denfield, Ont.

The largest amount paid for an animal in the 32 years of this sale was $900. The young Pimmett bull takes second place in that long record.

Ransom Field Marshall is a year old. He is out of the same dam as Rosewood Bloom 6th, top female of the Blue Ribbon sale last November, which was bought for $400 by Maxwell Farms of Ohio. He is the first calf of the Pimmett junior herd sire, Thorn-Judge Field Marshall, a grandson of the $15,000 imported Millhill Ransom.

M. H. Pimmett and Sons had the high average of all consigners to this month's sale. They sent two entries, the second being a yearling heifer bought by Lawrence Wiles of Lakefield. The Pimmett average was $525.

RECOMMENDS SHEEP

Canada is one of the largest per capita wool consuming countries in the world, and provides a market for approximately 112 million pounds of grease wool, about 10 million of which is produced at home. That is one of the facts quoted in an article, "Why We Should Raise More Sheep," by J. A. Telfer, associate chief, Livestock Production Services, Ottawa.

Lamb meat production in Canada is about equal with present consumption, or in the neighborhood of 50 million pounds. The small consumption of mutton and lamb leave plenty of room for expansion. Lamb meat is known to be nutritious, easily digested and healthful. Canadians could easily assist a home industry by eating more lamb.

One additional lamb chop to the present per capita consumption would furnish a market for an extra 125,000 carcasses of lamb. Two chops generally constitute a meal serving of meat, thus an extra meal of such proportion in weight for each person in Canada would require no less than an additional quarter of a million lambs, which would represent a very considerable increase in sheep and lamb production.

Mr. Telfer says: "In view of the future prospects for increased demand of lamb meat and wool goods in Canada, livestock producers would do well to give sheep production greater consideration."

HYBRID CORN TESTS

Renfrew Crop Improvement Association and the agricultural committee of Pembroke Kiwanis Club are supplying 5 boys and girls each with sufficient hybrid corn to plant one acre. Their experiment is with varieties No. 240 and No. 275, maturing respectively in 80 and 85 days. The two groups have the co-operation of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The Renfrew Crop Improvement Association are testing two other hybrid varieties on three farms. The seed is supplied by the experimental farm at Ottawa. Yields last year at the Dominion farm were 40 to 50 bu. of grain an acre.

AGRICULTURAL QUIZ

Frank Paterson proposed an agricultural quiz as a new feature of the junior farmers' section of the Peterborough Exhibition, when A. H. Martin of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in the counties of this district and members of the Exhibition Board met here this week. Miss Florence Eadie of the girls' branch of the Department was also present. Broad plans were drafted for the renewal of this section of the Exhibition. Originally it was a project which was instituted at the Peterborough show, and was adopted elsewhere.

BELLEVILLE BREEDING UNIT

Oliver Dalrymple, Stirling, agricultural representative in Hastings county, reports 750 farmers have joined the artificial insemination breeding unit that is being organized at Belleville. The territory extends from Durham to Frontenac and includes Prince Edward. The membership is expected to be increased before June 1 when the executive expects to be ready to begin operating. Nine Holstein bulls have been bought. Premises have been acquired a mile and a half west of Belleville, a staff has been engaged, and barn construction is now awaiting delivery of equipment.

BEGINS LOCAL WORK

Artificial insemination of cattle in Peterborough branch of the Maple Breeders' Association began Thursday. Gordon LaPlante, technician here, reported that his first call was at the farm of C. E. Moore of Smith, one of the most active promoters of the local branch. Two other services that day were at the farms of Ken Rollins in Smith and M. H. Kowan of South Monaghan. Mr. LaPlante is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward LaPlante of this city. He has been farming several years in Victoria county. As a boy he worked during holidays on an uncle's farm, worked for a while in a local industrial plant, but agriculture had too strong an appeal for him.

CONDUCTED SERVICE

Don Milburn conducted the church service last Sunday night, opening the three-day conference of 600 junior farm leaders at the Ontario Agricultural College Burritt Mann, also of the Peterborough delegation, assisted in the service. They were accompanied by Reg Ferguson, Jack Mitchell, Elaine Savigny and Blanche Quinn. Westley Down of Hilton, Northumberland, president of the provincial juniors, said the world needed the collective thinking of young people who have grown up in the clear air of country life. He warned the members against the encroachment of false philosophies which were seeking to destroy the democratic way of life.

Canada To Wait And See What U.N. Action Develops On Palestine

McNaughton Urges Using Every Possible Means To End Holy Land Strife; Committee Scheduled To Continue Talks

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, May 3—(CP).—Canada today held a "wait-and-see" attitude towards United Nations deliberations on the Palestine problem. Although the Dominion has urged that the United States suggestions of a trusteeship for embattled Palestine be studied, she wants assurance that the plan will work before voting for it.

Parcel Bomb Sent Captain, Kills Brother

WOLVERHAMPTON, England, May 3 (AP).—A parcel bomb addressed to Capt. Roy Farran, acquitted of killing a Jewish boy in Palestine, exploded today, killing his brother, Rex Farran, 26.

The bomb, enclosed in a copy of Shakespeare's plays, was delivered at the Farran home this morning.

Young Farran was alone in the house. The explosion shattered windows.

Police said the parcel was mailed in Britain. The inside of the book had been cut away to make room for the bomb.

The Jewish youth, Alexander Rubowitz, 18, disappeared last May 6. The Stern Gang, Jewish underground organization in Palestine, claimed him as a member.

The military court which acquitted Roy Farran ruled that Rubowitz had not been proved dead. He was abducted while posing signs for the Jewish underground.

The prosecution based its case largely on a light gray hat which it said was found nearby and bore the name Farran.

In February the King decorated Farran for valor in the French and Italian campaigns.

A war office spokesman said Capt. Farran recently was demobilized, and his whereabouts was unknown.

He recently revealed that two letters had been received at his home here apparently threatening him with death.

Insurance Broker Gets Two Years

TORONTO, May 3—(CP).—Terrence O'Reilly, 59, former insurance broker, was sentenced today to two years and six months on four charges of receiving stolen bonds and five of retaining.

Evidence in the case had revealed that most of the bonds were stolen in Ontario bank robberies during the last few years.

The bonds were traced to O'Reilly after he placed them in different Toronto banks to obtain loans.

E. A. Richardson, defence counsel, described O'Reilly as "just careless, and a crook's tool."

Works 43 Years In Secret Hagana To Come Into Open

TEL AVIV, Palestine, May 3—(AP).—Hagana, the first Hebrew army to take the field in the Holy Land in 2,000 years, will come into the open in the next fortnight after 43 years underground.

Unofficially estimated at 53,000 strong in full battle strength, the new Jewish army is already fighting with considerable arms of its own making and in uniforms of its own manufacture.

It is an army still without insignia. Its officers are without formal rank. Its heroes without decoration. But in five months of almost ceaseless combat action, it has not yet yielded a single Jewish settlement or village in or out of the partition lines of the Jewish state.

And in that time it has been in action against the all-Aran Yarmuk liberation army of Fawzi Bey el Kaukji, troops of Trans-Jordan King Abdullah's British-trained Arab legion, and the forces of the armies of Syria and Lebanon.

Tornadoes Kill 21, Hurt 100 In Seven States

KANSAS CITY, May 3—(AP).—Tornadoes and violent windstorms whipped across seven States during the week-end, killing at least 21 persons and injuring more than 100. Property damage was heavy.

West Virginia and Kentucky communities were lashed by tornadoes last night. Twisters hit in Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas Saturday. High winds and heavy rains occurred in Indiana and Illinois.

The death toll by States: West Virginia, six; Kentucky, four; Oklahoma, five; Missouri, three; Kansas, two; Illinois, one.

In West Virginia, a tornado winds ripped through six rural communities near Clarksburg in the northern part of the State. Police reported more than 65 persons had been injured. Highways were blocked and communication lines were down, hampering rescue operations.

First of the dead to be identified were Wayman Taylor, 30, and Maggie Metzger, 45. Both died after being brought to hospital. Taylor's wife and one of his children—five year old son who was found under eight inches of mud with only an arm protruding—were reported in critical condition. Another son was reported missing.

The storm struck at 9 p.m. EST last night. Throughout this morning the search for victims continued amid rain-beaten hills and flattened farm houses.

Blown 100 Feet
A 240-pound farmer told how he had been blown for 100 feet. "I was asleep when my wife heard the roar and awakened me," he continued. "When I tried to open the kitchen door the house was blown away."

In Kentucky, a tornado hit Alpha, a community of 140 population. Two persons were reported killed and at least 15 were injured.

Most of those injured were in the Davis Chapel Church, which was destroyed. The floor of the church remained but the walls had been blown 20 or 30 feet of their foundation.

Ten persons were killed and at least 38 were injured in the tornadoes in Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas.

A storm struck in the Grand Lake area of northeastern Oklahoma, hitting the resort towns of Bernice, Whiteoak and Grove. Five persons were killed at Bernice. Thirty-one persons were injured in the Grand Lake area.

Sixty miles north of the Grand Lake area, twisters hit near Erie, Kas., killing two persons and injuring five.

Plan 6,000 Reservists Train At Petawawa

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP).—More than 6,000 reservists will take summer training at Camp Petawawa, big army base 110 miles northwest of here.

The army said today the first of six one-week courses is scheduled to start July 4. Maj. Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding central command, will be in charge.

All reserve units in central command, with the exception of anti-aircraft and signals, will train at Petawawa. From Quebec and eastern commands will come units of the armored corps, field, medium and anti-tank artillery, and engineers.

Anti-aircraft and signals regiments of the three commands will be in camp at Picton and Berrieland.

Women are called up, too, but although some get training with arms, they are not given combat assignments.

On Special Mission

PARIS, May 3—(AP).—Myron C. Taylor said today that he is "in Paris on a special mission for the President, but I'm working for Mr. Truman and he does the talking." Taylor, the President's special representative at the Vatican, said he could not discuss a report he was sounding out European governmental leaders on the possibility of outlawing Communist parties.

Find No Sign Of Invasion By Arab Army

48-Hour Truce Maintained
Across Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, May 3—(AP).—Jews insisted today, in the face of denials, that Syrian and Lebanese armies have invaded northern Palestine.

Britain rushed soldiers back into the country to deal with what they called a "seriously deteriorated" situation, less than two weeks before the May 15 termination of her mandate.

The truce, enforced by the Highland Infantry, apparently was being respected. Its spirit was evident all over Jerusalem. Not a single shot was heard today from within the city, either in the new or in the old quarters. Sporadic fighting was audible from some outer suburbs.

The first British reinforcements were an estimated 1,000 soldiers in full battle dress who reached Haifa yesterday from Cyprus aboard a troopship.

Before that competent sources had estimated British strength in Palestine at 25,000 troops, including skeleton armored and gun forces. The British army has been shipping out under a pledge to be gone by Aug. 1.

Official sources in Amman, Trans-Jordan, said Thursday that Syria, Lebanon, Egypt and Iraq would send at least 30,000 regulars to "rescue Palestine before May 15."

The strength of the Jewish militia Hagana is estimated unofficially at 53,000 and that of the underground Irgun Zvai Leumi and Stern group together at 2,500 to 7,000.

An Arab invasion Saturday of Palestine's northernmost thumb, said in Tel Aviv last night that attacks on five Jewish settlements there had been beaten off but Syrian troops still were massing on the border.

The latest announcement said Kamot Natfali had been attacked with tanks, armored cars, 25-pound cannon and mortars, and Lahavot Habashan, Kefar Szdol, Dan and Dafne also had come under assaults, which had subsided. British statements yesterday.

Impose Price Freeze On Non-Essentials

LONDON, May 3—(AP).—A price freeze on virtually all non-essential British consumer goods at the December-January level went into effect today.

The Board of trade announced the move Feb. 13 to hold down profits and prices as compensation for a wage freeze previously ordered to combat inflation.

Only non-essential consumer goods not affected are jewelry, books, newspapers and tobacco. Food and essential goods already were under strict price control.

The new order is designed "to hold the line while manufacturers and distributors consider a government request that they work out their own plan for cutting prices and profits."

Canada's General Wage Level During 1947 Shows 12.2 Per Cent Increase Over 1946

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP).—Canada's general wage level in 1947 was up 12.2 per cent over the previous year, a preliminary index, released today by the Labor Department, discloses.

The level for last year was 74 per cent above that of 1939, used as the basis for the survey by the department's research and statistics branch.

Heavy increases over 1946 were noted in four of the six main industrial groups. Biggest jump came in logging, where the rise was 16.8 per cent. By comparison with 1939, wages in the logging industry were up 95 per cent.

Other increases were 15.7 per cent in services, such as laundries; 15.3 per cent in mining; and 14.7 in manufacturing. Against 1939, wages in services were up 70 per cent; mining, 62 per cent, and manufacturing, 85 per cent.

Lesser increases were observed in the construction industry and in transport and communication.

Streamlining Blamed For High Price

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP).—The Prices Committee was given some practical suggestions today by which the housewife could cut her family's cost of living.

They came from Alfred Hales, a Guelph butcher and national director of the Retail Meat Dealers' Association.

Mr. Hales thought he consumer demanded too much "streamlining" of meat. He admitted that it had nothing to do with the last fortnight's rise in meat prices but he felt the housewife could do quite a lot to offset that.

In the first place, he pointed out, the housewife demands her bacon with the rind removed, sliced and wrapped up in a piece of cellophane.

The extra processing of the bacon cost her additional money which could be saved if she bought unsliced bacon.

Then Mr. Hales continued, she wanted her ribs roasted and tied with a piece of string. It might be harder to carve plain prime ribs of beef, but it was cheaper.

The committee wanted more suggestions from Mr. Hales.

"I think the good old Irish stew has gone into oblivion in some sections of the country," he replied.

He recommended beef hearts as cheap, solid meat, free from waste.

Upset Reported
In Wedding Plans

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, May 3—(AP).—An aide to former King Michael of Romania said today he "could not confirm or deny" reports that Michael's marriage to Princess Anne of Bourbon Parma has been postponed indefinitely. The aide is Maj. Jacques Vergotti.

An individual close to Michael's household said there "seems to be a conflict between religion and politics."

"He was supposed to marry her this month in Denmark, but certain complications have developed," the source said.

2,000 Guerrillas Bag
In Greek Campaign

ATHENS, May 3—(AP).—Authoritative sources said today 2,000 Guerrillas have been killed, wounded or captured in the south central Greek campaign.

The operation apparently is ending. Two small groups totaling 300 men were reported trapped and under attack on the high points of Mt. Ghiona. Another 200 were in a bag on Mt. Helicon.

King Paul and members of the government attended final rites for Justice Minister Christos Ladas, killed by an assassin Saturday.

It's Allies' Fault

BERLIN, May 3—(AP).—The official Russian press told the people of Berlin today that their city was destroyed by "indiscriminate" bombing of British and American fliers. The Soviet press said the city's survival was due to energetic measures taken by the Soviet army to feed the population and restore public services after the conquest.

INVADING PALESTINE—Arab Legionnaires, such as those above passing in review during a parade, have been reported to have invaded Palestine while unofficial sources also stated that troops from Egypt are ready to cross the southern border of the Holy Land.

Chiang Promises To Crush Reds Even If It Kills Him

NANKING, May 3—(AP).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, challenged by mounting dissension within his own party, promised today to crush the Chinese Communists even if it kills him. Meanwhile the economic front felt the impact of the grueling civil war.

A flood of capital from Communist-endangered north China area contributed to answer drop in the Chinese, yuan. The new exchange rate: 850,000 to $1 (US).

Chiang told 1,000 Kuomintang (Government party) assemblymen: "Bowed by heavy burdens, I will exhaust every ounce of my strength in this great cause though I die."

His voice broke with emotion as he related he had heard murmurings of dissatisfaction against the government and disbelieved in his April 9 report to the nation.

No Danger Of Collapse
At that time he said economic conditions were not grave; that despite loss of seven divisions in Manchuria, "Nationalist China will not collapse in six months, six years or even 60 years."

"You must believe what I said," he pleaded. "I will not deceive you. I will lead you to destroy the Communists."

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, May 3—(AP).—An aide to former King Michael of Romania said today he "could not confirm or deny" reports that Michael's marriage to Princess Anne of Bourbon Parma has been postponed indefinitely. The aide is Maj. Jacques Vergotti.

An individual close to Michael's household said there "seems to be a conflict between religion and politics."

"He was supposed to marry her this month in Denmark, but certain complications have developed," the source said.

2,000 Guerrillas Bag In Greek Campaign

ATHENS, May 3—(AP).—Authoritative sources said today 2,000 Guerrillas have been killed, wounded or captured in the south central Greek campaign.

The operation apparently is ending. Two small groups totaling 300 men were reported trapped and under attack on the high points of Mt. Ghiona. Another 200 were in a bag on Mt. Helicon.

King Paul and members of the government attended final rites for Justice Minister Christos Ladas, killed by an assassin Saturday.

It's Allies' Fault

BERLIN, May 3—(AP).—The official Russian press told the people of Berlin today that their city was destroyed by "indiscriminate" bombing of British and American fliers. The Soviet press said the city's survival was due to energetic measures taken by the Soviet army to feed the population and restore public services after the conquest.

Rival Unions Trade Blows Beside Plant

If Pickets Continue To Bar Workers
May Call Provincials

TORONTO, May 3 (CP).—Five strikers were arrested today at the strike-bound Rogers Majestic plant at suburban Leaside in a series of scuffles between members of the United Electrical Workers (CIO) and members of the rival AFL union who tried to enter the plant.

Three strikers were charged with obstructing police and two others were booked on charges of intimidation.

The arrested men were identified as Sam Crawford, 41, and Harry Wallace, 31, charged with intimidation and Victor Hann, 19, Walter Hall, 19, and Tiverto Denino, 27, charged with obstruction.

A summons charging obstruction has been issued for a sixth striker, William Moffat, 45. Moffat is not a company employee.

U.E.W. officials said about 30 members of the rival union managed to get into the plant.

Chief Constable John McGrail of the Leaside force said more arrests can be expected if pickets insist on barring passage to and from the plant. He said he had made no plans to call Provincial Police.

"If more serious trouble develops today, Provincial Police might be the only answer," he added.

Ellis Blair, U.E.W. organizer estimated the union had 250 pickets on duty.

A group of employees said it had applied to the Independent Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) to form a local. The company has declined to renew its contract with the U.E.W., pending determination by the proper authorities as to whether the U.E.W. union or the A.F.L. union represents its employees.

Freighter Afire Asks For Help

NORFOLK, Va., May 3—(AP).—The American freighter Shell Bar reported today she was afire off Diamond Shoal Lightship, about 15 miles off Cape Hatteras.

A message received at Coast Guard headquarters shortly before 10 a.m. EST said the 3,805-ton vessel had "uncontrolled fire in holds 1 and 2," and asked assistance.

The cutter Ingham was ordered to proceed from Norfolk. The Shell Bar carries a crew of 35.

Reject Yugoslav Claim

LONDON, May 3—(AP).—Britain, the United States and France rejected today Yugoslav's Russian-supported claims for a large area of southern Austria and $150,000,000 in reparations. Yugoslavia wants about 800 square miles of southern Carinthia and Styria.

EDMONTON, May 3—(CP).—Hon. W. A. Fallow, 64, Alberta Minister of Public Works since 1935, died in hospital today. He had been in hospital since his office 10 days ago. He had not been in good health for some time.

Big Planes In Red Parade Tip Off On Russian Force

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP).—The big, four-engined planes that Russia put on display during the week-end may provide a new insight into her airborne army equipment.

Military experts here await the arrival of more detailed reports from United States diplomatic observers at the May day parade before analyzing what the Red Air Force put out for show.

It is likely that at least some of the big planes were the Russian TU-70, an aircraft bearing close resemblance to the American B-29. The assumption has been that the Russians copied many of the features of five B-29s known to have been forced down in Russian-controlled areas during the war.

Photographs of the TU-70 indicate it may be a hybrid transport-bomber. Although its elongated fuselage appears to be a conventional transport design, the plane carries the plexiglass nose used by bombardiers for sighting.

The installation of bomb bay doors (if they are not indeed built into the transport version) and of bomb bays would be an easy matter of conversion.

If its performance compares with that of wartime B-29s, the TU-70 could carry troops and land as far as 3,000 miles distance from its home base. The range would be about half of that distance if the plane were to drop paratroopers and return to base.

There are only official guesses as to the number of big bombers or bomber-transporters that Russia might possess.

Secretary of Air W. Stuart Symington has estimated that Russia may have at least 1,000 long range bombers. Gen. Carl Spaatz, former air force chief of staff, guesses that the could produce from 900 to 1,000 more a month.

The United States, which built some 3,000 B-29s during the war, has fewer than 1,000 in service now.

Arrest Indian For Stabbing Fellow Brave

QWEN SOUND, May 3.—(CP).—Hospital authorities described the condition of Lawrence James, 25, of the Saugeen Indian reserve as "improved" following a stabbing incident at James' home Saturday.

Fred Mitchell, 17, also an Indian, has been arrested and charged with assault and bodily harm as the result of the stabbing which police said was the result of a drunken brawl.

James was stabbed twice through the lungs and once near the heart. Although scant hope was held by hospital authorities for James' recovery at first, his condition has improved and he is expected to survive.

William Thompson, 29, arrested with Mitchell was questioned by police and released. James told Corporal J. R. Brown of the Provincial Police, "Thompson's my friend."

Police said the stabbing was the result of a drunken brawl. They were told James and Mitchell started to fight and that Mitchell stabbed James with the latter's knife.

Mitchell was remanded until May 8 for hearing.

Describes Attack

Provincial Police Constable Joseph Cluff arrested the two men after James' sister, Gladys James, told of an attack on her brother and of the threat to murder her.

The stabbing was first revealed when William Dennis, whose home is across the Saubel river from the James home, awoke to find Gladys and her two young children sitting on his doorstep.

He called Constable Cluff who arrested the pair, handcuffing one to a tree and the other to his car while making preliminary investigation.

There are only two homes on the Chief's Point Point Reserve which edges on Lake Huron. The other house, some distance away, is occupied by an elderly couple.

Ex-Dean At Queen's Cecil F. Lavell Dies

TORONTO, May 3.—(CP).—Prof. Cecil Fairfield Lavell, 76, for 25 years on the staff of Iowa's Grinnell College, died Sunday. He was dean of the first faculty of education at Queen's University, Kingston.

Born in Kingston, he was one of 10 brothers to attend Queen's. He took post-graduate work at Columbia University, New York, and was awarded his Ph.D. there.

He was author of several books including "A Biography of the Greek People" and "Italian Cities." He was co-author of the book "Imperial England."

He retired three years ago.

Free Freighter From Ice Pack

HALIFAX, May 3.—(CP).—The government ice-breaker Saurel was smashing at drift ice off the coast of Cape Breton Island today in an attempt to break the fetters binding the sealer Mary F. Hyde.

She already had freed the Newfoundland ferry—freighter Random from the same pack.

Five seamen and one ship had perished during the last week in the ice-ridden waters along the rim of the St. Lawrence Gulf. A half-dozen more vessels are accounted for after narrow escapes.

Following a storm last week that pummeled navigation and jammed drift-ice into lethal packs, survivors had begun to report on shore.

Safe in Corner Brook, Nfld., west the Montreal-owned freighter Cedartown, re-floated from the treacherous rocks of Gregory Island of the fog-shrouded west coast of the colony.

The trawler Mary Ruth, which had been missing for five days, turned up safely on the Labrador coast.

Crew of the salvage tug Foundation Josephine, in the shelter of St. George's Bay, Nfld., were making repairs to the hull of the Greek freighter Petros Nemikos which had sprung a leak.

Gas Explosion Rocks Farmyard

KENT BRIDGE, May 3.—Explosions on the heels of a flash fire which destroyed an implement shed, complete stock of implements, and chicken houses worth $2,000, on Saturday turned the farmyard of Delbert Jackson, two miles from here, into an inferno of gas-fueled flames.

Containing 60 gallons of gasoline, containing 60 gallons of gasoline, through the flaming walls of the shed, the explosions hurled the heavy tanks through the air, showering trees and adjoining buildings with flames.

Jackson ran for safety and escaped unharmed when the gasoline exploded. The fire, which caused an estimated $7,000 damage, raged for an hour before finally burning itself out. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The fire, which started while he was fuelling his tractor in the farmyard a few feet from the implement shed, spread quickly to the shed and in a matter of minutes was out of control.

Vote On Beer And Wine To Be Taken In June Covering Burleigh, Anstruther Townships

A vote of the taxpayers of the townships of Burleigh and Anstruther will be held June 2 on the question of permitting the sale of beer and wine there. The vote, announced by Returning Officer C. A. G. Spence, will deal with three questions: (1) sale of beer only under public house licence for consumption on licensed premises to which women are admitted; (2) sale of beer only under public house licence for consumption on licensed premises to which men only are admitted; (3) sale of beer and wine under dining-room licence for consumption with meals on licensed premises.

Back in 1941, a plebiscite similar to the one proposed was held and the dry forces won by the narrow margin of nine votes. The owner of the Apsley House was the moving spirit in the drive for a licence at that time, and it is understood the new owner of the same hotel, Mr. Kenneth Moffatt, is interested in obtaining a beverage room licence now.

A public meeting of the voters has been called for May 26 at the Apsley Town Hall at which announcement will be made of persons to act for the affirmative and negative sides in the coming vote.

Fine Youth $25; Failed To Stop After Accident

Melville Sucee, 17, of Orono, was fined $25 and $13.50 costs when he was found guilty of failing to remain at the scene of an accident. Represented by W. B. Gordon, he had pleaded not guilty.

The accident, on the evening of April 25, involved Sucee's car and a taxi driven by Harold Blackwood, 301 King St. Extensive damage was caused to the front of the accused's car and an estimate of $250 was given for the taxi damage.

The taxi driver, Blackwood, outlined the accident, which took place at the intersection of Stewart and Simcoe streets. He said that the accused's car struck the rear of the taxi. Sucee was travelling on Simcoe, he said, and did not stop for the sign.

The car did not stop after the collision, the driver said, and he ran after it, yelling. Sucee stopped nearly a block away, he said, and backed up some distance when told to. Then he drove off again, Blackwood said. The front bumper and the licence plate of Sucee's car were torn off by the collision and were near the scene.

William Dyer, 585 Chamberlain St. and Jack Oakley, 164 Aylmer St., passengers in the taxi, were unable to give much detail on the collision.

P.C. J. McGillen testified that the accused had reported to the police station about an hour after the accident. The impact of the collision, he said, had forced the taxi over the curb and on a lawn. In his own defence, the accused youth said that he had stopped on the corner and was just putting away when the taxi came through the intersection.

His young brother was with him in the car, said Sucee, and had started to cry. Fearing that the boy had been hurt, he took him to an uncle's home in the city first, then drove to another uncle before going to the station, he said.

Thirteen-year-old Ronald Sucee, the accused's brother, said that he was crying after the accident.

"I have never been in an accident before, and I was scared," he said. Another charge against Sucee, failing to stop for a stop sign, was adjourned. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Report Trading Dull On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 3.—(CP).—Trading was dull and without trend on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. All divisions had mixed losses and gains without any apparent significance.

In foods Burns B. defined 1½ for a year's high at 17. Defining oil showed fractional gains as did Bell Telephone, Fanny Farmer and Massey Harris. Abitibi, Brazilian and Canada Steamships lost fractions.

Heaviest gold traders were Eldorado, down 2 and Jackknife, up 2. Beaulieu, Campbell and Dickenson posted small gains while Aunor, Bear, Exploration, Discovery, Donalds, Kirkland Lake, Louisville, Madson, Negus and Queenston were slightly off.

Western oils were mostly down and minus signs outnumbered the pluses in base metals. In the metals Nickel gained ¾ and Labrador 20, while Noranda was off ½. Waite Amulet 20, and Sherritt Gordon 2.

Electrics Take A 5-2 Win In Soccer Tilt

Ideal weather prevailed on Saturday for the soccer game between O'Halloran's and CGE at King Edward Park before a good crowd. Harry Pyle and E. Featherstone, late of the Electrics' eleven, have transferred to O'Halloran's. The contest was evenly contested with the players showing the lack of training. CGE won 5-2.

In the early stages O'Halloran's dominated the play with a successful combination. A Wilson, CGE centre-half, dribbled his way up-field to let McPhate gain possession while on the run on the left wing. He beat the half-back to centre, across to Cotton who drove hard and fast to score. Within the next five minutes, O'Halloran's gained the equalizer through the smart efforts of Boon and Duffus with a rocket drive out of the reach of CGE custodian. Eventually Nimmo trapped the ball from the air in a scrimmage in front of goal to his pivot man, Welland; he passed over to Strong who took advantage of the faulty clearance of the full backs to make it 2-1. Just before the interval, Cotton picked the inside of the upright to register a beautiful goal to make it 3-1.

On resuming, both eleven's wilted after the first period of steady pressure. CGE kept playing the ball into goal to find Welland registering the fourth counter. Quickly Pyle carried the play to the other end where Featherstone shot through a sea of legs to get the inside of the upright. Toward the finish, CGE pressed the issue to permit Strong to rattle the cross-bar with a terrific drive. Cotton getting the rebound.

O'Halloran's: T. Scott, goal; R. A. Smart and E. Denisen, full backs; D. Gray, H. Pyle and R. Snyder, half backs; E. Boon, G. Duffus, E. Featherstone, H. Cole and Art O'Halloran, forwards, sub, E. Duncan.

CGE: J. Chamberlain, goal; S. McGann and S. Murdoff, full backs; T. Nimmo, A. Wilson and W. Wilson, half backs; R. Strong, H. Steel, E. Welland, E. Cotton and T. McPhate, forwards. Referee, T. Garland; linesmen, W. Rickard and J. Adams.

Staff Of Grafton's Hears President

The Grafton staff held its monthly dinner meeting Thursday evening at which President Stewart Philp and other members from head office were present as guests. After dinner, Mr. Philp gave an informal talk to the employees explaining to some extent the business situation for the coming months and the necessity for an increase in volume trade. He informed the staff one-third of Grafton's clothing—suits, overcoats, and trousers—is manufactured in Grafton's factory in Dundas. The designer, William Falkner, who is in the city giving a special fitting of the firm's uniforms, spoke on the process taken from the time a special measurement order for a suit or topcoat is received in the factory until it is a finished garment. The evening was brought to a close with a social hour.

London Drama Group Wins Highest Praise

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP)—One of Canada's foremost theatre enthusiasts has tipped his hat to London's Ont., as the heart of Canadian drama.

An judging from the number of honors won last week by the London Little Theatre in the Dominion Drama Festival, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey of Port Hope has hit the nail on the head.

For its presentation of the George Bernard Shaw drama, "Saint Joan," the group took the Bessborough Trophy — foremost Festival award. In making the presentation here yesterday, Mr. Massey, DDF president, paid tribute to London as "the theatrical centre of Canada."

The Little Theatre group also saw the star of its production, Olga Landiak, named best actress of the Festival. She is a native of Fort William.

The 22-year-old bank clerk played her first major part as "Saint Joan." Not only did she win the Nella Jefferies Trophy but it was an added feather in her cap when adjudicator Robert Speaight said hers was the best performance of "Saint Joan" — amateur or professional — that he has seen.

Prasies French Players
One of his most outstanding impressions of the Festival was the work of "Finished Precision" of the French-Canadian players.

This wasn't the only award won by Ottawa players. Ottawa Drama League Workshop captured the Sir Barry Jackson Challenge Trophy for the best Canadian-written presentation, the only native work in this year's competition.

The Workshop's production of "Eros at Breakfast," a one-act fantasy by Robertson Davies of Peterborough, was described by Adjudicator Speaight as a fine bit of "intellectual hi-jinks."

But he wished that more Canadian plays had made their appearance in the Festival.

"Eros" won a second award, the $100 playwrights' prize which went to Author Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner, for writing the best Canadian presentation of any regional festival.

Northumberland Fishing "Good"
COBOURG, May 3—(ENS)—Opening day Saturday brought hundreds to trout streams throughout the county of Northumberland. There were no fish of great size, but there were plenty of trout good enough for any frying pan. Anglers who have been fishing the streams for years, expressed gratification with the catches they got on opening day, reflecting the good work being done during the past few years by the Northumberland Fish and Game Association in restocking streams.

PARIS—Twelve hundred Paris subway motormen struck in a wage dispute. Other subway employees kept trains running on most lines, but only at a rate of three or four an hour. A union spokesman said the strike was called because new job classifications would reduce wages.

PHILADELPHIA—Nine cats that comforted an elderly spinster in the last years of her life were named beneficiaries of her trust fund estimated at $75,000. The will of Mary Clay, admitted to probate Saturday, estimated her personal property at upwards of $50,000 and her real estate holdings at more than $20,000. Miss Clay's will specified the cats were to have the full run of the first floor of her home "except the parlor."

NEW YORK—Water from a broken main flooded basements of several midtown buildings, causing estimated damages of $250,000 to one establishment and $40,000 to another. Police said water in the basement of a 10-story building at Madison Ave and 59th Street was nine feet.

ROME—Romeo and Juliet are about to have a baby. They are elephants at Rome's zoo.

KINGSTON—Critically injured about the head when his car left the road at the junction of Highway No. 2 and No. 15 Thursday, Albert J. Gagnon, 55, of Ottawa, died in hospital. He was injured when his car failed to make the turn onto No. 15 Highway, careened along a ditch and crashed into a hydro pole brace.

GALT—Sparks from a brush fire set ablaze the seven-room frame home of Mrs. Jane Purdy of Kirkwall, eight miles east of here, and within an hour destroyed it. Neighbours helped remove furniture from the main floor. No estimate was made of the loss.

DIES—Dr. George F. Stephens, considered one of the leading hospital administrators of the North American continent and who served as superintendent of the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal from 1940 to 1947, died recently at the home of his daughter, Mrs. P. C. Poole, in Vancouver. He was in his 46th year.

Oshawa Driver Killed In Upset

OSHAWA, May 3—Melvin Christie, 22, of Oshawa, died in hospital here Sunday afternoon, two hours after the car he was driving overturned in the ditch on Highway 2A, just west of the Simcoe St. cloverleaf. His wife, Dorothy, 21, an expectant mother, was thrown clear and suffered a broken arm.

Pinned beneath the wreckage of his car which overturned several times before coming to a stop, Christie died without regaining consciousness. His skull was fractured and he suffered internal injuries.

Charles Baird, 84 Sutherland Dr., Leaside, was driving east behind the Christie car and was a witness to the accident. He told Provincial Constables Dave Bath and Roy Bone that the car swerved out from the line of traffic as if about to pass the machine ahead and then veered back again and then went into the ditch. Broken glass from the windshield was found 30 feet away.

Hit-Run Driver Gets 3 Months

COBOURG, May 3—(ENS)—Appearing on a remand for sentence, Robert C. Calvin, Bowmanville youth, was sentenced to three months definite and one month indefinite in the reformatory. He pleaded guilty, following his arrest two weeks ago, to a charge of hit-and-run. Dunn was the driver of a car which struck Danny Parson, Cobourg youth, Feb. 8 around midnight. The car did not remain at the scene of the accident and the arrest of the driver came after an investigation by Cobourg and Oshawa police departments.

Toronto Man Dies Of Heart Attack

COBOURG, May 3—(ENS)—Stricken with a heart attack while walking on Division Street on Saturday afternoon, Herbert Ross, age 67, Toronto, who was visiting in Cobourg, died a few minutes later in Cobourg General Hospital. Police rushed him to hospital but the man condition was too serious and efforts to revive him were not successful. The body was removed to Toronto.

The St. Laurent Statement On Foreign Policy

On Thursday last the Secretary of State for External Affairs opened the parliamentary debate on Canada's foreign policy. His statement was historic. It was a milestone in the development of Canada's foreign policy, it was vastly important as a statement of a new Canadian policy, it was significant because it was made by a senior Cabinet minister with all the expert advice which is at his disposal as Minister for External Affairs and with full Government approval. For these three reasons, it can be said to be one of the most important statements of Canadian foreign policy made in our time.

It marks a stage in the development of Canada's foreign policy because it was made, not at the rush end of a parliamentary session, but in the midst. It was made to a House whose membership includes more men able and eager to debate our external affairs than ever before. Its occasion is proof of the people's growing realization that foreign policy is of the utmost importance to us, and that Canada's attitude and participation in world affairs is important to the rest of the world. Canada has grown up. It recognizes and is taking up its responsibilities as a world power.

The second historic significance of this speech is that it is a statement of new policy. Until Thursday our policy was amorphous. We had, of course, our close Commonwealth association, our friendship and co-operation with the United States, our various treaties and trade commitments. In the general international area, we were committed first to the League of Nations, then U.N. Here is the kernel of the new policy enunciated by Mr. St. Laurent:

It is possible for the free nations of the world to form their own closer association for collective self-defence under Article 51 of the United Nations. Such an association could be created within the United Nations by those free states which are willing to accept more specific and onerous obligations than those contained in the Charter in return for greater national security than the United Nations can now give its members.

Our foreign policy must therefore, I suggest, be based on a recognition of the fact that totalitarian Communist aggression endangers the freedom and peace of every democratic country, including Canada. On this basis, and pending the strengthening of the United Nations, we should be willing to associate ourselves with other free states in any appropriate collective security arrangements which may be worked out under Articles 51 or 52 of the Charter.

The third historical aspect of the memorable statement is that Canada has taken a lead, not only in designating with official gravity and in very strong terms the danger of totalitarian Communist aggression, but in proposing a method of collective defence which is not regional. The five-power Brussels pact is regional, so are the Pan-American agreements. Through Mr. St. Laurent's speech Canada has become the first nation of the western hemisphere to state its readiness to enter into a "union of the free world" for collective security, a union not of nations whose boundaries are contiguous, but whose political and social practices are kindred, whose ideals and aims are common.

Canada's position and foreign policy are now clear. It is significant of Canadian unanimity that it was a French-Canadian who proposed that Canada should accept these "more specific and onerous obligations".

Harold Stassen Scores Again

The surprising strength shown by Mr. Harold Stassen in winning the Pennsylvania Presidential primary helps to consolidate his position as a leading contender for the Republican Party nomination. It was his first victory in an eastern contest, and it was largely made possible by the heavy Stassen vote from industrial centres, notably Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Mr. Stassen's victories in Wisconsin and Nebraska, it will be remembered, were made possible by the favourable rural vote.

In considering the probable effect of the Pennsylvania primary on Mr. Stassen's chances of securing the Republican nomination, several factors should be noted. The Pennsylvania Republican primary is in a class by itself. No candidate offered his name formally to the voters. The vote itself is a "write-in" affair, and its result is in no way binding on the delegates chosen for the convention. In this year's primary, only 250,000 votes were cast out of nearly 5,000,000 voters eligible in the state. And Pennsylvania's Governor Duff, titular head of the Pennsylvania Republican delegation, has indicated his stand by declaring that no significance should be attached to Stassen's victory—but that the vote for Governor Dewey of New York, who ran second, was "highly significant". While we cannot follow Governor Duff's reasoning, his intention seems clear; if he has anything to say about it, Pennsylvania will vote for Dewey on the second ballot at the convention. On the first ballot, it will probably follow tradition and vote for "favorite son" Senator Edward Martin, who ran third in the primary.

A more accurate appraisal of Mr. Stassen's chances at Philadelphia may be provided by the Ohio primary to be held tomorrow. In that election, run on normal lines, he faces Senator Taft in the latter's home state, which is regarded as gratuitous insolence or political shrewdness, depending on which camp the observer is in. The best Stassen can do in Ohio is to win twenty-three delegates. Ohio has twenty-two districts, each with two representatives, and nine delegates-at-large. He is leaving the rural districts to Taft and concentrating on industrial areas.

This invasion of Ohio places Senator Taft in an embarrassing position. Unless he sweeps the state, the Stassen forces can claim a gain. If Stassen wins six delegates, it will materially weaken Taft's chances for the nomination; if Stassen wins twelve delegates, it will be interpreted as meaning that Stassen has taken Taft's place in the nomination race. And if Stassen wins more than twelve, all but the Republican Old Guard may start counting Taft out.

The Food Of The Victors

The British people put their backs into the winning of the war; they endured bombing, rationing and real hardship for six years. Finally came the victory and peace. The fruits of victory have been bitter. Not only is peace insecure and the country pockmarked by bombs, not only have they had to spend last year $800,000,000 to aid recovery in Europe; they had to spend last year two and a half billion dollars more than they earned, despite great production efforts, drastic taxation, severe personal restrictions, and stringent rationing. The Cripps budget was shocking but realistic, for only major operations will cure the country of its economic ills. E.R.P. is great, but it comes not a whit too early, not a bit too generously.

These things are necessary if the British people are going to eat more than they did last year. The weekly ration for one adult was: 2 pints of milk, 1½ loaves of bread, 1 ounce of bacon, 20 cents worth of fresh meat, two ounces of tea, four ounces of jam, two ounces of cheese, half a pound of sugar, one egg, a platter of flour (9 bread units), three pounds of potatoes, four ounces of "sweets", two ounces of butter, four of margarine, one of cooking fat (lard, etc.); other "points" brought him for a week a total of such items as a box of cornflakes, a tin of sardines and a large dish of prunes. Thus was a victor's weekly banquet table spread.

Democracy Must Prove Itself In Italy

The London Times makes a wise observation about the recent democratic victory in the Italian elections, thus:

The victorious Christian Democrats must now make good their claims that they can give to Italy by constitutional means an economic and social rebirth that the Communists held out as a sequel to revolution.

It is useless to praise democracy as a theory; it is futile to regard democracy simply as the absence of communism (which is an opinion which many people hold on this continent). The people of Italy, having voted for democracy, will expect visible improvements in their lot, and the American aid of E.R.P. will not be enough to produce results.

Before the elections we said that if the Communists got Italy they would have their hands full, for the Italian temperament is ill-attuned to the seriousness of Sovietism. The same thing might be said of democracy. The Italians are opportunists, and unbridled opportunism does not work any better in a democracy than in a soviet. It is up to the new leaders of Italy to bring about a change comparable to the Risorgimento of a century ago.

"Of Cabbages and Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

GREAT Libraries (writes Richard Le Gallienne in his delightful "From A Paris Scrapbook") and the various art treasures of passionate collectors, the furnishings of dismantled chateaux, the ghostly dramatic relics of history: All soon or late, come to the Hotel Drouot (famous Paris auction rooms). And the queerest things turn up there at times, for collectors are a queer race, often with bizarre and even macabre tastes.

I remember once seeing out up there a book bound in human skin! The story goes that among the horrors of the French Revolution was a tannery at Meudon where skins of guillotined aristocrats were turned into leather, and used for the binding of books. This was one of the books, and illustrated Carlyle's grim jest that "the French nobles laughed at Rousseau's theories, but their skins went to bind the second edition of his books."

THAT the Meudon human tannery was by no means the first of its kind I learned afterwards on good authority, for years earlier the skins of criminals were used at Bristol, England, to bind law books, and in the eighteenth century skins of paupers were used for children's shoes in Tewkesbury, Massachusetts.

Holbrook Jackson — in his "Anatomy of Bibliomania" — tells another "skin" story, this time of Camille Flammarion. This famous French astronomer once complimented a handsome Countess who possessed beautiful shoulders on the charm of her skin. When she died she made arrangements for the skin on her back and shoulders to be tanned and sent to Flammarion in memory of his admiration for his recent wearer. The astronomer used a portion of it to bind one of his most famous books, "Ciel et Terre".

THE Oxford University Press has performed a great service to booklovers in publishing "The Letters and Private Papers of William Makepeace Thackeray." And I should also add that Gordon Ray had admirably edited them. He had an unusual gift for nonsense, illustrated in the following letter to a parson's wife:

"I will try and not be proud to you. I will be affable. Rosa may see the girls at proper intervals. I have no objection to their meeting occasionally the daughters of the clergy. I intend to run away with a Bishop's wife myself and have my children confirmed by him as I know he doesn't believe in his religion."

On one occasion he had been invited to subscribe to the embellishment of a grave:—"I lent Maginn £500 in his life time and he paid me £20 back. I think I have done enough in giving him bread, let other philanthropists give him a stone."

BUT it is always interesting to find out what writers think of contemporary writings and here and there we catch a glimpse of what Thackeray thought of others. In a letter he describes Charlotte Bronte as, "the fiery, little, eager, brave, tremulous, homely-faced creature." And again, "There's a fire and fury raging in that little woman, a rage scorching her heart which doesn't suit me."

He thought "Villette" "rather vulgar." "It is an excellently written book—but a very disagreeable one. She turns everyone's 'seamy side out'—So plain a person as Miss Bronte must see all things darkly—but the book is like a fine Dutch picture, the painting is as minute and delicate."

And of "Madame Bovary" he wrote: "It is a heartless, coldblooded study of the downfall and degradation of a woman."

The letters really do him justice. The more one learns about him the better his character shows up. And he was one man whose success was not the cause of his decline.

Slight Case Of Jitters

Just the other day the Czechoslovak first ranking lawn tennis team went to Italy to play some matches. They were expected back in Prague last week. They didn't arrive on schedule and Sokol, the now-Communist sports authority of Czechoslovakia went into a violent case of the jitters.

Remembering the numbers of people who had fled the country since the Reds took control, remembering the airplane whose passengers took over from the pilot and landed it in Munich, they suddenly feared lest the tennis stars had used their exit permits to make their exit permanent. Sokol began wiring frantically. They demanded that Italy send their tennis stars back to them. They uttered threats, they suggested suspensions, they altogether put on a fine act of the jitters.

The tennis stars apparently only wanted a few more days in Italy. They are, it is reported, going back to Prague. But the incident suggests that the Reds are not too happy about themselves. If they get frightened every time a tennis player gets on a train for fear he will never come back to the new Communist Paradise, they must have some real doubts about the beauty of their own show.—Montreal Star.

Cheap Seaside Holiday

A syndicate of wealthy Britishers is secretly working in Florida on a fabulous project to revolutionize vacation habits—and vacation spending. They're planning to build a 3,000-room hotel right on the Florida ocean, a hotel so immense it really would be a vacation-city in itself.

They intend to surround it with cafeterias and stores where people can eat cheaply and buy inexpensive stuff. They want to make the top room price $4 a day, far under-cutting any regular holiday rate.

Britain has resorts of this sort, huge vacation spots where average wage-earners can take their families for long week-ends or regular holiday periods; house and feed themselves inexpensively; have as much fun as the most exclusive and wealthiest titled folks.

But nothing of this sort ever has been attempted in the U.S.—New York Post.

Ulster's Marshals

(THE SENTINEL, TORONTO)

NOT many people realize that Ulster, the self-governing community of Northern Ireland, produced no fewer than five field marshals during the war. They were, in fact, the leading soldiers of the British Empire, and mainly responsible for the planning and direction of British military strategy. Only one other Briton, Field Marshal Wavell, shared their preeminence. Irishmen have long played a dominant role in the British Army, but never before, surely, has there been such a conspicuous contemporary roll as is to be found in the names of Dill, Allanbrooke, Montgomery, Alexander and Auchinleck. The first three also succeeded one another as Chief of the Imperial Staff.

Ulster's military greatness was emphasized recently when a memorial tablet was unveiled at Cheltenham College to honour Sir John Dill, a former student there. Field Marshal Dill is perhaps the least known publicly, although his military genius is part of British and American lore at high levels. He became a soldier in 1900 when posted to the Prince of Wales' Leinster Regiment (Royal Canadians), and a brilliant career culminated in his becoming chief of staff in 1940—during Britain's darkest hour. Afterwards he went to Washington as British member of the combined chiefs of staff, and died there in November 1944.

Sir John Dill gave outstanding service at Washington, and was the close confidant of General George Marshall, the United States Chief of Staff. Together these two mapped out the general strategy of the war, and Dill's death at the age of sixty-three years was undoubtedly hastened by the immense labour and strain of his responsibilities. The other four of the Ulster quintette are fortunately still at the disposal of the Empire, and Alexander, Auchinleck and Montgomery are at present occupying positions of national trust and importance.

The British peoples owe a special debt of gratitude to Ulster, it would seem, in its production of so many fine military leaders at a time when their prowess was most needed.

A Cow-Watcher's Surprise

(Letter in Ottawa Citizen)

On one of their pilgrimages into the rolling hills, the Aylmer Cow-Watchers' Society were surprised to discover a farmer making butter. He was 88 years old and he seemed to be enjoying the rhythm of this husbandry skill. When questioned by one of the group if he was not afraid of being considered old-fashioned, he replied he had never got away from the habit. He said that the trouble with young farmers of today is that they use as an excuse to go to town their urgent need of butter. He said most farmers lost their "know-how" in making butter long before they had to take a coupon out of one pocket and put it into another. When asked about his views on margarine, he said it would not work. It was too mechanical.

JACK COUTURE,
Founder, The Aylmer Cow-Watchers' Society.

Middle-Income Class

There are relatively very few people in Canada who did not spring from or who do not hope to arrive at the economic level of the middle class. The bulk of the investment, and of the development made possible by investment, comes from that class.

It has been many a year now, since the savings possible out of an income of less than say $10,000, have been capable of playing any role in the industrial growth of Canada through systematic equity investment. The investment market for securities of such a nature has become too small, as a result of the continued high taxation inflicted upon middle class incomes, and if there is less public participation in new industrial development it must at least be partly due to the fact that the average man simply has not got the money after taking care of the tax obligations enforced upon him.—Montreal Financial Times.

Sense of Humour

Most people who are unhappy are so because they lack a sense of humour or take themselves too seriously, suggests Dean R. O. Hurst, of the Ontario College of Pharmacy.

Not only are these characteristics conducive to personal unhappiness, but when possessed by persons in high places they can contribute to the unhappiness of the whole world.

It is significant that dictators as a rule lack a sense of humour; also that they take themselves too seriously. The late but unlamented Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini took themselves seriously and lacked humour to an extraordinary degree. They brought great unhappiness to their own peoples and to the world.

The fanatics and the zealots are the dangerous men. Give them power and then beware. The jovial fellow, who doesn't take himself seriously, seldom becomes a dictator. He wouldn't want to be one.—Windsor Star.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Enter into the rock, and abide there in the dust, for fear of the Lord, and for the glory of his majesty. For the day of the Lord of hosts shall be upon every one that is lifted up; and he shall be brought low: and upon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are high and lifted up; and upon all the oaks of Bashan, and upon all the high mountains, and upon all the hills that are lifted up, and upon every high tower, and upon every fenced wall, and upon all the ships of Tarshish, and upon all pleasant pictures.

And the loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be made low: and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day. (Isa. 2: 10-17.)

For, behold, the Lord, the Lord of hosts, doth take away from Jerusalem and from Judah the stay and the staff, the whole stay of bread, and the whole stay of water, the mighty man, and the man of war, the judge, and the prophet, and the prudent, and the ancient, the captain of fifty, and the honourable man, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent orator.

And I will give children to be their princes, and babes shall rule over them. (Isa. 3: 1-4.)

Plumber Indeed!

The British are building their homes out of a new material called "plumber," the name of which is derived by eliding the words "plastic timber," which is what it is. Meanwhile, most of the houses in this country are being built nowadays of a new material called grumber.

Grumber, an elision of the words "green lumber," achieves some novel effects in doors and windows that won't open if they are closed or close if they are open. Another remarkable innovation is the dwuprint, or housing blueprint for dwarfs for whom most of the present-day residences seem to be going up.

The shining new achievement, however, is the financing plan known as mortrupcy, which combines the principal features of the mortgage with the principal features of bankruptcy. American inventive genius marches on.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLE

An enthusiastic church worker called at a cottage where the occupants were sick in the matter of church attendance.

To her delight, she was asked if she could supply the wife with a certain church magazine. As she did not have one with her, she trudged a considerable distance to get a copy, finally arriving back breathlessly at the cottage with the magazine.

"Oh, thank you so much!" gushed the woman. "You see Jock is doing a bit of poaching tonight, and he wants to know when the moon rises."

Stomach Disorders May Cause Bad Headaches

Often a headache is caused by an ailment of some other part of the body far removed from the pain. It may be an upset stomach or some intestinal disorder.

If troubled by such headaches why not try Burdock Blood Bitters? For Burdock Blood Bitters is a favourite remedy for minor intestinal disorders. It helps to regulate the digestive organs, tone up the liver and aid the natural action of the bowels. As a result, there may be an improvement in the general health.

The year was 1830...

...a weakened Europe licked her wounds after the Napoleonic Wars, Battle-weary eyes turned to a new land... and in this one year—1830—over 28,000 immigrants arrived in Canada:

Alone in a strange and sparsely-settled land, they set their strength, their youth, their courage to the task of building a new life for themselves... and for their children.

How well they succeeded is shown by Canada today... once more the New Land to which we welcome immigrants from overseas. May these "new Canadians" carry on the tradition... eagerly seeking the duties of citizenship with its right to the free, unhampered exercise of the franchise.

When YOU cast your vote at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you are exercising a duty and privilege planned, worked and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

Pupils Present Small Operetta

CAMPBELLFORD, May 3 (ENS).—The operetta "Cinderella" was presented on Thursday by the Public School pupils for the third time to a large audience in the High School auditorium. It was sponsored by the Home and School Association and the Public School staff.

The cast gave a commendable performance, displaying all the pomp and colorful pageantry of a royal court as well as Cinderella's and the fairies' sores. Joyce Dunk and Margaret Gummo, as the frustrated sisters, almost stole the show from the leading characters, the prince and Cinderella.

Marilyn Hopping was most charming as Cinderella and Valerie De Carol convincingly played the part of the beautifully costumed prince. June Fox was the fairy godmother; Marilyn Thompson, the queen; Gerald Sills, the Ring; Joanne Chapman, the stepmother; and Joyce Dunk and Margaret Gummo, as the sisters, Belinda and Henrietta.

The supporting cast was as follows: fairies, Bonnie Blake, Judith Archer, Shirley Baker, Nancy Peake, Mavis Eiler, Doris Robins, Charlotte Clark, Lois Free, Patsy Lloyd, Joan Wilson, Karen Allen, Isobel Chadwick, Joan and Jean Bissbe, Marie Bailey, Donna Heath, Patsy Gummo, Dianne Rutherford, Beverly Beaudoin, Marie Brethour, Joan Wilson, Jan Ingram, Karen Ames, Sheila Skene, Judith Montgomery, Carol Dunbar, Joyce Johnson, Mary Jane Stephens, Margaret Peake, June Casselman, Carol Petherick, Anne Labrash.

Cupid: Bobby Frederick, Dennis Hopping, Marilyn Esler, John Scott, David Nicholls, Bruce Seymour, Donald Lambert, Bobby Reid, Barrie Peters, John Davidson, John Beatty, David Brown, Donald Ross, David Mills, Billy and Garry West, Paul Linton, Billy Ireland, Len O'Connor, Gordon Brethour, John Johnson, Wally Rutherford, Raymond Wood, Billy Herd, Russell Alford, Garry Beaudoin.

Ladies: Shirley Boyce, Gaelle Meyers, Donna Sharp, Anne Hay, June Kemp, Eileen Simpson, Wilma Rose, Doris Brethour, Anne Bull, Jean Stephens, Barbara Fox, Margaret Carlaw, Gwen Stephens.

Lords: Kenneth McFarlane, Gerald Young, John Doan, G. B. Labrash, Shirley Davidson, Dorothy Ferris, Lenore Simpson, Joan Wilmink, Barbara Ellis, Donald Smith, Joan Dalglish, Jean Pettifer.

Between scenes Mrs. George Nicholls and Mrs. H. Hedershot played a piano duo. Mrs. Nicholls was also accompanied throughout the operetta. Mrs. Jack Clark was the director. Mr. S. Hopping was in charge of the lighting which was used effectively. Mr. McLeod had charge of the stage sets.

Presentations of lovely bouquets of flowers were made to Mrs. G. Nicholls and Mrs. J. Clark.

Monkey Has Big Part In Fighting Polio

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, May 1 (CP).—Hero in the battle against poliomyelitis is the blue vervet monkey. This monkey, similar to the type found around Durban, is used by scientists of the South African Institute for Medical Research in Johannesburg, to see whether a person is infected with polio, and will be used in attempts to find a safe vaccine.

"The vervet is one of the few animals which contract the disease, and is suitable for investigation," said one of the scientists.

"As the monkey does not get infected easily by taking in the polio virus with its food, it must be inoculated in its abdomen or brain with a solution of virus."

Assisting the monkey in the fight against polio is the mouse. Mice are used to test new vaccines, and also to test the immunity of human beings.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

C.E. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Trying to figure what the pro matmen will do next is like figuring a femme, or trying to. You just don't know which from whence. We like to guess how they'll be matched in advance and we hit it at times. But we've been wrong, too. Last week we figured there'd be a rematch between Masked Marvel and Earl McCready. But, no, it seems that McCready is sorer than three fingers in a ring—reckons he was jobbed here twice and calls the Mask a "fluke" winner—so he passed up a chance at the Brock this Wednesday for another crack at the Marvel. But Nanjo Singh, the villainous Hindu with the "cobra hold", snapped it up. So fans should see a red-hot main bout, supported by a fine prelim program.

While they don't draw gates or make any mazzies, the local Harriers Club still like their strictly amateur sport. And they do a good job for those interested in running—as we once went in for, usually the five-mile logs—and the field events. So they're coming up with a track and field meet at Morrow Park on May 15. We mention this so far in advance (about two weeks) merely so that city and district competitors can start training now, as we don't plug anything so far in advance ordinarily. A couple of free mentions is all that should be necessary for any event. But it's time for these runners and jumpers to get in shape for the big show.

Petes Just Didn't Ask

It could be that Bunney Morgenson is the official OLA scribe this year—we haven't heard—but in any case comments in his Tely column and in general news releases about lacrosse that the Petes withdrew their application to go senior "A" this year are incorrect. The Petes did not apply—just to keep the record straight. The OLA asked the local senior "B" champs to step up, but the Petes declined. Fergus Thistles did advance but will regret it, probably. The Petes are not interested this year. By the way, more than 75 sticks have been bought by the minors here so far this spring.

Industrial Softball League closes entries at a meeting at eight tonight in the "Y". Five clubs in so far, Quakers, Automotives, Marines, Woollens and De Laval, with about three more likely. The loop will again affiliate with the OASA as Intermediate "AA"—which means Industrial players only. Deb Hillier was returned as president, with Jack Stuart the vice-presy, Joe Dunkerley secretary and Bill Gunn the treasurer. The managers make up the rest of the executive. Haven't heard how the Southend League is coming along, though it may take a few teams from this big shop circuit.

PWSU Looking Around

Bill Bennett and Mrs. Ashby will represent the Girls' Softball League at the council meeting tonight to arrange for use of the Bowl this season. These two, along with Karl Dorrington, were loop delegates yesterday to the annual PWSU convocation in Toronto. The Union voted to accept the Amateur Softball Association as the national governing body, and it may also amalgamate with the OASA. A committee will check into this. Teams in the local league now are: Westclox, Woollens, Ashby's, Quakers, CGE, Marines, Lock Co. and Lakefield, with a Lindsay application still in abeyance. Another meeting necessary before the schedule is drawn, but play won't open for another three weeks or so.

Soccer and cricket interests clash in Peterborough when both sports are run during the same season, unlike the setup in the Old Country. Hence, the cricket club—which, by the way, lost a close match to Grove in Lakefield on Saturday—suffers. More chaps go in for soccer, there being a good city and district circuit operating. Peterborough-Whitaker Club players have decided against the club applying for a Toronto cricket league tie-up this year, but instead will try to build up and maybe seek such an arrangement next year. In soccer on Saturday, CGE defeated O'Halloran's 5-2 here while the Petes (Spartans) squad won 6-0 in Lindsay. The three players chased recently from a game appear before the executive at 7.30 tonight in the "Y".

Arenas All Around Us

Lakefield's new arena funds committee has a meeting tonight and a substantial amount will be reported as available now. Interest is keen in the village and surrounding area, so the project should go over in okay fashion. More power to 'em. A deputation will view the Cannington rink and report on its findings. The Peterborough Civic Arena will be patterned after this Cannington rink, also. The Marmora rink drive is rolling right along, too, and they are assured of a fine spot to play in comes the next Trent Valley campaign. We hope interested folks here make their donations or pledges right away.

GRAB-BAG: Frank Dohane of Peterborough is being favored to take the lightweight mitt duking in the Olympic boxing trials. Towne Togs were fourth in team events in the big bowling tourney in Toronto. Y.M.C.A. men's bowling loop banquet is at 6.30 tonight in the "Y". An open lacrosse drill at 6.30 tonight in Miller Bowl. Petes' senior ball workout for everyone interested tomorrow at 6.15 in Riverside; they had 40 out Sat'day. City Ball Loop executive meets at seven in the YM tomorrow. Church softball entries close at a "Y" meeting tonight at seven; schedule must reach recreation commission by Wednesday. Church midget managers will decide on a Keene application re transportation, etc. Knights have an open drill at 6.15 in the Bowl tomorrow night. Kawartha juveniles practice at 6.30 p.m. Tuesday at the Ex; everyone welcome. Westend juvenile baseballers train tonight at 6.30 at Prince of Wales. Ashburnham peewees go tomorrow eve at 6.45 in Armour Field. Port Arthur took the Memorial Cup, and Senators are tied with Edmonton. St. Peter's High School field day is Wednesday aft in Morrow Park. All.

Lakefield Team Given Banquet

LAKEFIELD, May 3.—(ENS).—Lakefield Bantam 'C' hockey team, champions of Eastern and Northern Ontario, were honored on Thursday evening at a banquet held in the United Church. About seventy fans and Sea Scouts enjoyed a lovely dinner prepared and served by the Missionary and Service Club of the United Church. Everett Sloan, principal of the public school and trainer of the hockey team, was chairman.

Good Sportsmen

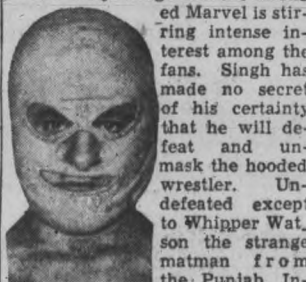

Dr. J. V. Masterson in proposing the toast to the team and managers said the boys had set an outstanding example of good sportsmanship and that he had every assurance that as the players progress they will eventually emerge champions of all Ontario. Ken Jenkins, scoutmaster, replied that he had enjoyed the season working with the boys, and Everett Sloan and Jack Millage. In the chairman's address Everett Sloan said the boys had cooperated exceedingly well during the season and it had given him a great deal of satisfaction to see the boys go on. He also thanked the citizens for their splendid support.

Reg Doubt presented the Sea Scouts with a beautiful trophy on behalf of the Canadian Health and Accident, a memento of this year's splendid hockey season. Sweaters Presented

J. L. Christie, secretary of the OMHA, presented sweaters bearing the crest of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association and reminded the boys that on their behavior rested the reputation of the Scouts and their hockey team. He also said the OMHA was indebted to all who had been so faithfully behind the teams.

Gordon Coyle was presented with a rule book autographed by players of the Maple Leaf hockey team. The following boys received sweaters: Delmar Sloan, Bill Twist, Gordon Coyle, Ken Wingett, Jon Price, Morley Brown, Kevin Heffernan, Dawn Pearson, Gilbert Hunter, Neil Wasson, Don Mathews, Peter Spencer, James Eagleton, Lorne McIlroy, Jack Millage, Everett Sloan and Ken Jenkins.

O. J. Hardwick of Bolton, a vice-president of the OMHA,

The main bout in the Brock Arena on Wednesday night between Nanjo Singh and the Masked Marvel is stirring intense interest among the fans. Singh has made no secret of his certainty that he will defeat and unmask the hooded wrestler. Un-defeated except to Whipper Wat, son the strange matman from the Punjab, India, is one of the most vicious grapplers ever seen here. What he will do with the Mask is hard to predict.

Manager Jim Laidlaw has reached out for an important semifinal for Wednesday's card. He has signed Tom Mahoney, the big Irish wrestler to meet the famed Iron Mike Mazurki.

Mazurki is well-known not only for his rugged wrestling but also for his important moving picture roles such as in "Unconquered", "Murder My Sweet" and "Reckless". Iron Mike stands six feet four inches which makes him two inches taller than the huge Irishman he meets.

In the opening match Charlie Harbin meets another top-flight grappler in Mickey Gold.

Chiefs Capture Twin Bill From Toronto

By The Associated Press

Syracuse Chiefs, 1947 International League playoff champions, are doing better than expected in the current race.

Due to the loss of slugging Hank Sauer, pitchers Herman Webber, Howie Fox and Jim Frensdorff and a few other members of last year's team to the major leagues, the Chiefs didn't rate very high as contenders in pre-season forecasts.

However, they are in second place today, a half game behind Montreal Royals and riding a five-game winning streak. Timely hitting and good pitching on the part of holdovers Bub Beber, Dixie Howell and newcomer Jim Wallace have kept the Chiefs in the running.

The Chiefs took both ends of a twin bill from Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday 5-4 and 8-0, while the Royals divided a double-header with Jersey City Giants. A run-producing fly with Austin Knickerbocker in the seventh inning decided the opener in favor of the Chiefs while Howell scattered eight hits in blanking the Leafs in the second game.

Break Even

At Jersey City, the Royals won the first game 4-3, but dropped the second, 3-0. Clarence Podbielan and Don Newcombe teamed up to tame the Giants in the first tilt. Lefty Jack Krause recorded a three-hitter in postgame fourth straight win in the nightcap.

The split enabled the Giants to remain a game ahead of fourth place Newark Bears who divided a doubleheader with Buffalo Bisons.

After Buffalo outslugged the Bears 9-7 in the opener, young Bob Porterfield whitewashed the Bisons, 4-0. Porterfield, who hurled a one-hitter his last time out, limited the Bisons to three singles.

Shortstop Oddie Strain of the Bears suffered a fractured left knee cap in a collision with Buffalo's Norm Jaeger in the second inning of the first game. Strain is lost to the Bears for the rest of the season. Orioles moved to within a half game of the Bears by downing Rochester Red Wings 6-4.

A three-run homer by Al Cihocki and a bases-empty four-bagger by speedy Bobby Wilson ruined the Red Wings.

Bruins Take Memorial Cup In Four Straight Games

By GEORGE TATHAM

TORONTO, May 3.—(CP).—Coming from behind, a favorite method often employed by Barrie Flyers, was used by a rugged band of Port Arthur West End Bruins here Saturday night—against the same Flyers—to bring the Lakehead crew their first Memorial Cup.

The Bruins, who invaded Toronto two weeks ago and since have won the Western Canada hockey championship and now Canada's top junior hockey award, were given a battle all the way Saturday, winning their fourth straight game of the best-of-seven final series 8-8 in overtime.

They previously waltzed through the first two games, 10-8 and 8-1, and took a 5-4 victory in the third contest.

Saturday's game, featured by high sticking, bone-shaking body checks and a player attack on an official, was the hottest of the series, both from a player's and a fan's standpoint. Barrie, facing elimination and Bruins with the cup within their grasp, battled 70 minutes before a winner was decided.

Anybody's Game

Over 13,000 fans crowded the arena for the game which had Bruins quoted as 3-1 odds. The bettors got their money's worth in the first period—it ended 3-1 for the favorites—but from there on in it was anybody's game as the lead changed several times.

Barrie roared back in the second period with three counters, only to have Bruins knot the score at 4-all at the break. Flyers took control again in the third period with three consecutive goals in little more than four minutes. With time running out, little more than five minutes remaining, Bruins clicked for three to even the count and send the game into overtime.

It was in the overtime period that frayed tempers took command and Barrie Coach Hap Emms' contempt of the officials was shown. Dave Creighton, leading goal-getter of the night with four, rapped home the first tally at 2:52 when both teams were at full strength.

Punches Official

At the four-minute mark Vic Lindquist of Winnipeg was rushed by Alf Guardia of Barrie when the official called a penalty against Flyers Sid McNabey. Guardia threw several punches at the official before the two were separated by players.

Guarda was given a match misconduct penalty while Ray Mayer drew a misconduct and McNabey a minor. Emms' team refused to continue play. After several minutes of booing and program throwing by the fans, the referee issued an ultimatum—either Barrie ice a team within two minutes or the game would go to the Bruins. Barrie iced a team—with seconds of the allotted time remaining.

White Mousseau's goal less than four minutes after Creighton's while Bruins had the man advantage, put the teams even again.

Finally, at 8:37, Port Arthur took the lead on Danny Lewicki's game-winning goal. An extra forward replaced the Barrie goalie for the last 47 seconds to no avail, the marathon contest ending two hours and 55 minutes after play commenced.

Barrie's Jerry Reid followed Lewicki in the scoring parade, the centre turning in a three-goal hat-trick in the third period.

Bart Bradley notched two goals for the victors as did Lewicki with Alfie Childs scoring the other Bruin goal.

Ray Mayer bagged a brace for the losers with McNabey, Guardia and Mousseau scoring singles.

Montreal Looks For Big Year In Major Sports

MONTREAL, May 3 (CP).—With the local baseball season opening on Wednesday, Montrealers are looking forward to a big summer in sports.

The Newark Bears-Royals tilt at Delorimer Downs Wednesday will open the lid on this year's warm weather sporting events—and from then on it is one event after another.

The Davis Cup matches are being held here again this year, as are the Olympic wrestling, boxing, track and field, and aquatic trials.

After scanning this list of events—lacrosse, racing and golf could be tossed in there somewhere—Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson said, "It dawns on you that Montreal is the real sports centre of Canada."

Before Toronto, Vancouver and the rest jump on Fergie, let the man explain.

"Perhaps our thoroughbred racing doesn't hit such betting peaks as obtained in Ontario, but this town has also become the harness racing centre of Canada, mostly thanks to the progressive policies of the Richelieu Park owners."

The Richelieu setup recently sold for a reported $300,000—which isn't chicken feed.

Ome of Prevention
If all the ring managers were like George Sheppard, a Montreal boy who has made a name for himself in the United States, ring fatalities would almost disappear.

Sheppard recently told one of his fighters—Charley (KO) Chaney—to quit when the 26-year-old Baltimore pugilist wanted to make a comeback after a serious injury.

Elmer Ferguson reports that in 22 years of managing, Sheppard has never had one of his boys hurt.

"When a boy starts to slip," says Elmer, "Sheppard asks him to retire. There wouldn't be so many ring fatalities, nor so many punch-drunk fighters, if all managers followed that theory."

Senators Tie Cup Final With 3-2 Win

By JIM McCURDY

EDMONTON, May 3.—(CP).—Ottawa Senators and Edmonton Flyers meet tonight in the 1948 Allan Cup series' third game. And the contest might well be the first of a five-game go for Canada's senior amateur hockey championship instead of a best-of-seven series tied 1-1.

Supporters of both claim that in the game which their team lost it wasn't up to its usual playing form. Edmonton captured the first at Regina 6-2, while the Senators copped the second here Saturday 3-2.

Saturday's game was the roughest on Edmonton ice this season as both teams lived up to press notices of being fast and hard hitting.

Senators scored first Saturday when Lude Check broke away from an Edmonton power play to sail in on goalie Al Rollins and beat him with a 10-foot drive.

Edmonton, with Andy Cloverchuck doing the honors with a sizzling backhand from 20 feet in front, tied in the second at 1-1. Little Billy Maher gave Flyers their only lead shortly after when he fired a shot that Bill (Legs) Fraser pulled into his own net.

Less than eight minutes later Ottawa evened the count at 2-2 when Jack Irvine slapped home Tudin's rebound.

Play slowed perceptibly in early minutes of the third session and Flyers exploited two Senator penalties to give Fraser a hot time.

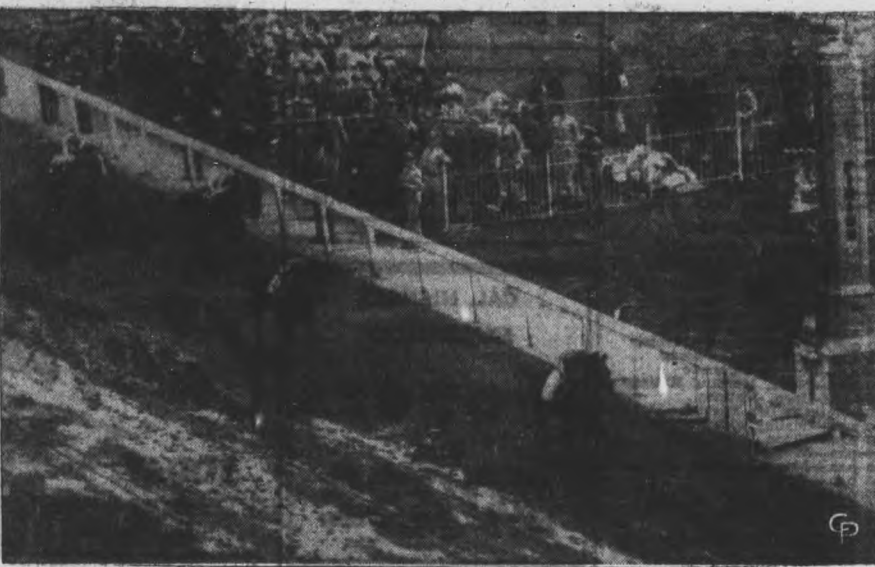

Then Bud MacPherson went off for tripping and it was Ottawa's turn to put on pressure, but got nowhere until the puck slid out to Frank Mathers. He took a couple of steps, then blasted a low one that leaked through Edmonton players before beating Rollins.

Flyers tried to press in the last few minutes but lost all hope when captain Gord Watt was sent off with less than two minutes left.

CITATION WINS KENTUCKY DERBY—Citation, Calumet Farm's sterling performer and first horse to win the Kentucky Derby after copping both the Belmont Futurity and the Derby Trial, splashes across the finish line, 3 1/2 lengths ahead of his stable-mate, Coaltown, to win the 74th running of turfdom's classic in 2:05.2, before 100,000 spectators at Churchill Downs. Jockey Eddie Arcaro set a new record in booting Citation across as his fourth Derby winner. Coaltown, only entry to furnish competition, is followed across the finish line by My Request and Billings.

Citation Sets Sights On Triple Crown

LOUISVILLE, May 3.—(AP).—Calumet Farm's Citation and Jockey Eddie Arcaro today set dead aim on a few more marks in their quest for the coveted triple crown—diadem of three-year-old racing supremacy in the United States.

While Louisville slowly returned to some semblance of every day life after Citation and Arcaro showed how a horse race should be run Saturday, all eyes were turned on the approaching Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

The Preakness is to be run at Pimlico in Baltimore May 15.

The Belmont Stakes at New York follows June 12, and completes the triple crown line-up.

Arcaro—who got pinched by a Louisville traffic cop for arguing—then went out and broke some speed laws with Citation, could be the first jockey ever to ride two triple crown colts.

Only Seven Take Triple

Only seven horses have been able to grab the elusive triple since the first Derby was run in 1875, and Calumet's Whirlaway and Arcaro did the job once in 1941.

Citation wins the next two big classics he will:

1. Give Warren Wright's Calumet Farm a tie with William Woodward's Belair Stud, the only stable which has taken two triples.

2. Rocket his 1948 earnings within reach of the $424,195 collected by King Ranch's Assault, last triple crown winner. Assault set an all-time record for earnings in one year when he took the triple in 1946.

When Citation banked $83,400 Saturday in whipping stablemate Coaltown and four others, he shot his 1948 earnings to $176,150. Both the Preakness and the Belmont are $100,000-added affairs.

The 74th Derby had been tagged for Citation months in advance and the Calumet speedster merely followed the script before some 90,000 at Churchill Downs. He collared Coaltown coming into the stretch and won by 3 1/2 lengths. Ben Whitaker's My Request, heavily backed by Texas money, was third and then followed Billings, Grandpere and Escanti, strung out.

Citation's time was 2:05 2/5 over the slow track.

ACADEMICIAN—Three paintings by Winston Churchill, Britain's war-time leader, have been accepted by the Royal Academy and will be on view to the public during the current Summer Exhibition at Burlington House, London. Following the acceptance of these paintings, Winston Churchill was elected an Honorary Academician Extraordinary by the Academy. Photo shows Winston Churchill's painting of one of the famous tapestries at Blenheim Palace, near Woodstock, Oxfordshire, England, seat of the Marlborough family. Blenheim Palace, wherein the tapestry is housed, was erected by Queen Anne's Parliament shortly after the year 1704, when, led by the Duke of Marlborough, the British, in alliance with Austria, Holland, Prussia, Savoy and Portugal, beat the French and Bavarians in the war of the Spanish Succession. It was for this decisive victory, which proved a turning point in the long decade of French triumphs, that the Duke of Marlborough was presented with this princely mansion, Blenheim Palace.

Kiner Leads Pittsburgh To 6-4 Win Over Reds

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sport Writer

This may be a new baseball season but major league pitchers are finding out, much to their sorrow, that Ralph Kiner, Johnny Mize and Ted Williams still pack that old home run wallop.

Each of the three home run kings of 1947 crashed four-baggers yesterday to lead their respective teams to important victories.

Kiner, whose 51 homers tied Mize for the National League championship, cracked two to lead the surprising Pirates to a 6-4 win over Cincinnati Reds in Pittsburgh. They were his second and third of the season.

The victory was Pittsburgh's eighth against four defeats and enabled the pace-setting Pirates to retain their half-game lead over New York Giants in the National League.

Mize slammed a home run with one mate aboard to break a 1-1 tie and inaugurate a four-run sixth inning as the Giants went on to defeat Boston Braves 5-1 in New York. It was the slugging first baseman's third home run of the year and helped Larry Jansen gain his second triumph against one loss. The lean right-hander allowed only five hits, including a home run by Jeff Heath.

Williams was the whole works in the Red Sox' 7-1 triumph over New York Yankees in Boston.

Thumpin' Ted who paced the American League with 32 home runs last year, banged his fourth home run of the season in the eighth off left-handed Joe Page with two mates aboard.

Second Defeat
The rebounding Detroit Tigers handed the Indians their second straight defeat before 57,450 fans in Cleveland 4-2. Previously the Tribe had won their first six games.

Freddie Hutchinson hurled three-hit ball to outduel Bob Lemon. The Cleveland right-hander made two of the safeties, one of them his second home run of the season. Manager Lou Boudreau got the other, also a home run. The Tigers collected eight hits, including Hoot Evers' four-bagger which broke a 2-2 deadlock in the fourth.

Philadelphia Athletics vaulted into second place by whipping Washington Senators for the third straight time in the capital city 4-3. It was the Senators' fifth consecutive defeat. The second game of the scheduled double-header was postponed by rain after the A's had gone into a 3-1 lead in the first half of the second inning.

A fine relief job by rookie Charlie Harris helped starter Joe Coleman gain his first victory.

Pitches Shutout

Lefty Ken Heintzleman pitched a 4-hit shutout for Philadelphia to give the Phillies a split in their double-header with Brooklyn. The Phils won the afterpiece 2-0 after the Brooks had patted four pitchers for 13 hits and a 9-6 win in the first game.

Ed (Duke) Snider, rookie outfielder, led the Dodgers' first game attack with two home runs, a triple and a single in five times at bat.

Heintzleman pitched no-hit ball for six and two-thirds innings before Brooklyn centerfielder Carl Furillo poked a single.

Amassing 19 hits of five pitchers Chicago Cubs buried the Cardinals under a 13-4 score in St. Louis. Lefty Bob Chipman, who relieved starter Russ Meyer in the third allowed only two Cardinal hits in six and two-thirds innings. The scheduled double-header between the Browns and White Sox in Chicago was postponed on account of rain.

Remember When...

By The Canadian Press
Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove joined the list of major league pitchers who have struck out 2,000 batsmen when he fanned six Detroit Tigers and gained his 260th victory in 16 years of baseball 10 years ago today. He joined such baseball greats as Walter Johnson, Cy Young and Christy Mathewson by his feat.

Edward Jenner, originator and inventor of vaccination was left an orphan at six and was brought up by his eldest brother.

WELL REWARDED—Let the dyed-in-the-wool angler, with his expensive fly rods travel to his favorite spot to fish. Let the deep-sea fisherman set out in motor launches for their tuna swordfish and barracuda. And bass, trout and maskinonge fishermen are welcome to their efforts. When it comes to plain, everyday fun, the perch fishermen have them all beaten. The perch may be only a foot long and weigh only a pound or so; they do not fight like a bass nor are they elusive as trout. But when youngsters go fishing for perch during the spawning season and the fish come in from the lakes into the streams and rivers, then fishing may be experienced at its best. For no one goes home empty-handed. A bent pin is as good as an expensive lure and a branch cut from a tree is as good a fishing rod as one bought in a store. This young lad photographed at Beaverton, Ont., is proud to display his day's catch of perch. He caught them all himself, too.

ORFU Admits Tigers; Kick Off Sept. 11

TORONTO, May 3.—(CP).—Canada's oldest football league—the Ontario Rugby Football Union—will operate this season as a four-team circuit as a result of the decision Saturday to admit Hamilton Tigers.

Tigers will line up against the recently-formed Toronto Beaches-Indians, Sarnia Imperials and Windsor Rockets in an 18-game schedule formulated here Saturday at the annual ORFU meeting. The league kicks off Sept. 11 in Sarnia and Windsor when Beaches-Indians meet Imperials and Rockets take on Tigers. The schedule ends Oct. 30 and the top two teams meet in a two-game total-point series Nov. 6 and 13. Frankie Filchok, former New York Giants professional, turned down bids from Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Trojans of the Big Four to stick with the Hamilton team as playing coach, team officials announced.

Frank Lennard of Dundas, Ont., was re-elected league president to succeed Eddie McLean of Hamilton. Lennard, who was on the executive of Hamilton Wildcats last year, headed the ORFU in 1946.

Maurice Chilton of Sarnia, was elected first vice-president, Ted Reeve of Toronto, second vice-president and C. C. Kett of Windsor, third vice-president.

Elected to the executive were: J. J. McGill, Hamilton; Dr. H. C. McDonnell, Kitchener; J. Norwood, Windsor; G. S. Edwards, Cobourg; William A. Fry, Toronto; and Roy Cornish, Ottawa. Harold Bailie remains secretary-treasurer.

The Schedule
Sept. 11—Toronto at Sarnia; Windsor at Hamilton.
Sept. 18—Sarnia at Hamilton; Toronto at Windsor.
Sept. 22—Toronto at Hamilton.
Sept. 25 (night)—Windsor at Sarnia.
Oct. 2—Sarnia at Toronto;

100 Stitches In Face

TORONTO, May 1. (CP).—Police last night arrested John Magus, 32, on a wounding charge after John Wright, 44, suffered serious injuries when, police said, he was slugged about the face and head with a whisky bottle. Police said a fight started when Magus told legal papers on Magus to vacate west-end restaurant premises. Doctors used 100 stitches to close cuts in Wright's scalp and face.

Ted Williams, Red Sox—Williams drove in five mates with a homer and triple as Boston defeated New York Yankees 7-1.
Ed Snider, Dodgers—Snider slammed two home runs, a triple and single to lead Brooklyn to victory over Philadelphia in the first game of a double header.
Pitching:
Ken Heintzelman, Phillies—Heintzelman pitched no-hit ball for six and two-thirds innings and yielded only four safeties as the Phils shut out the Dodgers 2-0 in the second game of the twin bill.

MANUFACTURERS UP

Researchers report that the United States now is producing one-third more manufactured goods per capita than it did before the war.

Grove Victors In First Cricket Match

On Saturday the Peterborough-Whitaker cricketers went to Lakefield to play their usual opening fixture with the Grove School. They were handicapped by lack of practice, and the absence of players who were thought to be available and they lost a closely contested game by the narrow margin of 7 runs, the totals being: Grove 56; P.-W. 49.

The locals had three newcomers from the Old Country in their ranks, A. Wright, J. Morris and S. Jennings, but were without the services of any of those who were newcomers last season. The attractions of soccer were too strong.

Did Little

The School batted first to the bowling of F. Dyer and J. Wild, but with the exception of D. Reeve (28) did little against the opposing bowling. The "fall of wickets" fairly indicates the course of play. Dyer took 6 wickets for 23, J. Wild 1 for 18, and Wright 3 for 14. The fielding was good throughout. The Dyer brothers each made two good catches and Pagett, behind the wickets, conceded no byes.

The P.-W. batting followed much the same as also shown by the "fall of wickets." Capt. Frank Dyer followed up his good bowling by being top scorer with 20 not out to his credit, and might easily have won the match if he had received help from the other end. B. Roberts (12) was the only other double figure scorer, and looked like running up a big score when he was bowled by Gibson. The School fielding was very good and Easson, the wicketkeeper, allowed no extras.

Won't Apply

At the interval, an informal meeting of the players and the executive, including President Monkman, Sec. Radford and others was held, and it was decided not to apply for admission to the Toronto District Council League this year but to make a strong effort to build up a good team this season and consider the question again next year.

The trouble is that soccer is not played in the summer in the Old Country, and players are not faced with choosing between the two games as here.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Sports Federation Sunday announced at Toronto it will not recognize the National Hockey League suspension of Don Gallinger of Boston Bruins and Billy Taylor of New York Rangers, thereby leaving both players eligible for amateur softball or baseball in Ontario.

In Gallinger's case the action clears the way for him to join Waterloo Tigers in the Inter-county Senior Baseball League. Reason for refusing to recognize the players' suspension was the NHL is not a member of the Federation.

W. J. Smith of Toronto was elected president of the Federation; George Panter of Gravenhurst was elected first vice-president, and Frank Weaver of Hamilton secretary-treasurer.

Hector (Toe) Blake, the old lamplighter of Montreal Canadiens, isn't ready to hang up his skates yet. The veteran left-winger who piloted Houston Huskies to the United States Hockey League title last season after he suffered a broken ankle in an NHL game while playing with Canadiens, said Sunday at Montreal that he will play softball this summer to test the ankle. If the ankle proves strong enough, he will be out to earn a regular berth with the Habits next fall.

'Has Beens' Take Team Event In Tournament

"Has Beens", a team composed of Fred Martin, Bill Martin, Bud Reese, Joe Denault and George Robertson won the Duffus Tournament with the top score of 3817 just nosing out the Raybestos entry by three pins.

Belleville Recreation No. 8 took down third money, with Shockey's in fourth position with 3767.

Fred Martin with son Eric took first place in the doubles event rolling 1687. Frank McCormack and Alf Pepe took second place with 1615 and Frank McCormack with Phil Pryde finished third, rolling 1611. Bud Godson and Irv Hanes with 1609 were in fourth spot.

Abraham Wins Singles
Doug Abraham rolled a hefty 939 to lead in the single events. Second money went to Phil Pryde with 894, third money to Irv Hanes with 884 and fourth to Harold Legrow with 883.

Marg Hawthorne with Doug Keeler of Oshawa were easily best in the mixed doubles with a huge 1767 total. This was larger than the Martins' score of 1687 in the men's doubles. Marg teamed with Ches Grant to take second money in the mixed doubles with 1516.

Aggregate Prize To Martin
Fred Martin had high aggregate rolling 916 in doubles, 838 in singles and 849 in team for a total of 2603.

Doug Keeler had high three game total with 1024. Joe Legault of Belleville was an easy winner of the best single game, rolling a perfect score of 450.

Quite a number of the local bowlers will compete in the CBA tournament in Toronto the next two weeks.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP is a lot of little things

LET'S BE GOOD NEIGHBORS

Few things in life are so deeply appreciated as the friendly spirit that exists among neighbors. It is one of those things that make life happier. And it can work miracles for the stranger in your community . . . it can make him feel at home; glad that he lives there. Extend a welcome to the newcomer . . . see that he meets your friends and becomes one of them. The spirit of neighborliness is one of the true foundations of "Good Citizenship."

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Britain Invades US Car Market To Snare Dollars

By RADAR WINGET.

NEW YORK, May 3 — (AP) — The British are invading the United States again—this time with automobiles.

This spring will see at least nine major British manufacturers offering immediate delivery on cars selling from $1,500 to $150,000. In addition, there are a half-dozen French and Italian makes for sale in small numbers.

Never before have the British come into the American market with such high hopes of gaining a share of coveted dollars.

Have Good Chance

And those in the motor trade say never before have they had such an opportunity to go home with a comparatively fat pocketbook.

The latest bidder is Sir William Rootes with the Hillman Minx. He and his brother, Sir Reginald, made 16 per cent of all bombers in Britain during the war. And many an American soldier in a jeep was crowded off the narrow European roads by one of Sir William's large scout cars.

Rootes recently introduced the 40 horse-power, 156-inch long Hillman Minx to America in the ballroom of a swank hotel facing Central Park. Sir William says dealers from 39 states have made inquiries, and he hopes to place his car solely with dealers handling non-competitive American automobiles. It sells for between $1,800 and $2,000.

Austin Motor Company with a 40 horse-power car selling for as low as $1,500 entered the American field last fall and built up an organization of 90 dealers.

British Ferds, too. Ford Motor Company, British affiliate of the American Ford Company, also is entering the United States with a low horse-power car selling at about the same price as its American cousin.

In addition to these three popularly priced cars, the British are exporting the Rolls-Royce, Bentley, MG, Standard, Jaguar, and Daimler. Some of these are the familiar hand-made gold-plated jobs with solid gold prices.

American motorists are attracted to British automobiles for the same reason American GI's were attracted to British girls during the war.

They've Got It—Here.

There isn't anything a British car hasn't got that an American car doesn't have. But the British car has got it here.

Before the long waiting lists for American makes get back to normal, British manufacturers hope to woo away many millions of dollars. Britain needs the dollars.

lars with special urgency now on the eve of the beginning of the Marshall Plan aid.

The need is so great that 75 per cent of the Rootes production of Hillman Minx must be exported. Sir William says production rises in his converted war plants call for 500 cars daily "when materials are available."

Austin says it is shipping 1,000 cars monthly to American dealers. Henry Ford II in February said British Ford would ship 6,000 Fords to the United States in the next six months.

VANCOUVER — Immigration authorities here will press for further information concerning charges that tramp steamers are dumping "thousands of subversive and criminal aliens" into Pacific Coast ports. The charges were made recently in a magazine article by Representative McDowell, member of the United States House committee on un-American activities. He charged the aliens included "Nazis and Communists."

CALGARY — Calgary police last night said they were confident they had "cracked" a big west coast fraud ring with the arrest of four suspected "phony cheque artists" and two girl companions. Taken into custody were Alice Cavadas, Frederick Allen Webster, Gordon Gerald Johnson, Patricia Kennealy and her sister Irene, all of Vancouver.

Ward Chairmen In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 3 — (ENS)—Preparations for the Provincial election campaign began in the local Progressive Conservative camp when the association met in the parish hall Friday night and appointed their officers.

Ralph J. Locke was re-elected as vice-president; Wilbert A. Kingston was appointed secretary; Charles H. Davidson re-elected treasurer. Ward chairmen were appointed as follows: Arthur K. Loucks, ward one; Free Clark, ward two; F. W. Burgess, ward three; Earl Gillespie, ward four. The vice-president said each ward chairman should appoint three men besides himself to attend the Progressive Conservative meeting in Warkworth on Monday, May 3. He also urged the chairmen to hold a special meeting in their own ward and pick out their workers for the coming campaign. "I am quite certain there will be an election in Northumberland county," he said, "and while the Progressive Conservative vote here had always been strong it was no time to relax."

The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow (Prog. Con., Northumberland) was present. "I am not appearing here as your member tonight," he said. "When the election was called I was automatically relieved of that position, but I still hold a portfolio in the government and we have every reason to believe it will be the continuing form of government. The most gratifying feature of being a public servant," he said, "is the appreciation I have received from all parties."

"If I am nominated as a candidate," he said, "I will, until the election, be only the individual to represent the party, but if elected I will continue my policy of being a servant to everyone regardless of their political belief. There have been tremendous changes in the municipalities since the war and this is the work which makes the association invaluable. It is their job to check on all new voters."

Major Ferguson Stricken Dies Saturday

Stricken with a heart attack during a business visit here, Major Duncan Ferguson, MBE, Service Bureau Officer for the Canadian Legion for Eastern Ontario, died on Saturday in hospital. His home was in Iroquois. Youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Ferguson of Ottawa, he was born at Prospect in 1905. He spent his early life in Ottawa, receiving his education in Ottawa public schools and the Giesbe College.

He resided in Winnipeg and Cadman, Alta., for a few years. Returning to Ottawa in 1928, he was employed with a motor firm there until 1939, when he joined the army.

He spent two years stationed in Camp Borden, Kingston and North Bay. Going overseas in 1941, he served four years in England and the European theatre. In 1945, he was awarded the MBE, was appointed Chevalier of the Order of the Crown with palm and was awarded the Croix de Guerre with palm by the Belgian government.

He returned to Canada in August 1945, and since then had lived in Iroquois, where his wife, the former Hazel Gilson of Iroquois, has lived since 1941.

Surviving are his wife and son, Sandy; two sisters, Mrs. Harvey Simpson, Winnipeg and Mrs. Merle Monck, Ottawa; two brothers, Murray of Sheldon, Iowa and Jack of Ottawa. One sister, Vera, and two brothers, Victor of Trenton and Hugh of Renfrew predeceased him.

Plan "Rocket Run"

At least 25 motorcyclists will take part in a "rocket run" to be held by the Kawartha Motorcycle Club Wednesday evening from Armour Hill. Rockets are set off within five miles of the hill and at regular intervals as guides until the machines reach the objective point.

On Sunday, the club will attend the annual Memorial Day Parade in Toronto, to pay tribute to the memory of cyclists killed overseas. Padre Col. Sydney Lambert will conduct the service. Mayor McCallum of Toronto will place the wreath.

Following the ceremony, the club members will be guests of the Toronto Motorcycle Club.

Chicken Thieves Steal 200 White Leghorns

MILLBROOK, May 5—(ENS)—Expert chicken thieves are believed to have been responsible for the theft of approximately 200 White Leghorn pullets from the farm of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Spicer yesterday night. Loss is valued at not less than $150.

Working with quick and silent efficiency the thieves are believed to have parked a car near the railroad tracks south of the Spicer property, waited until the Spicers retired at about 11:30 p.m., and then picked up the young chickens.

Mrs. Spicer said the pullets purchased from a poultry farm near Burlington, were about three months old and would begin laying in another three. The door of the brooder situated only a few yards from the house was not padlocked as the Spicers had not previously found it necessary. A seven-watt light bulb which was usually left burning in the brooder to prevent the pullets from crowding was turned out by the night prowlers.

Mrs. Spicer said she was up twice in the night to examine a small brooder which contained some ducks but neither time did she hear any noise or see anything to excite her suspicions.

It is expected that a reward will be offered.

IT'S A NIGHTMARE

Any person who drives across the Chemong lake floating bridge after dark is flirting with trouble. The bridge has several portions of railings missing, and has four large planks missing from the floor which could throw a car out of control. Instead of being straight the bridge is lying in a figure "S" position. Added to these hazards is the fact that piers at both ends of the bridge are in a bad state of repair, and the aprons leading to the bridge at either end are rough.

Trout Fishing Spotty; Weather Ideal

Weatherman smiled Saturday morning on a flock of trout fishermen who took advantage of the speckled and brown trout opening to wet lines. Veteran anglers claimed the day was too bright for good results, but most of the mob of eager worm dunkers figured the weather to be "just right."

Good catches were spotty, due perhaps to the fact that this spring saw the greatest army of first day fishermen to ever work the district creeks. Millbrook, Cavan, Mount Pleasant and Kellogg's streams all had oversize quotas.

At the Attwood and Sheppard mill dam at Millbrook more than 50 speckled trout were taken on Saturday, with Henry Gray, Millbrook getting a 15-inch and Charlie Farr, Peterborough one 13 inches long.

Bob McCabe, president of the Peterborough Fish and Game and Harry Campbell fished the Ouse river and brought back eight beauties. Three of these found their way to Bob McClelland, a keen trout fisherman who has been ill and was unable to make opening day. O. Simmons, 701 Gilchrist street had a 17-inch trout weighing 2½ pounds, the largest one reported.

Seven Oshawa sportsmen headed by hockey-player Billy Taylor formerly of the New York Rangers fished the Cavan stream but collected only eight medium-sized trout. The party included Archie Ricker, P. V. Stevenson, Norman MacAnally, Dick Porter, Ralph Maloney, Pete Skinty and Billy Taylor. William Roanick, also of Oshawa caught a 16-inch brown trout in the Cavan stream.

Practically all of the trout were caught on worms, and although the trout were rising to flies they were not hitting. The waters are clear, and the streams near summer level.

Alderman Adam Sands, Lorne Bateman, Norm Elliott, Vern Selkirk and Arthur Lewis with their wives are reported fishing in the Echo lake section of North Hastings. They had not returned at noon Monday.

Cyclist, 14, Hurt When Hit By Car

Clarence West, 14, of 132 Perry St., received head and stomach injuries this morning when he was thrown from his bicycle as the result of a collision with the car of Gordon Mullen, 161 Pradette Ave. The accident, about seven o'clock this morning, was at the corner of Lock and Albert Sts.

A city bus, travelling south on Lock St., stopped before turning east to Albert St. The boy came from behind bus and was struck by the Mullen car, which was coming north on Lock.

PC Malcolm Bassett, a passenger on the bus, gave West first aid until the arrival of PC's Sherman Kellele and Donald Mackay. He was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it is reported his injuries are not serious.

Dismiss 2 Charges Against Gilliland

In a reserved judgment given Saturday morning, Magistrate W. R. Philip, K.C. dismissed two charges against Gilbert Gilliland, Anstruther. He was prosecuted under the Game and Fisheries Act for allegedly hunting beaver on Crown Lands not covered by a trap-line license, and of being found with a portion of a beaver in his possession while on these lands.

The offense was alleged to have taken place on February 27, but Magistrate Philip ruled that there was insufficient evidence to show that they were Crown lands. He dismissed both cases without further comment.

Game Overseer O. V. Windsor laid the charges.

Former Peterborough Girl Sends Donation To Parents

From far-away Bolivia comes support for the Civic Arena. Miss Grace Woodcock, a missionary of the Evangelical Union of South America, and whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Woodcock live on Aymer St., has written home enthusiastically endorsing the project. In addition she sent along a donation.

Miss Woodcock is not only active as a missionary but she is also an ardent organizer of children's sports. As a result of her experiences in Sucre she has become an advocate of organized, healthy recreation for young Bolivians. And she feels that this applies to children the world over.

In letters to her parents she has discussed the problem of children

Want Hong Kong Veterans To Be Given Pacific Pay

More than 40 members of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion, including the Peterborough Pipe Band, attended the district meeting held on Sunday at Belleville.

Vets Seek Aid To Build Home

Veterans' organizations in Peterborough are already in touch with the Department of Veterans Affairs in Ottawa and will soon make a formal application to DVA for assistance in establishing an Old Veterans' Home in the district. Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion is emphasizing the need for such a project and already has a dozen old veterans, who are in need of the care and comparative comfort of a home.

The Peterborough branch is the instigator of the scheme and has interested the whole zone as well as veterans' organizations. To "start the ball rolling" financially, a tag day will be held on Saturday. A ways and means committee has many plans for raising money so that the home may be established without delay.

The task will be made easier if DVA can help, but in any case it is intended to establish the home with or without such assistance.

Rev. Jas. F. Smith Dies In West

Father of the late Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakeland, Rev. James Fraser Smith, D.D., LL.D., died at his home in Edmonton, Alta., April 25. He was 96, and had been ill only a short time.

Rev. Dr. Smith was graduated in theology and medicine from Queen's University, Kingston, in 1888 and in 1938 received from it the degree of Doctor of Divinity. He served for many years in mission fields of the Presbyterian church, including ten years in China and India, as medical missionary around the close of the last century. He leaves his wife, one son, Grant Smith, of Vancouver, B.C., daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mabel Smith of Peterborough, and two grandchildren, Gordon and Margaret. Dr. Smith was buried in Edmonton.

Claim Invention

BIRMINGHAM, England, May 3 — (AP). — Invention of the world's first turbine engine for automobiles was claimed last night for two British scientists. Patrick Johnson, head of the government-owned Power Jets Research Company, described it as a long step toward a "motor car of the future" without gears, clutch or radiator.

not a pane of glass was broken, and a lamp sitting on a table was left standing.

Panic seized many of the urban dwellers and they fled into the open countryside. Miss Woodcock did what she could to help them and then returned to her home in the city. Next day the people came back to their homes to help clean up the debris.

When her father walked into the headquarters of the Civic Arena Committee on George St. on Saturday, he was enthusiastically received. Committee officials were pleased to see that the Civic Arena had such an ardent long-distance booster.

Perhaps the odd local resident could take a hint.

CCF Speaker Raps Scott For Inactivity

The Conservative members of the Legislature for five ridings of Central Ontario were elected with a minority vote of 1,194, said William Dennison of Toronto at the district CCF meeting in Lindsay Saturday night. Representatives from five counties were present, with A. W. Griffiths chairman.

Mr. Dennison said it was expected that these ridings would move into the CCF column. The government had built only one highway of importance. A tax was levied on gasoline but the revenue was not spent on road building.

"And the people pay through the nose for roads because contracts are not let by tender. Highways will never be paid for under the present system. They are a continuing liability."

"There should be millions more trees planted, and where there are forests the scrub should be cut out to give good timber a chance to grow. Woods around Aspley were destroyed by a cyclone, but nothing has been done to clear up the tangle. Mr. Scott was very happy in accepting his Cabinet position, but what has he done with his opportunity? There is forestry work for many men if the Department would undertake it."

Mr. Dennison said automobile insurance in Ontario was $44 as compared with $4.50 to $6 on a five-passenger car in Saskatchewan under a CCF administration.

There was also protection for the passengers in the West, but not in this province."

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Williams. Among those attending were Percy Edwards, Howard Miles, Maurice Ketcheson, Harry Batt, R. R. Allan, Robt. J. Smith, A. W. Griffiths and others.

Freight Rate Court Appeal Said Unlikely

By the Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, May 3 — (CP). — Although four Western provinces have been making tentative passes in the direction of a Supreme Court of Canada appeal from freight-rate increases, there is little chance of that developing.

Their two moves so far have been to obtain extensions from April 30 to May 15 and then to May 30 in the time in which they can carry to the Court an appeal from the Board of Transport Commissioners' award of 21 per cent holsts.

However, informed sources say no preparations actually are being made for an appeal. The four provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia—are said to be merely keeping a door open. Their real hopes for action are pinned on the Cabinet.

An appeal to the Court, it is held here, would immediately tie up their whole case. The Cabinet might claim—as it did when the case was before the Transport Commissioners—that the matter could be dealt with, or even discussed in Parliament, because it was sub judice.

Senator Salter Hayden (L-Ontario), who adjourned the debate on Thursday, probably will speak Monday night or Tuesday. He likely will be followed by two or three more speakers.

The latest discussion of the ban on the butter substitute was touched off by a statement that, even if the ban was removed, margarine could not be produced in significant quantities for at least three years. That statement was made by the Government Leader, Senator Wishart Robertson.

The last speaker Senator Norman M. Paterson (L-Ontario), took issue. He warned that mar-

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative Leader, plans to participate in the campaigns leading up to the Federal by-elections May 31 and June 8.

Mr. Bracken will be in British Columbia from May 25 to June 5. He will speak first in Yale constituency, where a by-election has been set for May 31. The seat was made vacant when the Hon. Grote Stirling, a Progressive Conservative, resigned because of ill-health.

From Yale, Mr. Bracken will go to Vancouver Centre where a by-election is scheduled for June 8. On that date a by-election also will be held in Ontario constituency.

The Vancouver seat was made vacant through the appointment of former Veterans Minister Mackenzie to the Senate.

After leaving Vancouver, Mr. Bracken is expected to make one or two speeches in the Ontario riding where the vacancy was caused by the death of W. E. N. Sinclair, a Liberal.

Urges Citizens To Ease CAS Burden

LINDSAY, May 3 — (ENS). — Ninety-five per cent of the working day of the Children's Aid Society official is spent in dealing with the sordid, the depressive, and the miserable in life, said B. W. Heise, Deputy Minister of Public Welfare for Ontario.

He was addressing the annual meeting of the Haliburton and Victoria Counties' Society Friday night. Mr. Heise urged his listeners to support their local CAS in every way possible. "If a community is interested in the welfare of its children, it can do much to lighten the Society's task," he declared. "A general community consciousness of general community needs may prevent a CAS from having to intervene and take children into its care."

Continuing, the speaker said there was growing public interest in children's aid work. "Many argue that municipalities should not be required to support CAS work," he pointed out, "but surely it is not too much for a community to provide for its future citizens." Mr. Heise said there has been a general progression in society activities during past years.

In 1934 CAS expenditures throughout the province amounted to $900,000 while most recent reports show expenditures increased to $3,500,000. Last year 20,000 Ontario children were reported as protective cases, 16,000 were wards of the Society and the CAS was responsible for the legal adoption of 200 children. In addition booked 3,500 unmarried parents cases, the speaker revealed.

In conclusion Mr. Heise asked this question, "What would happen to these 40,000 children in the province if something happened to the CAS?"

The speaker was introduced by Hon. L. M. Frost and thanked by Reeve H. H. McFadden. Mr. Frost stressed the immense problems faced by the Society in its activities in Victoria and Haliburton counties. "In these counties conditions vary from urban in the south to almost inaccessible bush country in the north where living is on a pioneer level," he stressed. The provincial treasurer pointed out that such conditions are typical of those throughout Ontario, and they present great difficulties to the CAS in its work. He stated that the depth of public welfare was the third largest spender of any government department.

Representatives of the Peterborough and Oshawa Societies were present and the meeting was the most largely attended of any local Children's Aid history.

The annual report of the Society shows 199 children were in care at the end of the year, 187 families were under supervision, 76 new cases were opened, 40 children given temporary care and 125 court attendances. Directors were elected for the year. They are: J. L. Baker, F. G. Perrin, W. R. Curry, C. W. Lees, C. E. Ferguson, A. T. Lacey, Rev. P. C. Reed, Rev. Canon Battersby, Dr. H. D. Logan and Morris Collins. H. H. McFadden is representative of Victoria county council.

Church-Builders Were Paid Butter For Work

DUNCAN, B.C., May 1—(CP)—A staunch stone building known by some as the "Haunted Church" and by others as the "Butter Church" stands deserted here overlooking the delta of the Koksilah and Cowichan rivers.

It was built in 1870 by Father Peter Rondeau, a missionary. He came here via the Panama Isthmus in 1858 to set up a mission for the Cowichan Indians. First he built a small house and started a small farm, buildings it up until he could supply the Indians with some white man's food. The Indians helped him build the church and were paid for their work mostly in butter from the farm. For this reason it was more widely known as the Butter Church.

It took 12 years to build the church. It had to be abandoned after 10 years because it was not central enough to supply needs of the large Cowichan tribe. The "Butter Church" has remained unused ever since.

YOU Can Give Them "Double Protection" NOW!

● The new "Double-Protection-to-Age-65" contract issued by Dominion Life provides double protection up to age 65—the years of your greatest responsibility to your family.

Because of the fact that the great majority of family men need more protection while they are paying the costs of raising and educating their children, this Double Protection Plan was designed so that the face amount will be twice as high up to 65 as it will be after that age.

And furthermore, at age 65, the rate is reduced by 50%.

The cost of this Double Protection Plan is exceptionally low. This low cost is possible because the plan is issued only to first-class risks in minimum initial amounts of $5,000 (ultimate amount $2,500). The savings in mortality and in cost of administration thus effected are passed on to you.

50 PER CENT TRAFFIC COURT CASES RESULT OF POOR EQUIPMENT

Faulty Lights Most Common Traffic Court Violation

In a civilized community, some personal choices must be subordinated to centrally-decreed standards for the public welfare. Nowhere is this rule of democracy more evident than in regulations concerning equipment of motor vehicles.

The equipping of your car is not your personal concern solely. It is the concern of the authorities appointed to manage public affairs. They dictate the type, size and position of the lights on your car; the choice of the kind of brake you may use is in their hands. And there are strong teeth to enforce those who refuse to comply with the standards established.

A glance at the court reports of Peterborough and all other cities shows the importance which police place on proper equipment.

In recent months—with the city Police Department and the Peterborough Headquarters detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police both stressing equipment check-up in their work—as much as 50 per cent of the traffic cases presented in court on some days have been fines paid by motorists with improper equipment.

Many Faulty Lights

Faulty lights are by far the most common violation of the Highway Traffic Act sections covering equipment. This is easy to understand when the wiring system of the modern car is considered. Besides defects in the wiring itself, weak lights may be caused by battery faults or burnt out and weak bulbs. It is not often that the motorist finds out for himself that his lights are weak without a garage check. Or somebody may tell him. For more and more motorists in the Peterborough district, that "somebody" is a traffic policeman.

The Act stipulates that 3 lights must be carried—and lighted—between dusk and dawn; one on each side of the front to cast a white, green or amber colored light; one on the back of the vehicle to cast a red light only. The visibility to be provided by the front lights must be at least 300 feet under normal conditions. A further requirement of that tall light (as more than a dozen Peterborough motorists have recently learned to their sorrow—and expense) is that it must be so placed as to illuminate the numbers on the rear license plate. Another small light for this purpose can be installed if desired.

Too much light is also an offence. No vehicle may carry more than four lights of over four candlepower on the front. The rear light must have at least three candlepower.

The auxiliary spot-lights sold today and seen on many cars are not legal. Apparently, most have been purchased only for their decorative effect, for traffic police report that few have actually been used. They are, however, a fairly familiar sight, mounted on the hood or near the windshield.

Keep Spots Low

Regarding this, the HTA says: "No spotlight or searchlight or other auxiliary lamp shall be attached to any part of a motor vehicle higher than the headlamps of such vehicle." If the light is lower than the headlamps, the beam must be directed to the right and within 75 feet of the vehicle.

Cowl or side lights and marking lights for heavy vehicles are not effected by the ruling. Two systems of brakes are required for all motor vehicles except motorcycles, which must have one. Each of the two systems must be effective to at least two of the wheels, and must be so made that the cutting in two of an element of the operating mechanism shall not leave the vehicle without brakes.

The official definition of adequate brakes, as given by the HTA is: "Adequate to stop and to hold such vehicle...to stop within a proper distance." Police patrols now checking motorists have equipment which accurately tests car brakes to see that they do stop the vehicle "within a proper distance." The base test, with ideal road conditions, is to stop a car traveling 20 mph in 18 feet. Is your car close to that ideal?

The motorist may also feel it his privilege to either install proper windshield-wipers—or strain his eyes through the rain at his own option. Not so. Under the Act, it is compulsory to have proper wiping equipment.

All self-propelled vehicles, except traction engines, and all trailers weighing more than two tons are required to be equipped with rubber tires or "tires of some composition equally resilient." There are sections of the Act which forbid operating a vehicle on any highway with a broken or defective tire. With vehicles equipped with solid rubber tires, there must be at least one and one-quarter inches of rubber between the wheelrim and the road.

Mark Rebuilt Tires

The Act provides that all rebuilt tires (which it defines in great detail) must be marked clearly that they have been rebuilt.

It can cost a motorist a minimum of $5 and costs for failing to have that handy rear-view mirror installed—and cleaned.

All new vehicles must be equipped with "safety-glass" in doors, windows and windshields. It is unlawful to install any glass in a car except this type.

It is obvious from the noises heard in our traffic today that the Highway Traffic Act has not reached the level of a best-seller. Either that or many of its readers have missed the vital information in section 15 (1): "Every vehicle shall be equipped with a noise muffler..."

The horn must be in good working order. Incidentally, the Act does not specifically require a horn. It may be an "alarm bell" or "horn."

Anything which remotely sounds like a siren is severely frowned upon by the Department. Sleighs or sleds must have at least two bells on the team.

Caygeon Rink Drive Underway

BOB CAYGEON, May 3.—Plans for Bob Caygeon's proposed new proposed community centre, to serve the village as well as Verulam and Harvey townships are developing rapidly. The canvass for $20,000 is expected to start this week.

A seven-man board of management appointed by Council is Clarence Read, Alford Nichols, W. V. Mark, A. E. Woodland, Thomas Martin, Gordon Stevens and Joseph Nicholls. A. E. Mulligan is secretary. All men except C. Read and A. Nicholls, were named for a two year period.

It is proposed that the building will be 100 feet by 200 feet, with an ice surface of approximately 80 by 120 feet and seating accommodation for 1,200. There will also be necessary waiting, dressing and locker rooms. The plans must be approved by the Provincial government in order to qualify for the grant of 25 per cent. So far the plans are in a tentative state.

In the support of the curling and skating club is to be retained it will be necessary to provide two curling sheets in addition to the hockey ice, it was pointed out. The curling and skating clubs have stated their willingness to turn over to the municipality, the rink building and site.

A baseball diamond is also contemplated as well as other rooms in the centre which could be used for recreation.

She was charged with assault.

Praise Legion Services In Education

HANOVER, May 3 (CP).—Veterans Affairs Minister, Gregg yesterday praised the educational services sponsored by the Canadian Legion.

He said they paved the way for a broad post-war training program. By summer, more than 100,000 men and women veterans will have taken vocational training, and 55,000 educational training.

"It has cost the taxpayers a lot of money but it will pay dividends," the minister said, addressing the annual rally of District C of the Legion.

The group recommended that Remembrance Day Nov. 11 be proclaimed a day of national observance under the same terms as other national holidays. Deportation of alien Communists was urged.

Recommendation that the amount of land required for veterans under Veterans Land Act agreement be reduced to one-quarter acre was approved.

Thomas Masters, of Stratford was confirmed as district commander. He had been acting since last fall when Norman Miller of Goderich resigned because of ill health.

W. R. Tomlinson, of Port Elgin, formerly zone commander for C4, was elected district commander. Harold Gelatly, of Kitchener was re-appointed district secretary.

Excise Taxes On Automobiles Will Cause Dwindling Market

WINDSOR, (CP).—The effect of "excessive" excise taxes on automobiles eventually will be reflected in a dwindling market, Douglas B. Greig, president of Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd., told shareholders at their annual meeting. He said unemployment in the Canadian motor car industry would result.

"This enormous excise tax was piled on top of the 8 per cent sales tax, which remained unchanged," Mr. Greig said. "The government made it clear that the purpose of this heavy tax was to hold down—discourage, if you will—the buying of passenger cars in Canada and thus to conserve a portion of the United States dollars expended for import of parts and materials used in their manufacture."

"We strongly feel that effective import controls have removed the last vestige of need for an excessive excise tax as a means of conserving United States dollars. The fact that our national surplus is in the neighborhood of $800,000,000 is a clear indication the excise tax on automobiles is not needed for purposes of revenue."

The Canadian Ford now has 13-106 persons on its payroll, 400 less than at the turn of the year. He said labor rates were the highest in the company's history. With the cost of paid annual vacations, paid statutory holidays, overtime and off-shift premium cost added to an average hourly

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Breckenridge of Dinsdale, Iowa, have spent the past week visiting relatives in Westwood and Millbrook after an absence of 13 years. They have been staying at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Jane Thompson of Westwood.

Prior to her marriage Saturday, Mrs. Alfred Merpaw, nee Gladys Brock, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Don Flett, and a kitchen shower given by Mrs. A. Johnson at her home near Crawford's Grove. Office staff associates of the DeLaval Company presented her with a mirror and hassock as a wedding gift.

Social Hour Follows Vespers
Student nurses of the 1948 graduating class at Civic Hospital, and graduate nurses who attended the fourth annual National Vesper Service in George St. United Church Sunday evening were entertained at a social hour afterward in the Board Room of the church. Members of the Hospital Board and Women's Auxiliary were also present. Lovely refreshments were prepared and served by Mrs. E. L. Sackville's group of the W.A. Mrs. James Goldie, soloist, entertained with two selections. Among those voicing appreciation of the special evening service and entertainment were Miss A. L. Thomson, Mr. John Hornal, Mr. G. R. Marshall and Dr. G. S. Cameron.

Cakes Raffled At Tea

St. Peter's Junior Sodality held a springtime tea in St. Mary's School last week. The table was attractively arranged with daffodils and snapdragons as a centre piece. Mrs. D. J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. C. F. Sammers and Mrs. R. Rose poured the tea. Two cakes, donated by Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Sammers were raffled and winners were Mrs. P. J. Doris and Miss Anne Houle. The refreshments were served by members of the Central Council.

Make Layettes For England

Mrs. W. Babcock, 315 Maitland Ave., was hostess last week for the "Service for Others" Class meeting, at which Mrs. J. Kimberley presided. A collection of money was taken to buy flannellette for layettes to send to an English Hospital. The sewing will be done at the home of Mrs. S. Harris, 478 Donegal St. The devotional service included scripture reading, prayer and hymns. Lunch was served at the close by the hostess, who was given a hearty vote of thanks.

May Day Bride Honored

Mrs. Andrew Basciano, formerly Teresa Neill, was recipient of many lovely gifts at a miscellaneous shower held recently at the home of Mrs. S. Houlihan, King St.

The gifts, in a gaily decorated basket, were drawn into the room on a wagon by little Lynn Houlihan, who also handed them to the guest of honor.

After the presents were unwrapped the hostess, Miss Betty Houlihan, assisted by Misses Colleen Gilbert and Helen Strano, served a delicious lunch.

Those present were: Misses Doris Garfield, Bernadette Meagher, Doris McConnell, Marie Kieran, Betty Hunt, Colleen Gilbert, Marg. Spence, Doris Chenier, Helen Strano, Marian Riley, Helen Griffen, Connie Bradshaw, Alberta Barber, Marg. Arnold, Gladys Brock, Olive Neill, Betty Dorsett, Sally Weiss, Betty Houlihan, Mrs. Hazel White, Mrs. S. Houlihan.

Those who sent gifts: Misses Marjory Clark, Kay Fitzgerald, Margaret Taylor, Mrs. June Renie, Jessie Macomony.

The office staff of the De Laval Co., where Mrs. Basciano is employed, presented her with a tri-light lamp and from the Social and Athletic Association of the De Laval Co. she received a featherweight iron.

WI Directors Meet

Directors of Peterborough District Women's Institute met in the YWCA last week with the main item of business being program plans for the district annual to be held in the United Church at Apsley on June 1. The showing of a set of colorful slides from Department headquarters and an apron parade are two of the interesting items on schedule for this gala day. Ten branches answered roll call by Mrs. Joseph Moore of Lakefield, district secretary-treasurer.

TNT Club Honors Mothers

Mothers were entertained at an afternoon tea Saturday in the YWCA by their daughters of the T.N.T. Club. Miss Hilda Thurston, club leader, and Miss Jessie Wong, vice president, received. The lace-covered tea table was centred with a charming bouquet of yellow daffodils and red snapdragons and complimented by tall green tapers on either side. Mrs. Carter, mother of the club president, Miss Barbara Carter, and Miss Annabeth Reidel of the YWCA staff, poured tea. Miss Eleanor McGee delighted with piano selections during the tea hour.

Rev. Dr. J. Semple Challenges Nurses 'Make Light Shine'

Longfellow's lines on Florence Nightingale, "A lady with a lamp shall stand, in the great history of all the land" were chosen by the Rev. Dr. J. Semple as the text of his sermon for the annual vesper service in her honor and the dedication of all nurses to their noble profession, which this year also combined the baccalaureate service of 1948 graduates of Civic Hospital. Class members in uniform attended the service in George St. United Church Sunday evening as well as a large representation of graduate nurses and members of the Hospital Board and Women's Auxiliary. "We shall remember the place of nurses throughout the world in winning the great human conflict through which we have just passed," said Dr. Semple, "and keep in mind the graduating class and what awaits them in the future."

"The nursing profession is a noble one and has become sacred before God since it is redeemed by Florence Nightingale, who broke down the objections of her very respectable parents and entered a service which, up to that time had been considered 'drunken and immoral.' Distinguishing marks of a nurse which I would list are sacrifice, endurance, discretion, fine judgment, tact, thorough training, and love of humanity," Dr. Semple said. "Jesus first taught the care of the sick, and nurses and doctors are carrying on the ministry. Nurses are admitted into the sanctity of people's lives ever more than a spiritual adviser to they must be of the very highest principles."

Basciano-Neill Nuptials At St. Peter's On May 1st

A charming May Day bride was Miss Teresa Bernadette Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neill, Bolivar St. Her wedding to Mr. Andrew Basciano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Basciano, Dublin St., took place Saturday at St. Peter's Cathedral. The Rev. P. P. Butler performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass. Beautiful snapdragons, tulips and daffodils were in the bouquets decorating the altar table.

Wearing a white satin wedding gown with inserts of lace in the full skirt which extended in a slight train, the bride was given in marriage by her father. A coronet of seed pearls held her finger-tip veil of white embroidered net and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Miss Betty Houlihan was her bridesmaid, frocked in blue taffeta made with sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a matching hat and elbow length mittens and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

very Christ in a sick room. They must be first of all and fundamentally Christian.

Exemplar lives devoted to service of rich and poor alike were brought to mind. The first in our country is the present King who with his wife, when they as Duke and Duchess of York, spent much of their opening hospitals for the sick, new homes for the poor and camps for boys. Symbolic of Jesus washing the disciples' feet, the King still gives annual gifts of money to poor men and women to show that he is their servant. Others are Shaftsbury and Pasteur, but every where noblest men and women have renounced great opportunities to perform a service for the world.

"The sin of selfishness alone is the root of all trouble in the nation, the home, the church, politics and industry. 'It is doing its diabolical worst to bring about another war,' Dr. Semple declared. He cited the story of the prodigal son who 'came to himself' and changed his prayer to 'make me anything but what I was' from the preceding 'give me' which might well apply to the present day.

A minister has been quoted as saying his idea of a good sermon is one which 'inspires to do the impossible.' 'May you as nurses be inspired thus from this service' said Dr. Semple. 'No joy is more wonderful than that of being the sick. Be ambassadors of all that is truly good in society.'

"I challenge all of you to become progenitors of a great idea, that we cause light to shine in others. And may the graduating class be a blessing to humanity."

Mrs. Jas. Goldie, soloist, sang, "The Lord's Prayer." The anthem chosen by the choir for this service was "Sing Praise to God." Mr. Chas. Allen played the organ.

Racial Superiority Groundless Speaker Says

Declaring that the people of Canada, in common with the people of all countries are enjoying the blessings of scientific discoveries made by men of genius of many nationalities, the Rev. W. E. Kibbleshaw of All Saint's Anglican Church, made an eloquent plea for tolerance and understanding between peoples of varied racial origin and colour, when addressing the members of St. James' United Church Married Couples Club at their meeting Friday evening.

"The Scriptures said God hath made of one blood all nations on the face of the earth, so belief in the doctrine of racial superiority is unfounded and contrary to Christianity," the speaker asserted.

The group in charge for this month's program were Mr. and Mrs. H. Orvis, Mr. and Mrs. R. Tully, Mr. and Mrs. W. Seabrook, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hudgin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Wallace.

After a period of group singing, two solos were sung by Mr. G. Murphy. Mr. Ashton Eife contributed a splendid "Radio Signature Theme Song" contest. A recreation period followed, led by Mr. G. Wallace.

Lunch was served by the la-

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Ernest Basciano.

During the ceremony Mrs. D. Campanero sang "Bring Flowers of the garden and Panis Angelicus." While the bride and groom were signing the register she sang "Ave Maria." Mrs. Robert Aman was the organist.

The reception was held afterwards in Hooper's Palm Rooms. Mrs. Neill received with the bridal party wearing a navy and white crept gown with flower-trimmed black hat and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother who also received wore a two piece dress of printed jersey with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Basciano left later on a wedding trip to Montreal and Quebec city. For travelling the bride wore a powder blue gabardine suit, in ballerina style, with flowered hat and navy accessories and corsage of pink roses. They will make their home in Peterborough.

maid. She wore a blue moire ballerina dress with bands of pink and blue flowers, matching blue gloves and a corsage of deep pink roses. Mr. Ira Merpaw of Cornwall was groomsmen for his brother.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's sisters, Mrs. Jack Pritchard, 43 Edgewater Blvd. For the occasion Mrs. Brock wore a dress of turquoise printed silk jersey and had a corsage of Tallisman roses.

Later the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Montreal and Cornwall. For travelling the bride wore a black printed silk dress, grey topcoat, black hat with pink trim and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Merpaw will live on Arndon Ave., Peterborough.

St. Joseph's Nurses Attend Vespers

Sunday evening the fourth anniversary of the National Vesper Service for nurses was marked by devotion in the chapel of St. Joseph's Hospital. The Rev. A. MacDonald, CSSR, urged devotion to the Mother of God, stressing her virtues as ideals in observance of the duties in the nursing profession.

These devotions also marked the close of a retreat for student nurses. Following benediction of the Blessed Sacrament the Papal Blessing was given.

Friendships were renewed and made during a social hour for the nurses held afterward in the new residence, and lunch was served.

20 Plus Club-ers Choose May Queen

Miss Hilda Northey was chosen May Queen by 20 Plus Club members at a gay May Day dance held Saturday evening in the YWCA. She was presented with a multi-colored studded crown, a corsage of red roses and a magic wand and took her place on the throne, draped with colored robes.

Mr. Howard Dumphy as master of ceremonies and numbered tickets given to each guest. The corresponding numbers drawn from a golden urn entitled the gentlemen to a dance with the queen, others won prizes and supper servers were selected in this way.

Mr. Douglas Landry, president, and Miss Doreen Groombridge received congratulations and good wishes on their coming marriage to take place in St. John's Anglican Church Saturday at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. William Piercy, constitution committee convenor, presented the revised 20 Plus Club constitution.

A reception is planned for the evening of May 15 honoring Mr. Ed. Stevenson's fiancée who is arriving from England soon.

Program for next week's meeting is in charge of Mr. Ralph Greenhill.

Grade 7—Diane Burnley, Queen Mary school.

Grade 6—Robert Long, King George school.

Grade 5—Tommy Cuffe, Queen Alexandra school.

Grade 4—Lorraine Gunn, Central school.

The devotional period opened with the scripture lesson read by Mrs. W. H. Morton, while Mrs. James Brown led in prayer. "Today on the Highway I Met Him" was the delightful solo contributed by Mrs. W. Hepburn.

In his address on "Temperance in Sunday Schools," the Rev. M. J. Aiken stressed the value of such education, not only in Sunday schools, but in day schools as well. Mr. Aiken made the suggestion that the government, from their profits of $32,000,000 from the liquor traffic, might well devote at least one million dollars to temperance education in schools. The speaker also urged the use of posters as one of the best teaching aids.

The Temperance Federation of Ontario has sent posters to every known Sunday school in the province. These will also be sent to public schools upon request, while sound films may be obtained free by paying express charges. School education in temperance should in time lead to constructive legislation.

Other helpful means to successful education along this line included temperance posts in rural areas and oratorical contests. They are considered the best methods of education yet tried.

For Tuesday, May 4

The advent of a sudden and surprising event, appearing at first view as calamitous and unwelcome, may be turned to good account by pausing to give careful analysis to the situation, to be followed by a decision based on acumen and regulated business procedures, rather than an impetuous course of action or an unreasoning and emotional conclusion. Pause for shrewd evaluation of unforeseen openings that could spell progress and ultimate benefit.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves confronted by a rather critical situation in which sudden change, new contacts and propositions, call for a shrewd and analytical approach rather than a rash and impulsive jumping at conclusions. An emotional or erratic grasp of really fresh and promising opportunities, could impede progress, cause estrangements and otherwise open up disagreeable situations. Originality, innovation, even fantastic ideas might be turned into lucrative channels by sound technique and regulation business tactics routine rather than daring. A child born on this day while prone to be erratic, and emotional, yet has sufficient intellect to grasp progressive possibilities and make wise decisions.

DOROTHY DIX

Marriages Shoved on Rocks By Usurping Grandmothers

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman 26 years old. Have been married five years and we are expecting our first baby soon, over which of course, there is great rejoicing. But here's the fly in the ointment: My mother, a widow 50 years old and financially well off, has the habit of running in to see how I am every day, and she has announced that she is going to take care of the baby for me when it comes and until it is ready to go to school. She intends staying in my house all day and just going to her home, which is two blocks away, at night.

She says that young people are careless and do not know how to manage, and that since she reared two children she is better fitted to take care of a baby than I am. But my husband says NO; that we Dorothy Dix are as intelligent as the average person, and he thinks it is our duty and our privilege to bring up our children as we see fit, and that when we need Mother's help we can ask for it.

What is your unbiased opinion of the situation?

HOPEFUL

ANSWER: I think you have come to a crisis in your life, and that unless you have enough backbone to make your mother realize, once and for all, that this is going to be your baby and not hers, and that you are going to rear it according to your theories about how to bring up a child, that your whole marriage will go on the rocks. For your husband certainly is not going to be just a stooge in his own house who plays second fiddle to mother-in-law, yet I have seen that happen often enough.

Kills Paternal Instinct
I have seen plenty of grandmothers take possession of the new baby and refuse to let the proud young father even touch it, and if there is any way to kill the paternal instinct in a man, that turns the trick. Many a man, who would have made a fine and devoted father, never even gets acquainted with his children. Grandma has taken his job away from him.

Grandmothers are not intentional trouble-makers in their children's families. It is just that they are so sure that they know best about everything on earth, and that they never realize that their sons and daughters grow up and have enough intelligence to manage their own affairs. To save their lives they can't keep their fingers out of their children's pies, and especially they can't keep their hands off a baby.

And that is why parents should never go live with their children if it can possibly be avoided, and why young fathers and mothers should rear their own children, without Grandma superintending the job.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 15. I am very popular and I never even stay at home at night, for I have so many dates. But I am not happy. My mother worries about me all the time because I cry so much.

For two years I have liked a boy very much, but I am forbidden to go with him because of the difference in our ages. I know positively that what I feel is not a passing fancy. It is real love, and he feels the same way about me.

Please help me. DISCONTENTED

ANSWER: The reason that you are unhappy and discontented is because you are forcing your age, and it has made you a little nervous wreck. No girl of 15 should be allowed to go out every night to places of amusement, and dance and drink and have love affairs with boys. She is not morally, physically, or mentally fitted for the strain, and so it is no wonder that you are a cry-baby and that your mother is worried about you.

The pity of it is that she didn't begin worrying about you when you were five year old instead of becoming the little gadabout she is letting you be, you would be happy and healthy playing around with other girls of your age and interested in your studies, instead of being a pitiful little neurotic who is old before her time.

Archery Popular New Craze In Britain, Women Love It

By JOAN CAPREOL

LONDON, May 3.—(Reuters).—Archery—most ancient, most difficult and most English sport—is today enjoying a post-war craze in Britain, particularly among women.

More than 50 societies whose membership lapsed in wartime are building up again. Sports outfitters report a boom in equipment which includes bow, waist-quiver with a half a dozen arrows, armguards and leather shooting tab.

Women like toxophilily — archery's official name — because it develops graceful postures and lithe figure. Experts say no sport achieves a quicker effect on physique, powers of judgment and concentration.

Strenuous Sport

But it is more strenuous than one might think. An average woman's bow needs a pull of 25 pounds. In a shooting "round" four dozen arrows are launched at a target 60 yards, and another two dozen from 50 yards. Three arrows are shot in succession from alternate ends of the range, so that the archer walks three and a half miles.

There are no professional archers in England. Archers consider themselves comrades and teach other at their clubs.

The King took up archery two years ago. He invited two members of the 270-year-old Royal Company of Archers to Balmoral Castle to teach him. The Royal Company presented him with bows and arrows which were 28 inches long and carried his racing colors of red and blue in their flight feathers. Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret also have bows and arrows.

Cost A Factor

Archers' biggest worry today is the cost of bows and arrows. Purchase tax is still charged on selling prices at 100 per cent. Some arrows cost £5 ($20) a dozen.

A good yew bow costs £15 — three times the pre-war price. Steel bows, which modern archers find less susceptible to weather changes, can be had for about three guineas ($12.50).

Bows and arrows figure in the British export drive. At Oldbury, outside Birmingham, thousands of bows and arrows are being made from high tensile tubing used in Spitfire fighters and Lancaster bombers during the war.

But after 602 years the Woodmen of Arden, whose club is possibly the most exclusive in the world of archery, sneer at the metal bow and pin their faith to the yew bow of Crecy.

Mrs. Petronella Burr won the English archery women's championship and the world women's championship at Stockholm last year with a steel bow.

Some London bowmen belong to the Royal Toxophilites, who formed their society in 1780. It is said that the gallantry of the 18th century still prevails there. Men still ask permission to smoke when watching women shoot. Women champions are still called "championesses."

MAY MARRIAGE UNLUCKY?

The month of May was regarded by the early Romans as an unlucky month especially for marriage.

OLYMPIC CHAMPIONS — Canada's Barbara Ann Scott and Dick Button, from the U.S., will top attractions at the Rotary Club's Ice Revue, May 6, 7 and 8, at Maple Leaf Gardens. Teams from the Outdoor Skating Club, the University Skating Club, the Granite Club, the Toronto Skating Club and the Oshawa Skating Club will also appear.

Try this Taste-Test!

131 housewives did and 85 voted HEINZ their top flavour favourite

When a group of average housewives in a typical small Canadian city were asked to make a "blindfold" test of two leading brands of Cream of Tomato Soup, the result was overwhelmingly in favour of Heinz.

Of course, the women were not actually blindfolded, but they were served two bowls of heated Cream of Tomato Soup that were identified only by the letters A and B, and asked to write down the brand they preferred. Nearly 65 percent voted Heinz FIRST for flavour. Less than 35 percent voted for another well-known brand, with one lone lady registering no choice.

Here are a few of the comments made by another group of women when asked their opinion of Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup:

- "It's No. 1 soup in our home."
- "No other competes with it."
- "Have always preferred Heinz because the flavour is definitely superior."
- "Heinz tomato flavour is truer."

Try this taste test on your own family. Heat a tin of Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup and a tin of any other brand. Serve half-helpings of each and get your family's verdict, when they have tasted the wonderful difference. Chances are it will be two to one for Heinz. If you have been buying some other brand for any reason, try Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup just ONCE. It will be the beginning of a long friendship. Taste will tell!

VOTED THE MOST POPULAR RECIPE

In view of current meat costs, the following recipe was selected for its fortifying protein content from a 40-page booklet: "57 Ways to Use Heinz Condensed Soups," a free copy of which will be sent you on request. Write H. J. Heinz Company of Canada Ltd., 420 Dupont Street, Toronto.

TOMATO CHEESE OMELET

4 eggs, beaten until frothy

1 10-oz. can Heinz Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup, undiluted

1/4 teaspoon salt

Beat together eggs, 1/2 cup Soup, salt and cheese. Heat fat in frying pan. Add egg mixture and cook slowly. Run spatula around edge, lifting to allow uncooked portion to flow underneath. When slightly browned on bottom fold omelet in half. Let stand over a low heat until center of omelet is set. To make sauce: melt butter; add flour and blend well. Add remaining Soup gradually. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Serve over tomato cheese omelet. Serves 4.

1/4 cup grated Canadian cheese
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour

Noted Editor Speaker At Anniversary

St. Andrew's United church held its 115th anniversary on Sunday, when the Rev. Dr. A. J. Wilson, editor of the United Church Observer, was the guest preacher, and Miss Hazel Solomon, of Toronto, the guest soloist. At the evening service, members of Trinity United church and the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon were also present.

Dr. Wilson discussed the modern and ancient attitude towards the Devil in his evening sermon and took as his text, "I saw Satan like lightning fall from heaven." He said that there was a certain loss to a spiritual life by our failure to draw a sharp distinction between good and evil. He quoted a modern philosopher, who said, "The devil has gone because he has lost his function."

"In Jesus' day," continued Dr. Wilson, "Satan was a real thing, a being to attack, not to speculate about. 'Get thee behind me Satan.' He said that the implications of crime on the Cross are unmistakable and that after Calvary it could never be complete darkness again."

He said that somehow or other the fight seemed to have gone out of the Christian church, but "there are illimitable resources awaiting the children of light." There was a lowering of moral standards today, but there had been dark days in the past, and "the long background of history records a God who has survived every crisis."

"A Christian," he said, "must bring his faith to bear on the problems of the world. His confidence in the final triumph of good moves mountains from his path."

"From Vladivostok to Paris the change is complete, in Britain it is almost complete. If the church takes no account of the upheaval of today, it will come out badly battered."

He ended by saying that it was no time to be pessimistic, for "the winds of God begin to stir," and the ultimate conquest of evil was the plan of God for the world.

Miss Solomon sang three solos, "The Almighty" by Schubert, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte and "Sinners Please Don't Let the Harvest Pass" by Burleigh. The choir sang the anthem, "Come Ye Blessed" by Scott Deis and the "Gloria" from Mozart's 12th Mass.

After the service, there was a reception for Miss Solomon and Dr. Wilson.

OSHAWA—The efforts of the city of Oshawa to halt operations of the Street Railway Company freight line have been temporarily halted by an interim injunction. The railway, which runs through the centre of town, has damaged the roadbed of the street and constitutes what is regarded as a "traffic menace."

Warns Generation's Peril Is Sheep-Like Group Acts

"This is My commandment that you love one another," is still the commandment of Jesus to you and to me," said Rev. H. G. Douglas in his Sunday night sermon to the congregation of Knox United Church and guests members of the IOOF and Rebekah Lodges.

A free rendering of the text from St. John, based on a broad meaning of its Greek verb might be: "Greater love hath no man than this that he put his life at the disposal of his friend," Rev. Mr. Douglas said. In that sense it did not imply the necessity of dying, but something as great, if not greater, to live for one's friend. It was the friendship of a continuous service in which human relationships were transformed above the physical levels.

Friendship, Mr. Douglas said, was one of the great gifts of God to man, and Christian fellowship was based on the friendship of Jesus. It inspired the individual life with spiritual glory, and by its influence a man was a better Oddfellow because he was a good Christian.

Friendships were strengthened by community of spirit, by the sharing of common interests and experiences. That was one of the marks of Christians. It was particularly true in the first century, from the days of the apostles, the men whom Jesus called into apostleship.

Entire Service Club Signs To Fight Cancer

Sunday night at the regular meeting of the Peterborough B'nai B'rith lodge, Mr. James Dutton delivered an address on cancer. He stressed the idea that cancer can be cured.

Mr. Dutton was introduced by Ben Collis, one of the B'nai B'rith representatives on the Peterborough Cancer Society. Mr. Dutton commended the local lodge for its fine communal interest. He said: "We are all interested in religious, cultural, industrial, and commercial life, but unless we watch the health of the people then these other things are but secondary. In cancer we have a killer that is doing its work quietly, insidiously and malignantly; it has no respect of persons."

"Last year nearly 15,000 people died of cancer in Canada. The disease is increasing—in 1935, 97.9 per 100,000 of the population died of cancer, while in 1945 the figure increased to 118.9 per 100,000. Also more children between the ages of five and 19, are dying from cancer than from six other diseases together, including scarlet fever and the measles."

"The idea that cancer can't be cured is untrue. There are two organizations at work in Canada, one is the Canadian Research Foundation, which is making intensive studies of cancer, is subsidized by the governments. This foundation is equipped with laboratories and is trying to find the cause and cure of cancer. Then there is the Canadian Cancer Society, which concerns itself with educating the people. People are afraid of cancer, and this organization is trying to defeat this fear. In spite of the fears, if cancer is found in time, it can be cured. One out of every eight people die of cancer, and yet three of the eight if found in time, can be cured."

"If you become conscious that in any part of your body you have a lump or sore for any length of time, then see your doctor," said Mr. Dutton.

The Peterborough objective is 5,000 cancer society members, and B'nai B'rith expressed its co-operation, by having 100 per cent of its members enrolling in the society. Mr. Dutton concluded with the remarks, that we should leave no stone unturned, in having everyone in Peterborough completely cared for in every phase of medical assistance, regardless of their means. The meeting was closed with the showing of some interesting films on cancer.

100 Passengers Unhurt

WEST NEWTON, Pa., May 3 — (AP). — More than 100 passengers escaped unhurt last night when two cars of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Columbian were derailed here. The Washington-Chicago all-coach train was proceeding slowly near the West Newton depot when the accident occurred. The second and third cars of the train were derailed but did not overturn.

Candidate Arrested

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 3 — (AP). — The candidate for vice-president of the Henry Wallace third party ticket, Senator Glen Taylor (Dem.-Idaho), was arrested Saturday night as he attempted to enter a meeting of the southern Negro Youth Congress. Taylor was charged with disorderly conduct. He was released on $100 bond. The case will be heard Tuesday.

Find Drownings Predominate In 4 Fatalities

By The Canadian Press
Traffic accidents on the first week-end in May took four lives in Eastern Canada, A Canadian Press survey today showed. Two persons were drowned, one fatally burned, one killed in a fall and one accidentally shot and the body of a missing man was found in Toronto Bay.

Meivin Christie, 22, of Oshawa was killed when his automobile overturned during a Sunday drive. His 21-year-old wife, Dorothy, suffered a broken arm.

Edgar Vachon, 17, of the Ottawa suburb of Eastview, died of injuries suffered when his motorcycle plunged off the road. A companion, John Gladu, 15, suffered a fractured skull in the same mishap.

Fatally injured in separate accidents when struck by motor vehicles were Annie Holden, 50, of Windsor and a man identified as Clarence Gillis of Tignish, P.E.I. Lester M. Sloggett, 36, was drowned near Niagara Falls, when a boat from which he had been fishing overturned.

The other drowning was at Halifax, where three-year-old Roy Johnson fell into a four-by-six foot hole filled with five feet of water.

At Como, Que., 15 miles west of Montreal, Gastanne Mariel, six, died in a fire which destroyed her home. Henri Bedard, a family friend, suffered severe burns in an attempt to rescue her.

Joseph Clary, 55-year-old Halifax carpenter, was killed when he fell from the roof of a seven-story building.

Gordon Rochford, 11, of Montreal, died from a bullet wound suffered when a 12-year-old playmate, Garrick Lomas, accidentally fired a revolver while inspecting the safety catch.

The body of a man identified as Leon Trupp, 49, was found in Toronto Bay. Trupp had been missing since March 29.

Art Montgomery Dies In Lakefield

Funeral was held today for Arthur Montgomery, 51, of Lakefield at the Tedford Funeral Home at 2 p.m. The Rev. G. F. Kelly of Lakefield United church, officiated and pallbearers were Lloyd and Neil Blewett, Eldon and Clayton Montgomery, Kenneth and Thomas Junkin. Burial was at Lakefield cemetery.

Mr. Montgomery died at his residence on Saturday following a short illness. He was born in Buckhorn, son of David Montgomery and the late Elizabeth Freeburn and resided in Lakefield for the past 18 years. Prior to that time he lived in Buckhorn.

Besides his father and step-mother, he leaves his wife, the former Vera Hiscutt and three sons, Keith, Morley and David, all of Lakefield. There are two brothers, Roland of Buckhorn and Elwood of Peterborough. A sister, Mrs. Evans Blewett, lives in Selwyn. He was employed by the Outboard Marine Company.

FACES CONSPIRACY CHARGES—Canadian Seamen's Union officers Aage Antonsen, left, business agent and Michael Jackson, director, are shown with police escort as they were led to municipal hall at Thorold, where they heard Magistrate H. D. Hallet refuse to lower their bail as he remanded them for one week for trial. They were brought from Welland jail with 36 other seamen. Bail of $250 was asked, by counsel for the 38 CSU men and a free lance photographer, following fracas aboard ship in Welland canal. However, the magistrate ruled that bail of $2,500 cash or two sureties of $2,500 each must stand. Jackson faces trespassing, conspiracy charges.

CCF Plan To Drop 20 PC Amusement Tax

TORONTO, May 3 —(CP)—E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C. C. F. leader, Saturday night told a gathering at a dinner sponsored by the Woodbine C. C. F. association that his party will oppose collection of a 20-per-cent Ontario amusement tax.

At the last session of the Legislature it was decided the tax would be collected by the Provincial government as soon as the federal government gives up the levy. The money raised by the province would be used to meet hospital deficits. The federal government has not yet vacated the field.

Mr. Jolliffe said his party proposed to aid hospitals financially from the consolidated revenue fund. If the amusement tax is im-

Police Uncover Fraudulent Cheque Scheme

VICTORIA, May 3 —(CP)—David Cavadas, 28-year-old former Vancouver boxing promoter, pleaded not guilty in police court Saturday to a charge of conspiracy to defraud three Victoria banks of $39,000.

Gordon Hardie Stevenson, 28, University of British Columbia student, pleaded guilty. Charged jointly, they were remanded until today.

The arrest of Cavadas and Stevenson Friday and six other suspects in Calgary was believed by police to have uncovered a fraudulent cheque scheme victimizing banks in three western Canada cities.

In Calgary, three Vancouver men, two women from Williams Lake, B.C., and a Toronto man are held on vagrancy charges, pending investigation.

Detective George Monger, Chief of the police cheque detail in Vancouver, said three Vancouver bank branches have been defrauded of about $2,000.

The method used by swindlers was to open accounts in names of non-existent firms with a small cash deposit. The bogus cheques on other banks would be deposited and cash drawn from the accounts before the cheques were traced.

Havelock People Honor Clergyman, Wife

HAVELOCK, May 3—(ENS)—The congregation of St. John's Anglican church assembled in the Sunday school auditorium of the church on Wednesday evening to say farewell to their rector, Rev. F. Pitts and Mrs. Pitts, who are leaving next Friday for Canington, where Mr. Pitts will have charge of the parish, Canington, Beaverton and Sunderland.

During the evening Mr. Pitts was presented with a purse of money by H. W. Roches on behalf of the congregation, Mrs. J. Holdcroft presented Mrs. Pitts with a beautiful wall mirror on behalf of the Parish Guild and Women's Auxiliary.

During the meeting of the AYPA held prior to the congregational meeting Mr. Pitts was presented with a billfold by Miss K. Morton as a slight token of their appreciation of the work he has done in connection with their organization.

The balance of the evening was pleasantly spent with community singing and a contest won by Mrs. H. A. Michaelson and G. Fox. Lunch was served at the close.

Rev. Mr. Pitts has served for three years as rector of the parish, Havelock, Norwood and Westwood. He will be succeeded here by Rev. P. A. Rickard of Toronto, who has served for a year as assistant at St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, and who is a graduate of Wycliffe College, being ordained in 1930.

Trouper Dies

PHILADELPHIA, May 3 (AP)—William M. Armstrong, 87, famed baritone of the Kelly Street Singers and a stage headliner for more than a half century, died yesterday at his home here. Billy Armstrong, as he was known in professional life, began his stage career at the age of 18 at the Old Temple Theatre here.

FLOODS BEGINNING TO RECEDE—Eastern Canada is apt to regard the prairies as a pretty dry expanse of country, even in the spring, but such a theory was effectively exploded at a number of points, including Regina and Saskatoon. At Regina, the sluggish Wascana creek overflowed its banks, flooded the flats in the city. The top picture shows a stretch of Atholl St., Regina, where residents were able to reach their homes only by boat. In Saskatoon, the wide Saskatchewan river rose more than 12 feet above its normal level, and in places broke the banks and flooded farm lands and villages. There was no serious flooding at Saskatoon, but citizens were treated to a spectacle of the normally sluggish river sweeping through town, swift and muddy, with miniature icebergs bumping the piers of the five bridges that span the river in the city. Moose Jaw, Sask., suffered the worst flooding of the Moose Jaw river in more than half a century. The riverside cleaning establishment, below, was one of the buildings most seriously affected by the flood. Damage will run into tens of thousands of dollars, but no accurate estimate has been made. Death toll from prairie floods rose to 15 with the report that a 16-year-old Alberta youth drowned in a creek. Although general recession of swollen rivers is reported in Alberta and Saskatchewan, the situation is still serious in Manitoba, particularly in Winnipeg and Morris.

Forester Addresses Omeme Society

OMEMEE, May 3 (ENS)—The April meeting of the Omeme and District Horticultural Society was featured by a lecture on Reforestation by Mr. Kirk from the office of the District Forester at Lindsay.

For evidence of benefits from reforestation, he referred especially to the Ganaraska in Durham County where hundreds of acres of sandy waste are being reclaimed.

He presented interesting pictures showing stages of growth, methods of planting and transplanting. Hardwood are seldom used, he said, because of damage to the bark inflicted by gnawing animals.

Mrs. S. Moyer thanked the speaker.

The remainder of the time was given to discussion on horticultural problems.

The president, J. Bent, distributed packages of transplant purchased by the society and some trial packages of flower seeds.

Two Cyclists Hurt

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Medical authorities last night held little hope for the recovery of two youthful motorcyclists, critically injured when their machine careened into the ditch on the eastern outskirts of Ottawa. The two, Edgar Vachon 17, and John Gladu 15, are in the hospital with fractured skulls and other injuries. They have failed to regain consciousness.

WMS And CGIT Are Affiliated

OMEMEE, May 3 (ENS)—The W. M. S. were guests of the C.G.I.T. at an impressive Affiliation Service held in the Sunday School room of Trinity United Church Thursday evening. Girls of Whippoorwill C. G. I. T. group made their declaration of friendship with girls around the world, through the Woman's Missionary Society, and were welcomed into the missionary family of the congregation by Mrs. V. Lang, Auxiliary president.

Bible readings were given by Donna Clifford, Isabel Hyland and Marion Zufelt. Jean James read the commentary.

A sing-song was led by the assistant leader, Miss E. Thexton and accompanied on the piano by Joan Whitmore.

In the affiliation service the declaration of friendship was made by the president, Nancy Carnegie on behalf of the group. Miss Thexton, Joan Zufelt, Beverly Deyell, Kathryn Carnegie and Orma Brooks lit candles representing the different phrases of Christian enlightenment made possible to underprivileged women and girls, by the work of the Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. Lang acknowledged the group as co-workers with the WMS.

A gift of $5 from the group was presented by the C. G. I. T. Superintendent, Mrs. Wm. G. Earle. It was received and dedicated by Mrs. Lang on behalf of the Presbyterial Secretary for Affiliated C. G. I. T. Groups. Mrs. Lang presented each member with the World Friendship Insignia and addressed the meeting.

3 District Students Kemptville Graduates

NORWOOD, May 3—(ENS)—Three students from Peterborough district graduated recently from the Kemptville Agricultural School.

Miss Gwyneth Reed of Peterborough, passed with honors, and won the prize donated by the Kemptville Women's Institute, for the student ranking first in general proficiency in the Home Economics course.

Kenneth Barrie of Norwood attained honor standing, and won the Stanley Anderson Shield given to the student with the greatest proficiency in Agricultural Engineering.

John Edmison, RR 2, Peterborough, also secured a high standing.

Devaluation Of Dollar Is Rejected

Abbott Says Problem In Canada Needs Another Answer

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 4 (AP).—Canada has rejected devaluation of her dollar, Finance Minister Abbott said today because her economic problem is "not the kind for which that is an appropriate or effective remedy."

"Currency depreciation may be helpful to a country which is in difficulty because its costs and prices are too high to enable it to compete in the world market," he said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Missouri Bankers' Association.

"There are a number of countries in that position today, but certainly not Canada."

Giving the background to Canada's rejection of devaluation, Mr. Abbott said:

1. There can be no solution to Canada's problems in a "constructive and expansionist manner" unless the United States is prepared to accept Canadian imports "on a much larger scale."

2. Canada's stake in the European recovery program is "a heavy one" but her financial position "precludes the extension of gifts or credits beyond our current accounts surplus, less an amount necessary to build up our present abnormally low reserves."

Heavy Buyers
Mr. Abbott said Canada purchases twice as much from the U.S. as the U.S. purchases from her and called that "the nub of our balance of payments difficulties."

Canada's free contributions to other countries since 1939 are almost $3,000,000,000 and her post-war credits to Europe totalled $1,550,000,000. Her government still believed "in the fundamental soundness of our policy" but "even the extreme pessimists" had under-estimated Europe's economic dislocation and devastation.

Canada's main interest in ERP was in its effect on restoration of the economic health of Europe.

"There can be no satisfactory solution of the long-term Canadian problem independently of a solution of the European problem, unless we are to suffer serious shifts in our entire structure of production and trade and serious inroads in our standard of living."

ERP would, in the immediate sense, enable Canada to play her part in European recovery without further restrictions on U.S. imports. She would devote herself to that recovery "to the extent of her capacities, material and financial."

Bevin Appeals To Arabs, Jews

LONDON, May 4.—(CP).—Foreign Secretary Bevin appealed today to Jews and Arabs to stop fighting and seek a peaceful solution in Palestine.

"In a few days it may be too late," he told the Commons.

"With the crisis upon us, there is still time for moderation and reason to win. The vital requirement now is that shooting should be stopped and some machinery established of which the two parties could make use, and so provide an opportunity for wiser councils to prevail."

Opening a two-day debate on foreign affairs, he described the European organization to administer the Marshall plan as "an excellent basis on which to build up an increasingly strong and efficient structure of European economy and co-operation."

He reiterated Britain's intention to surrender the Palestine mandate May 15 and said:

"There is no question of using our resources after May 15 to enforce any kind of settlement against the wishes of either party." He said the reports by Hagana, the Jewish military, that Arab armies of neighboring states have invaded Palestine were not true.

Premier Spaak Decides To Quit Post

BRUSSELS, May 4 (Reuters).—Premier Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium has decided to hand the resignation of his government to the Prince regent, it was authoritatively learned today.

Reason for Spaak's decision to resign was said to be his own Socialist Party's opposition to the government policy in the 75-year-old dispute between state-sponsored and "free" Roman Catholic schools.

The two wings of Belgium's coalition government agreed in principle last Friday on a policy to settle the old 'education problem.'

Speakers in both houses of parliament were to be asked to allow a declaration by Camille Huysmans, minister of education, to be read tomorrow.

The dispute between the Socialists and the Christian Socialists (Catholics), who form the coalition, was over government subsidies for Catholic schools.

The 800 "free" Roman Catholic schools in Belgium were receiving 475,000,000 francs ($10,180,000) a year from the state but the Catholic Socialist party insisted, upon obtaining another subsidy of 75,000,000 ($1,712,000).

The government agreed to pay 75 per cent of the Roman Catholic school teachers' salaries compared with 60 per cent at present, but the Socialist party opposed both the over-all increase of the subsidy and any increase of the share of the teachers' salaries.

Spaak told reporters, after a meeting with the Socialist parliamentary group, that "I have been completely defeated by my own party's parliamentary group and I am going to summon a cabinet meeting."

Elevator Collapses

ALEXANDRIA, May 4.—(CP).—Breaking open with the crash of "a thunder clap," the wall of a grain elevator collapsed Monday night showering the Garry River with thousands of bushels of oats.

Commission Changes Mind Two Policemen Kept On

TORONTO, May 4.—(CP).—Toronto Police Commission today rescinded the dismissal of one policeman and lifted the suspension of another in a review of charges of brutality against prisoners.

Inspector George Crawford, under indefinite suspension for failing to report subordinates' misconduct, had his suspension lifted today but was severely reprimanded.

A special meeting of the commission decided to suspend Detective-Sergeant Frank Craddock without pay until October. Thus he would be eligible for a pension if he retires at that time for the dismissal order is carried through at that time.

The charges were among five separate accusations of brutality laid against police officers within a month.

Britain Suggests Neutral Authority For Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, May 4.—(CP).—The question before the United Nations today was whether to expand or discard Britain's new blueprint for building peace in Palestine. The proposal is that a "neutral authority" maintain public services in the Holy Land after May 15—the end of the British mandate. Observers predicted a majority of the members, including the United States, would back the plan, already given Canada's full support.

Britain's Colonial Secretary, Arthur Creech Jones, made the bare proposal before the 58-member political committee on Monday, emphasizing the consequences of leaving no central authority in the Holy Land after Britain drops her mandate only 12 days from now.

But the possibility of effecting a truce between Arabs and Jews to allow the "neutral authority" to work was not strong.

The 12-member trusteeship council meets again today after an unsuccessful attempt last night to reach agreement on a plan to protect Jerusalem.

Delegates Pessimistic
Delegates were pessimistic but one spot of hope was in a tentative cease-fire agreement between Jews and Arabs for the walled section of Jerusalem. This too had a condition.

The Jews, scheduled to conduct truce arrangements with the Arabs in Jerusalem, insisted that they have free access to the old walled section, locale of many holy places.

The cease-fire would end if this were not allowed.

Another ray of light was in the possibility that the International Red Cross might take over all or parts of Jerusalem in a sort of protective open-city arrangement.

But the council became deadlocked on Britain's proposal for a special municipal commissioner for Jerusalem. The British plan received support of the United States, which earlier had put forward a trusteeship plan for Jerusalem which was denounced by the Arabs as the first step towards dividing Palestine into Jewish and Arab states.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's chief delegate, gave full support to the British proposal.

Police Chief John McGrail of Leaside said sound movies had been taken of today's disturbance. When women strikers involved in the melee threatened to lay charges against a policeman he pointed to a camera grinding from an upstairs window and told them to go ahead. Police said the camera was kept trained on Chief McGrail. The movies were being made by a private individual and not specially for purposes of evidence, police said. They would be available, however, if needed in court proceedings.

In the same upstairs window from which the camera was trained a cloth covered object which strikers said was a microphone.

Capt. Farran Leaves On Secret Journey

WOLVERHAMPTON, Staffordshire, England, May 4.—(Reuters).—Capt. Roy Alexander Farran, whose brother Rex was killed Monday by a parcel bomb addressed to Capt. Farran and opened during his absence in Scotland, left here today for a secret destination.

Capt. Farran, acquitted by a Palestine court martial on a charge of murdering a Jewish youth who disappeared in Jerusalem a year ago, was not expected to attend the inquest of 26-year-old Rex.

Only evidence of identification and medical evidence will be given at the inquest.

Detectives from Scotland Yard and a home office explosives expert continued investigation in the Farrans' closely-guarded home near here where the parcel was delivered.

Circular Saw Causes Instant Death

Hayden Wellwood, 18, Sawing Cordwood Near The Creamery

Hayden Wellwood, 18, was instantly killed at 1.30 this afternoon when he fell against a circular saw while cutting firewood in a field near Harwood Creamery.

The youth was feeding the saw, and his employer, Donald Harriott, was carrying the four foot stick to the machine and placing them on the carrier. Harriott's back was turned when the accident occurred, and it is not known just what happened. In some manner Wellwood either slipped or was caught and hurled against the whirling, four foot blade. He suffered extensive cuts on the face and chest. Harriott pulled him off the saw.

The two men had been operating a portable sawing machine powered by a tractor, and were cutting firewood in a field across from the Harwood Creamery. Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg was called along with Dr. E. W. Wilkins, coroner of Cobourg. Dr. Wilkins has not made a decision yet regarding an inquest.

Sight Sunken Boat

OSWEGO, N.Y., May 4 (AP).—Coast guardsmen began dragging operations on Lake Ontario near Nine Mile Point today after a sunken boat believed to have been carrying two missing men was sighted. State Trooper R. D. Camp, who flew over the area, said he saw a boat lying on the bottom of the lake. Theodore Brown, 35, and Howard Haddon, 22, have been missing since Sunday night when they presumably left Oswego in their 14-foot outboard motorboat for Fair Haven.

20 Manhole Lids Hurled In Air By Three Blasts

HAMILTON, May 4.—(CP).—Three violent sewer gas explosions, centering around Beach Road and Dewey Street, today hurled 20 manhole covers into the air, some weighing 500 pounds, shattered windows for blocks around and attracted hundreds into the street. A milkman was thrown from his delivery truck but no one was seriously hurt.

The explosions hurled three narrow escapes for Mrs. Julius Phau who was on her way to a store.

About 100 feet south of Beach Road a cover was blasted 10 feet in the air a short distance behind her, flames shot up from the opening and Mrs. Phau broke into a run.

She stopped near Beach Road to look around when the second violent shock hurled a second cover off a few feet away on Beach Road. Excited, Mrs. Phau began to run again when a gully cover blew off in the third explosion and flames and smoke belched skyward.

"I didn't know what was happening," Mrs. Phau said, "and the harder I ran the more covers seemed to be blowing off."

The request was made Monday night by T. G. McManus, CSU secretary-treasurer. He said the get-together between the union and the ship-owners—Canada Steamship Lines, Sarnia and Western Steamships—was suggested by commissioners appointed by the government to inquire into the dispute.

A telegram sent to Mr. Mitchell by Mr. McManus said in part: "It appears to the union that the government wishes to escape their responsibility and to gloss over the charges of lawlessness on the part of the companies made by the commissioners appointed by the government."

Set Minimum Standards
The net result, said the Congress, would be that the Dominion, through its code, would set minimum standards that must be followed generally, while each province would be free to experiment in advanced legislation.

The code, which has received second reading in the Commons, now applies only to such inter-provincial industries as railways, shipping and communications.

Provision is made for extending the code to other industries.

Direct War Against English Will Be Resumed, Since Reinforcements Sent

Irgun Occupies Arab Stronghold Yehudia After All-Night Battle; 30 Shells Land In Area Near Jerusalem

TEL AVIV, May 4.—(AP).—Irgun Zvai Leumi said today its Jewish battle force has seized and occupied the Arab stronghold village of Yehudia after an all-night fight with the Arabs. Yehudia, one of the wealthiest Arab villages in Palestine, has barred the way to the Lydda airport. It is 12 miles east of Tel Aviv and about four miles north of the air-drome.

(The Stern Gang, Jewish terrorist organization, announced the end of its truce with British forces in Palestine, saying "our direct war against the British enemy will be resumed."

(A Reuters dispatch said the communiqué, regarded as a reply to the arrival of British reinforcements in Palestine, said that the aim of the Stern Gang would be to prove that the British army is unable to maintain law and order in the Holy Land.)

The Irgun attack was the first since Irgun pulled out of the captured Arab quarters of Manshieh in Jaffa and turned its positions over to Hagana, the Jewish militia.

Irgun said its attack on Yehudia was made with the knowledge and approval of Hagana.

Heavy mortar explosions and intense automatic weapon fire were heard throughout the night.

Much of the normal 10,000 Arab population of Yehudia had left in recent weeks, but Irgun said Arab troops defended the town.

The Arab population of the neighboring village of Anna was reported by Irgun to have fled.

Arab fighters were reported attacking the Jewish settlement of Kfar Etzion south of Jerusalem. Arabs said Jews fired upon a convoy of the British-occupied Arab legion there yesterday.

Other skirmishes developed elsewhere in Palestine, where the end of the British mandate is but 11 days away.

The Arab attack on Kfar Etzion was well under way by noon, according to sparse reports received in Jerusalem.

The information said 30 shells landed in the area of two settlements on the highway between Jerusalem and Ramallah. They said there were no casualties and little damage.

Jerusalem was quiet during the night, although scattered firing was heard this morning inside the area where British forces are enforcing a Jew-Arab truce.

Execute 152 People In Greece For Murder

ATHENS, May 4.—(AP).—It was officially announced that 152 persons convicted of murder were executed today in Greece.

Virtually all the slayings were connected with 1944 revolution. All appeals by the condemned had been formally rejected by the pardons board.

The executions followed the assassination Saturday of Justice Minister Christos Ladas, officially described as the result of a Communist plot.

Flames Lick Settler Home As Baby Born

SUDBURY, May 4.—(CP).—While flames from a slash forest fire threatened to destroy the settler home of Mr. and Mrs. C. St. Germaine, seven miles north of nearby Markstay Monday, Mrs. St. Germaine, a young British war bride, gave birth to a 7½-pound daughter without aid of a doctor.

Firefighters from the Skead branch of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests battled the flames together with the father, while his wife, helped by her sister-in-law, delivered the baby.

As soon as Mrs. St. Germaine bore her daughter, fire fighters, battling the flames outside the house, rushed in and removing the bed, bearing the mother and child, carried it half a mile down the road to safety and a neighbor's home.

The slash fire was still burning today and has covered more than 300 acres. A Sudbury doctor, called to deliver the baby, arrived soon after the child's birth and cared for mother and daughter.

Predict Housing Construction To Be Speeded

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP).—The government Monday night predicted housing construction will be speeded up this year.

The Crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. estimated that 192,000 units have been completed since Jan. 1, 1945. It quoted the Dominion Bureau of Statistics as saying there were about 77,000 completions last year, a gain of 10,000 over 1946.

One factor in the increased activity last year was the greater supply of building materials. Production of eight items—cement, wood fibre insulating board, warm-air furnaces, electric hot water tank heaters, asphalt shingles, asphalt rolls, rock wool batts and gypsum wallboard—was more than twice as great as in 1939. Many others reached peak output.

Production of two important items—steel pipe and electric hot water tank heaters—decreased from 1946. Shortage of steel was the main reason.

Central Mortgage summed up: "Given sustained effective demand during the year, the amount of residential and other types of building may be expected to show continued improvement in 1948."

Railway Strike Appears Likely

CHICAGO, May 4.—(AP).—Frank Douglas, federal mediator who has been striving to head off a walkout by three operating Brotherhoods said Monday, a United States-wide railroad strike, set to start a week from today, appears likely.

"It looks very much like there might be a strike," said Douglas, chairman of the National (Railway) Mediation Board. "The picture does not look good."

His comment followed four days of apparently unsuccessful meetings with the unions and carriers. However, the Board planned further sessions today in a final attempt to settle the wage dispute.

"Tuesday (today) might very well be our last day in Chicago," Douglas told reporters. "If the picture doesn't change we may well decide there is nothing more to do here."

Douglas said the "White House" was being kept informed of the progress of negotiations, but there was no immediate word from Washington if some government action might be expected.

There appears no further step for the government to take to head off the strike by the carriers' workers—some 150,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen—which would cripple the country's rail service. The Mediation Board's last-minute attempt to avert the threatened tie-up is the final step provided by present law. The dispute has been threshed out in all procedures provided by the Railway Labor Act.

Famous US Submarine Goes To Scrap Heap

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP).—The adventure-studded career of the submarine Salifish ended Monday when it was sold at the naval shipyards in Brooklyn for scrap.

The submarine, launched as the Sculpin, sank off Portsmouth, N.H., in 1939 with the loss of 26 lives. Salvaged and refitted at a cost of $1,000,000, she was renamed the Salifish, and during the war fought in the Pacific. Among other feats, she sank a 22,000-ton Japanese warship.

Clear weather prevails over all but the northwestern section of Ontario this morning. Cloudiness over this part of the province is associated with a weak weather disturbance west of Lake Superior which is moving slowly eastward. Scattered showers due to this disturbance are expected to spread over western sections of the province tonight. The weather will remain rather cloudy on Wednesday over most of the province, with temperatures about the same as today's.

Forecast: Sudbury City, Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Western Lake Ontario, Niagara and Georgian Bay regions. Clear today. Overcast with scattered showers tonight, clearing Wednesday afternoon. Light winds and not much change in temperature today and Wednesday.

Summary for Wednesday: Scattered showers, clearing in afternoon. Eastern Lake Ontario and Haliburton regions—Clear today. Wednesday cloudy. Scattered showers Wednesday afternoon and evening. Light winds and not much change in temperature today and Wednesday.

Summary for Wednesday: Cloudy. Scattered showers.

Young Farmer Crushed As Well Collapses

FORT COULONGE, Que., May 4.—(CP).—Kenneth Kelly, a 32-year-old farmer at nearby Vinton, Que., was crushed to death Monday at the bottom of a caved-in well, while his father and cousin worked desperately to dig him out.

The three had been digging the well on the farm which Kelly had purchased only a month previous. They had reached a depth of 22 feet when the farmer decided to see if water had been reached.

Descending into the well, he bent over to examine the earth when suddenly the walls collapsed sending tons of earth and stone over him.

Charges Papers Distort News

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP).—H. W. Herridge (People's CCF-Kootenay West) said Monday night in the Commons that he believes there is "much distortion" and "much suppression" of news in North America.

Newspapers recently headlined stories about Russian submarines being sighted off the Pacific coast, he said, but this later proved a "storm in a teacup."

There were other occasions when some event was played up in headlines and editorials. If the event later was proved unfounded, that fact rated one paragraph at the bottom of a page. This was not fair reporting.

"The people of the Soviet Union are not given the facts as to what the people in the western democracies think, and what they are doing," Mr. Herridge said.

"While there is more liberalization of news in this country through your press, there is much distortion and much suppression."

Fire Razes Home At Springbrook

BONARLAW, May 4 (ENS).—Fire destroyed the large home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jackson, near Springbrook, on Saturday night. Mrs. Jackson was preparing supper when she discovered the rear summer kitchen ablaze.

Through the fast work of the neighbors, most of the contents of the house were saved. The flames had advanced too far for the house, which is a mile west of Springbrook—to be saved.

D. O'Leary Funeral Held In Douro

Funeral for Daniel O'Leary, Otonabee farmer, was held Saturday morning from the Duffus Funeral Home. He died at his farm home Thursday, where he had been born and lived his 67 years.

Requiem Mass was celebrated at St. Joseph's Church, Douro, by the Rev. J. J. McCarthy. Many attended the service. Burial was in the family plot in St. Joseph's Cemetery, where he was laid beside his parents, pioneers of the district.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John D. O'Leary, his wife was the late Bridget Culiton. Surviving is one sister, Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, Toronto.

Pall bearers were Percy Davidson, Henry S. Borland, Samuel O'Brien, Hugh Cleary, William O'Leary and William Geraghty.

Anderson Candidate

FORT WILLIAM, May 4.—(CP).—Mayor Garfield Anderson Monday night was chosen by acclamation as Fort William C.C.F. candidate in the Ontario election June 7. The 60-year-old mayor is confined to bed with injuries received in an accident in Toronto April 14.

Lindsay Man Protests Secret Meetings

LINDSAY, May 4.—(ENS).—The old familiar subject of flooding cellars in the south part of Lindsay came in for more lossing ground at Monday's meeting of Council. E. C. Pitts, a grocer in that area, again waited on council to find out what was to be done about it. Mr. Pitts claimed damage following the floods earlier in this spring, which he said damaged a large amount of stock in his basement. "I don't know what the secrecy is surrounding the south ward problem," he declared, referring to what he called a "secret session" that council held recently and from which a local reporter was barred.

Reeve H. H. McFadden objected to the reference to secret meetings, and told Mr. Pitts council would consider his complaint. The Reeve said later he believed the town could fight the damage claims from south ward residents successfully in court. "But what we want to do is clear the matter up for all time. We don't want law suits."

Town Engineer Cobb was authorized to investigate further these trouble believed to be in the sewers, and to bring a report into council. Mr. Cobb said he believed some residents were claiming for goods not damaged in the floods at all.

ing it into other fields, but only where provinces pass legislation to transfer jurisdiction to the Dominion.

The Labor Department also hopes it will serve as a model for labor laws under provincial jurisdiction. Ontario, Manitoba, and Nova Scotia have adopted similar legislation and New Brunswick may do so.

Different Systems
But the Congress declared this still left the three main industrial provinces—Ontario, Quebec, and British Columbia—with different systems, with three other systems operating in Saskatchewan, Alberta, and Prince Edward Island.

Therefore, it declared, Canada was left without the means of dealing with nation-wide industrial disputes concerning Canada as a whole.

"Nation-wide industrial disputes in basic industries," it said, "might paralyze the whole industrial life of the country, yet the nation's government would be powerless to intervene. A great emergency would have to be dealt with by perhaps seven or eight provincial governments, under varying legislation, with the national government a helpless spectator."

Unfavorable To Labor
The 6,500-word report, signed by C.C.F. President A. R. Mosher and Pat Conroy, criticized other aspects of the code. While conceding that in some respects it was an improvement over the Wartime Labor Regulations, the Congress said in many others it was unfavorable to labor.

In this, it took the opposite view of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the other big national labor body. Percy Bengough, T.L.C. president, wrote the code generally last week commending the code.

The Canadian Congress of Labor listed more than 30 specific complaints.

Some of the chief objections: 1. National Harbors Board employees were omitted from the code and that the government could "nullify the whole act" by excluding crown companies or any other group of employers or employees.

2. The section dealing with industry-wide bargaining gave a single employer power to veto a general bargaining plan.

3. The cooling-off period before a strike vote could be taken was too long, despite some reduction from the time set in last year's original draft bill.

Too Weak
4. The provision dealing with the enforcement of collective bargaining was too weak.

5. The code made no provision for writing "union security" into collective agreements.

6. Sections dealing with unfair practices by employers did not cover enough ground. The Congress recommended tighten-

Murder Is Hinted In Timmins Death

TIMMINS, May 4.—(CP).—Murder is hinted today in the knife-killing of Frank Deluca, whose body was found shortly before noon today lying on the floor of his modest home in the outskirts of town.

A laundry truck driver who discovered the body, said there was a large stain in the stomach and a blood-stained butcher knife lying on the porch. Police were called but they refused to divulge any information.

There were signs of a scuffle in the driveway outside the house where Deluca's body was found. The hard gravel driveway was broken in many places. A crumpled brown fedora was lying in the driveway.

The front door pane was smashed and there were marks along the front porch, believed to be signs of a fight. The venetian blinds in the living room were crushed, but the window was intact.

7. The Congress described as "unnecessarily restrictive" the section declaring unions can obtain certification without a vote only when it shows a majority of workers in a bargaining unit are members in good standing.

8. The C.C.L., composed largely of industrial unions, asked modification of concessions granted craft unions.

Leg Fractured By Hit-and-Run

LINDSAY, May 4.—A Norland man, Worthy Ward, is recovering in Ross Memorial hospital here from injuries he received Saturday night in a hit and run accident. The injured man was stepping from his car on Norland's main street when he was struck by another car. Ward told police that the car was coming up the main street at a terrific speed and he had no time to get out of the way. He sustained a compound leg fracture. Damage to his car was slight.

In the meanwhile the police in the northern resort area are on the lookout for the offending motorist. Provincial Constable Lyle is investigating.

OTTAWA — The House of Commons approved Monday a motion by State Secretary Gibson under which 192 temporary positions on the Commons staff were moved to the permanent category. He agreed, however, to delay discussion on another motion which would increase the salaries of 47 classes of Commons employees.

MONTREAL — The city council of nearby St. Lambert Monday night exonerated police chief J. R. MacDonald from charges of alleged irregularities, accepting the findings of the committee of inquiry by a vote of four to one. Citizens had complained that the chief used the city's radio car for personal trips, tolerated the illegal sale of beer, drank with his constables and collected money which he kept.

TORONTO — Dr. Sidney E. Smith declared "the great goal" of diabetic researchers at the university of Toronto is to find a method to make insulin synthetically. The university president, appealed for support in a campaign to raise $6,000,000 to add to $7,000,000 pledged by the Ontario Government for the university. The medical school will benefit from the fund.

Edward A. McLonen of Toronto was sentenced Monday to one month on a charge of theft of 2,650 shares of Flobec gold mines stock. Evidence showed McLonen received payment for shares from a Toronto brokerage house but did not mention the sale to his client, Nelson D. Baker of nearby St. Mary's.

TORONTO — City council petitioned the Federal government to permit manufacture or importation of margarine in Canada. The council endorsed a Brantford motion which described margarine as an "excellent substitute" for butter and said the butter shortage was one reason why controls should be relaxed.

NEW YORK — New tenants occupied a four-story brick house at 80 Morningside Drive—Gen.

Rose Arraigned On Further Spy Charges

MONTREAL, May 4.—(CP)—Fred Rose, former member of parliament now serving the third year of a six-year sentence for conspiracy in the Soviet spy ring, faces additional prison terms as the result of new charges being pressed against him by the crown.

The charges are a follow-up to the conspiracy count on which he was convicted. Rose now is accused of having violated the official secrets act, which he was found guilty previously of having conspired to break.

The charges had almost been forgotten when Rose was suddenly brought out of prison Monday and arraigned in the court of King's Bench to be advised that the crown intended to proceed on them.

But the 40-year-old Rose protested bitterly at being brought into court. His counsel, Joseph Cohen, also expressed disapproval of the crown's action.

"Is this going to be part of general procedure or is it going to be a 'Rose special'?" Rose asked Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure.

He was cautioned by Mr. Justice Lazure against use of such a term as "Rose special" and told his previous trial was carried out in a "most legal and exacting manner."

Left 'Till September Because of a crowded court calendar—and the lack of any need for haste in proceedings against Rose since he still has about 3½ years in prison ahead of him—the case was put over to next September.

Rose, who was ousted from the Commons following his conviction as a spy, asked permission to speak after the crown gave notice that it would proceed. He maintained that the follow-up charges are being held against him "so I cannot get my release."

"I have now been in prison for two years. I have spent 6½ months in solitary confinement. My health is undermined, my vigour is gone, my spirit is broken. I am a man going to be brought to trial. Is this going to be part of a general procedure or is it going to be a 'Rose special'?"

LONDON, Eng.—The Soviet Council of Ministers announced plans to borrow 20,000,000,000 rubles from Russians for reconstruction and development. This is equivalent to about $3,770,000,000 at the official dollar-ruble exchange used by the Russians.

DOVER, Eng.—Edward Nicholson, who said he owns a store in New York, was barred from England and fined £400 ($1,600) for trying to bring £368 into the country. Persons entering Britain are allowed to bring in only £10 in sterling.

LONDON, Eng.—Mrs. Arthur James, godmother of Queen Elizabeth and friend of royalty for three generations, died after a long illness. Born Venetia Vancovich-Bentick, she was a kinswoman of the Duke of Portland and a famous beauty of Edwardian days.

PARIS — A French air force fighter-bomber burst into flames and crashed at Fricourt, North France, on Monday, killing both members of the crew.

New Jurisdiction

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP). — Reliable sources predicted Monday that the income tax branch of the revenue department shortly will be placed under jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission. The move has been under discussion for months and now has been recommended to the cabinet by Revenue Minister McCann. Employees now are appointed by officers of department. This function would come under the Civil Service.

NAMED CANDIDATE—Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare in the Ontario Cabinet, was nominated Progressive Conservative candidate for Northumberland-Durham constituency at a convention held in Warkworth Monday night.

Peter Swan Wins Target Trophy

COBOURG, May 4.—(ENS).—Pete Swan was the winner of the silver cup for the highest standing in the season's .22 rifle target competitions with a score of 1100 out of 1100. The standing of the other winners, in order of totals was: K. Cockburn, Jack Henderson, W. Warren, Sandy Bull, E. Hie, J. McCall, W. Pennycook, A. Moon, H. Lambie, B. Smith and J. Walker.

Following are the winners of the Dominion marksmen awards: Pete Swan, Murray Smith, E. Cockburn and E. Hie, bronze, silver and gold medals. B. Smith, bronze and silver; P. Coffin, silver; S. Bull, bronze; W. Warren, bronze; H. Jones, bronze and silver; H. Lambie, bronze; D. May, bronze; R. Cooper, bronze; A. May, bronze and silver; W. May, bronze; H. Cane, bronze; J. McCall, silver; T. Raid Kinsmen Club

VANCOUVER, May 4.—(CP). — Police Monday raided charity campaign headquarters of the Kinsmen Club. They took "samples" of books, tickets and stubs connected with the organization's "Food-for-Britain" carnival. The raid followed warnings from city prosecutor Gordon Scott that he considered the ticket sale — involving a quiz contest with $10,000 in prizes — a lottery, illegal under the criminal code of Canada.

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow Named Candidate In Northumberland

COBOURG, May 4 (ENS).—The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare, received the nomination for Northumberland county from the Progressive-Conservative party at the convention held Monday night at Warkworth. Mr. Goodfellow outlined the work the party had done and defended the Hydro program on the grounds that expansion of industry and influx of more people justified the Hydro plans for the future. Until the Dominion government enlarged the old age pension from $90 nothing could be done by the provincial government in that regard. Mr. Goodfellow cited the benefits received by hospitals through increased grants. He justified the gasoline tax as the only way to look after the highways. Other speakers were J. M. MacDonnell, president Dominion Progressive Conservative Association, Major Earl Dore, MP, for Northumberland and Gordon K. Fraser, MP, president East Centre District Association.

Studying Costs Traffic Lights

LINDSAY, May 4.—(ENS).—The street lighting committee of town council plans to secure estimates of the cost of installing traffic lights at three intersections on Kent St. at William St., at Cambridge, and a "flicker light" at the corner of Lindsay and Kent Streets.

The decision to secure estimates followed council's receipt of a letter from Mrs. R. Williams, urging that traffic lights be installed. Mrs. Williams waited on council on a previous occasion for the same reason. At that time she complained that William street was a "racetrack" and such corners were dangerous to pedestrians.

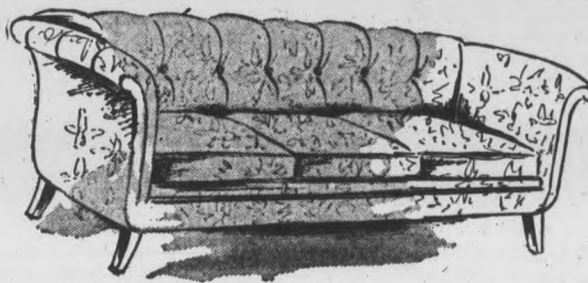

Mayor Chas. Lamb pointed out that when new street lights were installed on the main thorough-

The Great Expansion Of Social Services

Every day $2,000,000 is being spent on social services in Canada—a total of $750 million dollars. This is a hundred million dollars more than the total budget of the Dominion of Canada at the outbreak of war. Of this imposing amount, eighty per cent. is paid by the Federal Government. The rest of the money comes from the provinces and municipalities.

The spiralling public expenditures on social welfare indicate the growth of social services and through that growth, a large change in the economy and society of the nation. Canada is not unique in expanding its social services; in fact, it lags behind many countries—Great Britain, for instance, even pre-war, pre-Labour Government Britain. There are some anxious people of goodwill in Canada who are alarmed by this expansion. They wonder how the country can afford the expense and if it can continue to do so. The money comes out of the people in one way or another, chiefly through taxes. Taxes must be maintained at a fairly high level to meet the financial drain of the social services. Can private enterprise flourish under them? Will individuals of average income be contented and productive if taxes continue to be heavy drains on their income? In the war years, when taxes rose to even higher rates than now obtain, the nation and the individuals in it flourished, even when a large percentage of the time and material was spent for purposes of destruction. Cannot the nation and the people thrive when the products of farm and industry are for creative purposes and creature comforts?

People of goodwill are alarmed, too, lest this vast extension of social services lead to "individual passivity and dependency, to social stagnation and servility". The words are those of Mr. Joseph Willard, research officer of the Department of National Health and Welfare, who, stating the risk, feels that through social security measures, democratic countries have "sought to remove not only the evils and adversities of the jungle but also to avoid the lethargy of the lotus land".

There can be no return to the free-for-all, work or starve, live or die individualism of Canadian pioneer days or nineteenth century capitalism. Industrial organization is too complex, cities are too large, the hinterland is smaller and less beneficent. Humanitarian teaching has taken deep roots and the rights of the vast majority to a decent way of life, without utter dependence on unorganized charity in times of adversity, are recognized in all democracies.

Canada has never had a socialist government nor the dictatorship of a planned economy; it has been Liberal and Conservative governments—chiefly Liberal—which have brought about these great measures for the welfare and social security of the people. The C.C.F. and earlier socialists may have been useful as critics and in rousing governments to the need for social measures, but they have been on the sidelines and the credit for enacting them is not theirs.

Are Farmers Subsidizing Consumers?

The high price of farm products is not the fault of the farmer; as in any industry, the costs of material and labour on the farm have risen. Further, the farmer is, like industrialists and shop-keepers, engaged in "free enterprise" and he too wants his profits. As the Farmer's Advocate says in an editorial reprinted elsewhere on this page, cheap food is a thing of the past.

We do think, however, that the Farmer's Advocate has fallen into the error of a special advocate in suggesting that instead of farmer getting a square meal he is losing money. It says in another recent editorial which a rural correspondent has drawn to our attention that "Canadian farmers are subsidizing Canadian consumers to the extent of 15 to 20 per cent. of their food costs". We should like to see the figures on which this bare statement is based.

Canadian farmers did a splendid production job during the war; since the war they have been called on to feed not only our own people but hungry millions in Europe. We do not believe, though, that this was and is being done at great financial sacrifice. During the war when ceilings were put on prices, the Canadian people, through Government subsidies, paid out millions of dollars to primary producers like farmers. Food costs remained at low levels, but the farmer received more for them than the retail price. When price ceilings and subsidies were removed, the costs to the consumers rose accordingly. Of course, the farmers' costs rose too; for instance, he had to pay more for his feed shipped from the West.

Today, because of the British contracts and government policy, the farmer cannot sell his grain and meat freely on international markets. There are restrictions against selling in the United States, where prices are higher. One effect of this is to keep prices of meat and wheat lower. The Farmer's Advocate says:

Wheat growers have made a substantial contribution to lower food costs and our long-term contracts with Britain have created present-day ceilings that have been highly beneficial to all those who consume rather than produce food.

Undoubtedly the wheat grower is not getting as high prices under the British contracts as he could get in the United States. Nevertheless, he has a floor price and a guaranteed market. The wheat grower has not fared too badly in recent years. Between 1942 and 1946 Government financial statements show the following expenditures: for western drought relief—$29,333,594; for wheat acreage reduction—$90,176,718; for wheat bonus—$132,087,585. Since 1939, under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act the Government has paid out to western farmers ninety million dollars. Only 30 millions were levied from the farmers, the other 60 millions came out of the Dominion treasury. This Act is expensive to the people of Canada (the income tax payers and the like) even in good productive years; if there were a drought in the west, the costs would soar, for the Act is a measure of guarantee against crop failures.

If grain and meat could be sold on free high foreign markets the domestic prices might rise 15 or 20 per cent. That does not mean, however, that the farmers are now subsidizing the consumers by 15 or 20 per cent. of their food costs. It seems to us, in face of the figures above, that the consumers are subsidizing the farmers—still.

Twisted Telephone Cords

At last someone—an Englishman with an unusual faculty of observation—has discovered why telephone cords get twisted into tight and intractable knots. He says that most men and women pick up the receiver with the right hand, and then shift it to the left, which replaces the receiver on the rests. Every time this happens the cord is given a kink, and in time many kinks make a big twist.

This sounds reasonable. (True we have just picked up the telephone, and discover that we lift the receiver with our left hand, listen with our left ear, and replace the receiver with our left hand—but then our cord is not kinked.) What is to be done about it? Should the listener give the cord a half-hitch around a convenient chair? Should he laboriously pinch the kink out of his cord after completing each call? Should he try to develop greater dexterity with his left hand? Our guess is that he will go right on getting kinks in his cord, as at present.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An editor says that hanging is not a deterrent to crime. We have always understood that it worked splendidly in the cases where it was applied.

The world does progress. We see that now stockings will be made from corn-cobs, which is certainly an improvement on the old days when the things were considered a substitute for toilet tissue.

An American woman has designed "spatter-shields" to stand around frying pans and the like when the bacon is sizzling on the stove. They might keep the stove clean but how does the housewife keep the spatter-shields clean?

A heading in the Christian Science Monitor says that "1,500 Variable Stars Wink At Astronomers". So that is why astronomers are what they are—just leering old Peeping Toms up in the front seats with spy-glasses.

A Hunting Episode

By
F. M. DELAFOSSE

A BROTHER pupil and I elected one day to take a holiday and try a little bit of still-hunting. A farmer whom we met occasionally had given us a very kind invitation to make use of his home at any time when we were within reach of his dwelling in the woods. "Come along whenever you like," he said, "and my missus and me will be right glad to see you". We had never been to his home but took his invitation in the spirit that it had been offered and started off on our jaunt.

ON arrival at his little farm we found that his abode was a single room log building and that it housed his wife and two small children besides himself. His wife was just as glad to see us as her husband and they both went to the greatest of trouble to make us comfortable. We had brought with us some creature comforts in the way of eatables so that we did not feel at all as if we were drawing too much on their larger resources. We knew the lot of the new settler living far from the haunts of civilized dwellers in town or city precluded possession of anything but the simplest forms of food and means of living.

WE were not surprised to discover that the furniture in the cabin was of the simplest kind and contained among other appurtenances two single beds, one of which was apparently used by the father and mother and the other devoted to the use of the two children. But we were surprised to find that the pair assigned one of the beds to ourselves, putting them to the discomfort of having the two small boys in their own bed, between themselves. We objected to their depriving themselves of comfort to such an extent as that but they were adamant and nothing would move them. "You ain't used to sleepin' four in a bed," he said, "and we is". So that was that. The demands of modesty had been ably met by the husband suspending a horse-cloth on a stout piece of string so as to divide the two beds which were set foot to foot, opposite each other. The bedding was of the simplest kind, being two blankets with a coverlet of stout brown paper tacked to the top one to keep it from falling apart. This was kindly meant as an additional safeguard from the cold air, but it had the unintentional effect of creating a disagreeable crackling noise every time one or the other of us moved, so that we hardly got any sleep at all. We were treated most kindly all the time we were there, but after trying for two or three days to even see a deer we made up our minds to travel back homewards.

HAVING said good-bye to our thoroughly kind host and hostess and thanked them fervently for their goodness to us we shouldered our knapsacks and rifles and started for home. We took a very circuitous route through the woods hoping still to come on something to shoot at, but no animals of any sort was visible. About noon we reached a point about half way up the lake from the place where we lived with our farming instructor. Immediately opposite to us on the other shore was my own land and we knew that if we could only overcome the difficulty of transit over the newly formed ice we would save at least four miles of a rough and desolate detour over a rocky woodland. Jim and I looked longingly at the slight distance across the ice and the longer we looked the stronger grew our desire to attempt to cross it. I set the ball rolling by jumping up and walking out cautiously to see how hard it was. Going two or three yards out it felt strong underfoot and did not seem to have the least bit of tremble in it. I returned to tell Jim the encouraging news, but added, "Look here Jim, I'm sixty or seventy pounds lighter than you are so I had better go first and you follow after". "All right," said Jim and off we started, each carrying his own complement of luggage, Jim being about three or four yards behind me. We had gone a considerable distance without any warning symptom whatever and were really thoroughly cheerful when all of a sudden I heard a crack and a splash and turned round quickly to see poor Jim had fallen through with his head just showing above the surface. In some remarkable manner he had both elbows resting on the solid ice on both sides of him and his knapsack to which he had tied his rifle, half submerged, on his back.

I FELL on my knees on the ice, sliding my rifle as far as I could behind me and started crawling on my stomach towards poor old Jim. Friendly little hummocks of ice to which I could stretch helped me to propel myself forward and at last I got near enough to him to hold out my hand to him. He was just about petrified with the effect of the cold water but being wonderfully well-built and in the pink of condition he managed to thrust out his hand and caught hold of the end of my sweater while his other elbow was still hazily poised on the edge of the broken ice. By the aid of the small hummocks I managed by slow degrees to slide backwards far enough to let him grab at my sweater with both hands, which he grabbed with all the strength he possessed. He was shaking as if he had a thousand agues, with the cold, but his determination and strength helped him and gradually he was able to lie at full length not four feet away from where he had fallen in. Beyond being soaking wet I was fairly fit but somewhat out of breath. As soon as Jim had recovered sufficiently to be able to move I took charge of his accessories of knapsack and rifle and we began a very slow plod some distance apart, on our knees across the intervening space to the shore.

JIM fell in again when about three or four feet from land but the water there was only up to his knees and he soon got clear of that. We wasted no time in discussing whys and wherefores. Our main object was to get home and get there as quickly as possible. It took some little time for there was not much run left in Jim in his enfeebled condition from the cold immersion. However, we got home at last and Jim fell down absolutely exhausted right on the threshold of our

BUS SERVICE COMMANDS BUS FARES

Sir: There appears to be a simple solution of the taxi-bus problem. When a taxi-driver operates as a bus, by taking up a second or a third passenger, let him be limited to a bus fare—10 cents for each passenger.

SENIUS.

TAXI ECONOMICS

Sir: Your boss gives you a $2,000 car to drive, and he expects you to keep it clean so that the public will ride in cleanliness and respect. So here is how things work out:

He pays you $6.00 per day wages
1.00 per day insurance
3.50 per day for gas
.30 per day for oil

Total...$10.80

This does not include the phone, light, garage, office, advertising and despatcher's wages. So you start out now and if you take each call separate as some people would like you to do. Why you will average two calls an hour for the week, so you have to make 21 calls, that's 10 hours every day before your boss gets anything for himself to pay other expenses. This is too deep for me. You figure it out for yourself.

A DRIVER—W.H.

SIX QUESTIONS

Sir: Now that the Conservatives have held their convention on Tuesday night, I think that our energetic member should give an account respecting the following matters.

1. It has been rumoured that Peterborough would get from the Ontario Government $50,000.00 for the Peterborough Civic Hospital. Another municipality of about the same size is to get a quarter of a million.

2. The Chemong Lake causeway—Is it true that the contractor who was awarded the contract, submitted a tender about 50 per cent. less than the average run of tenders? Would the Provincial authorities not know that such a contractor would be unable to obtain a performance bond?

3. Not a commitment has been made respecting the highway from Peterborough to Haliburton via Buckhorn and Gooderham. This can at least be made the subject of an election promise.

4. Why is it that substantial amounts in habitation. He was soon placed in condition to be put right to bed and I followed him soon afterwards, although I had not gone through one-tenth of the tough experience that my partner had. Warm blankets and a generous draught of whisky soon made us both feel life was still worth living. Jim emerged from his enforced seclusion almost perfectly well in about four days after our return from our little deer-hunting jaunt.

new work were spent on the highway from Kilmount to Bobcaygeon in 1946 and 1947 and from Minden to Kilmount in 1947 unless the intention is that Lindsay is going to do Peterborough out of the direct route to the north?

5. Why is it that an office was established in Lindsay to look after the lands and forests instead of in Peterborough? One had formerly been in Peterborough but now we have to kowtow to Lindsay.

6. Why is it that the member has not initiated anything during the last five years in connection with the fishing propagation or the tourist business so important to this riding?

We think that the people of this riding are entitled to at least a statement because I do not recall ever having heard a speech in the House or in Peterborough by the present member outlining anything he proposes to do for the riding.

Yours truly,
JOHN DUGALD.

No More Cheap Food!

Consuming populations in this Northern Hemisphere should be told the blunt truth—cheap food is a thing of the past.

Since the turn of the century, when new-world food surpluses began to move into old-world markets there has been dumping, price slashing, sacrificing and all kinds of evil methods employed to get there first with the most and thus outsmart the competitor. Buying countries considered this highly advantageous to them, but they finally realized that cheap food ruined the agricultural industry of their own countries and thus destroyed a huge potential market at home for their products of industry and labour. Cheap food, they have found, is bad for their economy.

Moreover, there is at present a world shortage of food and if people are to have enough to eat there will be no surpluses of staple foodstuffs. Certainly there will be no surpluses if currencies are properly managed and standards of living permit consumers to buy.

Furthermore, high wages paid in secondary industries, short work weeks, pensions, unemployment insurance and other social advantages will continue to drain the countryside of farm workers and continue to lure, especially on this North American Continent, even the farm owner away from the plough and the binder.—Farmers' Advocate.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version.)

And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed. And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it. (Gen. 2, 8, 9, 15.)

Lord, make me to know mine end and the measure of my days, what I am; and I may know how frail I am. Behold, thou hast made my days as an empty vessel; and mine age is as nothing before thee; verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity. Selah.

Surely every man walketh in a vain show; surely they are disquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them.

And now, Lord, what wait I for? my hope is in thee. (Ps. 39: 4-7.)

On Shanghai's Streets

It was a very minor news item, squeezed in at the bottom of a column under a small type head. It was dated Shanghai, and it said merely that "bodies of two Chinese infants were found on Shanghai's streets in the first week of April. Most of them were victims of an epidemic of measles. Bodies of 26 adults also were found. That was the whole despatch—casual, routine, unimpressive, pointing in little more than 30 words a tragic happening that should move the world to a universal cry of sorrow and anguish.—Victoria Times.

1,000 Years Of History

St. Albans is celebrating this summer what is claimed to be the thousandth anniversary of not one but five still-flourishing institutions—three churches, a market, and a school. A single millenary is a rare occasion. Five must approach the very peak of the unusual, and this brave demonstration of great antiquity loses little if any of its impressiveness from the fact that, to the eye of the scholar, millenaries must always be matters of considerable doubt, and that pre-conquest foundations are scarcely susceptible to exact dating.—London Times.

Pope Requests Prayers For Palestine

VATICAN CITY, May 4 (AP)—Pope Pius has asked for special prayers during May for the "happy triumph of peace" in Palestine. The Pope's plea was in a letter to Roman Catholic bishops of the world dated May 1, and made public yesterday. This encyclical also asked for prayers for the return of "mutual peace, fraternal and full among all men" and the desired concord between all social classes. He said that conditions in Palestine and the lack of "tranquilization of minds and hearts" are subjects that "afflict and anguish our heart." The Pontiff recommended these subjects for prayers to Mary the Mother of Christ, during the annual Marian prayers of May, known to Catholics as the month of Our Lady. The encyclical is called Auspicio Quodam, from its first two words. It says in part: "Although war has ceased almost everywhere, the desired peace has not yet worked the tranquilization of minds and hearts; there are yet to be seen in the dark sky menacing clouds. Let it be implored with renewed prayers that finally will shine, as a gift from heaven, that mutual peace, fraternal and full among all men, and the desired concord among all the social classes. We desire, on venerable brothers, that this year the prayers for the month of May be directed particularly to imploring from the sainted virgin that finally conditions be composed in Palestine according to justice, and that there should take place the happy triumph of peace and concord...."

Want Suspended Man To Get Police Pension

TORONTO, May 4 (CP)—Magistrate R. J. Browne, a member of the Board of Police Commissioners said yesterday he will recommend that steps be taken to ensure that Detective-Sergeant Frank Craduck, recently dismissed following an investigation of police attacks on prisoners receives his full $1,000 a year pension. The Commission meets to-day. "I intend to move at the next meeting of the Board that the dismissal of Craduck be not effective until the expiration of his 25 years of service in five months time, meantime he will remain suspended," Magistrate Browne said. Craduck is one of three police officers dismissed last week when the Commission found them guilty of using unnecessary force against a prisoner. The case of Inspector George Crawford, suspended for failing to report misconduct of his subordinates, will be discussed at to-day's closed session.

Diary Popular Public Library Survey Shows

Robertson Davies' book, "The Diary of Samuel Marchbanks," is the most requested book in the Public Library. Next on the list of wanted books is Sir Philip Gibbs' novel, "The Hopeful Heart," and other novels in great demand at the present time are "King Cotton" by Thomas Armstrong and "The House Divided" by Ben Ames Williams. There is still a small demand for "Forever Amber" of Kathleen Winsor, which created a sensation when it was first published and was selling at $10 second-hand in England, but it is fast becoming another forgotten best-seller.

The librarian, W. L. Graft, says that fiction covers 70 per cent of the books borrowed; the most popular books being the quasi-historical novels such as "Gone With The Wind." Schoolboys to clergymen create the steady demand for detective novels, of which the most popular authors are Erle Stanley Gardner, Agatha Christie and Dorothy L. Sayers. Women prefer the romantic novels of such writers as Emily Loring, Lyda Larzine and Faith Baldwin; they like the romantic story with a happy ending, reminiscent of the soap operas with love triumphant.

There is a smaller but steady request from all type of people for the serious novels by American writers such as Ernest Hemingway and John Steinbeck, and English writers such as Somerset Maugham, Aldous Huxley and Graham Greene. The demand for the standard classics by such writers as Dickens, Thackeray and Mark Twain is about equivalent to the demand for the better modern novels, and comes equally from young people reading the classics for the first time and older people re-reading them.

Mr. Graft says that Dumas is a perennial favorite, with his "Count of Monte Cristo" the most popular of all his many romances. Other European writers that are read by a small number of borrowers, mainly professional people who have fairly well covered the field of English and American literature, include such classic writers as Tolstoy, Dostoyevsky, Balzac and Victor Hugo and modern writers such as Romain Rolland, Andre Gide and Carlo Levi, whose book, "Christ Stopped at Eboli," is the most popular book at the moment by a foreign author. As a whole, borrowers do not seem to have much liking for translations of modern European writers, who are consequently little read.

In the non-fiction section, books of a practical nature that help people with their hobbies and interests are the most popular. At the present, there is a great demand for books on gardening and on houses. Books on houses are requested by people who are just dreaming and planning for the future, and others who are building houses at the moment and create a steady demand for books on masonry, plumbing, wiring and allied subjects.

With the opening of the fishing season, there is a large demand for books on fishing, especially "On the Technique of Spinning." Books on golf are also among the most requested in the sports section, where the demand from young boys varies from books on baseball to books on hockey according to the season.

A surprisingly large number of people of all types borrow books on the technique of painting and drawing, but books on the appreciation of art are not so popular. Older people create a steady demand for books on current events by outstanding personalities such as Winston Churchill and Cordell Hull, and also for war books related to higher strategy by the Army, Navy and Air Force commanders of the last war.

YOUNG RURAL ATHLETES—Although often lacking proper equipment, children in Ontario's rural schools provide a great source of future athletic champions. With weather improving, recess periods find the

Charge Makers Defeat Price Fixing

DURBAN, South Africa, May 4 (CP).—Price fixing by manufacturers is said to be defeating the prospects of success in the government's Redcol (reduce the cost of living) plans. Clothing manufacturers, it is reported, are forcing retailers to keep up the cost of cloth. Some factories with a monopoly in "bread-in-butter" lines—shirts, sports jackets, flannels trousers and ready-made suits—are alleged to be imposing their own terms on their customers.

A small business man said that retailers of goods made by these manufacturers were required to sell at a profit of not less than 57 1/2 per cent and that those who sold to the public below the fixed price had their supplies cut off. This practice was convenient to the big stores, which needed high profits to meet overhead expenses, but it was ruinous to the small outfit.

He said he himself was prepared to work on a margin of 33 1/3 per cent profit, but if he did so the manufacturers would refuse to supply him, and no business like his could carry on without their lines.

A Durban representative of one of the big factories admitted that prices were fixed to protect the big stores against undercutting. "Our best customers are those which need a profit margin of 57 1/2 per cent, and the small outfits do not amount to much on our books," he said. "We obviously cannot encourage our smallest customers to undercut our biggest."

He argued that 57 1/2 per cent profit was both the maximum and the minimum, and therefore, if it prevented undercutting, it also prevented profiteering.

Fined $2,400

TORONTO, May 4 (CP).—False statements on 1943 income tax—returns Monday brought Harry T. Chisholm, Toronto produce broker, a fine of $2,400 or six months. Chisholm still faces charges of making false statements and returns for 1944, 1945 and 1946 and of making false entries in his books. These charges will be heard May 17.

22 Teams Compete In OBAD Tourney

The ninth annual bowling tournament of the Ontario Bowling Association of the Deaf, in Kitchener, May 1, was a success in all respects. Twenty-two men's and 10 ladies' teams participated for the cash awards. This event failed to witness any new record shattering the old ones. Toronto Ye Olde Classmates captured by Leonard Charbonneau still dominated the bowling for the third successive year but short by 153 points for the record of last year—3311. Toronto Tip Toppers captured by Chas. Davey were in the second place with the runner-up, the London Skippers captained by Keith Wakefield for third place, 3016 and 2903, respectively in the Class A (2800 points up).

The Toronto Huskies captained by Morris Mandel topped the class "B" with 2744. Mixed Team captained by Elwyn Knowles of St. Mary's was second with 2680 while for third place the Toronto Aces captained by Mr. Serota attained 2633 score. Class B limits from 2799 to 2400.

Class "C" went to the Toronto Westerners (Chris Hawkins) with 2366 score under the 2399 score class, these followed by the Toronto Prairie Pines (Don Simond) to collect 2358 points and behind third ran by the Kitchener Blue Toppers captained by Allen Nahr, gang for 2097.

Toronto Won

The women's section was won by the Toronto Pin Upper team with the score of 1995. Toronto Pin Uppers captained by Norma Breeze remain atop for the second time. Isobel Richardson steered her Toronto Sweeties to second place for the 1943 score and Mrs. Fred Sero captained her Brantford Natives who rolled to third place with 1906 points.

Miss Patsy Richardson of the Toronto Sweeties captures the two events—highest triple, 556 and highest single, 248. In the men's field, Charbonneau, Toronto, walked off with the honor to capture the highest triple, 729 while Charles Davey, Toronto topped off the title for the highest single, 292.

In the evening the successful banquet was enjoyed by 160 diners and many were turned away at the Sulphur Spring Hotel, Preston. There were 250 persons admitted there. The distribution of the cash prize awards closed the successful tourney.

Sunday afternoon saw the business meeting held at the Walpole House, Kitchener, with 21 captains and officers. Officers elected at this meeting were: President, George, Forth, Toronto; Treasurer, Walter Daniels, Brantford; and secretary Norman Sero, of Brantford, who defeated Veteran Nicholas Wojcik, Kitchener by one ballot.

It has been suggested to us that the city council might toss some tangible recognition the way of the two local lasses who recently captured the USA Junior ornamental swimming championship in Detroit. Iris Forbes-Relly and Jean Millard, we mean. For drawing favorable attention to this city as a prominent swimming centre. A good idea, we think, and such recognition would be most welcome if it helped defray their expenses to the big meet in Des Moines in July. As a lot of do-re-mi will be required. Lions Club could help out with a bingo, too. Apart from Jack Dugan — whose feat of winning the Canadian middleweight boxing title was never recognized by the council—most local champions do receive a civic tribute.

Cobourg Tennis Club has been re-organized to play in the Kawartha League along with Peterborough, Lindsay and Campbellford. They anticipate 125 members in the club and will be on the courts within two weeks preparing for the league opening about May 24. An interclub tourney is in the offing for the opening of the season. Ed Haynes is the Cobourg prexy with Miss K. McCaig vice-prexy, Shirley Holman secretary-treasurer, and these directors: Mrs. W. G. Jamieson, Mrs. S. Hinman, Dr. W. W. Wade, S. C. Webb and H. G. They're All Signed Johnny Russell and Ted Elliott are sponsoring the new B-A entry in the men's softball setup. Johnny is manager while Ted will be a playing coach, aided by Elmer O'Donoghue as assistant playing coach. They will sport smart new ball uniforms and jackets. Team is practicing tomorrow e'en at 6:30 in the Bowl. Not an open work-out now as the 15 players have jotted their manickers along the dotted lines. Johnny's infield is Jim Conlin and Hermie Castle for first, Bob Crowe at second, Reg Leather on short and George Hawkes at third. His outfielders are: Joe Blewett, Les Burton, Phil Pryde, Jack Carpenter and a newcomer named Jack Thompson.

Catching will be Wimpy Borland and the trio of experienced flingers are: Ken Guilfoyle, Bob Strickland and Ron Akers. Latter is a steady twirler who always makes the playoffs. Strickland is making a comeback after sitting it out last semester and, if he still has that blazing speed and control—and really turns out regularly—there may be a lot of strikeouts in the loop this summer. Guilfoyle is a fine, wily veteran moundman, who jitted for years in top company in the States and turned in a swell effort here last season for Knights as they won the city title. It sounds like a solid squad, eh?

Seven Shop Entries

Seven squads now in the Industrial Softball League: Woolens, De Laval, Brintons, Quakers, Westcoast, Automotives and Marines. The executive is holding entries open till a meeting next Monday at eight p.m. in the "Y" in case the Canoe Co. can make it to form an eight-club circuit. Or anyone else interested. Plans are to start play around the end of the month and three or four diamonds will be used this season. Four as soon as the Marines' new field is ready. Four umpires are required and they should apply right away to Frexy Deb Hillier at Woolens. Looks like the shop circuit will go over okay again this summer.

Parks committee will recommend to the council a 10 per cent tax on senior ball games at Riverside this season and three per cent on the minors. There may be a meeting in Belleville tomorrow in a final effort to re-organize the COBL. Failing this, the Pates will be represented at the Lakeshore League meeting on Thursday. Meanwhile, open drills by the Pates in Riverside tonight and Friday at 6:15 and at two p.m. Saturday. City Baseball League meets at seven to-night in the "Y" and they'll discuss, among other things, whether or not the two junior entries will go into the Junior Lakeshore League, and what can be done for the intermediates. Latter should have a couple of delegates on deck for this.

On Track And Field

Some special events have been added to the program by the Harriers' Club for the big track and field meet in Morrow Park on May 15. These include the 60-yard low hurdles, special boy scouts' relay, harrier teams' relay and the pole vault. City and district entrants should get busy and sign up now and get in shape. Training instructions may be obtained from club coaches Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Ex. track. We have some entry blanks here or you can get 'em at Domink's, YMCA or 917 Dublin St. Large trophies up for competition.

HITHER AND YAWN: Soccer schedule for May is in elsewhere. ... YMCA men bowlers had an enjoyable wind-up banquet Monday eve with trophy presented, et al. ... Singh and the Mask headline the pro mat card at the Brock on the morrow. ... St. Peter's High School field day starts at 1:30 tomorrow aft in Morrow Park: Red Kelly of Detroit, Red Wings and Bob DeCourcy of Indianapolis will officiate. ... Lacrossers drill at seven tomorrow and Friday nights and nightly next week. ... Don Smith, 18-year-old forward from Fergus, is looking good. ... Westend baseballers drill at 6:30 p.m. at Prince of Wales as follows: Pee-wees tonight, bantams Wednesday, juveniles Thursday, and midlets Friday. ... East City pee-wees go tonight at 6:45 in Armour Field. ... Kawartha juvenile softballers have an open drill at 6:30 tonight at the Ex. ... Ditto with Knights at 6:15 at the Bowl. ... Rink got the okay on its site last p.m., and early action on the Centre looms. ... Hah, hit the deadline on the nose again!

Monthly Schedule Out For Football League

The schedule for the month of May was drawn up and presented at a soccer executive meeting in the YMCA Monday night, with Legion playing the Pates Wednesday evening at 6:15 in King Edward Park. The committee on rule changes made its report and a final decision will be made at the next meeting. Dr. J. R. Clark and Dr. R. Bell were named league doctors and players must see them in case of injuries at play. President Wm. Gracie was in the chair.

Saturday games are: Legion vs. O'Hallorans at 2:30 here, as CGE goes to Lindsay. Ann Downer is referee here Wednesday and Tom Garland official for the local Saturday contest. Future fixtures are:

- May 12—Pates vs. O'Hallorans
- May 15—Pates vs. CGE; Legion at Lindsay.
- May 19—Pates vs. Lindsay.
- May 22—Legion vs. CGE; O'Hallorans at Lindsay.
- May 26—CGE vs. Lindsay.
- May 29—O'Hallorans vs. Legion.

Trophies Given Bowlers At Windup 'Do'

Trophies and prizes were presented Monday evening in the "Y" at the annual banquet of the YMCA Senior Men's Bowling League, with President Bill Saunders in the chair. The CPC trophy was given to the league winners, Canada Packers, by George Roper, and other prizes went to teams which followed in order in the final standing. Vic Coleman, George Coleman, Hugh Siddall and Aaron Black won the special draw prizes. Secretary Percy Johnston presented the trophies for high average to G. Walton, high three to Frank Todd, and high single to Reg Dyer.

The officers went back by acclamation during the business end of the gathering as follows: President, W. Saunders; secretary, Percy Johnston; treasurer, H. H. Graham; publicity, Fred Scales, Vic Sedgwick; advisory committee, J. Moldaver, V. Sedgwick and W. Saunders. The Examiner was thanked for its help.

Following the wind-up banquet of the league's most successful season, the bowlers rolled sweeps with the winners being: Ross Hopkins and Mel Akers 896, Vic Coleman and Fred Todd 819, P. Johnson and Hughie Siddall 784, George Coleman and R. Bennett 760. Only two games were bowled.

Indians Plan To Scout For Negro Players

CLEVELAND, May 4.—(AP).—Cleveland Indians announced today arrangements had been completed with Abe Saperstein whereby his organization would provide scouting facilities for promising negro ball players. Saperstein, promoter of Harlem Globe Trotters professional basketball team and a former owner of Birmingham Barons of the Negro American League, has a far-flung organization that scouts for negro athletes in the Philippines, Cuba and Mexico.

Tennis Aces Prepare For Second Round

LONDON, May 4.—(AP).—The continent's tennis came began preparations today for the second round of the European zone Davis Cup eliminations. Czechoslovakia announced it would have the services of south-paw Jaroslav Drobny for its match with Brazil May 14. Drobny and Vladimir Zverevsky, both also ace hockey players, were named yesterday to represent the Czechs.

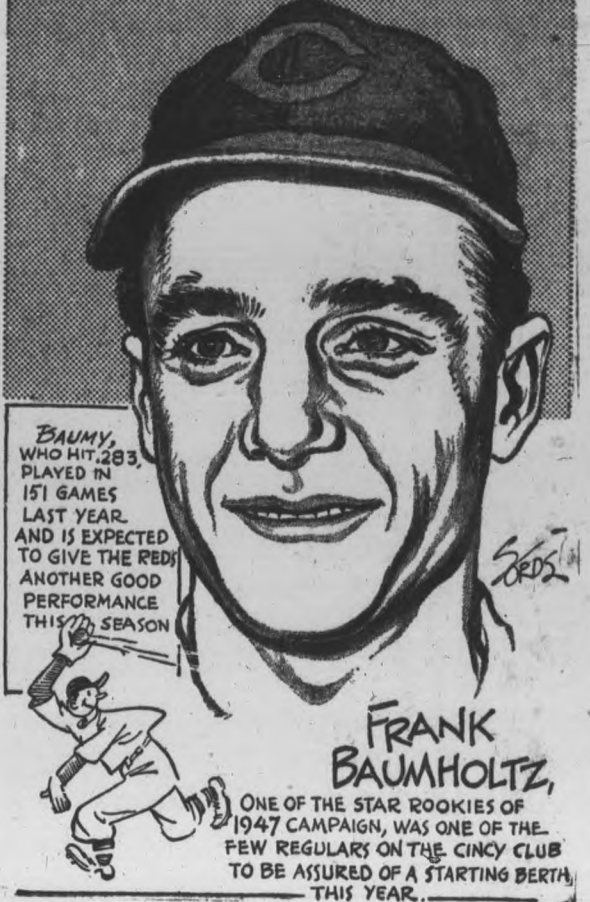

Others on the team will be

Ferdinand Vrba and Karel Smilinsky. Drobny has been in Italy but has wired officials he will return to Prague in time to play.

Iron Mike Mazurki To Meet Tom Mahoney In Semi-Final

Nanjo Singh, who is Whipper Watson's most persistent and bitterest challenger for the former's British Empire wrestling title, will be risking plenty in that direction when he tangles with the Masked Marvel here tomorrow night. Singh has known no man's master on a wrestling mat, with the single exception of the Whip, and he has no intention of letting the hooded mystery athlete de-mote him. The fanatical Hindu is a strange and unpredictable man in a wrestling ring and what he may do to Mr. X is hard to prophesy. At any rate it should be exciting. Iron Mike Mazurki, of movie as well as ring fame, will make his debut here in the semi-final spot against big, hard Tom Mahoney. Charlie Harbin meets "Mickey" Gold in the opener.

An opportunity to operate independently with an O.R.F.U. affiliation to assure their O.R.F.U. rights, is to be made to junior and intermediate football teams in Ontario. Kitchener district football officials were informed Monday at Kitchener. As a result of Saturday's O.R.F.U. meeting, a plan for setting up an independent executive to handle junior and intermediate series will be offered to provincial teams.

A meeting of St. Thomas, London, Woodstock, Brantford, Kitchener and Stratford teams, prospecting entries in a district grouping next fall, will be called in Woodstock this week to hear the proposal. Dr. H. G. MacDonald of Kitchener will outline the suggested arrangements. A similar meeting is to be called for Windsor, Sarnia, Wallaceburg, Chatham and Petrolia clubs. Decision as to acceptance or rejection of the plan must be made by May 16.

Appointments to the executive Softball Association by President Hamilton Association by President Ernie Simpson, Kingston, were announced at Hamilton Monday. Named were: Burr Clark, Fort Erie; George Spooner, Galt; Will Morris, Stratford; Bert Bailey, Peterborough; Sid Parker, Hamilton; and Rod Stewart, St. Catharines.

Special conveners for the season also were appointed and included Bob Bailey, Toronto; Jack Thomas, Meaford; Tom Fair, North Bay; Farmer Tinsington, Orillia; John Brady, Oshawa and Merritt Miller, Sault Ste. Marie. The 1948 Cub-committee will be headed to Otto King, Simcoe, as chairman and will be composed of Oscar Pire, Trenton; Doug Smith, Toronto; Eric Wilkin, Hamilton; Lloyd Aigue, St. Catharines; George Campbell, Oshawa and Frank Feaver, Hamilton.

Father Edward (Ted) Flanagan has been appointed director of athletics for St. Michael's College, succeeding Father Hugh Mallon, it was announced Monday at Toronto. Father Mallon will remain as faculty advisor to the Old Boys' Association. He was manager of three Memorial Cup finalist teams, sharing honors with Coach Joe Primeau in building a Memorial Cup winner in 1945 and 1947 and seeing the club bow out to Winnipeg Monarchs in seven games in 1946.

Designed to answer the hue and cry that followed Indian Lands victory last Saturday in the $50,000 Golden West Pace, a $10,000 race will be staged at Santa Anita on Saturday, open to all horses that competed in the Golden West. Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, NS, piloted Indian Land. The rematch of the pacers is said to

Flyers Capture Third Game, Blank Senators

EDMONTON, May 4.—(CP).—Ottawa Senators may have lost Jackie McLean for the rest of the Allan Cup hockey final against Edmonton Flyers because of a charley horse suffered when knocked flying by little Flyer Bill Maher.

Flyers captured the all-important third game of the best of seven set 7-0 last night, when they jumped into an early lead and fashioned the game to their own fast-skating style.

McLean was injured late in the second period as he came charging out from behind his own net only to be sent flying. Only replacement available to coach Frank Boucher is little Bill Watson, who has not seen action in any of the Senators' play-off games.

Fourth game will be in Calgary Wednesday with the fifth Saturday. Any further contests will be played on Edmonton ice.

Freddy Smitten and Johnny Black scored twice for Flyers with Morey Rimstad, Bud MacPherson and Bing Merluk netting singletons.

Two Men Short

Edmonton's first goal came while Senators were two men short, Bobby Copp for tripping and McLean serving an interference penalty for goalie Bill (Legs) Fraser. Black fired three times before slipping the puck past Fraser. MacPherson capitalized on another two-man advantage to score with a 20-footer.

Ottawa opened up the game in the second period and quickly regretted it, playing right into Edmonton's hands. Freddie Smitten made it 3-0 when the stanza was only 32 seconds old.

Bill Maher set up the 4-0 goal as he worked his way in from centre ice, and passed to Bjek on the doorstep, giving Fraser no chance. Smitten added to the rout early in the final session as he finished off a neat passing play from Elmer Kreller and Alex Pringle.

Horse Owners Seek Comfort

NEW YORK, May 4.—(AP).—Those owners whose horses ducked Citation and Countdown in the Kentucky Derby to await the Preakness and Belmont stakes have found little room for comfort the last few days.

This seems to be the general attitude: "If My Request was the stand-out Derby threat of the east and couldn't get close to Citation and Countdown, how are our stay-at-homes going to fair against the Calumet one-two punch?"

The Preakness is two Saturdays away and the Belmont is slated June 12. That gives owners of rival three-year-olds plenty of time to decide.

Ben Whitaker's My Request, the Wood Memorial hero, was unbeaten this year until he ran up against the Calumet twins at Louisville, is expected to try again.

C. V. Whitney's Mount Marcy, is another likely challenger.

Musial Hits His Old Form As Cards Down Cubs 3-1

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sport Writer

This may be Stan Musial's greatest year since he came up to the major leagues with St. Louis Cardinals towards the tail-end of the 1941 season.

The classy Cardinal slouter, back to his first love, the outfield, is off to a fine start. In his first 11 games, the 27-year-old native of Donora, Pa., has built up a robust .383 batting average. That is not the entire story, however.

He has driven in 14 runs, almost one third of the Cardinals' total.

It is a big difference from his showing last year at a corresponding date. At this time a year ago, Musial was hitting a puny .167 and had driven in only four teammates. Stan finished the season with a respectable .312 mark, but it was quite a drop from his .365 of the previous year which enabled him to lead the league and helped him gain the loop's most valuable player award. It was in mid-season of '46 that he switched over to first base where he played all last year.

Blames Appendix

Stan blamed his decline on an inflamed appendix. He has had it removed since as well as bothersome tonsils. Stan singled in his first two times at bat yesterday, the second one sending in Red Schoendienst with St. Louis' first run as the Cards defeated Chicago Cubs 3-1 in the only day game in the National league.

Jim Hearn pitched shutout ball until the eighth in racking up his first victory of the season. He allowed seven hits. The Cards collected eight off losing pitcher Johnny Schmitz and Cliff Chambers.

The triumph shoved the Cards into third place, past Brooklyn and only a game and a half behind the pace-setting Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dave Koslo hurled a masterful four-hit 5-0 shutout over the Reds before 28,424 fans in a night game in Cincinnati. In registering his second win in two starts, the southpaw ace struck out five and issued only one walk. The Giants collected 13 hits off Johnny Vandermere, Howard Fox and Ken Raffensberger.

The victory put New York in a virtual tie with the Pirates for first place in the National league. The Pirates, however, hold a percentage point lead with eight victories and four defeats to a record of 9-5 for the Giants.

No other National league games were scheduled. Rain washed out the only scheduled American league game between Washington and Philadelphia.

Johnny Bebbler Trips Leafs In 2-1 Triumph

By The Associated Press

One of the surprises of the young International league season has been the pitching of Johnny Bebbler, righthander of Syracuse Chiefs.

Bebbler has started three times for the Chiefs and on each occasion he has come through with a complete game victory.

Yesterday, he pitched his third triumph, a three-hit, 2-1 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs. The win enabled the Chiefs to move into a tie with Montreal Royals for first place.

The astonishing showing of Bebbler is a complete turnaround of his performance for the Chiefs last year.

In 1947, Bebbler took part in 22 games, winning six and losing three while going the route only three times.

Against the Leafs, Bebbler and Toronto's Jim Konstanty were hooked up in a scoreless duel until the fifth inning when first sacker Hank Biasatti clubbed Bebbler for a homer.

The Chiefs came back with two runs in the eighth to win. Kermit Wahl beat out a dribbler in front of the plate to start the rally. Austin Knickerbocker, former Leaf, followed with a triple to score Wahl with the first run. Knickerbocker romped across with the winning marker after Eddie Shokes filed out.

The Royals' scheduled game with the Giants in Jersey City was postponed because of rain. The remainder of the teams were not scheduled.

Decide Rental Policy For Hockey Clubs

OWEN SOUND, May 4 (CP). — A policy governing rentals and contracts with hockey clubs was approved at the annual meeting here Monday of the Ontario Arenas Association. Details were not announced.

President George Paterson of Brantford presided and announced to representatives of 42 arenas that a two-day meeting will be held in Windsor early in June. Delegates plan then to visit a new plant at Toledo, O.

Also present were: Grant Mayor, Wes Allsopp, Barrie; Dutch Dougall, Kingston; F. C. Clark, Cornwall; George Hipel, Preston; E. J. Dixon, Toronto; L. F. School Concert Features Presentations By NHL Star

BANCROFT, May 4—(ENS)—On Thursday and Friday evenings the Bancroft Public School held their annual school concert in the Community Hall with capacity attendance for both performances. Stage manager for the performances was public school principal J. W. C. Hutton, assisted by directors E. C. Alexander, S. E. G. Maybee, F. V. M. Bentley, K. Dawson, Miss Sine.

Accompanists for the folk dancing and senior choir were Jack Hutton and Ann Harper.

Miss E. J. Price was business manager for the performances. The program consisted of choruses by the different classes and groups as a whole, folk dancing, and a short play.

The program was as follows: songs of old England by the junior senior choir; songs of work and play by the senior choir; kindergarten at work and play; songs at the dance, the junior choir; folk dancing by pupils of Room 1; songs of the dance, senior choir; songs of old England by the junior choir; a play, "Catherine Parr," included in the cast, Charles Twa Delphine Steenburg and Gary Bruce; songs of English sailors, by the senior choir; Our Homeland, sons by the senior and junior choirs.

On the evening of the second performance, two members of the Toronto Maple Leafs were present to present the winning teams of the junior and senior hockey public school teams with their trophies. "Tim" Daly, trainer for the Toronto Maple Leafs, and "Bill" Barilko, Leaf defenceman, spoke to the children and audience and presented Walter Wiggins, son with the trophy for the winning of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiggins junior hockey team and Stanley Metcalfe with the trophy for the senior hockey winning team.

Babe Ruth Story Hurried; Ready In August

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 4 (AP)—Constance Bennett, one of the first performers to double in brass as a film producer, says she will take her producing company to Republic.

The one-woman industry (she also runs a cosmetic firm) now is at Republic in "Drums Along the Amazon" and she has interested the studio in two properties owned by Constance Bennett Productions. She expects to sign a deal soon for her to produce and star at the Valley lot.

Republic headman Herbert J. Hayes was asked when Orson Welles would return to finish up his "Macbeth." The answer: "Who knows? He's been on his way since Jan. 1 and he still hasn't started. I know this — if he doesn't get here soon, we'll release 'Macbeth' without waiting for him'."

"The Babe Ruth Story" is hurried for an August release to cash in on the excitement of the pennant races. Script tightening has knocked seven days off the 50-day shooting schedule. About $30,000 was saved by eliminating a train station scene. The finished product hopes to cover all of the Babe's life in two hours.

Boon To Fishermen

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., May 3 (AP)—How would you like to put a quarter in a slot and get a dozen fat, juicy worms? Or 12 lively minnows? Not interested? Well, Al Doerr and George Mayer think fishermen will bite on their coin-in-slot "bait-o-mat" which will deliver those delicacies to anglers. The machine is constructed like a soft drink dispenser and the angler gets a bucket of minnows or a can of worms for his 25 cents.

Exhibition Bd. Opposes George Street Extension

Peterborough Exhibition directors are "definitely against" the projection of George St. through Morrow Park. Mayor Owens told the council Monday night he was quoting Hugh Stewart, president of the Exhibition, in that expression of opposition, and that it was the sentiment of all the members.

Ald. Raine proposed another meeting; suggested that the Mayor do some more negotiating. "I think I've had twenty meetings on this Exhibition Park matter," said his Worship.

Ald. Swanson enquired whether the Exhibition Board opposition was a serious check. Members of the Morrow Trust had expressed willingness to join the council in an application for judicial opinion of the Trust's right to permit the opening of a road through the park.

"We can find out whether Morrow Trust is still with us," Ald. Swanson said. Mayor Owens, Ald. Swanson and Ald. Doug Miller are the council's committee to enquire into the effect of the reported frowning of the Exhibition Board.

Tie-Rod Breaks Car Takes Ditch

No injuries were received this morning when a car went off the highway and down a ten-foot bank five miles south of Apsley. The car, owned and driven by Archie Woodcock, Bancroft, went out of control on a curve when a tie-rod broke. It was stopped by a fence off the road. Police said that if the car had been going fast, it may have rolled further over heavy rocks below it.

Passengers in the car were Mrs. Woodcock and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Card. Bancroft. The accident happened about 8:15 this morning. Provincial Constable Bert Howden, Apsley, investigated.

Council Gives Arena Group The Go Signal

Peterborough Arena Committee received Monday night the authority of the council to begin erection of their secondary rink on the Park St. property owned by the municipality. The motion by Ald. H. Dodds was seconded by Ald. Grant Miller.

Plans of the committee contemplate the turning of the first sod Saturday, May 15. The site is on the west side of Park St. between Parnell and Chamberlain Streets.

A deputation of promoters of this community project confined their ultimate request to the text of a letter from J. R. G. Ouimet, chairman of the building committee. It briefly presented the current phase of negotiations for the land, as follows:

"With reference to your letter of April 6 in which you state that as soon as the plans were passed by the city council we might proceed with the building of the Civic Arena, we now wish to report that we had the plans approved, in principle, by the City Engineer. We, therefore, respectfully request your permission to start operations by turning the first sod on Sat., May 15."

Ald. Hugh Waddell said he understood that the committee were to submit plans to the council.

Plans Satisfactory

Ald. Dodds replied that they had been examined by City Engineer Chalmers, that he had particularly scrutinized the roof construction, that he recommended a few minor changes elsewhere, and otherwise they were generally satisfactory to him.

In supporting the letter, Mr. Ouimet was accompanied by Mrs. Wm. Addyman, Mrs. Frank Lundy, Percy Killingbeck, Archie Weir, Chas. G. Kingan.

Ald. Max Swanson, at the outset, enquired how the committee wished the property made available.

Mr. Ouimet answered that it was simply a matter of turning the land back to the city with the rink constructed on it. The immediate application was for permission to occupy the land because it was owned by the city.

Mayor Owens: "I think a lease would have to be made out to some individual. Would a nominal charge of one dollar a year take care of the situation as it exists?"

No Impediments

In response to Mayor Owens' query of procedure, City Solicitor Hucy said the transfer could be handled in several ways. "If it is the intention of the Arena Committee to give the building to the city, I do not see any point in turning over the property to the committee in the first place. One way is to let the land can be conveyed to the committee. They proceed with the work. When it is finished and the solicitor is satisfied there are no liens against it, the building and land can be conveyed back. I assume they would require some document of title, lease or conveyance."

Mr. Hucy was also asked in a second Hucy motion to arrange for the "closing up" of Lundy's Lane, east of the CPR. This road is shown only on the municipal map. It is an extension of Lundy's Lane which reaches westerly from Monaghan Road. The unopened section lies alongside the Park St. property.

Here is another paragraph: "That the city clerk be authorized to call upon the services and advice of the building inspector and the assessment commissioner in order to secure written reports for the advice of this committee in regard to the physical conditions of city properties and repairs each or any building may require."

Control of the properties was wrested from the City Trust by the Peterborough private bill passed in the recent sessions of the Legislature. It became effective March 31.

The pith of the Armstrong committee report places deeds, insurance, leases and any other documents in the care of the city clerk, and directs that rents are to be paid to him, and the money deposited by him in a special bank account. He is also to make monthly statements of receipts and expenditures.

Several of the members did not raise their hands. "Well, that's carried," said Mayor Owens.

Jack Hamer, Artist, Wins Second Prize In Dominion-wide VON Poster Contest

Jack Hamer of Peterborough has won second place in the Dominion-wide poster competition of the Victorian Order of Nurses. Mr. Hamer previously won first place in the local section of the competition.

A cheque for $25, the second prize, was presented to Miss Mary Ross, on behalf of Mr. Hamer, at the 50th anniversary dinner of the VON for Canada held on April 27 at Ottawa. Miss Ross, who is nurse in charge of the Peterborough branch, was attending the annual meeting of the VON, with Charles Elliott representing the board of management.

City Clerk Takes Over Property Administration

Administration of city properties has passed from City Trust Commissioner to City Clerk Outram. Ald. Gordon Armstrong, chairman of the property committee, read Monday night its report defining the clerk's responsibilities. Its adoption was seconded by Ald. Douglas Miller.

Several of the members did not raise their hands. "Well, that's carried," said Mayor Owens.

Suggests Modifying Plans Of Memorial Centre To Fit Available Funds

Revision of the plans of the Memorial Community Centre to fit the funds on hand was suggested to its building committee by the Council Monday night. This departure from precedent approach to a problem set literally in years of unavailing discussion around original ideals was framed in the report of the administrative committee by its chairman, Ald. Hugh Waddell.

The two clauses of the report were: "That the building committee of the Peterborough Memorial Centre be advised that this council recommends that the architect's plans, as presently prepared for the main building of the Memorial Centre, be amended so that the building can be placed on the east side of George St. South."

"That it be also recommended to the building committee of the Peterborough Memorial Centre that the architect be instructed to modify the plans of the proposed main building, so that this building can be erected and equipped with the funds now available and in the hands of the committee."

The report was accepted without comment. Presumably all the members heard its overtones. Ald. Hurrell Dodds did ask for identification of the George St. property, and was informed that it was the present Children's Aid Society block opposite King Edward Park. One implication was that the site can be bought from the Children's Aid Society. It seemed also to express a conviction of the City Council that the community has waited long enough for mounting building costs to reduce toward the amount of the fund which when it was first totalled was regarded as sufficient to pay for all the refinements of the expansive plans in their bright conception.

Fished Illegally Two Pay Fines

Two men paid fines in court today for the first illegal fishing charges in the Peterborough area this year. They were Max Chambers, 263 Aberdeen Ave. and Reginald Stephenson, 289 King George St., who were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs. They pleaded guilty to unlawfully fishing out of season.

Game and Fisheries Overseer C. Stanley Windsor, who laid the charges, said the men were caught on April 24 on the Otonabee River near Crawford's Grove. They were casting for pickerel, he said. At the time the official discovered the men—one o'clock in the morning—no fish had been caught.

Civic Hospital Estimates To Be Amended

Architects of Civic Hospital have been asked by the Board of Governors to prepare new estimates of the cost of its completion.

This information was received Monday night from the Board by the council. The memorandum from Mr. John Horgan, superintendent said: "It is now established that funds anticipated by city council to complete the project are inadequate to provide the cost of fulfillment of the existing contract. The architects have been asked to provide amended figures covering their estimate of costs to complete the project, and which you will receive."

Expenditure to the end of March was $208,426.67.

Protests Fee On Bldg. Permits

New fees for building permits and plumbing inspection will amount to $10 on an average house, said Ald. Doug Miller, objecting to the recommending report of the legal committee at the council meeting Monday night. It was read by the chairman, Ald. Adam Sands.

An amendment by Aldermen Gordon Armstrong and D. Miller to strike out the fees clauses and send them back to the committee divided the council evenly. Mayor Owens announced the report was adopted, signifying that he had cast his decision against the amendment.

Voting with Aldermen Armstrong and D. Miller were Aldermen Herbert Young, Anglesey and Raine.

Ald. Armstrong said that building costs had increased to the point at which any increase, even $10, tended to become "a direct deterrent".

Ald. Hugh Waddell asked about the practice in other cities of the size of Peterborough. Information had been obtained showing that the others charged those fees on new construction.

Mayor Owens said $10 would not begin to cover the actual cost of the number of trips and calls at new houses by the building inspector.

"The man who is having a hard time to build for himself is the one figuring to spend around $5,000," said Ald. Armstrong. "I think a flat rate would be reasonable."

Fees for building permits begin at $50 and are one dollar to $500; from $500 to $1,000 it is $2; from $1,000 to $10,000 it is $7; from $10,000 to $50,000 it is $8.75 for the first $10,000 and 50c for every $1,000, and 30c for every additional $1,000 in excess of $50,000.

There is no charge for plumbing inspections on jobs costing less than $50. Basic rate for one inspection of 1 to 5 fixtures is $1.50, and 25c for each additional fixture. If smoke-tested there is an additional $1.50; septic tanks, two inspections $2.

Doris Hamilton Is Bride Of G. Henwood on May Day

Bouquets of pink snapdragon with a background of ferns decorated St. George's Anglican Church Saturday, May 1, for the wedding of Doris Marjorie Hamilton and Gerald Austin Henwood. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hamilton, 15 Howden Ave., and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Henwood, 124 Lansdowne St. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. C. Moore.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white brocade satin with a "little infant" skirt held out by puffed sleeves and long flowing skirt ending in a slight train. Her finger-tip veil was of embroidered net caught to a coronet of miniature white lilies and she carried a sheaf of American Beauty roses. Mr. Hamilton gave his daughter in marriage.

She was attended by two sisters, Miss Iris Hamilton as maid of honor and Miss Audrey Hamilton as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of Madonna blue and bluish pink sheer styled with draped bodice and "puff" skirt. They wore matching mittens and Romania, a member of the Greek Orthodox Church. "I have never heard anything about that," Michel said. "I was present at the family meeting in Paris and such a statement was not made. Should anything serious like that later have been decided I would have known."

Pope Pius refused last March to grant a dispensation permitting the marriage, Vatican sources said. The mothers of Michael and Anne had visited the pontiff in the hope of obtaining the dispensation. Reports have cropped up in Switzerland that the marriage had been postponed indefinitely.

Cobourg Bride To Live In Vancouver

COBOURG, May 4 (ENS).—St. Peter's Anglican church was the scene of the wedding of Helen Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parkinson, and Mr. William Fairley, son of Mrs. Fairley and the late Mr. Fairley of Merritt, B.C. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. H. Bedford Jones. Lilies and white carnations decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a portrait gown of traditional satin with a full skirt, a long train and a high collar. The bodice was made with long sheath tight sleeves and inset with a sheer marquisette yoke edged with a bertha of chantilly lace caught up with circlets of pearls. The hemline of the skirt was also caught up to show a ruffled lace veil of tulle illusion crested with a coronet of lace embroidered in seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses with a sprig of white heather. She was attended by Miss Doreen Stanbury and Miss Margery Benson who wore picture frocks of orchid bud and cascade green crepe fashioned with softly gathered skirts and tight fitting bodices; tiered bertha collars encrusted the low portrait necklines and a tiny peplum accented the waists. They wore chaplets of matching crepe caught with sprays of pink carnations matching their nosegays. The bride's mother received in a dress of silver grey crepe with softly draped neckline and cummerbund. Her hat was black straw trimmed with gathered blue-mauve taffeta and her corsage was of blue mauve sweet peas and roses.

The groomsmen were Mr. John Parkinson and the ushers were Mr. Arthur Parkinson and Dr. Warren Wilkins.

The bride wore a going-away ensemble of soft blue wool, the tightly moulded jacket accented with a flared peplum and the skirt was fashioned with sweeping back fullness. She wore a navy wool coat and accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Fairley will reside in Vancouver, B.C.

Roode-Renaud Vows At St. James' Church May 1

Before a pretty setting of spring flowers in St. James' United Church, Saturday, May 1, Phyllis Renaud, formerly of Toronto and Donald Francis Roode pledged their vows with the Rev. F. W. Craik officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Jas. DeFinney and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roode, all of Peterborough. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Hazel McLaren sang "Because" and Mr. Cecil Lapp, organist, played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harmon Simmons of Toronto. She wore a wedding gown of white brocade satin with fitted bodice which had a round neckline and long sleeves, and a peplum front on the skirt was caught at the back and fell in a long graceful train. A halo of orange blossoms held her veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Bridal attendants were Mrs. B. Romanyi of Peterborough, sister

A secretary will be chosen when the meetings resume in the fall.

Mrs. C. G. Collins said she felt that cordial feelings between parents, teachers and children at Queen Mary School were due in a large part to the Home and School work. Mrs. H. V. Dobson expressed appreciation of the members for the fine work of the officers during the past year.

Attendance prizes were won by Mrs. Hooley and Miss Robinson's classes.

A social half-hour was enjoyed with refreshments served by Mrs. R. Burnside and her committee.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Mr. G. L. Woodruff of the Peterborough Normal School was guest speaker at the annual meeting of Central Home and School Association Monday evening.

Introduced by Col. R. J. Bolton, Mr. Woodruff spoke on "Character development in children." He described the changes in conduct of two individual people in a period of 15 years, and emphasized the importance of proper environment.

"Changes in character are due to environment and habits formed in a young baby are essential to his character training in later years."

"Fears affect character too, such as outward fear of thunder and lightning, large animals and strange large objects, and inborn fears such as falling. Familiarize the child with the thing he fears and he will gradually learn to accept it. Character depends on the absence of fear."

"Corporal punishment is seldom justified," he said. "The child to be punished should be put apart from others and deprived of what he wants. Children should be taught to play in harmony with others. Plenty of affection and sympathy are necessary for good character building."

Miss Jean Buck of the staff thanked Mr. Woodruff. Two piano duets by Shirley Pritchard and Lois Harrison, recent winners in the Kiwanis Festival were contributed to the program and Shirley Pritchard also entertained with a piano solo.

Mrs. L. Raper read a report from the Cancer Society outlining activities and urging membership in this organization. Annual reports were read by Mrs. W. G. Gunn, secretary; Mrs. C. Garside, treasurer; Mrs. P. D. Howden, health; Mrs. L. Brown, social; Mrs. S. Redout membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Doxee Mark 52 Wedded Years

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Doxee received congratulations Tuesday for their many friends on the 52nd anniversary of their marriage.

On May 6, 1896, Norris Doxee and May Shortt were married at the home of John Shortt, the bride's parents at Snow Lake near Coe Hill. The officiating minister was Rev. F. Wilson, Methodist minister from Coe Hill. Bridesmaids were Alice Tivey and Mrs. Chas. Rollins of Coe Hill. The groom was attended by Rev. S. Dixon and Charles Rollins of Coe Hill. Of these attendants, only Mrs. Rollins is alive now.

Mr. and Mrs. Doxee established a comfortable farm home in Wollaston where they lived and farmed until 1930 when they purchased the store at Purdyville. They operated it until 1946 when ill health compelled them to retire. They lived in Lakeland for a short time but are now residing with Postmaster J. A. Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds.

Of a family of three children, two are living: Mrs. Ollie McAuley (Vera) Chandos, and Ray of Purdyville. Another daughter, Mrs. Leo McAuliffe died in 1946.

Mr. Doxee was born at Hoad's Station and came to Purdyville when a boy. Mrs. Doxee was born at Brighton and came to Snow Lake while young. They were supporters of the Methodist church and later the United Church.

Both are active, the only affliction being impaired hearing of Mr. Doxee.

Of a family of ten brothers and sisters, Mrs. Doxee has three sisters and two brothers alive, while Mr. Doxee is the last surviving member of his family.

They recall the days when families united to go by ox-drawn sleighs to visit friends; the days when everyone had to make his own entertainment.

Time to Reflect Provided In New Marriage Law

The Kentucky Legislature has just passed a bill requiring a three-day waiting period for marriage after applying for a license. Thank Heaven for small favors, but what a pity the lawmakers didn't require a probationary period of three months, or even three weeks, in which an engaged couple could think it over before they made the fatal trip to the altar.

A three years' contemplation of the hazards of matrimony would be an insurance against divorce, because it would give the high contracting parties a chance to test their feelings and find out if what they felt for each other was the grand passion, or just a passing fancy. To ascertain whether each other's faults and follies got upon their nerves, or they loved them just because they were John's or Mary's funny little ways. And, not least, to discover whether John was a good provider or an e'er-do-well, and whether Mary was a crackerjack cook or a first aid to stomach ulcers.

For, unfortunately, married or single, we all have to eat, and it is hard to stay romantic on an empty stomach. Naturally, taking as much time and thought to picking out a mate as you would give to selecting a new automobile would cut down the number of marriages, but the marriages that did make the grade would stick.

Child Marriage Epidemic

Of course, there will always be people whose hindsight is better than their foresight and who will need to be protected from their folly, but this need was never so great as now when an epidemic of child-marriages is sweeping the country and bringing untold misery on thousands of homes.

And it is these boys and girls who are mere kids themselves, whose tastes change with their growth, who have no knowledge of the responsibilities of life, and who have never earned a dollar and have no way of supporting a family, who need the protection of the law to keep them from wrecking their lives by making marriages that will be a millstone around their necks as long as they live.

No other one thing has brought more suffering and sorrow to more people than these child-marriages. They have filled the divorce courts with bitter and disillusioned husbands and wives whose love had turned to loathing when they grew up. They have wrecked the lives of countless child-mothers, burdened with the cares of motherhood while their feet still ached to dance. And, worst of all, they have wrecked the lives of their parents by bringing home bobby-sox wives or pipsqueak husbands for their fathers and mother to support.

If there is anything that can bring more grief to a family than for children to wreck all of their parents' plans and hopes and ambitions for them by making a child-marriage, it isn't in the books. And that is why I say Heaven bless the Kentucky lawmakers who are, at least, trying to compel people to look before they leap into marriage.

Mrs. W. Downer Nominated Represent Zone

Mrs. A. Waller of Cobourg, zone representative of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, gave an informative talk regarding the new bylaws at the regular meeting Monday afternoon. In conclusion she advised that she is giving up the office due to ill health and thanked the members for their cooperation during the year. A nomination was asked for the position of zone representative and Mrs. W. Downer was appointed.

Mrs. A. Parrington, president, opened the meeting with presentation of the flag and "O Canada." As various reports were read Mrs. M. Morrow of the visiting committee reported 14 visits made, two floral bouquets sent, four lots of fruit and six cards. The annual picnic will be held in June at Apsley when members will be guests of Apsley Auxiliary.

Mrs. Waller donated a gift to be raffled during the meeting and the winner was Mrs. Medhurst of Cobourg, one of four other members attending the meeting. Mrs. Wood of the local auxiliary also donated a gift and it was won by Mrs. G. Stevens.

Mrs. E. J. Waterman, who has been a member of the Auxiliary for many years is leaving soon for a visit in England. She was presented with a "bon voyage" gift by Mrs. Parrington, accompanied by best wishes for good luck on her journey.

Supper was served by Mrs. W. Downer, Mrs. R. Ritchie, Mrs. A. Mason, and Mrs. G. Stevens. A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Parrington.

fair opportunity for increased scope and expanded monetary status, by a conservative and economical slant on current propositions, promising and constructive, if prudently, carefully and reasonably managed and not jeopardized by inflationary notions, over-zealous plans or purely speculative plunges. Studied and conservative moves could avert loss and pitfalls, where extravagance, show or excess mislead. A similar danger besets the domestic, social and affectional relations, where false appearances, promises, or over acting may prove explosive. Separations, perhaps litigation, menace and harass.

A child born on this day may have extravagant, over expensive and inflationary ideas, with scant business instinct and much of the pretentious and prodigal in its personal relations.

Quebec Member Urges Breaking Relations With Communist Lands

OTTAWA, May 4.—(CP).—A proposal that Canada meet the Communist menace at home by severing diplomatic relations with Russia and her satellites was advanced Monday in the Commons. Eugene Marquis (L—Kamouraska), urging Canadians to protect their democracy, also urged that Communist organizations be outlawed in Canada, even if this did not prove to be a 'radical means' of suppressing the Red doctrine.

The French-speaking member, who represents a Quebec farming constituency, said any Communist movement which is clearly directed against the security of the state is "not entitled to be recognized as a political party."

His suggestion for the severance of diplomatic relations highlighted a sagging foreign affairs debate. The House also heard a proposal by Alistair Stewart (CCF—Winnipeg North) that the Jews of Palestine be allowed to debate, Mr. Marquis said Communists coming from abroad had 'fomented' Communist propaganda and espionage in many American countries, particularly Canada. He added:

"If we could be of any assistance to the people under the control of the Kremlin, perhaps it would be justifiable to try to maintain our representation over there."

"But as long as it is impossible to collaborate and to have any access near those suffering people, it seems to me that it is dangerous any long to expose our citizens to Communist propaganda."

Mr. Stewart said the Jewish people in Palestine should be able to defend themselves. Arms which Britain had supplied to Iraq and Egypt under treaty obligations were sure to find their way into the hands of those now fighting the Jews.

Fight Black Market

LONDON, May 4.—(Reuters).—Government plans to suppress the British black market in gasoline, estimated by Fuel Minister Gaiskell at 100,000 tons a year, were outlined Monday in the House of Commons. This is in preparation for the restoration of a restricted amount of pleasure motoring, June 1, which was suspended last October to save dollars.

UAW Asks Ford 30-Cent Raise

DETROIT, May 4.—(AP).—The United Auto Workers (CIO), Monday issued a demand for a 30-cent hourly wage increase at Ford Motor Co. plants.

The wage figure was set by the UAW's national Ford council at a meeting here. A hospital plan, pension set-up and guaranteed weekly wage also were included among benefits the council voted to seek in Ford negotiations this summer.

These demands paralleled UAW goals at Chrysler Corp., where the union is currently pressing negotiations in advance of a May 12 strike deadline.

The UAW also is bargaining with General Motors for a 25-cent hourly wage boost and other concessions.

Ken Bannon, UAW national Ford director, said negotiations with Ford probably would begin shortly before the July 15 date set for re-opening the wage issue in the Ford contract. Bargaining will affect approximately 120,000 Ford workers in 35 plants.

English Workingman's Wish Just To Have Good Time

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

What does the English workingman want most in this world; a good time, says an investigator who has just completed an intensive study into the living and spending habits of the laboring classes. The writer, Professor F. Zweig, talked to hundreds of Londoners to get a picture of their way of life which he embodies in a book, "Labor, Life and Poverty," published by Victor Gollancz.

He talked to them in pubs, dog-racing stadiums, cafes, institutions—everywhere that workmen congregate. Most of those he interviewed earned between £4 10s ($18) and £6 ($24) weekly.

"In conversations at the stadiums or public bars, I was struck by the number of men... who found a void within themselves—a psychological and moral vacuum."

"They are in desperate need of substituting something for their lost endeavor and purpose. The restlessness finds expression in the boom conditions of all exciting recreation, which, however, do not give him satisfaction but add to his restlessness. They give drab existence they hated, continually crop up.

Zweig found few who liked the work they were doing and blamed this for most of the general restlessness.

"If the worker took greater interest in his work, if he put more heart into his job, he would be a much happier man and he would need less exciting pleasures which often give him but little lasting satisfaction."

Succeeds Mountbatten

NEW DELHI, India, May 4.—(CP).—Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, 69, shrewd political strategist, lawyer and administrator, has been appointed Governor-General of India to succeed Earl Mountbatten. Rajagopalachari now is Governor of West Bengal province. Lord Mountbatten, last of the British Viceroy and first Governor of Free India, will relinquish the Governor-Generalship June 21.

"Old at 40, 50, 60?"
—Man, You're Crazy

Forget your age! Thousands are happy at 70. Try peering up with OTC's... Contains... which many men and women call "old." Try every day. New "age" acquired... not only do... but also at all drug stores everywhere.

Heat Explodes Paint Can

BONARLAW, May 4.—(ENS).—David Creighton is in Belleville General Hospital receiving treatment for injuries received when a paint can exploded.

The accident happened at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Mason, Springbrook, when the paint can, which Mr. Mason had placed in a kettle on the stove to warm, became overheated and blew up on the stove. A visitor at the home, Mr. Creighton grabbed the kettle and ran out of the house with it. His clothing took fire and he was badly burned.

Hospital authorities report his condition as "serious."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

GUESSING UNAVOIDABLE

NO MATTER HOW good you may become at this game of contract bridge, there will always be occasions on which you have to make a guess. Call it an estimate, if you wish, or an inference, or anything else, frankly the thing that determines your eventual action sometimes in a tight spot deserves no fancier name than mere guesswork. In the long run the advantage of the better player comes from his better work in the non-guessing situations. But when mere chance determines whether your choice is the best or the worst possible action, the tyro is about on the same level as the star.

That is the way the bidding went at most tables of a social tournament, but it didn't once stop there. In one instance North doubled the 6-Spades and set it two with tricks, in every suit but diamonds.

In several cases North overcalled the 6-Spades with 6-No.

City Gives New Home To Burned-Out Family

ST. CATHARINES, May 4 (CP)—Reuben (Sunny) Flowers, who lost his two youngest children when fire destroyed his house in January, today has a new home, thanks to the Kiwanis Club which organized a fund for the negro. Sunny received the home in a brief ceremony Saturday and he will hold open house to any who wish to inspect the fully-furnished home. The service club raised $3,000 and another $2,000 was donated by fellow employees of an industrial plant. Material and labor were donated by various St. Catharines citizens and firms.

Expect Budget To Ease Taxes

By The Canadian Press

May and June promise to be lively on the economic front. Of most direct interest to Canadians will be the federal budget, which will give an account of the national housekeeping and which is expected to show a large surplus and at least some tax relief. However, developments elsewhere will be of great importance to Canada.

The United States faces a heap of industrial trouble. A rail strike is threatened for May 11; May 12 has been set for a walkout of 75,000 Chrysler Corporation employees; the present contract of the United Mine Workers runs out June 30; and strikes threaten in other American industries.

In all, a trial of strength is taking place on the issue of a "third round" of wage increases.

Of great long-range interest to the trading world and of vital importance to Canada, the United States Congress must decide by mid-June whether or not it will renew the 1934 Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, under which the United States has followed a policy of lowering tariff barriers on reciprocal basis. Congress also will debate ratification of the charter adopted recently at Havana by the new international trade organization. So will, in fact, 53 other signatory countries.

Driving Since 1897 Thinks Best Record

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif., May 4 (AP)—Mrs. Jessica P. Merville says the guesses she can claim the record for driving an automobile longer than any other woman.

"If any woman has been driving since 1897, I bow," says the 69-year-old former antique dealer, "but I drove my father's 1898 one-cylinder Winton. People used to flee the street when they saw me driving."

Mrs. Merville is driving a 21-year-old car but she plans to get a new one.

Exaggerated Reports Of Success, Lack Of Bombing Support Given Blame For Dieppe Failure

By ROSS MUNRO

OTTAWA, May 4 (CP)—New light is thrown on a number of aspects of the controversial Dieppe raid of August 19, 1942, in an official story of the Canadian Army in the Second World War to be published by the Defence Department May 5. Two lengthy chapters of "The Canadian Army 1939-45" written by Col. Charles Stacey, director of the historical section of the general staff deal with Dieppe, probably the most hotly debated operation of the war.

Of the 4,963 Canadians who sailed 56 officers and 851 other ranks were killed, including seven officers and 64 other ranks who died in captivity. Prisoners totalled 1,944, of whom 538 were wounded. Only 2,211 of the force returned to Britain and 589 of these were wounded, but survived. In 28 cases wounds proved fatal.

The historical division examined German, British and Canadian documents. The chapters devoted to Dieppe are, in effect, the final word.

Battleship Turning Point

Among important facts hitherto undisclosed or uncertain, are these eight highlights:

1. The naval force commander, Capt. J. Hughes-Hallett, reported after the raid that in his opinion a battleship could have operated off Dieppe during the first hours of daylight and "would probably have turned the tide in our favor."

2. Throughout the whole operation, Maj. Gen. J. H. Roberts, commander of the 2nd Canadian Division, was hampered by "limited and frequently quite inaccurate" information reaching him on the beach. He was not aware of the events ashore. One "extremely exaggerated" report of successes by the Essex Scottish from Windsor on the main beach was responsible for the general's decision to land his floating reserve—the Fusiliers Mont Royal—on the main beach. They ran into withering fire.

3. After reading enemy records, it can be said "with complete certainty" that the Germans had no fore-knowledge of the Canadian operation. Also, the intersection of landing craft on the left flank by German coastal ships "did not result in a general loss of the element of surprise."

Reasonable Chance

4. Canadian officers did not enter the planning until after completion of the outline by Britain's combined operations headquarters and approval of the British chiefs of staff committee. When the Canadians did consider the outline plan, they felt it had "reasonable prospect of success" and accepted it.

5. The Germans persisted in believing the landing was the opening phase of an invasion of France and the entire coastal defence army was ordered ready for action.

6. The outline plan said that "intelligence reports indicate that Dieppe is not heavily defended." The book added: "It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that the planners underestimated the influence of topography and of the defensive works known to be numerous in the target area."

Poor Judgment

7. Prior to the originally intended raid—scheduled for July

4 and cancelled due to bad weather, only to be launched quickly on Aug. 19—the plan was materially altered, with the heavy bombing attack being deleted. "The elimination of this air bombardment removed from the plan the only element of really heavy support contained in it."

8. The raid had considerable influence on the German's subsequent system of defence in France. They were convinced that landings could be destroyed on the beaches and that the Allies would seek, in the initial phase of any invasion, to capture a major port. "An unenviable result of the Dieppe raid was thus to warp the German's system of defence in northwest Europe to our advantage."

The heavy bombing attack was cancelled because the air force commander, Air Vice-Marshal T. L. Leigh-Mallory, was unable to guarantee the degree of accuracy which would ensure destruction of the row of houses facing the seafront. In these conditions, Gen. Roberts feared that destruction within the town would be such as to block the streets with debris and prevent the tanks from getting through to their objectives to the south.

Elimination of the air attack left the assault backed by nothing stronger than four-inch guns of the six small destroyers and Boston medium bombers.

Needed Fire Support

Col. Stacey said the paramount lesson learned was "the need for overwhelming fire support, including close support, during the initial stages of the attack."

Col. Stacey added: "The casualties sustained in the raid were part of the price paid for the knowledge that enabled the great operation of 1944 (the Normandy invasion) to be carried out at a cost in blood smaller than even the most optimistic ventured to hope for. That much-criticized undertaking had made an essential contribution to the success of the most momentous operation of war ever attempted."

Six People Killed In Korean Outbreak

SEOUL, May 4 (AP)—Six persons, two of them women, were killed in May Day violence on the southern Korean island of Cheju. American military authorities said yesterday. The violence was blamed on Korean Communists bent on disrupting the May 10 elections called for the United States zone in South Korea.

The announcement said 50 guerrillas attacked the village of Orari, and were driven off by Korean police after a three-hour battle.

About 60 raiders, villagers and police have been killed on Cheju since sniping and raiding attacks began April 2.

Avoid Any Big Shake-up Of United Nations Marshall Plea To Congress Must Convince Russian Leaders That Soviet Can Live Peacefully

Alongside Western Powers In World Group

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—State Secretary Marshall said today Russian leaders must be convinced the Soviet Union can "live side by side in peace" with the Western Powers in the United Nations. He made that argument in opposing any drastic shake-up of the UN without Russian agreement.

Arrest Daughter Of Murdered Union Official

WHEATON, Ill., May 5 (AP).—State's Attorney Lee Daniels said he planned further questioning today of the 16-year-old daughter of a CIO union official who was found slain Monday after being missing for nearly four months.

The girl, Frances Korbek, told police in oral statements last night she had told false stories in connection with the investigation of the slaying of her father, William Korbek, 42. She was held in jail without charge.

Korbek, president of Local 2330 of the United Steelworkers Union, who had been missing since Jan. 10, was found in the basement of his home by his wife, Frances, 40, and their daughter, Sheriff Elmer Hoffman, in an examination of Korbek's body showed a bullet had passed through the brain.

Daniels said a warrant charging murder had been issued yesterday for Albert Bailey, treasurer of the Steelworkers Local, but it was not served.

The warrant was issued, Daniels said, after Korbek's daughter signed a statement naming Bailey as her father's slayer. Later, he added, the girl related that she had been "lying all the time because I am afraid to tell the truth." She was quoted by officials as saying she was protecting a "man relative," but she refused to identify him.

Put More Items On Banned List

OTTAWA, May 5 (CP).—Trade Minister Howe announced Tuesday a further list of goods which will be banned from import to Canada under an extension of the government's US dollar-saving program.

The list includes a wide variety of machinery parts when imported for production purposes such as parts for typewriters, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, sewing machines, clothes wringers, diesel engines and electric and radio equipment. Most of the items involved were already under the import ban and the new restrictions will prevent parts of these items would be issued unless the goods were in continuous and uninterrupted transit to Canada on or before May 14 "or unless their use is considered essential to the national economy."

Sees No Opportunity For A Vote On DST

TORONTO, May 5 (CP).—There is no chance of an Ontario plebiscite on daylight saving time being held in conjunction with the June 7 provincial election, an official at Queen's Park said today.

The executive of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture Tuesday asked its secretary, V. S. Milburn, to investigate the possibility of the plebiscite would have to be approved by the Legislature before it could be held in conjunction with the election vote, the official said.

Most Ontario cities have instituted daylight saving time. One suggestion before the Federation was that municipalities be forbidden to adopt fast time until the change was approved either by provincial or municipal ballot.

Smuggle Vegetables

MONTREAL, May 5 (CP).—RCMP officials today said "hot" cargoes of fresh fruits and vegetables banned under import laws last November were being run into Montreal from the United States. The spokesman added, however, that this "bootlegging" of fruits and vegetables was not on a large scale because of the perishable nature of the goods involved, and the expensive equipment needed to move and preserve these goods.

Dam Collapses, Prairie Town Under Water

WINNIPEG, May 5 (CP).—Prairie floods today were at their worst in Western Manitoba and Northern Alberta, and the situation elsewhere showing continued improvement.

In Manitoba, the town of Minnedosa, 120 miles west of Winnipeg, was in the throes of one of the most serious floods in its history. Following collapse of a dam holding back the rampaging Minnedosa River one mile north of the town.

In Alberta, Manola, 50 miles northwest of Edmonton, and White Court, 120 miles northwest were threatened with inundation following ice jamming on nearby rivers.

The collapse of the dam at Minnedosa, where population topped 2,000, sent tons of water over the centre of the town within a short time after it broke. Higher points also were threatened.

Two hours after the destruction of the dam, which rescue crews had sought to have since last Saturday, the Minnedosa River had risen 10 to 15 feet, showing no signs of receding.

Telephone communications were out an hour after the dam broke and the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge was awash.

A number of families had evacuated their homes earlier while others who had thought they were safe, beat hasty retreats, minus furniture and other property, as the water swept through the town which sprawls along both sides of the river.

For a while water covered the main highway through the town at a rising rate of a foot every 45 seconds.

No loss of life was reported but fears were expressed for the safety of cattle in district pastures.

Improvement was noted at Winnipeg, although a number of homes along the banks of the Red River remained empty except for water. Brandon, Man., also was believed over its initial flood peak.

Marshall said it is a fundamental task both of the UN and of the United States "to dispel the misconceptions of the Soviet leaders" about western civilization and its relations with Russia.

He recalled that the UN was founded originally on the theory that the great powers would cooperate to preserve peace once it was created. That requirement for the success of the UN had not been realized.

Robinson Leaves For US Deportation Order Upheld

TORONTO, May 5 (CP).—Reid Robinson's appeal for discharge from custody was refused today and at 12:20 p.m. the union organizer will board a train carrying him to the United States on a deportation order as a Communist.

The judgment of an Ontario Supreme Court judgment on a Habeas Corpus action heard April 30 in which Robinson sought release from Don Jail here was read by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer. Robinson came to Canada last fall to direct union organization work in Northern Ontario goldfields.

Robinson, eastern president of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (CIO), has been in jail since his appeal against deportation order was thrown out two weeks ago.

Ottawa officials ordered Robinson deported under a regulation

Say 81,000 Germans Leave Jobs

Start Hunger Strike
As Extra Rations
Cut On Meat, Fat

HANNOVER, May 5 (AP).—The number of German hunger strikers in the British and American occupation zones is expected to rise past 81,000 today. German officials in the British Zone went to Frankfurt to discuss the growing unrest with bizonal authorities.

Almost 60,000 workmen already are on strike in the Hannover region and in Nurnberg and Augsburg in the American zone. The strikers are protesting the Bavarian government's decision to cut extra meat and fat from the rations of heavy workers.

Union officials said 39,300 striking metal and chemical workers will be joined today by another 5,700 chemical workers and 12,000 building operatives.

There was some hope that strikers in Nurnberg and Augsburg might return to work. The Bavarian trade union executive told its members that it disapproved of the walkouts, and said the strike would not yield more meat and fat.

The British zone was hard hit as bricklayers planned to walk out today on the big Hannoverian trade fair, due to open May 22. The executive of Hannover's public services union decided in favor of a strike next Monday.

The question will be referred to union members for action. A public services strike would take 30,000 employees out of the local government tramways, water, electricity and gas plants.

UN Commission Tries Mediation

JERUSALEM, May 5 (Reuters).—The United Nations three-man Palestine Truce Commission was reported to have left for Jericho today to meet representatives of the Arab states to discuss the question of peace in the Holy Land, an official British source said today.

Syria, Lebanon and Trans-Jordan were named as the three Arab states taking part.

The commission comprises the Consul-General of France, the United States, and Belgium.

A British spokesman reported that truce talks covering Jerusalem were going on "satisfactorily," and implied that the commission had joined with the British mediators.

Jewish circles hoped that the cease-fire in the Arab Katamon suburb, extended indefinitely through British mediation Tuesday, would be widened to cover the Jerusalem area as a permanent agreement.

Typhoid Epidemic Stalking Acre

JERUSALEM, May 5 (Reuters).—Authorities in Acre expressed fear today of a typhoid epidemic with 82 cases, 46 of them British, already reported in that crowded city.

A city official said the mayor and head of the Acre health department are in Lebanon appealing for serum to inoculate Acre's 15,000 inhabitants.

An Arab spokesman in Haifa said the Lebanese government had promised to send typhoid serum and a team of about 10 doctors and nurses to fight the disease.

Forty of the British victims are soldiers from one company of the Middlesex Regiment. The other six are constables. British military sources said five other British soldiers are regarded as suspect cases.

Ahmad Abdu, vice-mayor of Acre, said that in addition to 36 known cases among the city's civilians, another 50 persons are under observation. He complained there was no place in the hospital for typhoid victims. "We already have almost 200 wounded Arab soldiers under treatment."

Defence Board Tackles Job

OTTAWA, May 5 (CP).—Canada's new Industrial Defence Board buckled down to work today after hearing Defence Minister Claxton's statement that industrial mobilization for another war would require even greater anticipation, planning and imagination than that for the Second World War.

Fear Collier In Danger Off Cape Breton Shoals

SYDNEY, NS, May 5 (CP).—The collier Cheswick was reported today to be drifting perilously close to the shoals off Cape Percy, the eastern tip of Cape Breton Island. At the same time, the motorship Balsam Lake was reported out of danger.

The tug Grenadier had left here at dawn to investigate a report that the Balsam Lake was in distress in drift ice 20 miles north of this Cape Breton port.

Pilot Bill Bruce flew over the motorship today and reported on his return that she was in no danger. Another steamship was cutting a path to enable her to move slowly out of the ice pack and into open sea.

After an ice patrol Tuesday Bruce reported the Balsam Lake had sent up distress flares.

The Cheswick radioed that she was having difficulty manoeuvring in the heavy ice that has lodged around the Cape Breton coast for weeks. She was headed for Louisbourg, about 30 miles from Cape Percy.

Meanwhile, the 500-ton freighter Keltic and the collier Louisbourg reached Sydney after squeezing their way through the ice jam.

Send Provincial Police To Leaside Factory

TORONTO, May 5 (CP).—Provincial Police will be sent to the strike-bound Rogers Majestic plant at suburban Leaside, scene of picket line scuffles in which 11 persons have been arrested in the last two days, an Ontario government official said Tuesday.

Fifty officers will be brought from Ontario points but officials doubt if the complete detachment will be assembled at Leaside by this morning.

The reinforcements were requested by Leaside Council, which advised Attorney-General Blackwell Tuesday "our chief of police has advised us that his force is not adequate to deal with the situation."

Spaak's Government Resigns In Belgium

BRUSSELS, May 5 (Reuters).—Paul-Henri Spaak's coalition government resigned tonight.

Socialists in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon rejected a government compromise on the issue of state subsidies to Roman Catholic schools, over which Spaak had already announced his intention to resign.

The Socialists precipitated a government crisis on the 75-year-old issue Tuesday when they voted down a proposal by the premier to increase the government grants.

ERP To Buy Supplies In Canada

Wheat, Flour, Bacon
Will Be Purchased
With US Dollars

WASHINGTON, May 5 (CP).—A $33,500,000 shipment of food to Britain under the European Recovery Program was authorized today by Paul G. Hoffman, economic co-operation administrator.

The supplies—wheat, flour and bacon—will be purchased in Canada with United States funds.

The allotment to Britain under the recovery plan was the first to that country and the largest single allocation to date.

Hoffman acted immediately after Britain filed a "letter of intent" qualifying her for aid under the recovery plan.

The shipment will be made up of 246,000 tons of wheat worth $17,000,000, 61,000 long tons of wheat flour worth $5,500,000 and 13,640 long tons of bacon valued at $11,000,000.

Other Requests
Hoffman also announced that three other European countries—Belgium, Iceland and Ireland—as well as China have filed the "letters of intent."

Hoffman was asked if the financing of exports to the 16 receiving countries would be retroactive to the date the administration went into action.

That was an "open question," Hoffman said and one that had not been decided upon.

"On the other hand," he added, "there are certainly going to be cases—as in the case of the United Kingdom wheat contract with Canada—where we will pick up the financing of shipments made under a long term contract, if the terms of that contract seem satisfactory."

It is understood that one of the subjects discussed with Hoffman by Trade Minister Howe here last week was about the retroactive character of the United States aid plan.

Get Stolen Truck In 7 Minutes

DUNDAS, May 5 (CP).—Provincial police reached the ultimate timing today.

Constables patrolling the highway near here heard a warning over their shortwave radio to be on the lookout for a stolen truck. Just then the same truck roared by the constables. They took chase, stopped it and arrested three Toronto youths.

The tractor-trailer, carrying $17,000 worth of merchandise, was sighted just seven minutes after it was reported stolen.

The transport was stolen from McGuire Transport Company of Toronto. The message was relayed to all police cruisers at 12:45 a.m. At 12:52 a.m. Constable Kenneth Kersey said he had sighted the truck heading toward Guelph. Half an hour later the truck was recovered.

RCAF Heads Attend Secret London Parley

LONDON, May 5 (CP).—A secret exercise with the code name "Exercise Pandora" to study scientific and research problems of aerial warfare is being held today at Old Sarum airfield at Salisbury, attended by the air chiefs of the Commonwealth, including Canada.

The exercise follows a two-day conference which the chief of air staff, Marshal of the RAF Lord Tedder, held with RAF commanders and Commonwealth air chiefs, including Canada's chief of air staff, Air Marshal W. A. Curtis. Future defence plans were discussed at the conference.

Blueprints For New U.N. With Or Without Soviet Proposed In U.S. Congress

Anxious Big Power Veto Be Weakened To Give Peace Assembly Real Opportunity To Strengthen Authority

WASHINGTON, May 5—(AP).—Blueprints for a new, stronger United Nations—with or without Russia—were laid before Congress Tuesday by a group of Republican and Democratic representatives. They differed in some details but the broad outlines were the same: let the United States take the lead in a move to rebuild UN with the big power veto weakened and the peace-keeping authority of the world organization greatly strengthened.

Railways Plan Strike Vote

MONTREAL, May 5—(CP).—Possible strike action by 125,000 Canadian railway workers was put up to the union membership today following the rejection of a seven-cent-an-hour increase recommended by a conciliation board.

Frank H. Hall, chairman of a negotiating committee representing 18 railway brotherhoods, announced Tuesday that a strike vote had been authorized and preparations for such a ballot would begin immediately. He expected it would take 30 days to complete the vote.

At the same time, the railway companies announced acceptance of the seven-cent wage boost, outlined in a majority report of the board.

The unions' decision to hold a strike vote was communicated to the Federal Labor Department in a telegram.

The vote would be taken secretly at all railway depots in Canada. A similar vote was taken six months ago in connection with the unions' demand for two weeks paid holidays. A strike was averted then after an amicable settlement.

FOUND DEAD—Frank DeLuca, 59, above, who was found dead Tuesday in a pool of blood in his home in Mount Joy township, a few miles out of Timmins. Stabbed in the abdomen, police said there were indications that a "terrific fight" had taken place and that it was murder.

Police Hunt Gambler's Knife Slayer

TIMMINS, May 5—(CP).—Dozens of persons have been questioned in the hunt for the knife slayer of 59-year-old Frank DeLuca, reputed gambler, but no arrests have been made. Police Chief Leo Gagnon of suburban Mount Joy announced today.

He indicated, however, that some worthwhile progress has been made toward solution of the butchery-knife slaying. Investigators have said they believe DeLuca was slain for his money.

Inspector W. J. Franks of criminal investigation branch of the Ontario Provincial Police, arrived today from Toronto to take charge of investigation.

"It's too early for me to say anything on the case yet," Inspector Franks declared. "I'll need to spend some time on it first."

Chief Gagnon said indications are that DeLuca was attacked at night in the driveway of his home. "It looks as if he was knifed outside and then either carried or assisted into the house."

Acquaintances said DeLuca flashed a big roll of banknotes when last seen Sunday night. There was only one cent in his pocket when a laundryman found his slashed body in the living room of his Riverside Drive home today. Nearby lay a 14-inch knife, razor sharp on both sides and ground to a point.

Blood splattered the verandah and the stone steps leading to the house. The front door was smashed and telephone wires were broken.

Police who sought to trace DeLuca's movements Sunday night were told he visited many places and saw a large number of friends but apparently did no gambling that night.

DeLuca came here from Welland about 20 years ago and built a spacious house just across the Mattagami River from Timmins. Neighbours recalled his habit of lounging in swimming trunks on his driveway on summer days.

Nights he was seen regularly in Timmins gambling houses, sitting in on poker sessions or attending the Gold Miner's Saturday night "stags."

Police records revealed another side of the character of the big, flashy-dressed man said to have always carried at least $1,000 in his pockets.

He was sentenced in June 1942, to 15 months in reformatory for conspiring to purchase gold ore. During yesterday's search of the ransacked premises, police picked loose a strip of siding and uncovered a quantity of ore rich in Porcupine area gold.

Hogs, 500; good to choice 170-230 lbs., $21-$22; 240-260 lbs. $19-$21; 260-300 lbs. $17-$19; good sows, $12-$15.

Lambs 200; not enough good lambs to establish market.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, May 5—(CP).—Buying by locals and shippers gave the oats and barley futures prices a better tone in early trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Offerings were light during fairly active trade.

The rye futures market was not open.

Prices:

Oats—May ¼ higher at 91½B.

July ¼ higher at 85½B; October not open.

Barley—May ½ higher at $1.18½B; July ½ higher at $1.14½B; October ½ higher at $1.05½B.

Inspections: Wheat this year 154; last year 671; ears of corn 183; oats 12-110; barley 20-65; flax 8-2; rye 1-6; other grains 0-2; total 195-856.

60 Schools Closed

PROVIDENCE, R.I., May 5—(AP).—Teachers struck for more salary yesterday and closed 60 of Providence's 67 public schools, sending home 27,000 pupils. The AFL group, numbering 600 of the city's 1,200 teachers, called the walkout in their demands for a single salary schedule regardless of the grade taught and an immediate $200 annual pay raise.

Report Cost of Living Index Has Reached All-Time High

OTTAWA, May 5—(CP).—The Dominion Government's official guide to living costs has reached an all-time high, slightly more than 50 per cent. above the pre-war level. Even during the inflation which followed the First World War, prices never were so high, the Bureau of Statistics reported on Tuesday.

It set the cost-of-living index at 151.6 for April 1, compared with an average of 100.0 during the years 1935-39 and 150.6 in July, 1920. Only in February this year was that 1920 peak exceeded—at 150.8.

Within a month or two, an even higher index may have to be reported. The April 1 statistics were calculated before any price changes caused by the 21 per cent. railway freight rates increase authorized by the Board of Transport and wholesale prices of industrial materials moved up five points, to 150.0, from March 26 to April 23, indicating retail price boosts later.

However, there are indications that the pace of increase in the cost of living has stabilized. The four-fifths of a point raise in the index to April 1 compared with a jump of 1.8 points in January, and a 21-point increase in a year. Clothing and food indexes were mainly responsible for the latest index jump, although small price advances were registered for fuel and light, home furnishings and services and miscellaneous items, the bureau said.

Most of the food price increases were among fresh vegetables and meats. Footwear led a "broad list" of increases in the clothing field.

A few minor price drops included a "further seasonal recession" for eggs. Rentals remained at 119.9.

Raw cotton, raw rubber, rayon yarn and levis were among commodities showing higher wholesale prices, while gum rosin continued to drop.

The Canadian farm products index reached its highest point since October, 1920, rising from 138.5 to 141.2 in the month to April 23.

A charge of careless driving against James O'Brien, Keene Road, was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philip, K.C., in court today following lengthy and conflicting evidence. The accident on which the charge had been laid was on March 31, when O'Brien drove his car off Armour Road into the Trent Canal, with the lower front portion resting in the water.

Evidence of P.C. Sherman Kelle and Vera O'Donoghue was that the accused had been drunk when they interviewed him shortly after the accident. Tire marks, they said, showed that the car had gone off the road, over a shallow depression and about 40 feet to the edge of the canal.

O'Brien, in his evidence, said that he had been forced to go off the road because some children were playing in the middle of the highway. Coming over the railway crossing near there and as he approached the children, he said he discovered that his brakes had suddenly "gone." They had been operating only a moment before, he said.

He denied the police testimony that he was drunk and said that he had had nothing to drink that day.

Garnet Brown, garage operator at Downer's Corners, testified as to the condition of the brakes on the accused's car. Mineral oil of some kind in the brake fluid had caused the brake rubbers to spoil, he said. He added that this process, although taking perhaps six weeks, would not give warning and that the brakes would "give" all at once.

In dismissing the case, Magistrate Philip said that he gave the benefit of the doubt to the accused on the basis of the garage man's evidence regarding the brakes.

He said that he did not give much weight to the statements of O'Brien at the stand.

"I don't believe that there was any doubt but that he was drinking to some extent that day," His Worship said.

Marmora Farmer

Bags 300 Lb. Bear

MARMORA, May 5—(ENS).—George Brown of Marmora, Ont., shot a large bear near to his residence about 5 p.m. on Monday. He had seen it the previous evening when he was unprepared to battle it. On Monday evening however, as it was near some of his young cattle, he was minded to try his luck and the result was that he bagged a good specimen as ever obtained locally, weighing about 320 pounds.

Farm Federation Asks Plebiscite On Daylight Time

TORONTO, May 5—(CP).—An Ontario plebiscite on daylight time was suggested Tuesday at an Ontario Federation of Agriculture executive meeting. Secretary V. S. Milburn was asked to investigate possibilities of a vote.

Delegates from the Middlesex Federation suggested that the fast time question be voted on during the Ontario election June 7. Kent delegates urged that municipalities be forbidden to adopt daylight time until the time change was approved by either a provincial or federal ballot.

Daylight time now is in effect in most cities.

The federation decided to mail to all candidates in the Ontario election copies of a brief the federation presented March 12 to the Ontario government. The principal point of the brief was a plea for expenditure of more money on agriculture.

Kenneth Betzner of Waterloo suggested that an inquiry be launched to ascertain why immigration was considered necessary to maintain the farm labor supply. He said steps should be taken to keep farm youth on the land.

A publicity campaign to acquaint city dwellers with farm life and problems was suggested in a letter from the Lanark County Federation. The letter said such a campaign might encourage urban residents to buy more Ontario farm products.

Dismiss Charge

EDWARD G. PADDON, 19, Lindsay, was sentenced to three months in reformatory in police court today.

Magistrate E. A. Gee found Paddon guilty of three theft counts and a charge of having an unregistered revolver. Accused, an employee at the Benson hotel, was given three months definite and three months indefinite for stealing 9 points of beer from his employer. He received a similar sentence for theft of a revolver, 30 days for having an unregistered revolver and 30 days for stealing a hat. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Evidence showed all the articles were stolen from the hotel, where Paddon was a dishwasher. Constable T. Bolderson testified he found the stolen goods in Paddon's room at a local boarding house on April 26. Accused had in his possession a number of keys, which the officer said fitted locks on a number of cupboards and store rooms in the hotel.

FIRST SOD TURNED FOR CAMPBELLFORD'S $250,000 HOSPITAL

Plans Call For Erection Of Three Wings

CAMPBELLFORD, May 5.—(ENS).—The first sod for the excavation of the $250,000 Campbellford Memorial Hospital was turned Tuesday morning and Mayor Harvey M. Donald was on hand to do the job. Concrete foundations and footings, four feet high, are to be built under the contract now let to the Spencer Construction Co. and at the last directors' meeting they decided to extend the contract to include the walls up to the first floor and the floor itself. This much of the building is to be completed this year.

Although the hospital charter was granted May 15, 1945, Mayor Donald said the main reason for the delay in building was the shortage of materials and labor.

The site commands a good view from the high grounds at the corner of Oliver Road and Isabella Street in the northeastern section of town. Present plans call for three wings 80 by 40 feet each, comprised of basement and one storey, and built in a "Y" formation.

TURNING FIRST SOD — Mayor Harvey M. Donald of Campbellford is seen above driving the bull-dozer which turned the first sod for Campbellford's new $250,000 hospital.

Frost Nominated Tory Candidate At Lindsay Meet

LINDSAY, May 5 (ENS).—Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Ontario Minister of Mines and Provincial Treasurer, was the unanimous choice of a large meeting of the Haliburton and Victoria County Progressive Conservative Association here Tuesday, to be standard bearer for the party in the forthcoming provincial elections. The present member from this riding, he was nominated by T. H. Stinson, K.C., Lindsay. Representatives from all parts of the riding attended the meeting.

Speaker of the meeting was Clayton W. Hodgson, M.P. for Haliburton and Victoria. He praised Mr. Frost's work as Minister of Mines and urged his audience to give their full support to the coming contest.

Mr. Hodgson spoke strongly against Communism. Referring to parties who called themselves Socialists, Mr. Hodgson stressed that there was no difference between Communism and Socialism.

"Communists never get into power by ballot, not even in Russia. They generally get in under another name—usually Socialism. The only party that hasn't accepted Communist support is the Conservative Party," he said.

"It was common knowledge in Ottawa that had the recent Italian election gone to the Communists, there would have been war in six months," the speaker asserted.

"Both Communism and Socialism stand for the same thing—nationalization of everything."

Wants Selected Immigrants. Speaking of immigration, Mr. Hodgson said: "Canada needs immigrants, but only selected immigrants. We do not want this country to become a dumping ground for the rest of the world."

He said that not counting displaced persons, the Drew government in its current immigration scheme has brought in more immigrants since the war by 2,000 than has the Federal Government.

"If Canada had a population of 40,000,000, the citizens would only have to pay about half the taxes that are now imposed," he said.

Mr. Hodgson asserted that if rural dwellers would the services of Hydro it was to their interests to support the Drew government's proposals for a 60-cycle change-over in Ontario. He mentioned the steps taken by the Conservatives to finance education in Ontario, and cited the case of one municipality in the riding where 95 per cent of the cost of education is borne by the province.

John Alton, of Lorneville, president of the Progressive Conservative Association for Haliburton and Victoria, was chairman of the meeting.

Report 155 Cases. COBourg, May 5.—(ENS).—155 cases of communicable disease were reported for the week ending May 1 at the Northumberland and Durham counties health unit. Red measles took a jump to a total of 118 new cases with 57 of them in Port Hope. Mumps were in decline, the number of new cases being 29 and these are scattered around the health unit area. Four cases of chickenpox and four of scarlet fever complete the list.

40,000 Capsules Given Children

CAMPBELLFORD, May 5.—(ENS).—Members of the local branch of the Red Cross Society met at the Public Library Tuesday afternoon. Ladies present were Mrs. George Lucy, Miss Della Kier, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. Lou Glover, Mrs. R. Donaldson, and Mrs. Kenneth Cairns.

The chief purpose of the meeting was to pack a large shipment of clothing to the Red Cross headquarters, Toronto. The following articles were packed: 10 pairs of rompers, one year; three boys' shirts, 10 years; one pair boys' pants, 10 years; five girls' blouses, 6 years; eight baby jackets, infants; 29 girls' sweaters, 6 years; 40 pairs of girls' socks, 6 years; one girls' sweater, 2 years; five pairs mittens, various sizes; two heavy men's sweaters; 2 pair socks, four years.

Mrs. George O'Sullivan and Mrs. George Lucy who are looking after the lending of the new loan cupboard, report its contents have been much in demand.

Another project undertaken early last winter was that of supplying cod liver oil capsules to the pupils of the Campbellford and Seymour townships. More than 40,000 have been given out to date. Mrs. George Lucy said that during the winter and spring absences from school were much lower this year and she attributed this to the extra resistance to colds because the children were getting these capsules.

Stassen Gains In Ohio Primary

COLUMBUS, O., May 5 (AP).—Harold E. Stassen gained ground today in his fight for a majority of 23 contested Ohio Republican presidential delegates but Senator Robert A. Taft's men continued to lead in 13 races.

With nearly half of the near-record of about 700,000 Republican ballots counted in Tuesday's primary, the former Minnesota governor's backers led in 10 contests.

If this trend continues, it will leave Stassen two short of the 12 delegates he forecast he would get out of the 23. But he would have the 10 that most politicians said he needs to make his Ohio invasion a success.

Taft, fighting to rekindle his hopes of getting the Republican nomination, found his candidates running strongly in parts of Cleveland and in most of the state's farm sections.

Need Farm Help In Northumberland

COBourg, May 5.—(ENS).—Farm help does not appear to be any more plentiful this year, is the opinion of Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative for Northumberland County. No supply of farm help is in sight and it would appear that the farmers are well-advised to balance their program to what can be reasonably handled. While quite a number of Dutch farmers have arrived in the area, they do not go far toward looking after the needs of farm help. Displaced persons are coming, Mr. Banbury points out, and farmers interested in securing these men should make application to the nearest employment office but it is thought that applications made now will probably not be filled until July.

Western men served well two years ago, Mr. Banbury said, and much thought was given to the reason that very few responded last year. Good wages back west and combine crews going to the United States for harvesting were a factor. Efforts are being planned this year to arouse more good farmers to combine their assistance to Ontario farmers for helping with an opportunity to see the farm practices of Ontario.

Board Seeking To Enlarge School Grounds

LINDSAY, May 5.—(ENS).—A definite move to mark the enlargement of public school sites in Lindsay was made by the Board of Education Tuesday night. Secretary J. O. Wilford was authorized to negotiate with the owners of properties adjacent to both the Alexandra and Victoria schools as regards purchasing the land.

The Board would buy 70 feet of land immediately west of Alexandra school grounds, and this involves the purchase of two properties. In the east ward, they hope to acquire 48 feet to the south of Victoria school grounds and 35 feet to the west. This will furnish an additional 2.6 acres to allow for the increasing school population there, Mr. Wilford pointed out.

This idea of purchasing separate school property in the east ward and building a new school was rejected Mr. Jasper Forman said the property being considered had a number of houses built on it and since these would have to be purchased and torn down, it would involve too great an expense. He felt it would be better to buy land bordering on the present site and build an addition to the old school. Members of the board agreed. "I think the present site should be abandoned," contended Principal J. F. Wood. "The ground is low and wet and the floors in the school are settling." Action was deferred on the purchase of lands adjacent to the south ward school pending word from the Department of Education.

Mrs. M. J. Phelan Dies

MONTREAL, May 5.—(CP).—Mrs. Mary M. Johnson Phelan, 80, prominent Montreal social workers, died Tuesday. Born in Kingston, Mrs. Phelan is survived by her husband, Maj.-Gen. F. R. Phelan and one sister, Mrs. R. J. McKelvey of Kingston.

John Little, 84, Of Seymour Dies

CAMPBELLFORD, May 5.—(ENS).—John Little, 84, died Tuesday evening at the home of his son-in-law, Major H. M. Donald. Mr. Little had been in very poor health for a long time.

A descendant of pioneer stock, he was born in Seymour township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Little, and resided a lifetime in this district. Twelve years ago he retired from his farm in Seymour East and came to live with his son-in-law in Campbellford. His wife predeceased him.

Surviving him is his only child, Mrs. Harvey Donald (Alice Isabella); two sisters, Miss Agnes Donald, Campbellford, Mrs. Arthur Redden, Campbellford, and three brothers, W. H. Little, Seymour East; Fred of Port Hope and Robert of Winnipeg.

Mr. Little was a member of the Presbyterian Church and a member of the Loyal Orange Lodge.

The funeral will be from the family residence on Centre street Thursday at 2 p.m. The Rev. J. O. Ralston of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church will officiate. Burial will be at Burnbrae, Seymour East.

87-Year-Old Farmer Claims Record For Milking Cows

CAMPBELLFORD, May 5.—(ENS).—"I believe I have milked more cows than any man in this part of the country," said 87-year-old George Bennett on his birthday Tuesday. And twice daily he still adds to the count. Mr. Bennett lives on his 200-acre farm in Seymour East, near Menie and five miles from Campbellford. When asked if he ever thought of retiring, the spry old man replied that he wouldn't know what to do with himself if he had no chores, milking and gardening to do.

A native of Oldbury (near Bristol) England, Mr. Bennett came to Canada when he was 19. "I am just five miles from the first place I worked in this country," he said, "and I have never had any desire to return to England." As a believer in free and private enterprise he said the English system of large land owners and tenants was no good. His wife, nine years younger than he, is living also and they hope to celebrate their fifty-eighth wedding anniversary in July. Their family, five sons and five daughters, are all living. His sons are farmers.

When asked what he attributed his long life to, Mr. Bennett seemed unable to decide. "Yes, he smoked, drank hard cider, and worked hard."

Retired Railroader Dies Suddenly

COBourg, May 5.—(ENS).—William J. Corbett, retired railway engineer, died suddenly here yesterday in his 76th year. Mr. Corbett had been at Warkworth the previous evening where he seconded the nomination of the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow as Progressive-Conservative candidate for Northumberland. He will be buried on Thursday afternoon in Cobourg Union Cemetery.

Mr. Corbett was born in Belleville and entered the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway in 1889. He was an engineer with the company through the ensuing years and retired in 1937. He worked on the Brockville to Toronto and Toronto and Lindsay divisions. Mr. Corbett moved to Port Hope in 1904 and came to Cobourg in 1906. When the car ferry made its first trip from Rochester to Cobourg in 1907 he was in charge of the locomotive that drew the first coal cars off the ferry. From 1913 to 1918 he sat on the town council, again from 1930 to 1933 and served his final term in 1937. During that time he served for many years as reeve of Cobourg.

Deceased was a member of the Masons and Oddfellows and was also a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The late Mr. Corbett was also an ardent lawn bowler. He is survived by a daughter, Bernice, and a son, Frank. A sister, Mrs. John Galloway, lives in Toronto.

60 At Farewell Party For Popular Family

HASTINGS, May 5.—(ENS).—Mrs. Walter Humphries entertained at her home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gallagher and family, who have moved to their new farm home near Roseneath.

About 60 neighbors attended the party Wednesday evening. During the evening bingo was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher and family were called forward and an address was read by Mrs. W. J. Breckenridge. A beautiful floor lamp was presented to them by Mrs. Walter Humphries. Mr. Gallagher replied.

Dancing was enjoyed to music of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynch.

What Do We Want With A Children's Bureau?

Yesterday in these columns we discussed the amazing growth of social service and welfare departments in Canada, spending two millions of dollars a day, and more than $750, millions a year. We expressed our approval of governmental agencies which care for the needy and help the struggling. But we feel that expenditure on national welfare must be watched, like any other kind of public spending, and we have no sympathy with anyone's desire to establish welfare departments which are not needed. We are, for instance, out of sympathy with the desire of the Canadian Save The Children Fund to establish a Dominion Government Children's Bureau on the model of the United States Children's Bureau in Washington.

There are excellent agencies already in existence in Canada to see that children are properly treated. There is a Child and Maternal Health Division of the National Welfare Department. Every province has a similar subdivision in its government. The admirable Children's Aid Society operates in six provinces;
there is a Canadian Society for Crippled Children. We cannot begin to name all the organizations like the Scouts and Guides which train children. Every provincial education department extends its authority to the welfare of children.
Where these agencies cannot penetrate, the laws of our country amply provide for the protection of children who are ill-used. For what possible reason, therefore, is it suggested that we want a Children's Bureau at Ottawa? We can only suppose that it is because a group of eager workers would like to get on the government payroll.

The United States Children's Bureau, which is given as an example, does not impress us. There is always a danger that welfare work may develop into Nosey Parkerism, and in the case of the U.S.C.B. we feel that it has done so. We have seen reports on its distribution of pamphlets and its conferences, but we have seen nothing to show that it has really done anything for children of the U.S.A. which our own governmental agencies do not do here, with half as much fuss and fanfare.

The natural protectors and educators of children are their parents. Welfare groups should only interfere when parents are unfit for their task. Very great disagreements exist about proper methods of training children, and some admirable adults have been raised by unorthodox methods. There is no reason to suppose that a government bureau will discover any final truth about child training, or suggest any methods other than those in fashion at a stated time.
As for the children of Canada, we think that all necessary safeguards have been provided to protect them from ill-usage and extreme neglect; what they now need is the best possible parents, and that is a desideratum which no pack of money—spending, tax—consuming, report—writing, nose—poking welfare workers, leeching on the Dominion Government, can possibly provide.

Hypocrisy And The Liquor Question

In a letter on this page Mr. G. A.
Brethen re-states his case in the dispute in which he has recently been engaged with this newspaper, and indicates that he considers the dispute at an end. We are quite agreed that this should be so, though we are sure that we have not won Mr. Brethen to our point of view, nor has he converted us to his belief. Mr.
Brethen has discovered that statements which he attributed to the Examiner were never made by this paper, and has admitted it; that is all we asked.

Although we disagree with Mr.
Brethen, we hope that he will admit that we have never been hypocritical on the liquor question, as some papers, we regret to say, have been. He is sincere in his opinion, and so are we. We oppose the abuse of liquor, and uphold its right use; we regard it as one of the good things of life, to be used wisely, and we insist that each man must learn for himself what wisdom is. What Mr.

Brethen calls "compulsory total abstinence", in our opinion, teaches nothing and is in effect a form of tyranny. During the period when laws imposing compulsory total abstinence were in force in Ontario, we saw how violently free people rebel against tyranny.

Nor do we agree that liquor is itself a cause of murder and deep crime; unless a man has murder in his heart, liquor will not make a murderer of him. Better mental hygiene will decrease the incidence of murder, just as it will increase the wise use of liquor. We must not forget that the most bloodthirsty religion in the world, Mohammedanism, makes total abstinence binding upon its believers. Nor must we forget that Norway has established the best traffic record in the world by the simple expedient of testing the blood of drivers involved in accidents, if alcohol is found in any quantity, a jail term is imposed without option of a fine. But Norway does not impose total abstinence upon the whole population in order to achieve this end; perhaps Norway has studied the record of prohibition Ontario.

We think that the total abstinence cause is losing its force because the people of this province are at last learning how to behave themselves in matters relating to liquor.

The Dominion Drama Festival

The Dominion Drama Festival which was held last week in Ottawa was the finest display of its kind ever seen in this country. These festivals, begun in 1933, have raised the standard of Little Theatre work in Canada so high that the adjudicator—a distinguished man of the theatre from England—was able to say that the performance of Shaw's St. Joan by the winning group, was in many respects the finest that he had ever seen. He could say, too, that the performance of Antigone (a version of the Greek tragedy by Jean Anouilh) was in the best modern French vein. He was able to distribute compliments on every day of the festival which showed that amateur theatre work in Canada had reached a standard which might fittingly be compared with fine work in the theatre in England, in France and in the U.S.A. This is a fact in which all Canadians may take pride, and if there are still among us any foolish people who think of Little Theatre work in terms of "amateur theatricals", it is time that they revised their opinions.

The Dominion Drama Festival, said the adjudicator, Mr. Robert Speaight, is virtually the national theatre of Canada. It is fully adult, and it was with the utmost vigour that Mr. Speaight repudiated what he described as "the ob-scurantist and imbecile censorship" which is imposed upon the work done by certain French groups by their clergy. It may well be that in this attack Mr.
Speaight has done a lasting service to the stage and to literature in Canada.
Certainly he caused a sensation at the Festival by saying what no Canadian, and no Protestant, would have dared to say.

The achievement of the Drama Festival has been very great. In the preliminary regional festivals seventy groups from all parts of Canada competed; from these fourteen were chosen for the final exhibition in Ottawa; of these only one was obviously below the remarkable standard set by the others.
The artistic understanding and technical ability shown in the thirteen best plays were superior to all but a small portion of the professional stage work seen in this country, whether it comes from England or from the U.S.A.

There can be few movements in this country more truly national, or more genuinely conducive to national unity, than the Dominion Drama Festival.
Without government assistance it draws people from all over the country with the silken cords of a shared enthusiasm; they meet, they share their views; they speak in two languages and in the common language of friendship, and they part better Canadians than before.

a person who is just beginning the process of hiring them—the first in a tiring succession. Oh, sorry: the maid in the story is the ship "Maid of the Mist" which is starting the season's run.

Significance Of Italy's Election Choice

By WICKHAM STEED

BY common consent the outcome of the Italian general election is highly significant. In a pitched battle the forces of Communism have suffered a resounding defeat.
This is the obvious meaning of the election from the international standpoint. What is its meaning for the Italian people themselves?
No foreigner without some knowledge of modern Italian history and direct experience of the Italian people should attempt to answer this question. Though my own experience of Italy dates from the year 1897, and I was the first Englishman to write her history for the period 1890 to 1900, I feel some difficulty in appraising the outcome of the elections as Italians may judge it. Still, on the strength of my qualifications I will try to interpret it.

THE outcome did not surprise me. As soon as the main issues had been made plain to the Italian electors, and especially once their Government had given them the impression that it knew its own mind and would act firmly against disorder, I felt sure that the sound common sense which, notwithstanding occasional appearances to the contrary, is a fundamental characteristic of the Italian temperament, would give the De Gasperi administration adequate support against the Communist menace.

ANOTHER reason for confidence was my acquaintance with Signor De Gasperi himself. I met him first in 1907 when he represented in the Austrian Parliament the Italians of the (then Austrian) southern Tirol. His position was difficult for he was known to be more Italian than Austrian in feeling and to favour the cession of the southern Tirol to Italy. But he held this position with so much dignity and firmness that he won the respect of the Austrians themselves.
A man who could do that, and who afterwards risked everything by siding with Italy when, in 1915, she declared war against Austria, is neither a weakling nor a hothead. He combines strong religious faith with open-eyed and fearless love of Italy. His opposition to Fascism was unwavering. He knew it must bring disaster upon his people—a disaster he is striving to repair.

IN what measure can he hope to succeed? He has against him the Communists, of whom not a few are ex-Fascists, just as many Fascists were ex-Communists. With them are allied the majority of Italian Socialists to whom the catchwords of Communism appeal.
From these Socialists a minority of moderate democratic Socialists have broken away, and may be reckoned among the supporters of the Government. How strong the remnant of out-and-out Fascists may be among the middle and professional classes cannot be accurately judged. Had Signor De Gasperi failed to defeat the Communists, this remnant might have found a following of frightened folk with something to lose. This contingency now seems remote.

SIGNOR De Gasperi has one main source of strength. It lies, I believe, in the fact, often forgotten nowadays, that before the advent of Fascism, the Catholic Popular Party, led by Don Luigi Sturzo, held no fewer than 107 seats in the Italian Chamber and that it had gained them without official support of any kind. The present Christian Democratic Party is its successor; and its leader, Signor
De Gasperi, holds the reins of power. Don Luigi Sturzo was and is a priest who could not or would not enter Parliament or take office. De Gasperi is a layman with practical experience of responsible administration and less obviously subject to ecclesiastical discipline. The Church, whose influence is considerable, is more openly on his side than it appeared to be on the side of Don Sturzo. The moral issues in the present struggle are also clearer than they were 26 years ago: and a high percentage of the Italian masses now understands them.

ONE source of possible weakness—or of eventual strength—to the De Gasperi administration remains. Don Sturzo's programme of social reform, estranged many of the conservative Catholics, especially the large landowners of the South. Now they may have learned that social reform is the only alternative to Communism. If Signor De Gasperi should fear to arouse their opposition by drastic social reform, the Italian masses might think him weak and waver in their fidelity to the principle he proclaims. But should he, as I fancy he will, have the courage to boldly tackle social reform, he may hold the allegiance of the masses and even of the moderate Socialists for many a day.

SO far, I have looked at the outcome of the Italian election from an Italian internal standpoint, and have left out of account its significance as a possible turning point in the contest between the forces of Communism and those of Western Democracy. This is because I think that the final decision in this contest is unlikely to be determined by aid or influence from outside. Many Italian voters were doubtless aware of and flattered by the importance assigned to their election in the Western world and ever in Soviet Russia.
The idea that Italy was defending a crucial outpost of Western civilization will not have been without effect upon a people who look on Rome as a cradle of that civilization. Yet in the last resort, permanent policy of Italy will depend upon Italian conceptions of Italian national interests; and the most heartening feature of this general election lies in the proof it affords that a substantial majority of Italians feel their interests to be bound up with those of the nations of the West.

LONGER, BUT STILL A PLANK

Letter To The Editor

MR. BRETHEN RE-STATES HIS CASE

Sir: I had no thought of further prolonging our discussion along two widely contrasting attitudes of mind regarding the drink evil, but believe that your recent editorial is entitled to a reply.

The editor of the "Examiner", and I am referring solely to the author of such contrapuntal as I have questioned, takes the view that freer government sale, removal of restrictions, and personal liberty for the individual is the cure-all, and editorially, severely castigates all who may hold opposing views.
Frankly, with the ever-increasing consumption of drink in Canada and its accompanying evils, we do not understand why the Editor should be so definitely antagonistic to restrictions or prohibitions in dealing with the sale of intoxicating liquor. Modern science says alcohol is a narcotic, in structure and effect, very similar to ether. Other narcotics are restricted, prohibited, or banned, in most civilized countries and due probably to their prohibition of sale, and strict law enforcement against bootlegging of same, are much less harmful, to the peoples of the world, than beverage alcohol.

The editor charges that at a recent public meeting the writer referred to the local paper in order to bring the "Examiner" into dis-repute with those present. From comments I have heard over a period of years if the "Examiner" is in disrepute with quite a number of its local readers it is due very largely to the type of editorial, it from time to time presents. At the recent annual convention of the Peterborough Temperance Federation the writer, as president, was asked to give a report, or review, of the year's activities. In conclusion, I referred to a peculiar local situation whereby the only daily newspaper in this area editorially opposed, and thereby hampered, the work of our organization. To illustrate I referred to several editorials of this type appearing in the local paper only one of which was selected by the editor for reply. After re-reading the files of the "Examiner" I agree that in the controversy between the Lakeshore school board and teacher, at no time was the academic standing or the school discipline, of the teacher, in question. Apparently, the grounds for action by the school board, was conduct, outside of school hours. I agree entirely with the "Examiner" that the wording of its editorial was not as specific, as I believed, when speaking from memory, but in reading the full report of the incident as it appeared in the "Examiner", in conjunction with the editorial based thereon, a fair inference would be that the "Examiner" in definitely opposing the action of the board, did uphold, the conduct, of the teacher.

In conclusion, I would like to make the issue in question between the Editor of the "Examiner" and those of like mind as the writer, "clear", and "clean-cut", leaving the decision to the judgement of your readers.

The Editor frankly admits his position as follows: Personally, he is emphatically opposed to drunkenness (most people are). He believes that alcohol is "good", like tea, coffee or tobacco (all of which are poisons), and that no person or organization has any right to question or interfere with the actions of others. Answering the first part of this statement, a modern scientific approach to this subject will show that alcohol has been taken out of the class of stimulating alkaloids such as the drugs in tea, coffee, etc., and put into the class of narcotics. If tea, coffee and tobacco caused a fraction of the murders, shooting, highway fatalities, and suffering to innocent people that can be attributed to the

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept; and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof; and the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made her a woman, and brought her unto the man. (Gen. 2: 21, 22.)

Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the tree of the garden: but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it: neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit herself, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her;
and he did eat. (Gen. 3: 1-6.)

use of alcohol, these stimulants would also be classified as harmful. "By their fruits ye shall know them".

The question of personal liberty is as old as the hills. Robinson Crusoe alone on desert island had personal liberty. With the arrival of his man, "Friday", Crusoe's island home, became a community. Living in this practical world of today no man liveth unto himself alone. This is equally true of communities, and the "Marshall Plan" accepts this ideology, as the best approach, to the problems of a modern world.

Some time ago, the Editor did me the dubious honour of suggesting that in our approach to the question of drink, that we were nearer together, than I believed. In our desire to lessen the evils of drink I hope we are together, but in our methods of so doing, we are as far apart as the poles. Editorially, the "Examiner" lauds John Barleycorn, and advocates "moderate" drinking because such drinkers "will not drink more than they can hold and need have no fear of the bottle".
The Highways of Life are strewn with the wreckage of those who accepted this doctrine.

I have no axe to grind, no political party to defend, and notwithstanding the ridicule of the "Examiner", I still "tenaciously cling" to the belief, that for very many people, the world over, voluntary, or compulsory total abstinence, is the only solution of their problem. As one reclaimed alcoholic puts it, "The world is beautiful; my home life is happy;
and life worth living; as long as I remember, that I am but one glass of liquor, removed from Hell".

Again, Mr. Editor, to you and to all your readers, I am presenting a creed as old as Xenophon:

"Temperance in all things,
Total abstinence in things which are harmful".

Sincerely,
G. A. BRETHEN.

MRS. MARY KING

Mrs. Mary King Marks Her 80th Birthday

HAVERLOCK, May 5 (ENS). — Today Mrs. Mary King, Haverlock, quietly celebrates her 80th birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McAdam where she resides.

Mrs. King was born in Belmont township and has resided all her life in this district. She is a daughter of the late Thomas Althouse and Annie Green.

She was married to Eli King on November 3, 1886, by Rev. J. Anderson at the Methodist parsonage in Norwood. The witnesses at the ceremony were Lydia Althouse and Amos Althouse.

Mr. and Mrs. King settled on a farm west of Haverlock in Belmont township in December, 1886.

Wood $1.00 a Cord
On the farm there was a quantity of cedar and other soft wood. Mrs. King recalls helping her husband cut it into cordwood which they sold for one dollar a cord. Eggs at that time brought 10 cents a dozen and when butter reached 15 cents a pound it was considered a big price.

After the death of her husband in 1922 Mrs. King continued to reside on the farm where she came as a bride about 12 years ago when her health began to fail and she was forced to give up farm activities. Since that time she has resided with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McAdam in Haverlock. Her health still permits her to be up and about each day.

She enjoys reading The Peterborough Examiner.
Her family consists of a daughter, Miss Annie King, Haverlock, and a son, William King of Blairton; two grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Ask Tamblyn's

SWIMMING CLASSES: "Is it considered proper here in Toronto for a young woman to enter a cocktail bar or lounge alone? Also is there any place in Toronto where I can take swimming lessons this summer? I'm a stranger here."

Toronto, as you may have learned, is quite a conservative city. Young women going into cocktail lounges unescorted are apt to cause comment. You can take swimming instruction at the McGill Street Y.W.C.A. on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday in June; Monday and Thursday in July. The schedule for August is not yet completed.

STORY WRITER: "Are there any Canadian magazines which will accept stories from amateurs?"

Amateur or professional, if you will be beloved of Canadian editors. The Standard, Montreal; The Star Weekly, Toronto; Chatelaine and Canadian Home Journal will all give your efforts a reading.

FACE SURGERY: "Is there a doctor in Toronto who does good face surgery? How frequently does the face require lifting? How long does it take? What does it cost?"

These are questions for a professional to answer. Why not contact your own doctor? Plastic surgery is not so popular in Canada as in the United States. But since the war Canada has excellent plastic surgeons.

TRADE FAIR: When does the Trade Fair open in Toronto? Why is the general public excluded? How many exhibitors will be here?

Opening on May 31st the Trade Fair runs two weeks. The public is excluded because this is a business fair. Both exhibitors and buyers want to shop carefully and to advantage. The public will be admitted on Saturdays. There are 1,500 exhibitors, 600 of whom are Canadian.

SULPHUR AND MOLASSES: "I've been told to take this preparation so that I won't feel the summer heat so intensely. 'One pound sulphur, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, molasses to make a paste. Is it any good?'"

Cream of tartar is excellent and so is molasses. But one minister of health said sulphur does nothing but cause an unpleasant smell and a false sense of security. I think there must be easier ways to keep cool.

Council Reduces Levy On Gate At Ball Games

The proposed 20 p.c. levy on the gross gate for the senior baseball club's use of Riverside Park was cut to 10 p.c. by the parks committee of the council Monday night. An additional three per cent is also charged as a means of assisting minor leagues.

At 20 plus 3, Eddie Murphy, with a club delegation, told the committee: "I am sure we can't do it at that figure. We might be able to do it at 10 and 3, but I'm afraid we can't go more than that."

Mr. Murphy said he was only a "messenger" of the club. One of the member had commented to him "that if we have to pay to play ball we'll build our own park."

Ald. Doug Miller said it was not the intention of the council to tax any sport out of existence. He made the first proposal of a lower levy at 15 and 3 per cent. "I think it is a duty of a senior club to contribute a small percentage of their revenue for the minors."

Ald. Max Swanson saw two sides of this question of park maintenance. There were taxpayers, for example on Caddy or Elm St., who were not concerned about sports. Their problem was the paying of their tax bills. "On the other hand we should remember that conditions have changed here in the last 20 years. Many men have Saturday holidays. They have cars or cottages, or both. We didn't have the same extent of that opposition. At that time if there is an admission charged for games the clubs should be willing to pay a proper share for the upkeep of the grounds. I don't think it would hurt us to compromise at 10 and 3 p.c."

Arrange Dates
Lloyd Gross accompanied Mr. Murphy, and Alphonse Brioux and Gordon Young represented the intermediates and minors.

Mayor Owens suggested that arrangement of park dates for the intermediates be made by Alex C. Kay. Ald. Hebert Young presided.

Men's Softball League accepted Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and girls Tuesdays and Thursdays, with the Saturday night spots to be allotted by agreement. The men's league pay $450 for the season and girls $300. First proposal by the committee was $500 from the men and $350 from the girls. Their payments to the city treasury last season were: men $210 and girls $250, but the ladies' league had three nights. The payments which were approved by the committee, were suggested by Ald. Miller at $450 and $300.

The leagues were represented by Mrs. Clyde Ashby and Bill Bennett, Pat Calladine and John Russell.

Rule Edmonton Strong Favorites
CALGARY, May 5 — (CP). — Edmonton Flyers ruled strong favorites today to chalk up their third victory in the Canadian amateur hockey championship series, but there was nothing but smiles in the Ottawa Senators' camp.

The underdog easterners, trailing 2-1 in games in the best-of-seven series for the Allan Cup, grinned gleefully as they learned that two starry replacements were flying to their aid from the Canadian capital.

However, the replacements—Alex Smart and Ray Trainor—will not be on hand for tonight's crucial tilt and with centre Jackie McLean of Ottawa out with a severe charlie horse, Flyers were expected to win without too much difficulty. McLean will be replaced tonight by 19-year-old Harry Watson, playing his first year in senior company.

Both Smart and Trainor, left behind when they failed to get sufficient time off from work to make the full western trip, will fly here for Saturday's fifth game.

King Edward Victors

King Edward seniors took a 19-3 victory over Grove in a friendly inter-school exhibition on Monday. It was a good game until the last of the third inning when the more experienced K. E. crew cashed in on errors by their rivals to run up the count. The teams:

King Edward: Breadman, Batley, Holland, Hope, Buchanan, Best, Sloan, Bartley, Haslett, Smith, Martin.

Grove: Hargreaves, C. Simmons, Drury, White, Colt, Clark, G. Simmons, Hamilton, Davies, Hughes.

Umpires, L. Bird and J. Burns.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Ron Menzies is hunting for the guy who made these big foot tracks on downtown streets. As manager of Frank Doherty, he said: "We'd like to find that guy and make him a sparring partner for Frank!" Because Doherty is going into the Olympic trials (Central branch) in Toronto tomorrow and Friday as a heavyweight boxer—not a lightweight as reported from Toronto. He scales around 180 and is fast and a hard hitter. Doesn't believe in fooling around, remarking: "It's usually one or the other of us in the first round." If the husky 22-year-old resident of Peterborough comes through this week, he will likely get a tune-up in Ottawa a week hence to get in shape for the Olympic trials finals in Montreal later this month.

Ontario Sports Federation is operating again after a wartime layoff. Associations of team sports are expected to line up with it, the OBA, OHA and OASA already being in. The ORFU, OLA and OABA will no doubt follow suit as they were members in pre-war days. This Federation is a sort of replacement of the old Iron-bound AAU of C, but isn't nearly as tough. The various sports' bodies run their own shows, but they are all grouped loosely for certain rules and for some protection. Thus, if one association suspends a club or player, it or he is automatically suspended by the others until the case is heard.

A Lively Loop Looms

Blossoms forth a new softball set up in town, the Civic League. In one section it has these teams: Post Office, Firemen, Bus Drivers, Shell Oil and Bankers; and in the other: Grafton's, Bell Telephone, Babe's Place, A & P, and the Police. Schedule is in tonight, having opened Monday and they play three nights weekly at King Edward Park or over at Armour Field. These teams in past years—or some of 'em—used to mess around with challenge games and they had a lot of fun. But now they've gone legal and are playing for keeps. Rivalry is sure to be keener than a cat's incisors.

Kawartha Tennis League has a re-organization meeting at eight tonight in the YMCA, called by Prexy Ed Haynes of Cobourg. And representatives are expected from Campbellford, Lindsay, Cobourg, Kawartha Club and the Quaker Oats Club. Work is being done now on the Quaker courts and they'll be officially opened shortly as interest is high, judging from the record number of applications for membership received so far. A few have been playing already, and real action commences when the tennis club chairman is appointed. Kawartha Club, too, is getting set for another big season for the over-the-webbing enthusiasts.

They're Teeing Off

Golfers adorn the fairways daily on the Kawartha and the Peterborough links with the official openings set for May 15. "Both clubs have the grounds in good shape and a fairly plentiful supply of golfing equipment available. And both expect record entries this year, topping the previous high marks of 1947. Peterborough Club has purchased a new tractor and a power green mower, and we understand the catering service up there has commenced already. Both President Frank Buckland and Prexy Hugh Waddell—Kawartha Club and Peterborough Club respectively—predict a swell season for the golfing folk."

Eddie Murphy, Lloyd Gross and Jack Turner (latter is on the OBA executive) go to Belleville tonight to see what's what about a revived COBL. A last effort to get this senior circuit going. Oshawa, Batawa, Kingston and Peterborough will be represented. We'd feel optimistic except that Belleville and Batawa are presently lined up in a Quinte district loop. Kingston also have their own senior city league, but may still field a team in the Central Ontario setup. Both Oshawa and the Petes are tentative entrants in the Lakeshore Loop. But Eddie, who has worked hard to get the COBL going again, is hopeful of getting things started in Bella Villa tonight. Falling this, he will take in the Lakeshore League meeting on the morrow.

In Lakeshore Loop

At the City League meeting in the "Y" on Tuesday p.m., it was decided to put the two junior squads from Peterborough into the Junior Lakeshore League. And the local intermediates will seek entry into the Lakeshore Intermediate Loop, getting some aid from the City League here but not financially—minor setup having a raft of young teams to finance. Schedule here opens May 22 with a twin bill in the aft at Riverside, and Gordon Young is busy now drawing up schedules. Phonsie Brioux, Art Pagett Sr. and Jack Turner form a sub-committee to look after the junior teams. Alex Kay was named by the city council to be in charge of the park. "Is hoped also to get use of the Ex. diamond in front of the stand. Next meeting is May 19."

Junior Teams To Enter In Lakeshore

The City Baseball League will enter its two junior teams in the Lakeshore Junior Baseball league this season. It was decided at an executive meeting in the YMCA last night, with President Phonsie Brioux in the chair. And local intermediate representatives will attend the Lakeshore Intermediate League meeting tomorrow in Bowmanville to seek entry. While the City League will aid the local intermediates, the latter must finance themselves. Phonsie Brioux, Art Pagett Sr. and Jack Turner will look after the juniors.

With the likelihood of nearly 90 teams in the circuit here, the opening games were set for May 22, an afternoon double-header. The first game will be between two juvenile squads and the other between the two Peterborough junior teams. Gord Young will draw up schedules to be approved by the executive at a May 19 meeting in the YMCA.

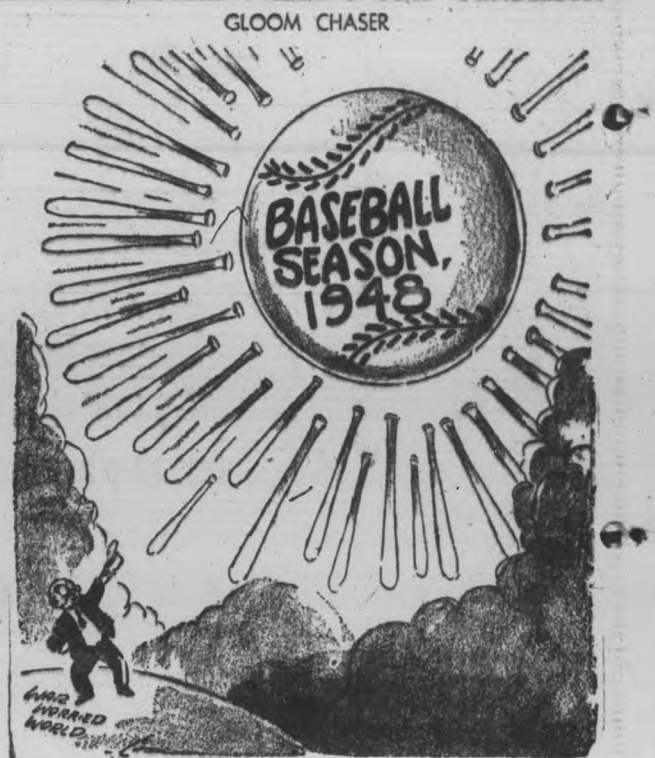

King George Wins

King George defeated Prince of Wales 12-9 in an interesting junior Softball League fixture Tuesday afternoon on the East City diamond. They rammed across 11 runs in a wild first frame and added one in the third. But the Prince of Wales crew made it a fight, scoring a run each in the first, third and fifth innings, with six shoved across in a big fourth stanza. The teams:

Prince of Wales: Charlton, ss; Hollingsworth, cf; Carveth, lf; Kennedy, lb; King, 3b; Crosby, rf; Robertson, b; Dunn, p; Pearson, c; Mongraw, Moffat, Gordon.

King George: Crowder, cf; D. Ash, p; Pollard, 3b; Melinoye, 3b; Lissett, 2b; Baple, ss; Doney, lb; Hurton, c; Starr, lf; Barker, lf; McFee, rf; Innes, rf; Wyatt, F. Ash.

Junior Teams Tie

Central and King Edward juniors battled to a 10-all tie on Tuesday in a School Softball League encounter, the uptowners coming from behind in the last inning with six runs. They had scored one each in the first and third with two in the second. King Edward counted one each in the first and third, and eight in a big fourth frame. The teams:

King Edward: Nickson, 3b; Corbett, lb; Frizzelle, p; Downer, c; Crowe, cf; Moffatt, rf; Pagett, ss; Rose, lf; Turner, c; Hunt, Henderson.

Central: Forbes, rf; Gardner, lf; Brooks, 3b; Maxwell, cf; Armstrong 2b; Patterson c; Rowley ss; Spalding, p; Kelley, lb; Parnell, Gibbs.

3 New Grapplers At Brock Tonight

Even the most cage-hardened wrestling fans find it hard to predict what will happen to-night on the Brock Arena mat when Nanjo Singh collides with the Masked Marvel in the feature attraction. Singh is weird and unorthodox in his mat technique and when aroused seems impossible to predict what will happen to-night on the Brock Arena mat when Nanjo Singh collides with the Masked Marvel in the feature attraction. Tom Mahoney will not let the unusual reputation of Mike Mazurki phase him in tonight's semi-final. Big Tom says "I know Mazurki is a good wrestler and probably a good actor too but he'll find out tonight there's a lot more to wrestling than looking fierce."

Northern Teams Play First Games At Home

By The Associated Press
The International League celebrates its second "opening" today as the circuit's four northern teams, Rochester, Buffalo, Montreal and Toronto, play their first 1948 games at home.

Capacity crowds are expected at all parks with some 63,000 fans witnessing the four games.

At Rochester, the Red Wings entertain Syracuse Chiefs with 15,000 fans expected to be on hand. Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler is scheduled to throw out the first ball.

Righthander Bill Reeder has been nominated to pitch for Rochester. Southpaw Jim Wallace is listed as his opponent.

A turnout of 16,000 also is expected at Buffalo where the Bisons meet the Baltimore Orioles. Hank Perry probably will pitch for Buffalo against Lefty Bob Kuzava, recently obtained from Cleveland Indians.

Another crowd of 15,000 is expected at Montreal where the Royals take on Newark Bears. Hank Behrman, former Brooklyn Dodger, is Montreal Manager Clay Hopper's choice for the mound.

The Bears are to go with rookie righthander, Bob Porterfield.

A crowd of 18,000 is counted on to see Toronto Maple Leafs open their home season against Jersey City Giants.

Rookie Bubba Church will pitch for the Leafs with Lefty Joe Hoover on the mound for the Giants.

None of the teams were scheduled to play yesterday.

Curás Edge Dodgers 5-4; Musial, Slaughter Stars

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis Cardinals this season are following an old National League custom—win at night and you win the pennant.

That proved to be the winning formula in 1946 and 1947. The Redbirds were the best night owls in '46, winning 32 and losing 22 for a 59.9 percentage. Brooklyn was second at night, 12 percentage points behind. The end of the season found the Cards nosing out the Dodgers in a playoff for the flag by almost that identical margin—12 percentage points.

Last year it was the other way around. Brooklyn had the best night game percentage, 70.3. The Cards were second with .689. That's the way they finished during the regular season—one-two. The Cardinals gained their second night victory of the season last night, defeating the Dodgers in St. Louis 5-4.

Get Home Runs
Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter were the big bat wielders and each hammered a home run. Musial lined his third home run of the season in the sixth inning. Slaughter's came in the eighth and proved to be the winning clout.

Al Brazie was the winning pitcher and Ralph Branca the loser. A crowd of 27,768 fans saw the Cards take undisputed possession of third place, a full game ahead of the fourth-place Dodgers.

That was the only National League game yesterday. Rain washed out the scheduled day contest between Philadelphia Phillies and the Cubs at Chicago.

A heavy downpour also put an abrupt halt to the Boston Braves-Pirates night game at Pittsburgh after the Bucs had taken a three-inning 3-0 lead. New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds were not scheduled.

Two-Run Homer
Eddie Joost banged a two-run homer with two out in the 10th off relief pitcher Charley Wenzeloff to decide the game.

New York Yankees moved up to third place, within half a game of the leaders by thrashing the St. Louis Browns 6-1 at Yankee Stadium. Frank (Spec) Shea was credited with his first triumph.

Boston Red Sox registered their third successive victory as they pasted Detroit Tigers 6-3 at Fenway Park. A four-run blast in the sixth inning at the expense of loser Art Houtteman decided the tilt.

In the American League's only night game, Chicago White Sox scored two runs in the top of the fifth inning to tie the Senators in Washington 3-3. Rain came at the end of the fifth to end the game.

Cotton Believes Radio Boon To Young Actors

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 5 (AP).—Radio, perennial step-child in the show business family, will be treated with more respect if Joseph Cotton has his way.

Unique among movie stars, he spends as much time in radio studios as he does in the film factories. A veteran of more than 2,500 air shows, he has strong ideas on the subject of radio.

Such as:
"When stock companies passed, they left a vacuum that neither the screen nor the theatre could fill. Neither supplied a training ground for actors. If a would-be actor is lucky enough to land in a Broadway hit, he's stuck for a year or two in a small part he can master before opening night."

"In Hollywood, an actor plays one part and must wait months before his next film. In either place, he runs the risk of becoming an old man before he acquires experience."

Learn Quickly

"A young actor in radio learns fast. He has a chance to play several shows at once and gets a variety of roles. He works more and so is trained more rapidly."

Although radio provides good training for the movies, it doesn't work in reverse, Joe indicated. He doesn't plan to use film actors in his casts. He thinks they are too often tense, nervous and subject to mike fright.

Around The Lots

Thomas Mitchell says he'll return to the stage after his chore here in "Dark Circle." His recent tour in "The Inspector Calls" gave him the grease-paint urge and he says "If someone doesn't tour the road, it will die." Jack Carson, formerly of Carman, Man, and Don't Day may have had a tiff but they're looking lovey-dovey again on the "My Dream Is Yours" set. . . John Hodiak and Anne Baxter haven't been able to get a simultaneous vacation for a year, but they're hoping for a fishing trip to Mexico this summer. . . Constance Bennett describing her new Beverly Hills home: "It's just a cottage — 20 rooms."

Blames CAHA For Trouble Over Referees

WINNIPEG, May 5 (CP). — With the lack of new songs on the market these days, somebody should take time out to compose such ditties as "Ode to a Whistle-Toter," or "A Referee's Lament"—for the boys in white took quite a roasting in the last hockey campaign.

Since the Junior and Senior hockey playoffs began hardly a series went by without somebody yelling for the referees' scalps—did somebody say give this country back to the Indians?

Tony (Winnipeg Tribune) Allan in a recent column reviewed the situation insofar as Western terms were concerned, and reports from the East indicated things were no better there.

In the Manitoba Junior finals, Allan says, Winnipeg Canadians couldn't get along with Referee Lorne (Windy) Lyndon and held him largely responsible for their losing to Winnipeg Monarchs. In the Thunder Bay-Manitoba Junior playoffs between Monarchs and Port Arthur Bruins, Winnipeg fans were anything but satisfied with the officiating and play was held up repeatedly while the ice was cleared of programs and other debris.

Allan's column was written before the final game in which Alf Guardia of Barrie tossed several punches at Referee Vic Lindquist of Winnipeg.)

Who is responsible for this sad state of affairs?

"The CAHA is to blame, rather than the officials," Allan says, "because it hasn't the guts to tell the referees that the rules mean exactly what they say. The referees are put on the spot as league officials advise them not to be 'too rough' and to use their 'discretion' when it comes to penalties for boarding and high-sticking. The referees, if they expect to receive further assignments, are powerless to do otherwise."

It doesn't help matters that the rules are always being tinkered with—if you haven't seen a hockey game in 10 years, you'd hardly recognize it as the same sport, says Allan.

Martin Loses 40-Yard Dash

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP). — When Pepper Martin turned up at Norman, Okla., to do some scouting for the Dodgers at the State High school baseball tournament (75 teams this year), he spotted Bud Wilkinson's football team drilling on an adjacent field. The 44-year-old Pepper drifted over and challenged Jack Mitchell, Bud Wilkinson's football coach. Martin won the first 40-yard dash by a yard, then lost by one stride to Tommy Gray, Oklahoma's fastest footballer. Pepper then panted: "I can't come back as fast as I used to."

A Miss Is Good As a Mule

At a recent dinner in Kansas City, baseball commissioner Hapchell, star Sooner back, to a foot py Chandler and sandlot czar Ray Dumont had a lot of fun handing each other compliments—right and left handed. Naturally there was some mention of Ray's celebrated circus stunts, but Dumont had the last word. "Our good friend, Mr. Chandler, still is a Democrat at heart. Don't be surprised to see a revival of that sport—donkey baseball."

"SHARK-POWER" TO AID SWIMMERS—French-born world's long distance swimming champ, Paul Chotteau, has come up with a novel form of locomotion—shark-power. He got the bright idea of harnessing a shark to a specially designed craft to tow a swimmer for long distances, with little effort on the swimmer's part. Above we see the first demonstration of this swim-star's brainstorm at Miami, Fla. In the top photo: explaining that his craft was too small for a big shark, Chotteau picked a less-than-medium-sized shark, and after a tussle got it harnessed to the catamaran, which is what his craft is called. In the bottom photo: Chotteau yelled the marine equivalent of "giddap," and the lusty little shark pulled the great big man out from shore. After a trial spin, Chotteau called the experiment successful, and said his next shark-powered cruise will take him across the lagoon from Miami to Bimini.

Here and There In Sport

Player salaries for the new professional Pacific Coast Hockey League will not be announced until after the annual National Hockey League meeting at Montreal or New York in June, it was learned at Vancouver Tuesday night.

The coast league's decision to go professional is in complete harmony with big money. Eddie Shore has paid $50,000 for the Oakland Oaks franchise. Charles Cord, motor car magnate, now owns the Los Angeles club, and the Forsyth Brothers and the Buffalo hockey team paid a large sum for the San Diego rink.

Earl Sande, facing federal grand jury action on a charge of illegally possessing narcotics, was handed a 60-day suspension Tuesday at New York by the jockey club. Under the suspension, the famous one-time jockey, now an owner and trainer of horses, is denied admission to the grounds of any track under the jurisdiction of the turf's ruling body. This includes all major racing plants in the United States. Sande was arraigned Monday after one of his horses was allegedly found to have been drugged when it won a race at Jamaica last fall.

Vancouver's sharp-shooting Clover Leafs led all the way at Montreal Tuesday night to hand Montreal YMHA Blues a 63-41 trouncing to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five series for the Dominion senior basketball title. Fourth game will be tonight with the fifth, if necessary, Saturday.

At Edmonton, University of Alberta Golden Bears Tuesday night squared the western Canadian universities' senior men's basketball championship series at one game each by defeating University of British Columbia Thunderbirds 51-46. The deciding game of the best-of-three series will be played Thursday. The winner goes to Toronto to meet University of Western Ontario for the Canadian university title.

The West Side Tennis Club of New York Tuesday announced that the United States professional grass court championships will be held June 12-20 at Forest Hills with such attractions as Jack Kramer and Bobby Riggs.

The smallest field since the end of the war will challenge Willie Turnesa in his defence of the British amateur golf championship starting May 24 at St. Andrews, Scotland. Entries are expected to be less than 180.

Surgeons took another inch off the right leg of president Bill Veck of Cleveland Indians Tuesday at Cleveland and described the operation as "satisfactory."

That was the third amputation of the leg below the knee. Veck injured it in an accident while he was with the United States Marines at Bougainville in the South Pacific.

Civic Softballers Starting Schedule

The Civic Softball League opened their schedule Monday, May 3. The league consist of two groups, Group 1, Post Office, Firemen, Bus Drivers, Shell Oil, Bankers. Group 2, Grafton's, Bell Telephone, Babe's Place, Police, A & P.

Group No. 1 games are played at Armour Field. Group No. 2 games are played at King Edward Park. Games start at 7:00 p.m. and are Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Any games that are ruled out will be played after the regular schedule has been completed. Any team that does not show up for a game without giving notice shall lose by default. Games will be decided in seven innings. Playoffs will be decided at a later date between each group and the final playoff between both groups.

U.S. Curtis Cup Team Has Perfect Record

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP). — The treasured Curtis cup begins a long-delayed trip to England today, chaperoned by seven of this country's best feminine golfers whose immediate objective is to bring it back.

The United States teams is to sail today to meet the British women at Birkdale, England, May 21 and 22, in the first Curtis cup matches in 10 years.

Since the trophy was put in play in 1932, the closest the British have come to a victory in the biennial competition was a tie at Gleneagles, Scotland in 1936.

But the Americans are departing with a last-minute warning from Henry Cotton, Britain's golfing ambassador, that things will be different this time.

"Cotton was talking with some of us yesterday," said Dorothy Kieley of Los Angeles. "He told us that the British women have every intention of taking the Curtis cup, even though the men haven't been successful in holding the Walker or Ryder cups."

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Marion, Pa., captain of the American contingent, calls it "the best team we could possibly have."

Mrs. Vare and Mrs. Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N.C., are the only members of the American team who have played in Curtis cup competition and the only ones who ever played previously in Britain.

The others are national champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Grace Lenzyk of Newington, Conn., and Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex.

VALVE-IN-HEAD is far ahead!

in performance and economy... in ruggedness and reliability!

Here's why "Valve-in-Head Is Far Ahead" in all-round efficiency

- 1 Valves are in the head of the cylinder, directly over the pistons.
- 2 Valve-in-Head design provides faster intake of fuel and quicker and more complete exhaust of burned gases for better performance and economy.
- 3 Valve-in-Head design permits a more compact combustion chamber... means more driving power for the pistons—less heat loss—and maximum economy.

- 4 Valve-in-Head Engines are easier to cool; prevents waste of power—prolongs engine life.

Valve mechanism readily accessible—service is extraordinarily easy and economical.

Automotive experts and millions of motorists agree:

Valve-in-Head is far ahead because it gives an outstanding combination of performance, endurance, dependability and economy... Chevrolet Valve-in-Head Engines have proved this by delivering more billions of miles of satisfaction, to more owners, over a longer period, than any other power-plant built today! Chevrolet's World's Champion Valve-in-Head Engine is another powerful reason why CHEVROLET AND ONLY CHEVROLET IS FIRST! And Chevrolet offers you these other major advantages of Big-Car Quality at Lowest Cost:

Hebrew State To Be Declared Within 10 Days

SARONA, Palestine, May 5. — (AP). — The new Hebrew state will proclaim its independence 10 days hence at this one-time Templar town that will be the provisional capital.

The state has an army, but neither a name nor a flag. Its government will be housed in buildings where once Adolf Hitler's pictures hung on the walls.

The independence proclamation, addressed by David Ben-Gurion in the name of the provisional government of which he is chairman, will be sent to the United Nations at Lake Success. It will request international recognition.

The state would be one of the world's smallest, but its army of upwards of 50,000 men is ready to fight for its sovereignty.

Sarona was founded in the last century as a Templar colony. Now it is a residential suburb of old mansions, a 10-minute drive from mid-town Tel Aviv, the all-Jewish city built 30 years ago on a sandbar north of Jaffa.

(Templars are members of a small body founded in Wuertemberg, Germany, about 1861. The organization was variously called the Temple Society, Friends of the Temple and Hoffmannites, for its president, the Rev. Christopher Hoffmann.)

(The organization's principal purpose in the beginning was the "gathering of the people of God in Palestine." Later the emphasis shifted to economic aspects, and the Templars supported German interests in the Middle East.)

Sarona colonists were taken to detention camps during the war. A half dozen of the finest old homes, whose walls once were decorated with Hitler's pictures, now are being fitted hastily with switchboards and office equipment to house the government of the Jewish state. The capital will be ready in a week, just under the May 16 deadline at which the Actions Council of the world Zionist organizations voted a month ago that a new state would be proclaimed.

The name of the state will be recommended in secret by the acting cabinet today. A flag, too, must be chosen. Hagana, the official Jewish army, has been fighting under the banner of Zionism—a white flag with two blue stripes and a star of David in the center.

Direct Missions Throughout World From Shabby Fleet St. Building

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, May 5 — (CP). — A shabby white building, hemmed in by newspaper offices and filling one whole side of Fleet Street's Salisbury Square, is known to Church of England missionaries the world over as "The House."

From the high-windowed dispatch room on the second floor letters and parcels go out from the Church Missionary Society to parishes in the depths of African forests, into the hinterland of China, to the wastes of India's North-west Frontier.

Every year 10,000,000 copies of the Bible translated into 700 languages are sent to distant corners of the earth. With them go missionary funds amounting annually to more than £500,000 ($2,500,000) and hundreds of young men trained for many different branches of missionary work.

Letters Pour In

Every week letters from people of all ages pour on to the desk of Rev. Geoffrey Rogers, candidates' secretary at "The House."

A Bristol toolmaker sells his business to become a handyman in a Nigerian leper colony; a newspaper man discovers in the army that he has a call for social organizing; a schoolmaster decides there are people in more need of teaching even than boys. "These are typical examples," Secretary Rogers said, "and they are duplicated hundreds of times over in the mail I receive daily. But though 12 are called only one, so far as we are concerned, is chosen."

"The physical and psychological tests are exacting. A man with a faulty heart—or worse still a faulty temper—is a liability in the African tropics or on top of a Persian mountain."

ity in the African tropics or on top of a Persian mountain."

Scattered Over World

Male candidates who qualify are sent to No. 27 Missionary Training School at Blackheath, South-east London, whose "Old Boys" are scattered over the world from Greenland's mountains to India's coral strand.

"We need rugged, practical, highly-trained young men. Upon their skill depends our success or failure in building a new understanding between the advanced and backward peoples of the world," Rogers said.

Overhaul Of Lords Has Broken Down

LONDON, May 5 — (AP). — All-party talks on overhauling the House of Lords have broken down on the issue of how long the Upper House may delay enactment of legislation, the government announced yesterday.

Agreement already had been reached on a number of reforms. The Labor Government, with an eye to clearing the way for nationalization of iron and steel before the 1950 general elections has insisted that the Lords' power to delay legislation should be reduced from two years to one. Conservatives maintain the period must not be reduced to less than 15 months.

The Commons already has passed a bill limiting the period to one year. If the House of Lords rejects the bill, the Labor Government intends to call a special session of the Commons to provide an opportunity to override the veto.

Great Skill builds great tires!

Over 30 percent of Gutta Percha's master tire builders have had more than a quarter century of tire building experience. These are the men who know how to build those extra miles of smoother driving into every Gutta Percha tire. Their experience is your guarantee of more miles and safer miles when you buy Gutta Percha tires.

Building tires... calls for skilled hands and keen eyes. It is this human element in tire building that makes the difference between ordinary tires and Gutta Percha tire performance.

HOME OF ARAB LEADER BLASTED—Connection was seen between the recent bombing of the home of Nahas Pasha, noted Arab leader, and current unrest in the Holy Land. In an assassination attempt patterned on terrorists acts in Palestine an automobile-load of explosives was parked in front of his palatial home in Cairo, Egypt, and exploded. Nahas Pasha, Wafdist (Nationalist) leader, and former premier of Egypt, escaped uninjured, but his wife suffered cuts from flying glass. Ruined portico of the home is pictured here.

Committee Urges Dropping Clause Limiting Disability Pensions

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP). — The Commons Committee on Veterans Affairs recommended Tuesday the elimination of a clause in the War Pensions Act that has been the nub of controversy for 29 years.

It also made a clean sweep in passing on to the government the last of six Canadian Legion recommendations for changes in pensions law or in administration.

The committee voted 12 to 8 to ask the government to amend the Act so as to provide that "pension shall be paid for the entire disability of any veteran who served in an actual theatre of war except only if it was obvious at time of enlistment."

The vote followed protests of the Legion against a section which allows pensions to be paid only for wartime aggravations if a disability was "wilfully or deliberately concealed at time of enlistment" or if the disability "was recorded on medical examination prior to enlistment."

Causes Bitterness

The vote came on a motion by G. S. White (PC-Hastings-Peterborough) after Mr. White and Dr. W. G. Blair (PC-Lanark) attacked the "wilful concealment" clause as the source of "bitterness, distrust and injustice" among veterans.

T. J. Bentley (CCF-Swift Current) assailed it as "shameful" to men who had concealed old ailments on enlistment "for the grand and noble" purpose of serving their country.

The clause has been amended five times since the Pensions Act was drawn up in 1919.

The committee's other recommendations to the government included:

1.—That pensions for First World War pensioners be stabilized. Members accepted a recommendation from Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia) that would prevent reduction in assessment of a disability on which pension has been paid for three years or more. Average age of the 69,700 recipients is nearly 60.

2.—That fractional assessment of disabilities be determined on progressions of 5 per cent. For example, pensions of 25 per cent now are paid for all disability rates between 25 and 30 per cent. The change would mean that a 30 per cent pension would be paid for any assessment from 25 to 32 inclusive.

63,500 Disabled

Debate on the "wilful concealment" clause heard Brig. J. L. Melville, chairman of the Pensions Commission, report that at the end of 1947 there were some 63,500 Second World War disabled pensioners from an actual theatre of war.

In 2,100 cases, their condition had been ruled to be of pre-enlistment origin, wilfully concealed and pensioned for the degree of service aggravation. In only 306 cases out of 31,364 disability decisions—that is less than one per cent—handed down last year had there been a ruling that there was wilful concealment.

Mr. White and Dr. Blair contended that veterans were unable to understand why the Commission would refuse them full entitlement because they had some minor trouble years before enlistment. Dr. Blair said an investigating commission had recently found that in 10 per cent of 60 cases the Commission had not, as the Act provided, given the veteran the benefit of the doubt. Mr. White said the Commission had proved "only too eager" to take advantage of the clause.

Disorderly Conduct Charge For Senator

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 5 — (AP). — Senator Glen Taylor (Dem. Idaho) faces disorderly conduct charges in Police Court here.

The third-party running mate of Presidential candidate Henry Wallace was arrested Saturday night on charges growing out of the city's segregation laws. The maximum fine for disorderly conduct is $100, and costs, and 180 days in jail.

Taylor was arrested as he attempted to enter a negro church where he was scheduled to address a meeting of the Southern Negro Youth Congress. He was released in $100 bond.

The committee's other recommendations to the government included:

1.—That pensions for First World War pensioners be stabilized. Members accepted a recommendation from Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia) that would prevent reduction in assessment of a disability on which pension has been paid for three years or more. Average age of the 69,700 recipients is nearly 60.

Britain Warns Workers Produce More

LONDON, May 5.—(CP).— A warning to Britain's workers that they must produce more to ensure social security is contained in a document to be offered to the annual convention of the Labor party May 17-21.

It is a pamphlet called "Production, the Bridge of Socialism" and the party's National Executive committee will ask the delegates to endorse it.

The basic theme of the pamphlet is that while the Labor government can pass legislation to prove that it is for social security there must be support from the ordinary people to "bridge the gap between acts and facts."

These blunt facts are set forth:

1. Britons must produce more to export so that they can import the food and materials on which they all depend.

2. Production must rise to ensure full employment. Without more exports industry will fade. More coal is needed to let industry go all out. Finally "we must produce more to be able to produce at all."

3. The Labor government has introduced the "most far-reaching social legislation" ever given any country. "But there can be no social security in an insecure economy."

4. Production must be increased to keep prices down. Increased production is "the surest way of defeating a peril which could be fatal to Britain's recovery."

The pamphlet says British workers have the responsibility of seeing that industrial efficiency is increased.

Mt. Pleasant WA Clears $25 On Supper

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 5 — (ENS).—April meeting of Mount Pleasant Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. Aubrey Bland. The president, Mrs. Alex Tully, opened the meeting. Mrs. D. Lawson took the devotional.

It was announced that $25 had been cleared from the pot luck dinner held in March.

It was decided that Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Downer and Mrs. E. Lawson be a committee to pack the boxes for England to be sent early in May.

The matter of sending delegates to the convention at Havelock May 5, was left open due to transportation difficulties.

It was decided that the treasurer, Mrs. Graham, make her payments to Mr. H. Lowes for Hydro are caretaker of the church rather than paying direct, payments to be made quarterly.

If possible, the Association plan to have a play in the Institute Hall, May 21.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. J. Boyd and Mrs. H. Bland served refreshments. And a social hour was enjoyed.

Senate Expected To Vote On Margarine

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP). — The Senate's third vote in three years on the oleomargarine question is expected today.

Support for the bill came Tuesday from Senators Salter Hayden and Norman Lambert, Ontario Liberals, and F. P. Quinn (PC—Nova Scotia). Senator S. S. McKen (L—British Columbia) said he is opposed to margarine.

Senator Hayden called the ban "intolerant" and "class legislation of the most extreme kind." Margarine would work no hardship on the farmer.

Senator Lambert said the Euler bill is "positive, constructive" legislation, economically sound and in the best interest of most Canadians.

Senator Quinn said he would support margarine until dairy men showed they could meet the demand for butter.

Allied Labor Council To Vote On CCF Motion

A notice of motion that the CCF be recommended as the party officially supported by the Allied Labor Council was tabled at the bi-monthly meeting of the Council held on Tuesday night.

In the meanwhile delegates to the Labor Council will determine the views of their various locals with regard to their support of the CCF in the coming Provincial campaign. At the next meeting they will then vote on this political issue. Stewart Anderson and William Triggs introduced the motion.

Commenting on a letter received from the City Clerk on the subject of the local housing situation, William Cambers, recording secretary, said he thought the city should be commended for the progress made in building homes. Many Ontario communities were far less fortunate than Peterborough, he said.

William Whibbs was more critical, saying "New Zealand, Australia and Great Britain all have low rental housing schemes. Until the state steps in we won't have it here. Private enterprise isn't interested."

City Clerk Edward Outram's letter replying to a query on the accomplishments of the Industrial Development Committee was received less kindly. Mr. Cambers said, "No centre has done a better job than Peterborough in housing, yet we are not getting our share of new industry. He singled out Belleville as one city where firms were locating at the present time despite the fact there was not much discrepancy in wages or the cost of building materials.

He said that the labor situation was described in the letter as tight, but that workers have moved out of the city recently to seek employment. And he contended that new industry means further job opportunities, particularly for children just out of school. Decentralization of industry may result in decreased wages and an exodus of labor from the community.

Rap City Council

Mr. Whibbs asked that a close dovetailing of town planning and industrial planning be maintained.

City Council was also rapped for its decision on the anti-noise law ban on mobile loudspeaker systems.

Mr. Triggs said one alderman had argued against the measure by saying it would cause congestion outside CGE. That is hardly relevant to the anti-noise law, he pointed out.

Mr. Cambers said that in his submission he had contended that the request of the Council could be met within the framework of the existing law. Yet, he said, the Mayor refused on grounds that the by-law should not be rescinded. He mentioned the fact that Alderman Richard Raine seconded the Mayor, and pointed out that it was this alderman who referred the original Allied Labor Council request to the legal committee, after at least one Council member (Dr. Herbert Young) had spoken favorably of the request.

Robert Harvey said that a special committee, of which he was a member, had investigated the present employment situation. He said the committee was told by William Mellis, National Employment Service, that there were 500 unemployed in Peterborough at the present time. Approximately three-quarters of these were in the older age group and the majority of the remainder were women. Only 10 jobs were open and these were for engineers and other technicians.

James Southgate rose to protest that men who had worked hard all their lives, particularly during the recent war, should not be pushed out of their jobs merely because of advanced age. "If so, all men over 55 should be kicked out of the Senate," he said.

Tentative arrangements were made for the annual Labor Day program.

Plea To Ontario Board Starts Diplomatic Inquiry

OTTAWA, May 5.—(CP).—

Testimony of an American consul-general before the Ontario Municipal Board last week has set off a diplomatic inquiry. External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday night in the Commons.

Mr. St. Laurent said his department has asked Ambassador Ray Atherton to find out whether the state department instructed the Consul-General—H. Earl Russell—to appear before the Board. He expressed confidence that investigation will show no such instructions were given and that the incident can be blamed on "over-zealousness" on the part of the Consul-General himself.

The incident was raised in the Commons by John Hackett (PC—Stanstead), president of the Canadian Bar Association. He said that last week the Ontario Municipal Board was hearing the application of an American trucking company for permission to truck cars in bond over Ontario highways from one U.S. point to another.

Makes Statement

Mr. Hackett said the Board was a quasi-judicial body. Russell appeared before it, refused to be sworn and said he simply wished to make a statement on behalf of the U.S. government: that the government was extremely interested in the case before the Board and hoped that a favorable decision would be rendered.

Mr. Hackett said that if the United States had any communications with Canada on the matter they should have come from the state department to the external affairs department.

"It should be established beyond doubt whether the United States State Department instructed Mr. Russell to appear before a court of justice to make a statement on behalf of the United States government," he said.

"Good relations can only continue as long as there is respect for the rights and feelings of both parties," Mr. Hackett said.

Bitter Fight Behind Scene Across Korea

SEOUL, Korea, May 5 (AP).—Communism and western democracy, are locked in a bitter behind-the-scenes conflict in next Monday's scheduled election in United States-occupied South Korea.

The election is intended to create an independent Korean government.

The issue in plain sight is the contest between two major Rightist groups for control of the government-to-be and authority to say how it shall be patterned.

The Communists and pro-Communists of South Korea are boycotting the election. They have entered no candidates for the 200 national assembly seats. They denounce the program in their papers and at party meetings.

Their pet phrase for it is "an American imperialist scheme to gain control of Korea."

Roving Gangs

Almost daily, roving gangs swoop into villages throughout southern Korea, attacking police boxes, election offices and the homes of policemen and Rightists. At least 350 Koreans have died in these assaults.

Lt.-Gen. John Hodge, U.S. occupation commander, calls the attackers "Communist stooges" and "mouthpieces of Soviet masters." He says their obvious aim is to prevent the election by terrorizing voters and officials. During the 10-day registration period that began March 30, Communist attacks and threats ran high, yet 7,884,095 of the 8,216,851 eligible south Koreans registered. That was 95.9 per cent.

The Russians, who occupy the northern half of Korea, oppose the election proposed instead that both occupation forces withdraw, leaving the Koreans to establish a unified government alone.

Key Michigan Plants Dependent On Gas

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP).—The key Michigan plants of the vast General Motors industrial network are at the mercy of natural gas supplies, Herbert F. Rech, director of the General Motors power section, told the United States power commission Tuesday.

He testified the company's 12 major manufacturing plants in central Michigan already have been put on notice that their gas may be cut off by Consumers Power Co.

"If that goes into effect," Rech said, "We'll be done."

Rech said those 12 plants and five General Motors plants in Detroit supply G.M. assembly plants throughout the United States and Canada, plus competitive companies and other industries.

Consumers Power and the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., distributing company in Detroit, are supplied with natural gas by Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA can rob you of vigor and fun!

GIRLS with pale faces and colorless personalities—tired girls who look and act half-alive—often may blame a blood condition.

It may be a blood condition that's robbing them of fun and friends—Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron. Their red blood cells may be too pale and small to transmit full energy to every body tissue. Many women—many men and children, too—go dragging their way through life with this Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor

If your energy is waning and your color is fading because of this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your usual vigor.

Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other conditions. Always consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood! Then your energy and color can come surging back! You can begin to get some fun out of life again!

Drop Dieppe Flank Attacks As Harbor Menaced

By ROSS MUNRO

Written for The Canadian Press
OTTAWA, May 5—(CP)—The new official book on the Canadian Army in the Second World War says that it appears that in the planning of the Dieppe operation two alternative were considered—frontal and flanking attacks.

The frontal attack was finally adopted, but for a while the planners went into the possibility of landing troops on both sides of Dieppe and pinching off the town. This was ruled out because it was felt these flank attacks might lead to delay that would give the enemy time to destroy the harbor.

In view of the controversy which followed the costly operation by the 2nd Canadian Division on Aug. 19, 1942, controversy which generally centred on the merits of this frontal attack considering the obvious risks involved, this adds new information on the subject.

The book, written by Col. Charles Stacey, Director of the Historical Section of the General Staff, and to be published tomorrow by National Defence Headquarters, also explains why the assault forces could not be recalled after the landing craft on the left flank were unexpectedly intercepted by German naval craft.

Waited Till April

In explaining the planning stages of the operation, the book said that it was until April 30 that the then General Sir Bernard Montgomery, Commander of Britain's Southeast Command, informed Gen. A. G. L. McNaghon, Canadian Army Commander, of the Dieppe project. The troops were to come from S.E. Command and Gen. Montgomery had recommended that Canadians in that command be chosen. Gen. H. D. G. Crear, Commanding the 1st Canadian Corps at that time, recommended the 2nd Division.

From then on Canadian officers participated in the detailed planning.

After the original raid for July 4 was cancelled due to weather, Combined Operations Headquarters decided on July 14. On July 23, the Anglo-American conference in London decided to invade North Africa, thus finally rejecting for 1942 the second front in France, which was to call for a landing of at least six divisions to establish a limited bridgehead for a full-scale campaign in 1943.

So it is clear that the revival of Dieppe was not the result of the abandonment of the six-division landing, as some had thought.

Too Late To Cancel

The book explains an often-asked question: Why was the assault not called off when the German intercepted landing craft on the left flank?

The operation order specified that if the operation was to be cancelled this had to be done before 3 a.m., the hour when the landing craft were to be lowered from the infantry landing ships which carried the troops to within 10 miles of the French coast.

It was impossible to cancel the operation when the left-flank craft ran into trouble an hour later because "no satisfactory means existed to recall a large meeting in the hall Thursday. Miss Leitha Pearson and Miss Shirley Pearson, Peterborough, spent the week-end at their home here.

Mrs. Don McEwen and daughters have returned home to Calender.

The description of the eight-hour action is detailed but is approximately the same as those written by war correspondents at the time of the raid and since.

Commenting on the conditions of evacuating the force late in the morning, the book said they "probably were without parallel in the history of warfare."

Robert J. Morton Of Cavan Dies

CAVAN, May 5—(ENS)—The death of Robert J. Morton on April 30 removed one of Cavan's highly respected citizens.

Mr. Morton, who was 75, had been in failing health for the past two years. He was a native of Manvers township and was married to Annie Rusk, also of Manvers, 45 years ago. They lived for some time in the western provinces, then moved to Millbrook and later to their farm on the seventh line of Cavan, where they have lived for 24 years. Mr. Morton was of a retiring disposition, a staunch friend and a good neighbor. The funeral, which took place from the Macpherson Funeral Home, Millbrook, on Sunday, was very largely attended. Rev. G. C. R. McQuade, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, Millbrook, had charge of the service. Burial was in the Pontypool Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife and four children: James of Peterborough, William of Springfield, Sask.; Harold, Lacombe, Alberta; Mrs. C. Wood (Hazel), Millbrook, and Earl at home. There are seven grandchildren. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Hudson (Lizzie), Manvers; Mrs. J. Hutton, New Westminster, B.C. and one brother, Jeffrey, Manvers. One brother John W. and four sisters: Mrs. J. Glenn (Hanna), Mrs. John Powell (Mary Jane), Mrs. W. Campbell (Margaret), and Mrs. J. Campbell (Sarra Ann), predeceased him.

The pall-bearers were his neighbors: Thomas Armstrong, Thomas Douglas, John D. Armstrong, Chas. Hanna, Eldrich Nelson and H. C. Argue. The many beautiful wreaths and bouquets of flowers which surrounded the casket were carried by eight flower-bearers: J. Burns, Robt. McInnis, Joe Fair, W. Powell, L. Morton, D. Morton, Wesley Morton and Ronald Argue.

Release Treasurer

WHEATON, Ill., May 5—(AP).—Albert Baileys, treasurer of a CIO local here, was questioned and released Tuesday night in connection with the slaying of William Korbek, 42, president of the local. Korbek's body was found Monday beneath a woodpile in his own basement. He had been missing since Jan. 10.

GEORGETTE GAMBIN, 22-year-old French girl (right) appeared in the Los Angeles Superior Court to demand the return of her valuable heirlooms or $20,000 damages from ex-GI Altar B. Abrams. She claimed that 26-year-old Abrams had courted her in Paris during the war. After they were engaged Abrams obtained the heirlooms from her, which included precious documents signed by Napoleon. When she arrived in the States last fall she discovered that Abrams had married 21-year-old Patricia Ray Abrams (shown with Abrams in photo at left) and had signed over the heirlooms to his parents.

Steals Trowels Abandons Tools

Somewhere of a marauding nature must be ruefully marking in his book, under "Unfinished Business," a quantity of carpenter's tools. A considerable pile of them, which had been neatly collected by the unknown would-be thief (or thieves) was found this morning piled carefully beside the road. They had been taken from three partly-constructed houses on the new Hillcrest St. project in the Weller St. West area.

Police are uncertain as to what interrupted the work. Perhaps the intention was to return later for the collection, which included a number of complete tool kits.

However, all the tool amounted to was a few trowels.

Haliburton Lake Produces Sensational Trout Catch

A catch of speckled trout bordering on the sensational was made by three Peterborough toolmakers, Lawrence Heath, Barney Heath and Clarence (Buck) Lipsett, over the weekend. The three set out on Friday night and headed for the Highlands of Haliburton. Beyond that, the three are mum; they won't name the lake nor give any indication of its location. They arrived back in the city at 1:30 Tuesday morning, bringing 90 speckled beauties at least ten being 16 inches long, and four others 17".

All three work in the CGE toolroom, and they planned their trip since last year when their luck was bad.

They fished from a boat, in bright sunlight on rough water, using small spinners and worms, and the trout bit like mad. In one morning they landed 45 trout.

It was so cold at night they huddled together for warmth and piled all the blankets they had on the one bed. In the morning the pile of water in the cabin was frozen.

The catch, while it appears large, is well within the limits set by law. Each man as a maximum is allowed 20 fish per day, the total catch to not weigh more than ten pounds. In other words they could have taken on the three days 180 fish, but they only had 90. They were entitled to a total weight of 90 pounds but the catch weighed less than 50.

"We can only afford one trip a year like this, and these trout won't be wasted," Lawrence Heath said.

Report Progress On Sewers For Two Years

Sewer construction is sometimes completed before an authorizing bylaw is passed by the council.

A bylaw Monday night gave formal assent to work on Arndon Ave., Monaghan Road and St. Catharines St. Part of that order has been filled. The Arndon subdivision job was wound up weeks ago, and City Engineer Chalmers' men are now laying pipe on Monaghan Road north of the CPR.

He gave the council a report of progress with works authorized since April 29, 1946, as follows:

Montgomery St., Morrow St., Lansdowne St., Sherburne St., Haggart St. Construction now about 90 per cent complete, connections being put in.

All streets between Braidwood Ave. and Wilson Ave. from Lock St. to Park St. This area was completed in 1946.

Bolivar St. from Monaghan Rd. to Albertus St. Completed in 1945. Sherbrooke, Grandview, Kenneth Area. Construction has been provided for in contract with R. A. Blyth.

Streets in area Lundy's Lane to Frank St. including Monaghan Rd. and High St. City forces now working in this area.

Brioux Ave. completed in 1946. Edison Ave. Main sewer completed recently. Connections now being completed.

Weller St. from Gordon Ave. westerly. Provided for in contract with R. A. Blyth.

The above bylaw covered a large portion of the then newly annexed territory and this work can be completed during 1948, if further priority work does not hold it up.

Progress with sewer work approved in other bylaws is also reviewed by Mr. Chalmers. In the following statement the dates of the bylaws are shown on the right hand side:

Sept. 6, 1946—Duffus St. extension, completed 1945.

Sept. 30, 1946—Parkhill Rd. extension, completed 1946.

Oct. 4, 1946—Braidwood Ave., Park St. to Monaghan Rd., completed 1947.

Dec. 2, 1946—Dublin St. extension, completed 1946.

Jan. 6, 1947—Rubidge and Wolsely St. extension, completed 1947.

May 10, 1947—Dutton Subdivision, in contract with R. A. Blyth.

Oct. 6, 1947—McKellar St. east of Park St., completed 1947.

Oct. 6, 1947—Beverly and Caddy extension, provided for in extension of contract with R. A. Blyth.

May 3, 1948—Arndon subdivision, completed 1947.

Feb. 2, 1948—Brookdale Subdivision, in contract with R. A. Blyth, partially completed.

Not yet passed — Engleburn Place.

Not yet passed—Manorhill Subdivision, provided for in extension of contract with R. A. Blyth.

In addition to the above sewer program the following new house connections were constructed at various points in the city: 1946, 82; 1947, 88.

Petitions have been received for sewers on Wolsely Street and Montrose Ave. on which no action has been taken. Recently petitions have been received for sewer extensions on Rogers Street and Frank Street, for which reports are requested.

Youth Gets 6 Months Had Stolen Bicycle

Carl Northey, 20, of 567, Murray St., was sentenced to six months in reformatory today on a charge of receiving stolen goods. The youth, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced by Magistrate W. R. Philip, who made the sentence six months definite and two months indefinite.

Evidence given by Detective William Clarke was that the police had been notified by Roy Armstrong that he had found a bicycle belonging to him in a boy's possession. The boy's father told police that he had bought it and gave Northey's description as the seller. He later identified the accused, Det. Clarke said.

Car, Truck Collide

Extensive damage to a car and minor damage to a truck was caused about nine o'clock this morning when they collided on George St. in front of Canada Packers. The car, owned by C. Campbell, 485 Bolivar St., was badly smashed at the front, with damage estimated at close to $200. The truck, driven by Ken Robson, 426 London St., received minor damage to the rear light and brakes.

Business Rents Soaring; Many Vacancies

Removal of the ceilings on business rents has brought several changes in the downtown section of the city, and today there were more vacant premises than have been seen in years.

Along Charlotte and George streets the changes were most noticeable.

On the east side of George between Hunter and Brock, three establishments were affected. Robertson's barber shop went out of business. The Civic Arena committee which was using a small store just north of the barber shop had to move too. They are now in the store opposite the town clock and formerly occupied by the Old Cigar Stores. Archie Campbell who has had a barber shop on George street for almost 40 years closed his shop and moved in with Milt Fowler on Hunter street.

Along the north side of Charlotte St. between George and Aymer there are three vacant stores already and more are to be vacated in a few days.

Ferguson's Cleaners have moved to the south side of the street taking over the old Whiteway Hamburger building. Novelty Shoe Repair is moving from Charlotte near George to the store formerly tenanted by Ferguson Cleaners. Sunrise Bakery is slated to move west into what was formerly a Chinese laundry, and the store is due for a complete renovation before the change takes place. Jordan's Florist Shop is closed, and it is understood this business will be discontinued. C. R. Hall's barber shop is out of business, and Stinson's taxi which occupied part of the office has moved to Aymer St.

Still another change has taken place at the north-east corner of George and Brock streets. Here Bert Watson has sold his china shop and electrical appliance store to James O. Blackwood of Peterborough and Edward Freeburn of Young's Point.

April's Permits Total $432,683

April building permits amounted to $432,683, about $20,000 more than a year ago.

The total for four months was $605,395 compared with $510,745 in 1947. It is likely that this year's building figures will trail those of last year through the entire twelve months. Peterborough's activities in 1947 were something of a record, not likely to be exceeded this season.

Permits for 12 houses were issued last month from the office of E. A. Chalmers, city engineer. Their value was estimated at $112,000. In April last year, however, there were 32 dwellings for $150,500.

April details were: 13 garages $4,750; 20 houses $112,000; 100 miscellaneous $315,933. Total, 133 permits for $432,683. Four months $605,395.

Last year's April: 6 garages $3,500; 32 houses $150,500; 90 miscellaneous $280,848; total 128 permits $414,848. For months $810,745.

$9,000 Collected For Project To Start May 15

Building plans were approved and a contract let at a special meeting on Tuesday of the Peterborough Civic Arena committee. Hugh Wilson, of Cannington, the contractor, and Edward Chalmers, the city engineer, were present at the meeting held at the council chambers.

Ald. Hurrell Dodds, chairman of the future building of the Memorial Centre had been taken into account and it has been therefore decided to have a rink with an ice surface of 70 x 170 feet. The financial statement showed the committee already had $5,200 in cash, $3,000 in pledges and $800 in cheques, with an average contribution of $29 per donor.

Dick Oulmet reported that canvassers are being asked by 80 per cent of people approached to call back when the project has started.

Charles Kingan, chairman of the business men's committee, also reported that there would be a considerable amount of money to collect once building had started.

Members of the Civic Arena committee present were Dick Oulmet, who presided, Mrs. Edith Addyman, Mrs. Frank Lundy, Ald. Dodds, Charles Kingan, Stanley McBride, Harley Weir, Wm. Bennett, Percy Killingbeck and Ray Pammet.

VETERANS' HOME

Tag day in aid of the Old Veterans' Home will be held on Saturday, the third anniversary of VE-Day. It is expected that the Peterborough Pipe Band, and if possible the PCVS Concert Band, will parade through the streets.

SHIRTS!

World News In Brief

Taken from Wires of Canadian Press

SAULT STE. MARIE—Wesley W. Hill, former Sault alderman and now a general foreman at the Algoma Steel Corporation, will be the candidate in the provincial elections for the Progressive Conservative Association, Sault Ste. Marie riding.

FORT WILLIAM—A 24-year-old war veteran, Frank Landmesser, was killed instantly Tuesday when his head was crushed between the box and frame of his dump truck. His body was exhumed by neighbors summoned by his helper, James Olson.

MONTREAL—A detachment of the Royal Canadian Engineers of Montreal will fly to Angliers, Que., May 22 to erect a Bailey bridge—the type used in wartime assault operations—for the Power Corporation of Canada, the army announced today. Angliers is about 25 miles east of New Lis-kear, Ont., and 40 south of Rouyn, Que.

LONDON—A non-party campaign for an "empire policy" was launched Tuesday night by the Empire Industries Association and the British Empire League.

L. S. Amery, former secretary for India, as president, called for reversal of the present British policy which he called one of exports for the sake of exports. Instead, Britain needed an empire policy "not for one year or two but for a century ahead."

Russia's Share

WASHINGTON—Russia got $35,013,000 worth of metal working machine tools and machinery from the United States in 1947. This was 11.8 per cent of all American exports of such tools and machinery.

BERLIN—Five United States soldiers were arrested by Russian guards in Berlin Sunday. Three soldiers were arrested and held for 36 hours after one of them had fired a shot from an army pistol. Military police said the soldiers were drunk when they entered the Soviet sector and explained when they were returned to American territory that they had been celebrating May Day.

WASHINGTON—The Economic Co-operation Administration reported Canada and Newfoundland will ship 148,000 tons of newsprint to Britain during the year starting July 1.

RUSHVILLE, Ind.—Philip Wilkie, son of the late Wendell L. Wilkie, won a smashing victory in his first political test. He was nominated in a primary election as the Republican candidate for the Indiana House of Representatives.

TORONTO—The Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) asked for government prosecution of Northwest Steamship Lines for what the union called a violation of the Canada Shipping Act. A telegram sent to Transport Minister Chevrier by T. G. McManus, CSU national secretary, said the company's freighter Superior sailed on May 1, 1948, with 100 crew members and two unlicensed seamen, contrary to the Act, after the rest of the crew walked off.

TORONTO—Edward Maetone, a 27-year-old suburban York township taxi driver returned home after being listed as missing since 1.30 p.m. Monday. Police had been asked to search for him.

OTTAWA—Highways traffic at points in March continued to show a decrease in volume, but a decrease in Canadian-United States border crossings in March. 319,100 were foreign entries and 129,700 Canadian vehicles returning.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Senator Glen Taylor (Dem.-Idaho) was convicted of disorderly conduct, but the case abruptly muhroomed into a question of civil rights violations. Judge Oliver Hall gave Taylor a tongue lashing, introducing the racial issue into the case, and then fined Taylor $50 and costs and sentenced him to 180 days in the city jail. The jail sentence was suspended and Taylor placed on probation for six months.

Uncover Plot

ASUNCION, Paraguay—Mario Ferrario, Acting Foreign Minister of Paraguay, said a plot to assassinate high Paraguayan officials and army chiefs had been stamped out recently. Ferrario said Argentine border police had detained about 100 plotters found on Argentine soil.

GLASGOW—Establishment of an Air Ambulance service for Scotland covering all areas served by scheduled flights, as well as more remote districts, was announced. Two aircraft have been assigned to the work and landing strips and airfields are being surveyed on outlying islands.

KINGSTON—Kingston's wedding present to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will be a shipment of canned goods for the people of Britain. Cheese export arrangements make it impossible to send the gift of cheddar cheese originally planned.

COOKSVILLE—Insufficient sleep for five days before an automobile crash was largely responsible for the death of 17-year-old Fred Savery, an inept jury decided. A taxicab Savery had been driving struck a tree near this community just west of Toronto.

PICTON—With all taxes paid up to date, Southiasburgh Township officials believe something of a record has been established. Credit goes to Anson Shortt, the township tax collector for the last eight years.

BUDAPEST—Parliament accepted a bill enabling the Government to deprive Hungarians staying abroad of their citizenship. Under the law, the Government may recall any Hungarian living abroad. Persons in Europe are allowed 30 days to return and those overseas 60 days. Those refusing to return, their wives and minor children will be stripped of citizenship, and their property will be confiscated.

OTTAWA—Cmdr. A. H. G. Storrs, 41, DSO, and bar, has been appointed director of naval plans

DERAILED BOXCAR—More than 300 yards downstream from the point at which it tumbled into the Sturgeon river 40 miles from North Bay, this boxcar is being checked by CNR officials from a boat. The car is one of the 17 that plunged into the river in an accident and floated a short distance. Some of the 17 floated at least a mile and have not been found. The carried fruit and meat.

and operations. Cmdr. Storrs has been deputy director of naval plans at headquarters since April, 1946. He is a native of Overton, England.

TORONTO—Four persons charged following a fatal police ambush at a florist's shop in March were remanded again until June 8. Norman Bailey made his first court appearance since the ambush, in which William Poole, 27, was shot and killed by police. Bailey was wounded in the right side and Albert Smith lost an arm from wounds. Smith is still in hospital.

NUERNBERG—Hitler's dentist said he is sure the Russians have Der Fuehrer's jaw. "I read in a German dentistry magazine that my former assistant, Katharine Huesemann, in Russian custody, identified the remains of a human jaw as Hitler's," Prof. Hugo Flaschke said in an interview.

TIMMINS—A new mine rescue centre is to be erected in the Timmins area by the Ontario Department of Mines. A site is under consideration at Schumacher. The present rescue station is in Timmins.

Find Marijuana—Fifty pounds of marijuana, largest amount ever seized at one time in New York, were taken Tuesday in a police raid on the apartment of Boyd Terrell, 21. The marijuana, in bulk form in three suitcases, was valued by police at $20,000, but they said it would be worth $500,000 in cigarette form.

WASHINGTON—The original manuscript of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" will be returned to England by Baron Interchapel when he retires as British Ambassador in a few weeks. Dr. Luther H. Evans, librarian of Congress, said he will give the manuscript, along with the author's own drawings, as a gift from the United States to the British people.

PROTECTION—Children are protected against electric shock by this new plastic wall outlet which requires a quarter-turn of the dial cap before contact with terminals. The closed-face receptacle screens out metal objects in youngsters' hands as well as dust and water. The terminal cover springs back into the safety position when the cord plug is removed. This new-type electrical device, manufactured in Montreal, is achieving wide acceptance throughout Canada. In the past, there have been cases of electrocution resulting when metal slide fasteners touched "hot" wires.

NEW YORK—The wedding of movie actress Arline Judge and George Ross, Jr., scheduled for Sunday, has been postponed indefinitely. Ross confirmed that the wedding was off indefinitely but said "there isn't any trouble" between him and the off-married actress. Neither would comment on the reason.

INDIAN HEAD, Sask.—Canada's largest reforestation plan of its kind is under way at the Indian Head and Sutherland, Sask. Dominion Department of Agriculture forest nursery stations. Officials announced today that approximately 6,250,000 seedlings will be shipped to roughly 6,000 prairie farmers for windbreak and other purposes.

ROME—Communist Chief Palmiro Togliatti said the intervention of Roman Catholic action in the recent Italian elections was the main cause of the Communist defeat. Togliatti listed three most important factors. After Catholic action they were: the emergence of the Socialist Unity Party (Moderate Socialists) who won third place in the elections, and the loss of more than 1,000,000 left-wing votes when compared with election returns of June, 1946.

Mrs. J. V. Turcotte Funeral Wednesday

Requiem mass for the late Mrs. Mary Harrington, 75, of Lot 8, Concession 14, Ennismore Township, was said by Rev. V. J. Gillogly of St. Martin's Church, on Friday. Pall-bearers were James, Edward, Thomas and John Harrington, Patrick Murray and Joseph McGuire. Burial was at St. Martin's Cemetery.

Mrs. Harrington died Tuesday at her residence after a lingering illness. She was born in Douro Township, daughter of the late Michael Leahy and Johanna Allen, and had lived in the district for the past 54 years. She was a very active and devout member of St. Martin's parish and of its Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society.

Cheese Factories Surplus In 1948

TORONTO, May 5.—If there isn't enough cheese on tables in Great Britain this year, it won't be the fault of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board. At a meeting here Tuesday the board decided to put forth every effort to make certain Canada's commitment of 50,000,000 pounds of cheese is fulfilled.

Executive of the marketing board noted that the British cheese ration had been cut by 25 per cent. Members, however, took stock of favorable weather conditions, the Ontario Crop Improvement Association's plan for a 200,000,000 bushel grain crop in the province, and decided things might be improved. At Tuesday's meeting they decided to make certain the quota was filled and offer a surplus if at all possible.

Grain is an important factor in cheese production, and the board noted that increased acreages were the order of the day throughout most of Ontario this spring. Members weren't particularly concerned about markets, since there is every indication there will be a good market for their product, but they hope the province's 23,000 cheese producers will turn out a bumper crop during 1948. Last year, Ontario's cheese men marketed some 41,000 tons of cheese.

Simplified System
Factories came in for consideration at the meeting, too, and much of the session was devoted to planning a simplified and uniform bookkeeping system. The scheme, which will make income tax filing simpler for factory operators, offers a simple statement and balance sheet, showing profit and loss and taking into consideration such items as depreciation and improvements—important factors in determining income tax.

The system, which board members said would eliminate much of the present confusion, will be offered to Ontario's 500 factories this year, after it has been considered by the executive. A committee will draft the system, place it before the executive of the cheese producers' association, then await a decision.

During the day-long session reorganization of co-operative farmer-owned factories was discussed with A. C. Savage and Leonard Mitchell of the Ontario Co-operative Union. A report will be presented to the executive of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

It was noted, too, that a careful investigation is being made on issuing of licenses to buyers. Today the meeting is continuing with officers of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association Ltd. in session.

Yugoslavia Has Welcome Mat For Returning Refugee Flood

BELGRADE, May 5.—(Reuters)—Yugoslavia is preparing for a flood of returning emigres this year with the largest group expected from Canada.

More than 10,000 former residents of the country are officially stated to have applied for repatriation during 1948, many from countries of the British Commonwealth. Last year a large group came back from Canada.

Exact figures are not yet available but authorities here said they hope to be able to repatriate about 4,000 of the applicants.

Last year's over-all figures totalled some 7,000 with more than 1,000 from Canada. Others returned from France, Belgium and the western German province of Westphalia.

2 Transports Arrive

So far this year, two major emigres transports have arrived from the British Commonwealth, the first from Australia and the second from New Zealand.

Most of the returning emigres are skilled workers, and many of them come back with tools and machinery. Officials instructions are that "care is to be taken that skilled emigres be given employment at the construction sites where their own machinery is used."

All diplomas, university and school certificates are to be recognized here as though they had been obtained in Yugoslavia, even if the returning emigre or his children do not know the Yugoslav language as is often the case.

Many of the emigres, especially miners and machinists, have been proclaimed "shock-workers," the local equivalent of the Russian Stakhanovite. A few of those mentioned include Luka Shall-novic, a machinist in the motor works at Rakovice, and Petar Dimitrijevic, a miner, both from Canada.

Journey's End

It has seen the inside of a good many thousand dollars' worth of equipment. From the moment when it was poured from the milk can at the dairy, it has flowed—protected and unseen—through stainless steel pipes and gleaming pasteurizers. It has been guarded with clinical hygiene, tested and re-tested, finally being sealed in sterilized bottles and delivered to your home.

When it reaches you that quart of milk has come a long way. It has taken a lot of organization, planning and capital resources, to deliver it, pure and safe to your home.

ONTARIO MILK DISTRIBUTORS ASSOCIATION

In Cooperation with Your Dairy

Out of every dollar you pay for milk about 60 cents is passed on to the farmer and the cost of labour absorbs about 20 cents. From the remainder the dairy has to meet all the charges connected with processing, bottling, delivery, the upkeep of plant and buildings, taxes, administration, heat, light and power. The profit in milk distribution these days is almost negligible, the dairies are working to the finest of margins.

Cole Approves Power Project

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—Representative W. S. Cole (Rep.-N.Y.), an unrelenting foe of the St. Lawrence seaway project, said today he is all for Governor Dewey's proposal that New York join the province of Ontario in harnessing the river's power.

"The governor's plan is most commendable," Cole said in an interview. "Personally, I have only one criticism: I'd like to see New York take over the entire project."

"A full loaf is better than a half—and it is certainly absolutely necessary for New York state to obtain every bit of electrical energy it can lay its hands on."

Dewey moved last week that the state and the province join hands in developing the river's hydro potential. He estimated the cost at $322,000,000, of which New York's share would be $161,000,000.

The governor's proposal stemmed from the U.S. Senate's refusal to approve legislation which would have authorized construction of the entire St. Lawrence seaway project.

Six Sons Pall-bearers For Late Mrs. F. Berry

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Annie Elizabeth Berry, 75, of 11 Moir St., was held Monday from the Comstock Funeral Home. The Rev. C. S. Reddick of Springfield United Church officiated and pall bearers, six sons, were Albert, Howard, Elbridge, Robert, Ralph and Harold. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Berry died Saturday at her residence after a sudden illness. She was born in England, Annie Elizabeth, daughter of the late John and Frances Henderson and before moving to Peterborough 11 years ago, lived in Viceroy, Sask.

Besides her husband, Fred, she leaves four daughters, Mrs. Alfred Knudson of Coronack, Sask., Mrs. Charles Mayall of Regina, Mrs. Martin Liebrand of Cobey, Montana, and Mrs. Ernest Bullock of Danville, Man. There are six sons, Albert of Woodville, Mass., Ralph, Howard, Harold and Robert, all of Peterborough, and Elbridge of Manila. There are also 26 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

RESTORED SIGHT—Eight-year-old Roger Guerin, of Valleyfield, Que., is going home soon with his eyesight completely restored because a Montreal eye surgeon, Dr. Jean Audet-Lapointe had the courage to put his theories on blindness into practice. Roger was brought to the hospital in Montreal when it was feared he might become totally blind. That was seven months ago. By transplanting the cornea from the eye of a child who had died a few hours earlier to Roger's blind eye, Dr. Lapointe restored complete sight to the youngster. Doctors in Montreal said they believed it was the first time in Canada that such a surgical feat had been accomplished successfully. Roger is shown above, with Dr. Jean Audet-Lapointe, right, and Nurse M. Cyr of the St. Justine Hospital in Montreal.

House External Affairs Debate Ends On A Militaristic Note

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, May 5—(CP).—The faltering foreign affairs debate petered out in the Commons last night on a militaristic note. As the four-day debate ended, two Progressive Conservative members urged that Canada arm as a means of making sure her voice is heard in the councils of the United Nations and ensuring that peace supplant these troubled times.

W. Garfield Case (PC—Grey North) suggested the Dominion build a "sizeable and substantial" air force to back up Canada's obligations and commitments under the UN charter.

"Guard our country," he warned the Chamber. "That is the first law of survival."

Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary West), a lieutenant-colonel overseas during the war, said Canada will have to increase her military forces if she is to have any influence in preserving peace.

"Otherwise," he said, "our words will be merely idle boasting."

As a sidebar issue, a note of domestic discord crept into the debate with Social Credit and Progressive Conservative speakers contending Socialism and Communism are the same "destructive" force and CCF members denying the two are linked, either in fact or ideology.

Sees Wide Gap In Red Ideology, True Conditions

KINGSTON, May 5—(CP).—Kingston Kiwanis Club members and those from many cities and towns on both sides of the border celebrated Canada-United States goodwill week Tuesday night at a hotel banquet. Approximately 500 members and their ladies attended.

Arnold Smith, former secretary to the Canadian embassy at Moscow and now instructor at the National Defence College here, gave his views on "the international community." He showed the wide gap which exists between Communist ideology and Soviet reality.

He formerly served in diplomatic posts in the Balkans and Near East as well as editing an Estonian newspaper and teaching in Tartu university.

Ordinary Russians, like the rest of the world, wanted to be left alone to settle their own problems, Mr. Smith said, but the Communist regime meant "ruthless denial" of all contacts with the international community.

Russian inequality was considerably greater than on this continent, he added. A small factory operator's salary in Russia was 12 times that of employees and the boss of a large factory received 24 times the wages of ordinary workers.

New Labor Code Under Fire From 2 Groups

OTTAWA, May 5 (CP).—Criticism of many features of the government's proposed labor code was under consideration today by members of the Commons Industrial Relations Committee.

The 40-man committee, whipping the code into shape for third reading, had on record objections from some of its own members, from the Canadian Congress of Labor and from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Meanwhile, it was moving along with consideration of the bill and at Tuesday's adjournment had dealt with about one-third of the bulky measure. The committee meets again tomorrow.

The 500,000-member C.C.L., in a brief submitted Tuesday, criticized the code chiefly on the ground that it does not cover enough ground. It asked that the Dominion amend the British North America Act to assume jurisdiction over labor relations in all Canadian industry.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association brief was largely aimed against strikers. The C.M.A. suggested:

No strikes except when authorized by a majority vote of the employees concerned; no secondary boycotts—refusal of employees of one plant to handle materials from another plant engaged in a dispute; no mass picketing or intimidation by picketers; a ban on the "slowdown" form of tie-up.

The C.M.A. also would have a union help responsible for a strike of its members, whether or not such a strike was shown to have been called by the union.

CCF Executive Refuses To Back Carlin

TORONTO, May 5 (CP).—The Provincial Executive of the Ontario CCF said Tuesday night in a statement it had decided against endorsing R. N. Carlin as CCF candidate in Sudbury in the Ontario election June 7 because "he has chosen to associate himself with persons who consistently follow the Communist Party line."

Mr. Carlin, Canadian director of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (IUMMSW) was first elected on a CCF ticket in 1943. He was re-elected in the 1945 election.

"The CCF cannot accept as its representatives those who, while avowing their loyalty to democracy, are willing to appease or compromise with the ruthless forces of Communism," the executive said. "Mr. Carlin is therefore no longer a suitable CCF candidate."

"There is no suggestion that Mr. Carlin is a Communist, but his close connection with a leading group in the International Union has led him to take publicly a position on certain political issues which is incompatible with his position as a CCF representative."

Further, what he conceives to be his loyalty to policies of the same pro-Communist group in the labor field has brought him into conflict with the declared policy of the CCF to have nothing to do with Communists or Communist policies.

The party riding association, meeting at Sudbury during the week-end, decided it would not endorse Mr. Carlin as its candidate.

Mr. Carlin said in an interview earlier Tuesday he had been advised the CCF would not endorse him as a candidate in the June election. He said he was not a Communist and held membership in no party other than the CCF.

He said one of the reasons for the party decision was his alleged association, through his union, with members of the Labor-Progressive Party. He added:

"Neither my conscience nor the constitution of the union will permit me to discriminate against anyone because of their racial, religious or political beliefs."

Rev. C. A. Nicoll New Moderator

WATERLOO, May 5 (CP).—Chaplain with the Canadian army in both the First and Second World Wars, Col. the Rev. C. A. Nicoll of Knox church, Oakville, was elected moderator at the 74th meeting of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston of the Presbyterian Church in Canada Tuesday night.

The two-day Synod, sitting at Knox Presbyterian church here, elected Mr. Nicoll from a field of two candidates. He took over office Tuesday night, succeeding past moderator Rev. John R. Greig of Collingwood.

The other candidate before the floor of the Synod was Rev. W. L. Dettlor of Parry Sound, nominated by the presbytery of Alogma and North Bay.

Rev. R. C. McDermid, of Uxbridge, nominated by the presbytery of Lindsay, and Rev. A. C. Cockrane, of Port Credit, nominated by the presbytery of Saugeen, withdrew their names.

In the Second World War, Mr. Nicoll was chaplain of the 48th Highlanders for three years. He then was given senior appointments in M.D. No. 1, and in the Pacific Command. Promoted to Colonel he was retired after six years' service.

New Brunswick Election in June

FREDERICTON, May 5 (CP).—Premier John B. McNair, the 58-year-old lawyer who heads New Brunswick's Liberal government, will lead it into his third general election some time this summer—probably in June.

Although an election had been freely predicted, the announcement came as a surprise when the premier made it as he rose to give a two-hour statement during consideration of estimates.

His announcement of the election—to be held at date to be decided at a cabinet meeting—came just before the fourth session of the 40th legislature prorogued early today after a nine-weeks session.

The Liberal government, elected in August, 1944, now holds 36 of the 48 seats. The Progressive Conservative opposition led by Hugh Mackay holds 11. One seat is held by an Independent.

National Coal Board Wins Contract Suit

PONTARDAWE, Wales, May 5 (CP).—The National coal board which operates Britain's nationalized mines was successful in a breach of contract suit against nine coal-miners, representing 1,400 men who went on strike last February.

The men walked out because one of three mines in which they worked was to be closed, and its workers gradually absorbed in the other two. They objected to new terms of employment.

The NCB was awarded damages totalling £49 6s 10d. (About $500) against the nine men.

OTTAWA, May 5 (CP).—A high Resources Department official Tuesday night verified that the government has under consideration the granting of more than a $1,000,000 to the International Refugee Organization. Commenting on a statement by William Hallam Tuck, executive secretary of the IRO at Geneva that Canada plans to accept 1,000 European families from displaced persons camps, the official said this also was under consideration.

Car Borrowed, Wrecked Owner Seeks Damages

Judgment was reserved on a suit for damages amounting to $2,612.94 plus costs which was heard on Tuesday with Darling Ladies' Wear, plaintiff, and William J. Hickey, Charlotte street service depot operator, defendant. The Hon. Mr. Justice Genest was presiding at the last case in the Spring sittings of the Supreme Court, Non-Jury.

Charles Libman, proprietor of Darling Ladies' Wear, said he took his car into Hickey's service station on July 1, 1947, and that it was taken from the garage without his permission, and later wrecked at Clonsilla and Third Avenue.

PC Malcolm Bassett said he arrived at the scene of the accident shortly after 6.30 a.m. on August 3. There were six occupants of the car, none of whom he believed was over 27 years of age. He was informed that Vincent Dainard, an employee of Hickey's, was the driver, but he could not question Dainard because he was unconscious at the time.

Mr. Libman said he took his 1947 Hudson sedan into the garage to have some work done on it. On Friday evening he said it went down for the car and got there just as the garage was closing for the day. He claimed that he asked for the vehicle, and Hickey pointed a finger at the locked garage and told him it was in there and he could have it if he wished. But he added that it was better to leave it there for the night because the car had been newly simonized and it looked like rain.

Mr. Libman said he agreed, and walked away.

When called in his own defence Mr. Hickey gave a different version of the conversation on Friday evening. He said when Mr. Libman came around to the garage the plaintiff looked at the sky and asked if he might leave it there overnight. The defendant said he agreed.

All doors of the building which might give an unauthorized person access to the car were locked, he said. And he stated further that to his knowledge Dainard had no key and all employees had been warned not to move customers' cars without his permission. He said he was unaware of any business work being done at night although a former employee was allowed to do some service work on his car after hours.

Vincent Dainard, 24-year-old former employee and driver of the wrecked car, said he went back after supper to work on some trucks that had to be cleaned. He

Steel Shortage Slows Chrysler

DETROIT, May 5 — (AP). — With 75,000 Chrysler Corporation production workers completing plans for a May 12 strike, the big automobile firm ran into more trouble today. A steel shortage affected its assembly lines.

It announced that about 10,000 workers in its Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler plants will be laid off for four days, effective Friday. Some 2,500 Plymouth division workers were laid off Monday because of the steel situation.

The company said all its regular production lines will be reopened May 11. In the meantime, machine operations in all plants will "continue as long as possible" and the Dodge truck plant will not be affected.

The Chrysler layoffs came as 125,000 General Motors Corporation workers were getting back on their jobs after a one-week layoff caused by the steel shortage.

$1,000 Tax Evasion Fine Made $15,000 On Appeal

TORONTO, May 5 — (CP). — A $1,000 fine was increased to $15,000 Tuesday when judgment was handed down on a crown appeal against the sentence imposed on Amedeo Frank Valente of Windsor for evading payment of $7,000 sales and excise tax.

Valente pleaded guilty before Magistrate A. W. MacMillan, in Windsor. He said he altered and mutilated account books for his firm, Valente Beverages, to evade payment of the tax from June 1, 1944 to Feb. 28, 1947.

Magistrate MacMillan, giving judgment last Jan. 9, said that under the law the penalty ranged from $100 to a maximum of $1,000. He imposed the maximum. But the act also called for a further penalty equal to double the amount of the taxes evaded. Since the taxes owing had been paid Sept. 1, 1947, the magistrate said he did not feel compelled to impose the additional and heavier penalty and a stated case to decide whether the double penalty should be imposed was submitted to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, in a written judgment Tuesday, ruled that the double penalty was imperative under the Act and extended the three-month term for non-payment, imposed by the magistrate, to a maximum of 12 months.

said he left after completing the job and had a few beers.

Mr. Dainard said he later returned to the garage but was unable to say why he took out Libman's car and drove off. For the rest of the night he rode around in the car going to Chemong, back to Peterborough, and after picking up a number of youthful passengers, to Norwood and Campbellford.

After attending a dance he said he drove back into the city and was unable to remember any details from the time of the crash until he woke up in a hospital bed later.

Norman Moffat, another employee of Hickey's said he had given Dainard a key to the east building of the service station. A key to the west building which contained the car, was inside. He said that he knew Dainard occasionally went back to work at nights because they were short-staffed at that time.

T. J. Carley, K.C., representing the defendant, and A. S. Patillo, for the plaintiff argued at length over the responsibility of an employer for the employees actions when the property of a customer was involved.

Justice Genest decided to reserve judgment.

Track Dispute Almost Settled

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP). — One problem remained unsolved today in a railway dispute over use of 6½ miles of track between Port Colborne and Welland Junction.

The rest of the issues between Canadian National Railways and the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway Company were settled Tuesday night at a meeting of the Senate transport committee.

The dispute arose early this year as the companies sought to renew an agreement for T. H. and B. running rights on the CNR owned track.

The one matter on which company counsel still have not reached final agreement is the minimum amount the T. H. and B. will pay the CNR on the basis of wheelage (traffic volume). Since 1926 it has been 30 per cent. The CNR rejected a T. H. and B. proposal to cut it to 20 per cent.

But at the suggestion of Senator Salter Hayden (L—Ontario), counsel for both railroads indicated 25 per cent would probably be acceptable. If they reach final agreement, there will be no need of a Senate bill. The pact would be approved by order-in-council.

The problem was referred to parliament because the companies could not agree on terms for a 21-year extension of the agreement.

Premier King Favors National Theatre Plan

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King said Tuesday in the Commons he has always been in favor of a national theatre.

He was replying to Harry White (PC—Middlesex East), who drew attention to the honors won by London, Ont., during the recent Dominion drama festival.

Mr. White asked if the Prime Minister would support establishment of a national library and a national theatre.

Oliver Sure Liberals In Power On June 7

MOUNT BRYDGES, May 5 — (CP). — Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, predicted in an address Tuesday night that the Liberals will be in power in Ontario after June 7.

He spoke at a Middlesex South nominating convention which chose Neil P. McGuggan, Caradoc township farmer and last year's warden of Middlesex, as Liberal candidate in the Ontario election. The seat was held in the last House by Harry M. Allen, Progressive Conservative.

"The way people are talking in Ontario today compels me to predict the Liberals will be in power after June 7," said Mr. Oliver. "The old feeling of confidence the party had back in 1943 is in evidence today and Liberalism is on the upswing in Ontario."

Clerk May Retire

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP). — Renewed reports were heard Tuesday in parliamentary corridors that Dr. Arthur Beauchamp, veteran clerk of the Commons, will retire this year. He will be 72 next month.

Joyce Weir Pimmatt Weds John W. Millar at Keene.

Spring flowers and fern formed a pretty setting in Keene United Church, Saturday, for the wedding of Joyce Weir Pimmatt to John Wesley Miller. The marriage, performed by the Rev. George Murray, of Keene, united the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville H. Pimmatt, Indian River, and the eldest son of Mrs. Arthur H. Miller of Keene and the late Mr. Miller.

Even in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin. It was fashioned with a long train which fell from a bustle effect on the full skirt and the moulded bodice had a round neckline and short sleeves. She wore white lace gloves and a full length veil of silk net caught to her head with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of pink roses and sweet peas forming a cascade. The bride's dress was Miss Louise Jackson of Otonabee, frocked in powder blue nylon and wearing lace gloves and a shoulder length veil of silk net in contrasting pink.

Her flowers were a cascade of pink roses. The groom's niece, Dora Edwards, also of Otonabee, was her flower girl. She wore a dress of pink taffeta with a bluish sash caught at the back in a large bow, pink mittens and a bandeau of blue flowers in her hair. She carried a colonial bouquet of sweet peas and white roses. The groom was attended by Mr. Keith Pimmatt, brother of the bride. Mr. William Miller, brother of the groom, and Mr. Rendal Whalen, cousin of the bride, ushered.

Before the ceremony Mrs. S. Mitchell sang "I love you truly" and during the signing of the register "I'll walk beside you." The organist was Mr. Dave Potter.

The reception afterward was held at Club Aragon where Mrs. Pimmatt and Mrs. Miller received with the bridal party. The former wore powder blue broadcloth sate crepe with white accessories and the latter was attired in a black crepe suit with matching accessories and wore a grey squirrel necklace. Each wore a corsage of roses.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Mrs. Miller chose a brown tailored suit with brown accessories. The couple will make their home on the groom's farm near Keene.

Regional Group Re-elects Two City Teachers

Federation of Women Teachers of region 4 held its annual assembly at Ottawa on Saturday, May 1. Reports on legislation, status, policy, superannuation, public aid, social benefits were presented and discussed.

At an enjoyable luncheon, presided over by Miss Lillian Tate, president of the Ottawa Women Teachers' Federation, delegates had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Gladys Strum, M. P. for Qu'Appelle, Sask. At this meeting Miss Margaret Greene of Peterborough was re-elected to the board of directors, and Miss Esther Deyell, also of Peterborough, was re-elected regional convener of the superannuation committee. Representatives of Peterborough County women teachers who attended were: Misses Lillian Bowie and Phyllis Davidson. Those attending from Peterborough City were Misses M. Faulkner, M. Mutton, E. Deyell, M. Greene, C. Doughty and M. Stenton.

Mission Circles Unite Under Miss M. Eastwood

Senior Women's Mission Circle of Murray St. Baptist Church and the Mary Nicholls Mission Circle were united under the name of Mary Nicholls Women's Mission Circle at a meeting in the church parlors Tuesday evening. Miss Margaret Eastwood was chosen as president, with Mrs. H. H. Graham and Mrs. B. W. Harvey as first and second vice-presidents.

Other officers of the new group are: Recording secretary, Mrs. P. Johnson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. H. Gould; treasurer, Mrs. W. Kidd; link and visitor agent, Mrs. N. Barrie; reading course agent, Mrs. F. Ephgrave; press secretary, Mrs. H. Wells. Committee members: Program, Miss Wilma Campbell; visiting and membership, Mrs. G. R. Scott; social, Mrs. A. Smedmor; telephone, Mrs. H. Seilon; practical work, Mrs. W. Cocks; Mrs. S. Currie; pianist, Mrs. L. H. Gould; assistant pianist, Mrs. H. Wells.

The Rev. Ivan Morgan conducted the installation of officers and dedication of the new organization.

Annual reports were presented, with Mrs. H. H. Graham presiding for the Senior Circle and Miss Margaret Eastwood for the Mary Nicholls Circle. Allotments were reached by both circles with a total sum of $1,080.36.

Warren-Girven Two-Ring Nuptials

A pretty double-ring wedding ceremony took place in Park St. Baptist church last week when Margaret Jane Girven, daughter of Mr. Jas. Herbert Girven of Saskatchewan, and Wm. Arthur Warren, son of Mr. Wm. A. Warren of Winnipeg exchanged rings and vows. The Rev. E. J. Whan officiated. The altar was decorated with ferns and a lovely bouquet of flowers and sweet peas, and wedding music was played by Mr. Adam Hawley.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Gordon Girven, wearing a gown of white satin with lace. Her veil of white net was caught to a sweetheart headpiece and fell in a long train, and she carried red roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Milton Kidd, bridesmaid, wore a frock of blue net with white accessories and carried pink roses with sweet peas.

Mr. Herbert Hendy was groomsmen and ushers were Almond Melbourne and Fred Hanft of Peterborough.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kidd, Goldsprings Corner. The wedding refreshments were served by Mrs. Ferol Hughey and Miss Beatrice Parsons.

For a trip to Toronto, Niagara conducted by Mrs. C. T. Valois who was also in charge of the candy table selling small baskets of home-made candy. A table of fancy work and knitted goods was attended by Mrs. J. Pickering, and Mrs. T. Monk was in charge of the home-cooking booth.

The central serving table was lace-covered and centred with a bouquet of tulip and snapdragon, the gift of Mrs. Elliottson. After the tea, the bouquet was sent to a lodge member, Mrs. R. Pilling who is in hospital.

Cancer Enrolment Urged by Dr. Ray

Mrs. E. Wand, president, was in the chair for the meeting of George St. United Church WA Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors. Devotional period was in charge of Mrs. E. L. Sackville's group with the leader reading the scripture selection and Mrs. R. Farnell offering prayer. Guest soloist, Mrs. Hazel McLaren, sang "I Know a Lovely Garden" and "Morning," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. Dolg.

Dr. Eldon Ray of PCVS staff attended the meeting in interest of the cancer survey now going on in the city. In this connection a film entitled "The Traitor Within," was shown, using the church's new projector operated by Terry Graham. Dr. Ray spoke briefly on the matter, stating three of every eight stricken can be cured if taken in time. "This disease makes no exceptions," he said, "People of all ages die in great numbers from it every year."

He particularly urged consulting a doctor at once if any symptoms of the disease are noticed. A local branch of the Cancer Society was organized a year ago and efforts are being made to get every family enrolled at a cost of $1.00.

Mrs. W. G. McLaren gave a report from the Film Board on three pictures shown. Mrs. J. Connell reported on the last meeting of Local Council of Women.

After a short business session the meeting closed with the theme song and a brief prayer by Miss J. Schaeffer.

Dorothy McCann Marries Belleville Man

The marriage took place on Saturday, April 24 in St. Andrew's United Church Marmora, when Dorothy Eileen daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCann, Marmora, Ont., became the bride of George William Cecil Reeves, only son of Mr. Cecil E. Reeves, Belleville, and the late Mrs. Reeves.

Rev. E. M. Cadigan officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated with snapdragon. Mrs. Litt, organist played the wedding music with Mrs. L. Rundle singing "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white satin, trimmed with lace and long tight fitting sleeves. Her finger tip veil of tulle, trimmed with satin, was held by a headpiece of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Alice McCann, of Peterborough, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, wearing a floor length gown of blue broadcloth with overskirt of net, short sleeves, with long lace gloves and headpiece of blue. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Hilliard St. Louis, Belleville.

Ushers were Jack Howes, Belleville, cousin of the groom, and Garnet McCann, only brother of the bride.

The reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a black suit with black accessories and a corsage of sweet peas.

For a wedding trip to Toronto and points west the bride donned a loganberry gabardine suit, black beige coat and black accessories and wore a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves will reside in Belleville.

45 Women Aid CAS By Sewing Weekly

Mrs. Keith Lech, convener of the Sewing Committee, in her annual report to the Board of the Children's Aid Society thanked the many citizens for their donations of clothing to the society.

She also extended her appreciation to the corps of 45 ladies who had given their Thursday afternoons to sew at the Shelter and particularly mentioned the groups from George St. United Church; St. Luke's Anglican Church and the Junior Welfare League. These ladies made and repaired 922 articles.

Ritual of Jewels Carried Out On Founder's Day

Members of Ontario Alpha Theta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi held their annual Founder's Day banquet at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club Tuesday evening. Decorations were carried out in black and gold, the sorority colors, included yellow roses in a crested black vase, and black and gold place cards.

A toast to the King was proposed by Miss Phyllis Turkington, president, with Miss Mildred McIntyre at the piano. Miss Connie Nicholson, vice president, welcomed the new pledges, and Miss Jean Caverly responded.

Miss Margaret Preston told of the founding and growth of Beta Sigma Phi, on this, the 17th anniversary.

Miss Moira Whalon proposed a toast honoring the chapter as co-founders. A toast was then given to the members of the field staff by Miss Mildred McIntyre. Miss Phyllis Turkington read "A Message from Mr. Walter W. Ross" founder of Beta Sigma Phi.

The Ritual of Jewels was read by the director Mrs. Maurice Holt, and seven new pledges became members of Alpha Theta Chapter. They are Mrs. B. Duder, Misses Marjorie Armour, Jean Caverly, Mae Smith, Mary King, Rheta Nelson and Hazelle Hunt.

The prize winning song for 1948 "It's My Beta Sigma Phi" was introduced during the sing-song.

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL Miss Schell, formerly of Holland, who acts as interpreter for the local Polish girls, was guest speaker Tuesday evening at the annual meeting of Confederation Home and School Association. She gave a most interesting talk on her life during the time of liberation of Holland and included a general outline of the geography of the country. She listed some of the difficulties facing her people in the future.

Mrs. W. Waldie introduced Miss Schell and she was thanked by Mrs. L. Moore.

Miss Jane Stuart entertained with two delightful piano solos, "Cradle Song" and "Little Willie and the Wind."

Mrs. E. Chambers, district organizer, took charge of the meeting as nomination report was read by Mrs. T. Budd. She gave a brief talk on Home and School purposes and then installed the following officers: president, Mrs. J. Stuart; vice-presidents, Mrs. D. Hayes, Mrs. Chas. Wood; secretary, Mrs. Don Wood; treasurer, Mrs. W. Waldie, executive members, Mrs. J. Kokesh, Mrs. L. Ross, Mrs. W. Stevens, Mrs. A. P. Caccavella, Mrs. H. Henwood.

PRESENTS TROPHY — The Beasborough Trophy, top award in the Dominion Drama Festival at Ottawa, is presented by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey to Blanch M. Hogg, director of the London Little Theatre's prize-winning play, "St. Joan."

Wise to Overlook Husband's Flirtations for Children

DEAR MISS DIX: Lately I have found pieces of paper in my husband's pockets with girls' phone numbers and addresses upon them. Ordinarily I wouldn't bother about it, as I know married men like to flirt once in a while, but now my husband has taken to staying out as late as five o'clock in the morning.

Dorothy Dix says I know it would affect my son's whole life, which I could not bear to have happen.

So my problem is? Should I play dumb and say nothing and just make the best of things, unless my husband tells me to leave, that he doesn't want me any more? I still love my husband, but I can't respect him as I feel that he is just a poor weakling. What shall I do?

B. M. W. T.

ANSWER: Naturally your problem is one that you have to decide yourself but it seems to me that a woman should think long and carefully before she breaks up her home if she has children whose whole future lives will be determined by her decision.

Of course, you are hurt and angered by your husband's philandering and your impulse is to take your son and leave him. But, before you do, count the cost.

Your husband does not make enough money to be able to make a comfortable settlement on you if you divorce him. All you would get would be a little grudgingly paid alimony on which you and son could barely exist.

You would not be able to give the boy a good education or a start in the world. But as long as you let things rock along as they are now, you have a good home, and you can give your son the advantages of a college education. Also, in the end, you will probably get your husband back, if you want him.

It seems to me that the smartest thing that a woman who has children can do is act dumb and blind, instead of getting a divorce.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widow with three children and, while I work hard, I cannot support them properly. My mother has plenty of money and is always talking about how rich she is. She insists on making her home with me, but refuses to pay any of the expenses of rent, food, or clothes for the children. Nor will she pay any board for herself. She also watches for any faults she can find in the children, which does not add to their happiness.

Do you feel that I am unjust in resenting my mother not being willing to help me when times are so hard and I need help so badly? What can I do about it?

WORRIED MOTHER

ANSWER: There is nothing you can do to make your mother loosen her pocketbook. She will cling to her money to her last breath, and nothing that you can say or do will touch her heart and make her give you and the children the help you so sadly need.

It is not uncommon for old people to turn misers. You read every day in the papers about aged people who have starved to death, with thousands of dollars sewed in their ragged clothes.

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of a man frightening little children and laughing over it? One poor little baby 18 months has been frightened so much by this man that he is a nervous wreck. He screams every time he sees this torturer, and the poor little thing wakes up in the night and shrieks.

D. C.

ANSWER: I think that any man who would amuse himself by frightening little children should be clapped into an insane asylum, for surely no one who was in his right mind would do such a dastardly thing. It is quite likely that a child who is tortured that way might have his whole nervous system so shocked that he would never recover from it.

Fortunately we have societies for the prevention of cruelty to children, and as you and the neighbors are not sadists or perverts it is your bounden duty to report this case and have this man arrested. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

NAMED FOR FRENCH KING

St. Louis, Missouri, was named after Louis IX of France and was founded in 1764 as a fur trading post.

Of Interest to Women

LOVELY LACE DRESS—For many centuries the nimble fingers of the women of France have been making exquisite lace. Our designers, once again are using real French lace for some of their most striking creations. A beautiful lace in sapphire blue, yards and yards of it, is a dramatic part of this striking ballerina model, the skirt stiffened with horsehair and finished with a lace flounce.

Buttoned Shoes In Store For Fall? Designers Say So

BY DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP)—Don't be surprised, ladies, if you find yourself wearing high buttoned shoes next fall.

Right now you may scoff at the idea, but Mabel and Charles Julianelli predict high shoes, and the chances are you'll be wearing them.

This quiet, hard-working young couple have become virtual dictators of America's feminine shoe styles during the seven years of their partnership. Each season they design "trend" shoes for a number of the country's largest shoe manufacturers. They estimate that 50,000 pairs of shoes a day are made from their designs.

For next fall and winter the Julianellis already have made a number of models, guaranteed to startle the public and recall the halcyon days of Godey's Lady Book. Says Mrs. Julianelli: "The shoe made for next season is going to run to two extremes—high, boot types or extremely open styles, each designed for a particular type of costume. Both will be high style."

The high shoes will be worn for both street and dressy afternoon occasions, says Mrs. Julianelli. The street version will be spat types, with suede uppers and patent leather bottoms. The dressier types will be of satin or suede, either buttoned up the side or laced up the back.

Of course there will still be plenty of ordinary broad-and-butter styles for those who like their shoes conservative.

Julianelli Creations

Among the shoe fashions previously launched by the Julianellis are: cork clogs; the ballet street shoe; the open-heel monk's slipper; the laced-in-back shoe; the high-back shoe; the T-strap and the two-strap ankle pump; the scalloped shoe silhouette; the two-tone dance slipper, with black satin vamps and back sections, heels and straps of satin to match the dress.

The Julianellis believe that a husband-and-wife working team is an ideal arrangement. Says Mabel:

"Charles doesn't have to explain his business problems to me—I already know them."

"When I'm too tired to go dancing or to a show, Mabel is just as tired as I am, so we never have arguments," says Charles.

The two are in complete concord in admiration of their two-year-old daughter, Janie, for whom they have just designed and named a new baby shoe. Says all too heavy, I wanted something Janie's mother:

"The baby shoes I found were light that wouldn't bind her foot."

She applies the same principle to women's shoe designs, explaining:

"Women have gone beyond the era of heavy corseting, either of their bodies or their feet. Shoes should be soft, pliable and glove-like."

These two shoe experts, who probably designed the shoes you are wearing have this advice to offer: Comfort is more important than looks, but there's no reason why a good looking shoe can't be comfortable.

For Thursday, May 6

Conflicting astral configurations may contribute to the uncertain, static and obstructed conditions of this day, in which not only crystallized and congested situations, but an element of the secret treacherous and pernicious, combine to discourage and disappoint. With full knowledge of such subtle and blocked situations a definite, concrete and determined effort may at long last break down all impediments and frustrating circumstances. Diligence, sagacious and well-concentrated marshalling of all forces and influence may succeed and establish firm and enduring plans and worthwhile achievement.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to attack with diligence, keen insight and analysis, with sound, cleverly organized and shrewdly executed plans and policies, in order to frustrate vicious, underhand and pernicious effort of inimical forces, bent upon enhancing disruptive and crystallized natural conditions. Due sense of obligation, together with inside information, efficient "know how" in handling baffling circumstances and treachery, may beget excellent power to establish worthwhile and enduring accomplishment. Enmity, jealousy, hidden factors as well as health demand calm consideration.

Those whose birthday it is, may avert disappointment, treachery and frustration by industry, determination, shrewd insight with practical knowledge and executive ability. Also safeguarding health.

AS ASSINIBOINE RIVER BURST ITS BANKS—The unusual aerial picture (at top) shows a wave of foaming water (2) as it surges over Assiniboine River lowlands west of Brandon, Man., after spilling from the channel at the sharp bend at the top of photo. The first water is about the join with the torrent (1) boiling through the channel farther downstream, inundating farmlands over a wide area. Pictured (bottom) is the wreckage of a Canadian National Railway work train, which fell 25 feet through a flood-undermined bridge near Rockhaven, Sask., while hauling repair material to a washout farther up the line. Brakeman W. D. Todd, of Wilkie, Sask., was killed while both engineer and fireman suffered severe burns.

Synod Condemns Racial Bars

KINGSTON, May 3—(CP).—Delegates to the 82nd annual Synod of the Church of England Diocese of Ontario Tuesday unanimously endorsed a resolution condemning racial discrimination. They approved a recommendation of the Council of Social Service that all Canadian citizens be recognized as having equal rights regardless of racial origin. Rev. Mr. Grant Sparling of Belleville presented the resolution. T. A. Kidd, M.P., was re-elected honorary lay secretary. Rev. Ernest Tesky was returned as clerical secretary and Dr. P. G. C. Campbell as honorary treasurer. Dr. Campbell begins his 41st year as treasurer. Rev. Dr. J. E. Evans, Anglican Dean of Montreal, in a sermon Tuesday night urged strengthening of Christian faith. "Fifty years ago, the problems of the world presented less strain on the faithful than do those of today," he said. "Social progress exists in some countries but revolution is sweeping others. Because of this, let us remain steadfast in the work of the church and strive always to remember Christ's message of faith and work."

Denies Budget Preview

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP).—R. W. Mayhew, parliamentary secretary to the finance minister, said Tuesday in the Commons that Robert Taylor, parliamentary correspondent for the Toronto Daily Star, has not seen a preview of the budget speech. He was replying to Alan Cockeram (PC-York South), who referred to a speculative article on the budget in the Star Monday.

Price Advances Slowing Down

By The Canadian Press.
Tenseness of the contest between high and low price influences is reflected in the latest cost-of-living index released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The index advanced four-fifths of a point in March, the same as in February—a considerable slowing down from the rate of climb in previous months, but still an increase.

There is both good and bad news in the situation:

Good news in the sense that the time is already here for which pessimists of 1947 were predicting a decline in business activity and perhaps a too-precipitate price drop. There is not much talk now of any early drop in activity.

Bad news in the sense that people would like more assurance of a gradual price decline, and the fear of some that the stage is being set for another round of inflation.

It is true that there are in Canada itself higher price influences, such as increased freight rates, heavy demand for raw materials, and perhaps higher costs for goods which go into the making of clothing.

However, there are also counter influences, and it is not thought that there are sufficient forces in the Canadian economy alone to set off new drastic increases.

CNR May Buy Land Belonging To CGE

LONDON, May 3—(CP).—Canadian National Railways has several possible industrial purchases for a strategic 34-acre property in the east end, S. W. Dairweather, CNR research and development executive, said here yesterday as he headed a five-man survey party.

Canadian General Electric Company bought the land from the city for a proposed $1,000,000 plant, but abandoned the scheme recently. According to city hall officials the CGE intended it will sell the land at cost for industrial purposes.

Indirect Censorship

LONDON, May 3—(AP).—Lack of newspaper is forcing an "indirect censorship" of European newspapers, President R. A. Gibbs of the Newspaper Society said Tuesday night. He said it is plain that a full knowledge of public events is "forcibly withheld" from most of the people for lack of paper to print it.

STAYS ON FORCE—Chief Inspector Robert Anderson, above left, congratulates Inspector George Crawford after lifting of the latter's suspension by Toronto's Board of Police Commissioners Tuesday. Crawford had been suspended over irregularities in his division which led to the dismissal of two detectives and a constable.

Canadian Navy To Train At Hudson Bay

MONTREAL, May 3—(CP).—Canadian warships will enter Hudson Bay for the first time this summer to show that "we recognize the importance of northern water to us," Defence Minister Claxton told the Young Men's Board of Trade Tuesday night.

He said that the squadron that will hold its summer exercise in the sub-Arctic regions will be led by Canada's newest aircraft carrier, the Magnificent. The carrier herself will not enter Hudson Bay but will accompany two destroyers and a tanker into Baffin Straits. The destroyers will go on to Churchill, Man.

The minister stressed the need for a tightening of defence plans and he blamed Russia for flouting her war-won friendships and for "obstinately obstructing every move to arrive at understanding and promoting chaos and disorder and darkness as the only conditions in which Communism can exist and grow."

Canada must have a foundation of defence forces capable of expansion as rapidly as possible and suitable "to enable us to take our proper place for our security and our self respect."

Mentioning the summer exercise planned for the Magnificent, Mr. Claxton saw the navy's future job as escort and supply in the north Atlantic and northern waters.

The active army would provide an airborne brigade to look after any diversionary raid and supply the administrative and training staff to enable the reserves to be built into a large modern army from the framework of the present reserve.

The minister disclosed that Canada is speeding up development of a two-seater, two-engine long-range fighter particularly adapted to use in Canada. In the meantime the Dominion had bought from Britain 85 modern Vampire jet aircraft.

BEHIND WHEAT THRONES

For 25 years the power behind the thrones of wheat kings, Dr. Leonard H. Newman, famed Canadian cerealist, has retired, it was announced in Ottawa. Dr. Newman's work is credited with saving valuable crops from total loss year after year. He developed many important rust-resistant varieties of wheat and a new principle for the milling of flour to vitaminize bread.

EARLY DOUBLE SQUEEZE

EVERY type of play that can be made at the absolute end of a hand can also be employed, with slight variations, a bit earlier in the play. That is true of each type of throw-in, squeeze and coup, even the double squeeze, which ordinarily is considered a device to employ on the eleventh trick. On rare occasions it can be worked on the tenth when the outstanding cards held by the defenders are so placed that an eleventh trick double squeeze would not work.

WILL BE OUT OF HOMES—More than 8,000 people in Ontario will be flooded out of their homes when the water level of the St. Lawrence river is backed up to provide a powerhead for the $300,000,000 hydro-electric development planned jointly by Ontario and New York state. Churches, schools and factories will disappear when the project is built. Residents along the northern bank of the St. Lawrence are the ones who will be affected. All Iroquois, excepting four houses, will be inundated when the river is backed up and about 16,000 acres of land covered. Mabel Hodge stands at the village sign.

Lindsay YPU Convention Held In Omeme

OMEMEE, May 5 (ENS).—The Lindsay Presbyterian Young People's Union held their annual convention at Bethel and Omeme United Churches on the weekend.

The convention theme was "God's Will and Our Choice," and the speaker was Rev. S. Littlewood of Bobcaygeon. Doris McCarroll of Bethel was business manager and Harold Brooks of Omeme, registrar.

The Saturday afternoon session was at Bethel United Church and ended with a fellowship banquet.

The Sunday morning sessions began with a church service conducted by Rev. S. Littlewood. His theme was "Spiritual Guidance." Mr. Littlewood said, "In proportion to our obeying and acting on our knowledge of right, so the voice of God clarifies itself to us. The marks of the Holy Spirit show in our personal conduct and in our everyday living. We also are guided in the affairs of life. God still communicates His will to men of conviction, just as He did of old to Paul, Philip and the rest."

In the afternoon the conference divided into four fellowship groups, led by Jean Barry, Stan Kelsey, Ruth Ashmore and Deane Wellman. A worship service was conducted by the Bobcaygeon Young People and the session closed with the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper administered by Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, minister of the Omeme-Bethel charge.

The evening service was in charge of the newly elected executive and was conducted by Ruth Ashmore, Marion Worsley, Jean Barry and the new president, Stan Kelsey. Ruth Ashmore gave the address.

A joint Bethel and Omeme Men's Choir furnished music for both morning and evening services.

Following the service the officers were installed by Mr. Zufelt. The new slate is: Hon. President, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt; Past-Pres., Gala Rogers of Lindsay; President, Stan Kelsey of Woodville; 1st Vice, Harold Brooks of Omeme; 2nd Vice, Deane Wellman of Bethel; Secretary, Jean Barry of Manilla; Assistant Sec., Margaret Goodhand of Fenelon Falls; Treasurer, Alta Boate of Bethel; Fellowship convener, Ruth Ashmore of Dunstford; Missions, Marion Anderson of Cameron; Culture, Ralph Husey of Carnarvon; Publications, Deane Wellman of Bethel; Recreation, Lorna Graham of Omeme; Girls' Work, Marion Worsley of Carleton Place; Boys' Work, John Eakins of Lindsay; Young Adult, Doris Archer of Fenelon Falls; Leadership Training, Rev. G. H. Carraden of Cannington; Christian Education, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omeme.

A very impressive closing of the conference consisted of all the delegates forming a large circle around the centre pews and with joined hands singing softly "Spirit of the Living God."

Apsley News

Roy, Keith, Bobbie, Harvey and Shirley Delahaye, D. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Leard, all of Peterborough spent the week-end with friends here.

Messrs. C. C. McCormack, Chas. Smith, Bob Wager were at Lake St. Peter for trout fishing during week-end.

Mrs. V. Young and children left today for South River to spend the next two months with V. Young, who is employed there.

Mr. L. Blackwell is seriously ill at his home.

Carlin To Run As Independent

SUDBURY, May 6 (CP).—Robert H. Carlin, CCF member of the Ontario Legislature for Sudbury, said today he will contest the June 7 election as an independent CCF candidate.

Mr. Carlin declared that he has broken with the Ontario CCF executive board because of "its undemocratic ruling which denies me the right to represent my people on a straight CCF ticket."

The Ontario executive of the CCF announced several days ago that the party would not endorse Carlin as its candidate in the forthcoming election because of his alleged association with known Communists.

Canadian director of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO), Carlin said "I am absolutely sure that I will be back in the Ontario Legislature."

A member of the Legislature since 1943, he has denied intimations that he has Communist leanings.

"I shall contest this election as an independent CCF candidate and pledge to carry out the 1947 convention program of the CCF party which I sincerely and profoundly believe in," Mr. Carlin said.

2nd Tank Blast At Oshawa Plant

OSHAWA, May 6.—The second acetylene tank explosion within 10 days rocked the General Motors body division on May 5, yesterday afternoon and sent two workers to hospital. The blast occurred on the passenger car assembly line and several hundred employees evacuated the plant a few minutes before a second tank exploded.

Injured in the initial blast were John Marsh and Henry Monahan. They were taken to hospital suffering flash burns and minor cuts. Both were helped to safety by fellow employees after the first explosion blasted the body-room ceiling and shot pieces of sheet metal for hundreds of yards.

The installation of acetylene tanks to power welding torches in the body room was described by company officials as a temporary measure. The tanks were used in the tank storage shed on April 24.

Nearly 20 workers on the line narrowly escaped death in the blast, and one, who was within 40 feet of the explosion, stated: "The flames leaped up all around the tanks, and I figured I was lucky to get out of there" in one piece.

Aid Home Building By Insurance

Subsidized Program From Opposition Turned Down By Govt.

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP).—The Government has placed before the Commons shot-in-the-arm legislation aimed at stimulating the construction of homes for rent. It promptly heard an Opposition demand for a program of subsidized housing.

Trade Minister Howe introduced the legislation yesterday, describing it as a rental insurance plan to guarantee the builder or subsequent purchaser a return on his investment and enough income to meet his major costs over a three-year period.

But at the same time he ruled out any possibility that it will bring a substantial increase in low-rent housing and said he "certainly" is not prepared to recommend a subsidized program.

Criticizing the legislation as "puny" and "inadequate," Progressive Conservative and CCF speakers urged the government to apply subsidies to provide the homes for veterans and low-income groups.

Subsidy Plan.

Cecil Merritt, VC (PC-Vancouver Burrard) said subsidies could be financed by contributions from Dominion, Provincial and municipal authorities. There was "nothing Socialist" about it. It already was in operation in Britain, the United States and Ireland.

J. O. Probe (CCF-Regina City) said there should be an annual rental subsidy based on family income and family size.

Mr. Howe, moving a resolution preliminary to the housing legislation, made these points:

1. Some 77,000 housing units were completed last year, and 1948 completions are expected at least to equal that number.

2. While construction costs have risen sharply, demand for homes continues.

3. There are indications that the greatest need for emergency shelter is ended.

4. Whether the Dominion will continue to build rental houses in 1949 still is to be decided.

5. The Dominion will build no unit that cannot be rented for $37.50 a month or less.

6. The Dominion is willing to discuss with the provinces and municipalities a course of action that will lay a sound foundation for a long-term national housing program.

Limit Insurance

Explaining the present legislation, he said it will guarantee the owner enough income to look after taxes, debt service, operating expenses, repairs, renewals and replacements. It also would guarantee a two-per-cent return on equity investment.

These guarantees would be for the first three years.

The insurance would be limited to family units renting for not more than $30 a month on a fully-serviced basis. Unserved units would carry lower rental maximums. It also would apply to projects consisting of eight or more family units, but not to projects which average less than 1 1/2 bedrooms per unit.

The owner would pay a premium of 10 per cent.

Do Cheap Job

PEIPING, May 6 (AP).—Life is cheap in China. National planes Wednesday dropped leaflets over Communist areas offering cash to Reds to kill their commanders and surrender. Prices ranged from 15,000,000 yuan ($15) for the slaying of a field commander, to 1,500,000 yuan ($1.50) for a brigade or regimental commander.

Plan To Outlaw Sympathy Strike In Labor Code

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP).—Sympathy strikes would be outlawed by the government's new labor code, Labor Minister Mitchell today told the Commons Industrial Relations Committee.

While nowhere in the code is the term "sympathy strike" used, Mr. Mitchell said they would be banned under the general provisions dealing with strikes and lockouts.

These sections say that no strike may be called until there has been collective bargaining between employees and employers, followed by labor department conciliation.

Mr. Mitchell's explanation came two days after a request from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association that the code prohibit sympathy strikes.

He gave the information to the committee as it continued consideration of the code, which covers industries under federal jurisdiction such as railways, shipping and communications. The measure has received second reading in the Commons.

The contentious provisions of the code dealing with the "cooling-off" period that must elapse before the calling of a strike or lockout were approved quickly by the committee, almost without discussion.

Previously, the committee had received objections from the Canadian Congress of Labor and from some of its members that the "cooling-off" period was too short.

Budget Likely Down May 18

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP).—Speculation Wednesday on Parliament Hill was that Finance Minister Abbott may bring down his 1948-49 budget next Thursday, May 13 or the following Tuesday, May 18. The date ultimately will be announced in the House of Commons. Meantime, May 18 was the unofficial choice of most corridor gossipers.

Report Arabs Abandon Jaffa Military Centre

TEL AVIV, May 6 (AP).—The Arabs appeared today to have given up Jaffa both as military centre and a supply port. All but 10,000 of its 70,000 inhabitants were reported reliably to have fled.

Jaffa, previously predominantly Arab, adjoins Jewish Tel Aviv. The Jewish underground Irgun Zvai Leumi captured its Manshiyah quarter last week and handed over the gains to the Jewish militia Hagana.

A high Hagana officer said today only a few score Arab volunteer soldiers remain in Jaffa. He added: "It was the soldiers who led the flight."

Confesses Shooting

WHEATON, Ill., May 6 (AP).—Frances Korbelik, pretty 16-year-old daughter of a CIO Union official slain four months ago, said Wednesday that she was the killer. Investigator Allen Myers reported. Myers said Miss Korbelik, after more than eight hours of continuous questioning, told him she shot and killed her father and hid his body after he came home intoxicated and raped her.

Ontario Gets 3,375 Units Howe Says

Negotiations Continue For 5,179 More; Set June 1 Deadline

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP).—Agreements with the Dominion government for construction of 3,375 rental housing units during 1948 have been signed by municipalities, Trade Minister Howe Wednesday told the Commons.

He said negotiations are under way for construction of an additional 5,179 units.

The number of units under signed agreements or negotiations at April 23 in Ontario was 3,375 and June 1 has been set as deadline for negotiating arrangements to build the rental houses. This was because the government did not wish to enter into winter construction involving extra costs.

When the arrangements first were announced it had been hoped that agreements would be concluded for the construction of 12,000 housing units this year. However, the Dominion was having little success in arranging agreements with municipalities in Quebec.

Very Helpful

"Under legislation brought down by the Ontario legislature at its recent session, provision was made for the provinces to meet half the costs of the municipalities' participation in the 1948 rental program," said Mr. Howe.

"This legislation is very helpful, and should assist in arranging a larger number of units in Ontario than otherwise would have been the case."

In the Dominion's own rental-housing program, 5,421 units were completed in 1947. A carry-over of 5,354 uncompleted units would be finished soon.

Mr. Howe reiterated that he believes no suitable low-rental housing program can be carried out without participation by the Dominion, the provinces and municipalities. The Dominion was ready to discuss any course of action which would lay a foundation for a long-term national housing program.

Philanthropist Pays For Nurse

SYDNEY, Australia, May 6 (CP).—E. J. Hallstrom, wealthy Sydney philanthropist, will pay all expenses for a nurse to accompany Mrs. Rose Otto, 42-year-old cancer sufferer, back to her home in Victoria, B.C., it was learned today.

Mrs. Otto is one of eight Canadians who flew here to take the purported cancer treatment of John Braund, Sydney layman who since has been branded by a New South Wales government commission as a "fraud and a charlatan."

She has been in a Sydney hospital (Misericordia) for some weeks in constant pain and has been receiving morphine injections every two hours to deaden it.

Hallstrom informed the Legion of ex-Servicemen and Women that he is prepared to pay the nurse's expenses after he learned the Legion is arranging for Mrs. Otto to leave Sydney by air next Sunday under the care of a Canadian nurse.

Cornwall Police Seize Four .22 Rifles From Non-Union Workers At Housing Project

CORNWALL, May 6 (CP).—Township police said today they had seized four .22 calibre rifles from non-union workmen at a housing project on the western outskirts of the city.

Police said the men engaged in "target practice" while striking members of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (AFL) looked on. Pickets were ordered by the marksmen to "stay where you are."

All construction here has been halted since April 20 when contractors refused to meet union demands for wage increases, union recognition and a 40-hour week.

A meeting Wednesday between representatives of the union and the contractors ended in a deadlock. The union had offered to submit the dispute to arbitration and return to work today.

City-Wide Strike

SAULT STE. MARIE, May 6 (CP).—A city-wide strike of carpenters and joiners went into effect today, virtually shutting down building and construction work on public projects involving approximately $2,500,000. Members of Local 446 of the Carpenters and Joiners Union Wednesday night rejected an offer by local contractors of more than 12-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Hurled Clear But Crushed

John W. Collins, 40, Otonabee farmer, was killed about 1:15 p.m. today when his car was struck by an eastbound Toronto-Ottawa C.P.R. train near Indian River.

The accident took place a mile from No. 7 Highway and Collins was driving south toward the highway. The victim was thrown from the car and crushed under it when the train smashed into the front of the car, then whirled it around parallel, and threw it to the side of the engine.

Collins was alive when several Indian River men reached the scene, and the car was lifted from him by Gerard, Tom and Gerald Kelly and Gerald Walsh and others. Rev. J. J. McCarthy, Douro, administered the last rites of the church a short time before he died. A passenger jumped off the train and attempted to apply artificial respiration, but Collins was too badly hurt to respond.

Plane Missing Searchers Scour Atlantic

HALIFAX, May 6 (CP).—Search planes from both sides of the north Atlantic were winging seaward early today in a hunt that will extend the full breadth of the ocean for a plane missing with two men aboard.

The missing plane, an American DC-3 transport, left Gander, Nfld., Tuesday night. It failed to arrive at Shannon, Eire, where it was due shortly after 6 a.m. Wednesday.

Thirty planes from bases in the United Kingdom, Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland were taking part in the search. Planes from the United States have been sent to Newfoundland. It was expected the Canadian weather ship St. Stephen would leave her position between Greenland and Labrador to join in the operation.

In charge of the vast search is Sqdn. Ldr. S. R. Miller of Edmonton, commander of the RCAF search and rescue unit here, who flew to Gander Wednesday night.

Sqdn. Ldr. Miller said planes from the United Kingdom and Iceland will fly west half way to Newfoundland and planes from Greenland and Newfoundland will hunt the western half of the ocean.

In Washington officials of Superior Oil Company, owners of the plane, said the men aboard were the pilot, Lewis Parks, about 38, and Ralph Warnock, both of Los Angeles.

RCAF here said the missing transport was equipped with long-range gasoline tanks and the latest type of safety equipment.

Two Lancasters have flown to Gander from the RCAF station at Greenwood, N.S., to join in the search.

Air bases at Halifax and Sydney, N.S.; Goose Bay, Labrador; Gander and Argentia, Nfld.; Shannon, Reykjavik, Iceland, and Elude, Greenland, all will be used as hopping-off places for the searchers.

Henderson said he noticed a youth tapping on a restaurant window and suspected it was a warning to someone inside the store. He ran to the rear of the building and saw a second youth coming out a second storey window. Henderson, who was off duty, jumped an eight foot fence and called to the suspect to halt or he would shoot. The policeman was unarmed.

Henderson is back in hospital to day. He threw his arm out of joint again hurling the fence.

Police Charge R. Russell Causes Disturbance At Leaside Radio Plant

Jackson Brands Detention As Violation Of Canadian Free Speech; 12 Pickets Have Been Held Since Walkout

TORONTO, May 6 (CP).—Ross Russell, United Electrical Workers (CIO) organizer, was arrested today at the Rogers Majestic plant at suburban Leaside and charged with causing a disturbance. Police Chief John McGrail of Leaside, who made the arrest, said Russell was arrested "because there was likely to be a breach of the peace by what he was about to say."

Russell, speaking over a public address system, mounted on a truck, had said: "Good morning fellow workers..." when police intervened.

About 125 non-striking workers protected by 30 Provincial Police and three Leaside officers, entered the plant this morning as the UEW strike entered its third day. Russell's arrest brings to 12 the number of persons arrested on the picket line since the strike began. The strike has been marked by violence between UEW pickets and members of a newly organized AFL local who have refused to leave their jobs.

The company has declined to sign a working agreement with the C.I.O. union until it is clearly established which union is entitled to represent its employees as bargaining agent.

C. S. Jackson, UEW president, described Russell's arrest as "a violation of free speech which leads to the suspicion the police are taking orders from the company, not from their superiors."

Fear 140,000 Idle In Strike

PHILADELPHIA, May 6 (AP).—The Pennsylvania Railroad, biggest American carrier of passengers and freight, said today a wages and rules strike of engineers and firemen Tuesday may render idle all its 140,000 employees.

President M. W. Clement, in a letter to employees in all departments, said the strike call "is unreasonable and arbitrary."

"If the engineers and firemen carry out this reckless intention to strike," Clement wrote, "it will become physically impossible to operate the railroad and, although reluctant to do so, your management may have no alternative but to shut down in all departments."

Clement asked every PRR engineer, fireman and hostler "to consider with the greatest care their obligations to their country, their families and their fellow employees and particularly their public responsibility for railroad service."

A PRR spokesman said "no action is contemplated at this time" to abolish jobs of employees who strike.

One-Armed Officer Nabs Break-in Suspect

TORONTO, May 6 (CP).—Traffic Officer David Henderson whose arm is in a cast as a result of an accident last Friday leaped a fence last night to make a one-handed catch of a shop-breaking suspect.

Henderson said he noticed a youth tapping on a restaurant window and suspected it was a warning to someone inside the store. He ran to the rear of the building and saw a second youth coming out a second storey window. Henderson, who was off duty, jumped an eight foot fence and called to the suspect to halt or he would shoot. The policeman was unarmed.

Henderson is back in hospital to day. He threw his arm out of joint again hurling the fence.

Mystery Phone Call Made After Murder

TIMMINS, May 6 (CP).—A mysterious telephone call was made to the Timmins police department nine hours before the body of Frank Deluca was found at his home, stabbed to death; it was disclosed today.

Deluca, reputed northern Ontario gangster, was slain in a revenge or justice killing.

The telephone call, placed at 1:38 a.m. Tuesday morning, urged police to send a policeman and a doctor, to 36 Riverside Drive.

Senate Turns Down Plan To End Margarine Ban For Third Consecutive Year

Vote 35-21 Against Senator Euler's Bill, Mackenzie Opposes Measure; Suggests Matter Be a Public Inquiry

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP).—For the third consecutive year the Senate has turned down a proposal to end the ban on importation, manufacture and sale of oleomargarine. It voted 35 to 21 Wednesday to defeat a bill sponsored by Senator W. D. Euler (L—Ontario), parliament's chief champion of the substitute for butter. The same bill was rejected by 43 votes to 30 in 1946 and 38 to 22 in 1947.

An identical bill may be put to a vote on second reading in the Commons within a few weeks. It is sponsored by James Sinclair (L—Vancouver North).

The Senate vote, ending an on-and-off debate launched last December, saw 17 Liberals and four Progressive Conservatives in favor of margarine; 28 Liberals and seven Progressive Conservatives against it.

"I believe the Senate of Canada is in a measure on trial today," Senator Euler said in a 55-minute speech before the division. "Not because of margarine but because of the principle of a democratic right—the right of free choice, free enterprise, free competition."

Senator Ian Mackenzie (L—British Columbia) spoke before Senator Euler. Opposing the bill, he said he regretted "most exceedingly" the division of Senate opinion on the margarine issue. He urged that the whole thing be threshed out in a public inquiry.

Senator Euler replied that the bill could go to committee in the normal way by giving it second reading.

Senator Mackenzie maintained it would be better to withdraw the bill and hold a "national investigation."

"Why not inquire into the whole world situation?" he asked. "Why not put the real facts before the people?"

Senator Mackenzie said there is no evidence that the world supply of fats and oils is sufficient to sustain manufacture of margarine in Canada. No case had been made in the Senate to show Canada is capable of making the substitute.

Senator G. P. Campbell (L—Ontario) asked: "Don't you admit it is possible and practical that Canada should organize its distribution (of fats and oils) to permit the manufacture of oleo if the ban is removed?"

Senator Mackenzie said he agreed. But any redistribution should be by "consultation, reality, reallocation."

The goal could not be reached if "one country after another withdraws" from the international fats-and-oils agreement.

He concluded by insisting that to force a formal vote on the issue now would be a "grave harm."

He said he takes "direct and uncompromising issue" with one statement made last week by Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader. Senator Robertson had "stated as a fact" that, even if the margarine ban were removed, the substitute would not be available in Canada for at least three years.

"With the repeal of the ban," said Senator Euler, "you could have margarine, in moderate quantities, not in three year but in three weeks."

6,900 Mothers To Receive Higher Grants

TORONTO, May 6 (CP).—Maximum on mother's allowances in Ontario has been increased from $42 to $50 for a widow with one child, Welfare Minister Goodfellow announced Wednesday.

The rate for each subsequent child has also been boosted. Instead of $6, widows can receive up to $10 allowance for each child after the first.

Mr. Goodfellow said all eligible mothers receive the allowances based on need. He said this increase in their maximum does not affect the additional $10 bonus a month which may still be paid.

"Each beneficiary will also continue to be eligible for assistance during the winter months. In each case the $10 bonus and fuel allowance are based on need."

5,900 Benefit

An official in the welfare department said about 6,900 mothers in Ontario are receiving allowances in addition to between 16,000 and 17,000 children for whom allowances also are paid. He said most of the 6,900 would be getting "close to the maximum."

Mr. Goodfellow said the decision to increase the allowances was made in order to aid in meeting increased living costs. He recalled that on Feb. 20 he forecast such an increase.

Another change in the regulations will relieve municipalities of providing relief for permanently disabled husbands of women drawing the mother's allowance. These husbands will now be treated as dependents and will be eligible for the same allowance paid for children. Formerly, these men drew municipal relief.

Department officials were unable to estimate the extra expenditure entailed by the changes but it may approach $500,000.

85 Per Cent Loans

Loans up to 85 per cent of the estimated cost of the rental-housing project would be advanced either by the government or by private lending institutions.

Mr. Howe said the government is not sure how much new rental housing will result from the proposal. It was hoped the amount would be "substantial." Every effort would be made to encourage builders.

But few houses could be built at present to rent for $35 a month or less "without substantial capital subsidies or contributions to rent reduction funds."

"Because of very high construction costs and because the building industry now is working at capacity," said Mr. Howe, "I do not think that the present is an opportune time to attempt initial steps into the low-rental housing field."

"Certainly at this time I am not prepared to recommend capital subsidies or contributions to a rent-reduction fund by the Dominion."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, May 6 (CP).—The few cattle offered were cleared at firm prices on the livestock market up to mid-session today.

Hogs and calves were steady with sheep and lambs at unchanged levels. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were:

Cattle 100, calves 30, hogs 200, sheep and lambs 30.

Plain to medium butcher steers and heifers sold from $15-17 with butcher cows at $11-15.50. Bulls brought 10.50-14.50 and a few stockers cleared at $12-14.

Calves were $20-23 for choice with plain lights downward to $12.

Hogs were $29 for grade A, $28.60 for grade B. Sows sold for $19 dressed.

Good feed-lot lambs were $21 and a few sheep brought $6-8.

Fear Three Drowned

MONTREAL, May 6 (CP).—A woman and her two children, last seen rowing in the St. Lawrence river at nearby Repentigny late Wednesday, were believed to have drowned when they failed to return home Wednesday night. Provincial police said Mrs. Rosa Desroches, 31, of Repentigny, and her children, Eva, five, and Robert, two, rented a rowboat and were seen pulling away from shore. Early Wednesday the boat was found floating just off shore.

Scouts Planning Hobby Show

A two-day exhibition of hobbies and crafts is planned by Boy Scouts, Wolf Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies on May 12-13 in the Market Hall. Every group in the city is expected to participate.

St. Andrew's troop is putting on a display of pioneer work, including bridge building, shelters, and camp equipment. The Mothers' Auxiliary of that troop are operating a refreshment booth and tea room.

Parkhill Troop will have its complete toy repair shop in operation, and leathercraft workers are expected to show their skill.

The making of wood rugs and exhibition of some finished products will be on display in the Knights of Columbus' troop booth.

Trinity Troop will show various methods of making fires, cooking, and heating; it will demonstrate how to light fires by friction alone.

Per Dominik will be chairman, with all leaders and Scout committee members assisting. A display of Scout craft from Toronto has been promised by Field Commissioner Arthur Jackson to help round out a crowd-pleasing show.

Rev. John Brunner Dies In Oshawa At 83

OSHAWA, May 6 (CP).—Rev. John Brunner, 83, of Bowmanville, retired United Church clergyman who served for more than 40 years, died in hospital here Wednesday night.

A native of Bowmanville, he was educated at Albert College, Belleville, and was graduated from Victoria University, Cobourg.

He held ministries at Haliburton, Havelock, Newtonville, Prince Albert, Greenwood and other charges in the Bay of Quinte conference. Mr. Brunner also served for a time as member of the Bowmanville town council.

He is survived by a daughter and three sons. Funeral services will be held Friday in Bowmanville.

Army Jumpers At Kinsmen Show

Plans now on the books for the program of the Kinsmen Horse Show indicate that the event, the second time it has been held by the club, will exceed the outstanding success of last year's show.

The committee in charge has been holding a number of the added features for this year's show in store for "surprise" announcements.

One event which will attract many for its own sake will be the appearance of the Canadian Army jumping team which gave such an amazing demonstration of horsemanship at the last Royal Winter Fair.

Winning horses from that fair and from the Chicago International Fair will also be on hand at the big show at the Exhibition Grounds on June 11 and 12.

Obituaries

MRS. ETHEL CHRISTMAS

Mrs. Ethel Christmas, 70, of 435 George St. N., died Wednesday after a short illness. She was born in London, England, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Newstead, and before coming to Peterborough 34 years ago, lived in India for 15 years. Her husband, the late Harry Christmas, was an engineer in India, England and Peterborough.

She leaves one son, Wilford (Fred) of this city, and a daughter, Mrs. C. Bishop (Winifred). A sister, Mrs. I. Boddison, also resides here and another sister, Edith, together with a brother, Albert, live in England.

Mrs. Christmas was a member of All Saints' Anglican church, of the Golden Link Rebekah Lodge 81 of Peterborough and of the Order of the Eastern Star, Peterborough Chapter 161.

Service will be from the Kaye Funeral Home on Saturday at 3 p.m. The Rev. W. E. Kibbwhite will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Summary for Friday, Intermittent rain.

Forecast: Eastern Lake Ontario and Haliburton regions — Mostly clear today.

Peterborough — Mostly clear today. Friday overcast. Intermittent rain continuing upward trend but golds continued weak on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials remained fractional traders in quiet action.

Rotary Project Attracts 1,500

Two special trains will carry district people to the Toronto Rotary Ice Revue tomorrow night. Two amateur skating champions of the world—Dick Button and Barbara Ann Scott are the main attractions.

The trains will leave Peterborough on Friday evening, the first at 3:15 p.m. and the second at 5:45 p.m. Already 1,800 ticket holders have been accommodated and the train ride will be non-stop to Toronto where free street cars will take the Peterborough contingent straight to Maple Leaf Gardens for the Ice Revue.

All those who possibly can are asked to try and board the first train which will be in the C.P.R. station at 4:30 p.m., thus making the second train available to working men and stragglers. As an extra inducement it is pointed out that clowns and music will be provided on the first one to entertain the passengers. Music will be the sole entertainment on the second.

Doughnuts, soft drinks, ice cream, sandwiches and other refreshments will be available. The combination of entertainment, refreshments and, above all, the holiday-making mood, promises to make the trip an enjoyable one.

On the return journey the first three cars of the first train will be reserved for elderly people and children who want to rest during the journey home. Both trains should be back in Peterborough well before 2 a.m.

Proceeds from the undertaking will go toward a Rotary Ward in the new Civic Hospital. A few tickets are still available.

A variety of weather is reported in Ontario this morning. Over most of southern Ontario skies are clear, but fog banks have formed over-night in the vicinity of the lakes. In northern Ontario the weather has turned cooler and rain and snow are reported in some sections. A band of overcast weather and rain extends northeastward across Missouri and Michigan into northern Ontario. This weather is moving slowly eastward and will bring rain to southern sections of Ontario today and Friday, followed by cooler weather.

Refuse Club Use Of School, Find Liquor Bottles

LINDSAY, May 6.—Liquor bottles, reported found in the basement of the Collegiate by the caretaker following soccer games on Saturdays, caused the Board of Education to turn down a request from the local soccer and cricket club for use of playing field and locker rooms.

A letter of application from the club, was read and when Secretary J. R. Wilford mentioned the liquor bottles found by the caretaker, Judge J. A. McGibbon said: "I think they have had their chance . . . If they can't appreciate use of grounds the application should be refused."

Chairman Dan McQuarrie stated that most of the team members were old country veterans and he did not wish to deprive them of a field if they have no other place to play their games. The finding of the liquor bottles by the caretaker, Fred Stroud, was questioned briefly. However, on motion by Judge McGibbon and Robert Grover the application was refused for "abuse of privileges extended."

R. A. Cox of the Soccer Club denied later that any members have been drinking in the school and pointed a finger at visiting teams. Wednesday the executive of the soccer club met with representatives of the town council regarding the above situation.

Three Toronto Men Held In Picton Theft

PICTON, May 6.—Three Toronto men, Mickey Mettrinitz, Peter Carey and Harry Olasko were remanded one week when they appeared in Magistrate's Court here Wednesday morning. They are charged with breaking and entering the brewer's retail store at Picton, carrying offensive weapons, and theft of truck and car. Their counsel, Edward Murphy of Toronto, did not appear in court. The three men were not asked to plead.

The suspects were arrested at Carrying Place bridge near Trenton, April 28, after an all-day search in marshy country near Wellington. They were arrested in a car stolen from MacDonald's Island. Early that morning, the brewer's store had been entered and a safe containing $681, jewellery, and other valuables removed and taken to a field one mile from town where it was blown open.

Canadians Live On Fat Of Land

By The Canadian Press.

An average Canadian may be inclined to doubt it, but many economists see him as literally living on the "fat of the land" — the land in this case meaning the available resources of the world.

The picture is drawn this way. Canada is sending food and raw materials abroad. But, as stated in a Toronto address last night by Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, Vice-Principal of Queen's University: "We gave our borrowing customers goods for credit but we replaced them from the United States out of our exchange reserves."

In other words Canadians received back from the total supply of world goods about as much as they sent away.

That doesn't mean they received back things they could use as individuals. Prices would not be so high if that were so. Rather a great deal of what they got was goods to build or restore facilities to increase Canada's future production. These imports did not put goods into the hands of Canadians, but their use in building did put money. And this money is competing for the limited amount of goods that people want individually — and that causes the high prices.

IS THAT PALE YOUNG GIRL YOUR DAUGHTER?

Parents should not ignore the depressed mood, the listless, tired air, the pale, headache, fickle appetite—the crying spells—so many daughters exhibit during those years when they are passing into womanhood. If her health at this stage is not maintained by a sufficiency of good rich blood, all kinds of weaknesses may arise to make her later life unhappy. So should you notice any of these disturbing signs in your daughter, lose no time. Get some Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist. They are wonderfully effective in helping to build up iron-impaired blood and have helped to transform thousands and thousands of sick, pale daughters suffering from simple anemia into happy active girls full of vitality and high spirits, hungry for meals, glad to help with the housework, attractive to others. Right now simple anemia may be undermining the strength and resistance your daughter needs so badly. Don't wait—get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

The Burden Of The Future

In a speech which he delivered in Toronto yesterday the Vice Principal of Queen's University, Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, made this deeply interesting forecast: "Some day the postwar boom will slacken off or end abruptly. We will be once more on a competitive basis. In the past, we have been great borrowers of technical knowledge and skill. If we are to maintain the high position we have reached, we must do much more than in the past to improve our technical competence and carry out our own fundamental and industrial research. Here and in the whole field of education is another and equally vital kind of national investment. If we are taking long views of the future we cannot neglect these things."

That is the burden of Canada's future; we must, with a comparatively small population, make a great effort to be self-sustaining in the most important of all commodities—brains. In many fields Canada has produced leaders, but these leaders have been permitted to drift away, because Canada either did not understand their value, or was unwilling to give the recognition to a native son which he could command elsewhere. It is absolutely essential that from now on we must keep our top-flight men in every field at home, for without the knowledge and the intuition which they possess Canada cannot keep the place which the war has given her in the world's trade.

As we have said many times in these columns it is not money alone which will keep our able men at home. We cannot hope to compete in terms of money with our great southern neighbour. But we can give our able men a degree of prestige, a place in the nation, and a freedom of action which they could not get elsewhere. We can recognize them for what they are—the real builders of Canada—and we can organize a society in which the possession of talent gives a man the rank which is now occupied chiefly by those who possess money.

Let us face the fact: it goes against the grain in Canada to give a man his due, and particularly if he happens to be a scientist, or an economist, or an educator, rather than a man directly engaged in buying or selling. We are a hard-bitten people, and there runs all through Canada a nasty streak of jealousy and a readiness to belittle those who appear to rise above their fellows. But if, as Dr. Mackintosh suggests, Canada is to keep her place in the sun, we must change all that.

The Margarine Bogey

The advantages of permitting the manufacture and sale of margarine in this country are realized by urban people. Rural people are less eager to have the ban on margarine removed, and their prejudices are being actively exploited by the dairy industry which does not want to let a monopoly slip out of its hands.

Farmers have been led to think that margarine would kill the demand for butter or lower its price to unprofitable levels. It has not kept the price of butter down in the United States nor reduced the demand. Even in Canada between 1917 and 1923 when we had oleomargarine the records show that butter production and consumption gained each year. In New Zealand whose economy is heavily dependent on dairy farming, the use of margarine is encouraged by the government. Margarine would not deal a death blow to agriculture in this country. Dairying is not the corner-stone of our agriculture, nor is butter-making, or the sale of butter-fat for butter, the most important element in dairying. Butter accounts for only a quarter of the total value of dairy products produced in this country.

Despite the social advantages, even necessity, of permitting the sale of margarine, despite the demands of housewives, despite almost every city newspaper in the country, despite the needs and hopes of urban people, the two bills now before Parliament seem fated to rejection. Senator Euler's bill to remove the ban on margarine was defeated yesterday. Mr. James Sinclair's identical private bill now before the Commons is almost certain to be defeated, for none of the three major parties will support it. They are afraid of the farm vote, and imperfectly realize that the real opposition is not from farmers but from the manufacturers of creamery butter.

How long will the dairy monopolists continue to hood-wink farmers? How long will the so-called farmer vote unduly influence Parliament against the wishes, needs and welfare of the majority? Canada is now predominantly an industrial country and more than half the people are urban dwellers. It is a travesty of democracy that their good in this matter of the sale and use of margarine is being flouted.

The Wages Of Inflation

The United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) have demanded of the Ford Motor Company at Detroit a minimum hourly rate of $2.06. They are now getting $1.75, which for a forty-hour week amounts to only $3,660 a year. If the new rate is secured, the annual wage (without extras) would be $4,284. The union is hitting up other automobile firms, too, and other unions in other industries are likewise gold-hunting in full cry.

Wages have soared in other countries. In Britain they have gone up 103 per cent. since 1938. The wages of girls under 18 have gone up 103 per cent.—to nine dollars a week. The Labour Government has become alarmed at the inflationary effect. Further, the products of the factories (like motor cars) may be so costly (due to high wages and the costs of materials produced by other workers earning high wages) that the prices will be too high for the export markets the British are pandering to. Therefore, the Labour Government has imposed stringent regulations to freeze wages (and incidentally to prohibit strikes). Governments which have not been put into office by Labour have not been able to deal so severely with Labour.

Wages in industry in Canada have gone up 74 per cent. since 1939, 12.2 per cent. in the last year. The total increase since the low of 1933 is 89 per cent. That represents a really large increase, for there is now virtually full employment and a full working day's pay. The situation was far different in the depression years.

The high cost of living is vexing many workmen, despite their higher wages, but high wages are one of the chief reasons for the high cost of living. The chances of a man of moderate means owning a car will not be bettered if automobile workers are to receive a basic eighty dollars a week. Perhaps only the workmen in the automobile plants will be able to afford to buy the cars they produce, and when they have each bought a car, the factories could close for lack of orders. That situation, if it occurs in many industries, is known as a depression.

The Lady Davis Foundation

Through the munificence of Lady Davis of Montreal a fund has been established which will be indirectly of great benefit to Canada as a whole through of direct benefit to European scholars and Canadian universities. The Fund was established for educational and philanthropic purposes and one of the chief uses is to bring European scholars of international repute to Canada. Twenty-five fellowships have been created. The Fellows selected by a committee which includes Dr. Cyril James, principal of McGill University and the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, will have their and their families' passage paid to Canada, and the universities in which they will teach or do research work will receive between five and ten thousand dollars towards the salary and special expenses for equipment of each scholar. Apart from the fellowships, if a European scholar wishes to settle with his family in Canada, the Fund may grant him his travelling expenses and five thousand dollars towards his establishment in this country.

The Lady Davis Foundation is therefore like the Rockefeller Foundation which has brought so many teachers and scientists (including Dr. Albert Einstein) to the United States. The benefit to Canada will be incalculably great. To European scholars whose work has been upset and whose trained minds frustrated, the Lady Davis Foundation offers the prospect of a new life, new research facilities, and the opportunity to pursue their studies in security and hope.

How can anything that gets around so fast and does so much harm be called an idle rumour?

The Case For Margarine

(James Sinclair, M.P., as reported in Hansard)

THE origin of oleomargarine dates back to the 1860s. France at that time was afflicted as Canada is today—butter scarce and high in price. In the hope of correcting this condition, Napoleon III offered a prize to the scientist who could develop a cheap synthetic butter, which prize was won by Megez-Mouriez in 1869. He attempted to duplicate the milk secretory process of the cow, using beef fat as a base. In this he failed, but he developed instead a process for making animal fats as soluble, digestible and palatable as the fats in butter, and so developed not synthetic butter but a butter substitute which he named oleomargarine.

THE production of this product began immediately in France and shortly afterwards in North America. Almost immediately the dairy industry of the entire continent marshalled their forces against the first real competitor they had ever had, but this is the most significant point about the entire battle which has raged since that time. They did not try to drive this competitor from the field in the honourable way that business has always used, by making their own product better and cheaper. They chose instead a cheap and shoddy way. They turned to legislative bodies for laws banning or hampering and hindering their competitor.

IN America, however, the United States Supreme Court in 1886 ruled that such ban on the manufacture of a legitimate article of commerce was illegal, and so in the United States they had to confine themselves to restrictive legislation, to direct taxation by the federal government and nuisance taxes by the state governments.

HERE in Canada, however, the dairy lobby was more successful, for in 1886 it secured a total ban on margarine. A bill was introduced by a private member, and it is interesting to recall that almost all legislation connected with margarine has been initiated by private members. It was a private member, Mr. Taylor of South Leeds, who introduced a bill in the House of Commons to regulate the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine in Canada. Once he got his bill into the house on second reading, however, he found the temper of members so hostile to oleomargarine that he joyfully amended his own bill, changing the word "regulate" into the phrase, "prohibit the importation, manufacture or sale of oleomargarine or butter substitutes in Canada." The bill carried, and that provision has been in effect in Canada since that time with a lapse of six years after the first war.

OF the greatest significance, however, is the reason given for this action at that time, a reason clearly outlined in the preamble of the bill and also in the subsequent debate in the House of Commons. It was charged that oleomargarine was an impure product which was fraudulently sold as butter. There were probably some pretty good grounds for that allegation at that time. Oleomargarine was an inferior product poorly produced by the packing houses out of inferior oleo fats. The whole packing industry at that time was disgraceful by modern standards and there was no government food inspector. Therefore, parliament was probably right, and within its rights, in banning oleomargarine on the ground that it was an impure food fraudulently sold as butter.

However, great improvement was soon made in the manufacture of oleomargarine. Today we find that everyone recognizes that oleomargarine is a pure wholesome food, nutritionally the equivalent of butter. Do not take my word for it. The British and United States governments in official papers, and the British and American medical associations in official journals, so declare. Even better, so far as Canadians are concerned, is the authority of the Canadian Medical Association, who in their official journal, the Canadian Medical Journal, in August, 1947, had an editorial eulogizing oleomargarine, and concluding with this sentence: "From the economic and nutritional aspects, good margarine is superior to butter."

HOWEVER I will offer one other authority we should all respect, the government of Canada. That government has a Department of National Health and Welfare whose special duty it is to watch over the health of the Canadian people. They put out many good publications, one of the best being "Canadian Nutritional Notes", published especially for the benefit of dieticians in Canada, especially those in hospitals and schools.

In the December, 1947, issue of this splendid publication there appears an excellent article entitled "The Place of Fat in Nutrition". Let me read one paragraph from it. "So far as is known at present good margarine is a complete nutritional substitute for butter in an ordinary diet. Margarine is made from a variety of vegetable fats and oils, and may have added animal fats. As a source of energy margarine and butter are equal for equal fat content. Margarine may be coloured by the same dye as is used for colouring butter. A good margarine contains 16.5 per cent skim milk for flavour and texture, plus minute amounts of glycerin derivative to prevent spattering in frying, and some lecithin to prevent burning and sticking to the pan."

THE present ban on the manufacture and sale of margarine establishes the butter industry as an ironclad monopoly in this country. The butter industry, of course, hotly deny that. They say that far from being a monopoly, hundreds of creameries and dairies across the country are all busy producing butter, competing with each other and never getting together to fix prices or restrict production. That may be so. Most monopolies and cartels result when manufacturers who could flood the country with their production get together and restrict production and fix prices.

There is, however, no need for the butter industry to do that. The annual production of butter in Canada, as we well know today,

FOR LIVELIER POLITICAL MEETINGS

Sir: I am writing to suggest that the organizers of political meetings in Peterborough should encourage the interest of the audience by providing a time for questioning the speaker. They might even spot a few questioners among the audience to start things going, and encourage a more informed and eager following.

The average political meeting here is not exactly lively and stimulating.

Yours truly,
PETER.

THE REASON FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING

Sir: A recent letter signed M.E. enquires as to the "real advantages" of Daylight Saving Time. The real advantage is that people find that they have an extra hour of daylight to enjoy at the end of the day.

A century ago the great majority of people worked from daylight to dusk, or longer, naturally midday was made the middle of the working day. Then later when hours were shortened it remained there, so that working from say 7 to 5 Standard Time there are perhaps 2 or 3 hours or more of daylight before and after work depending on the season. Obviously it would be preferable to have more daylight after work and less before it. By reason of its nature recreation comes after work not before it.

To avoid confusion such a change should be made by everyone for the same period of time. There are two ways of doing this: either work is begun an hour earlier or the clocks can be put on an hour, but by moving the clocks all existing time habits remain unchanged, you can still wake, work and feed at the same numerical hour.

In either case the farmers are equally inconvenienced, the time system adopted long ago to suit their hours of work is changed to suit the working period of a later system. Hence Daylight Saving should exist wherever industry and adaptability predominate in order that the majority may benefit.

Yours truly,
C. W. HOLMAN.

WHY HOUSEWIVES SHOP LATE

Sir: Time and again I have read letters to the "Examiner" re—why women have to be up town when the working people are going home?

If a man will stop to think, he will realize that when a housewife gets dinner over and washes up, then dresses herself, by the time she gets up town it is 2.30 or 3 o'clock, which does not leave much time to shop for a family.

I for one try to get through, (but can't always succeed). But believe me it is just as bad, if not worse, getting on a bus full of school pupils, who never have enough manners to offer their seats to a woman of any age, old or young, loaded down with heavy shopping bags. One would think these boys and girls were standing on their feet all day instead of loitering at a desk.

It would be a good idea to have a special bus for busy housewives at a certain corner at a certain time and relieve the congestion. Thank you for listening to
JUST ANOTHER GRIPE.

CRICKET AND SPORTSMANSHIP

Sir: In these days, when sportsmanship seems to be dying out in the realm of sport, it is good to see Mr. Frank Dyer of Peterborough appear on the cricket field to commence yet another season.

This grand sportsman has been playing cricket for I know not how many years, and is responsible together with a faithful few, for keeping the game alive in Peterborough all through the difficult war years.

Now that times are normal once again cricket is coming into its own in Peterborough. Young members are joining the club, good cricketers, too; but I am glad to see that

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God amongst the trees of the garden.

And the Lord God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou? And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself.

And he said, Who told thee that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldest not eat? And the man said, The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat.

And the Lord God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat. (Gen. 3: 8-13.)

This I say then. Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would.

But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law. (Gal. 5: 16-18.)

Frank Dyer is still leading them, for they can learn much from him.

I once remember Mr. Dyer playing against a team of boys in their first match of the season. Bowling very well all through the innings, he failed on three occasions to appeal for certain L.B.W.'s (he never does appeal unless he is certain). On asking him his reason for this apparent negligence he told me afterwards that he preferred not to break a young batsman's heart in the first game of the season, but that he would rather give him a little encouragement to become keen on the game.

Admittedly this attitude could not be adopted in some of our more serious and frenzied sports, but it seems a pity that the spirit which lies behind it is so obviously lacking in most of our popular games. If there be any, and I hope there may be a few, who sometimes get sickened by the exhibitionism and the relentless business that is modern sport let them choose a sunny afternoon and go to the Oval to watch Mr. Dyer play cricket.

Sincerely,
W. E. RASHLEIGH.

Worn-Out Highway

Most of the highway in this part of the province is of such antiquity that it has been patched almost beyond recognition. It is also narrow and sometimes possesses sharp curves and dips which constitute a pronounced danger.

Across the border it would be rated a highway definitely second or third rate, yet it is the road that tourists in large numbers travel annually and from it they must obtain a poor impression of our whole system of roads. It is the main trunk highway of a province which does quite a lot of boasting about its roads and it remains a poor advertisement for it. Brockville Record and Times.

C.E. PERDUE, Sports Editor

In softball this season the ball is not in play when it is delivered by the pitcher and does not pass the plate or go outside the diamond lines. This happens when a pitcher's hand hits his leg as he is delivering and the ball rolls any old direction. Previously there were many arguments and Art Heal argued bitterly when twice he was called out for leaving a base before the ball passed the plate. We always maintained the umpires were wrong in calling him out, that it should have been called a balk. Now they've cleared it up by calling it a dead ball and no one can be put out and no bases run. If, however, the ball rolls outside the lines, runners may advance.

A balk in softball simply results in the umpire calling a "balk" against the pitcher—nothing else. But in baseball a balk entitles all runners to advance one base. It doesn't affect the batsman in any way, even when the balk is made toward the plate. Play is suspended when a balk is called till runners advance, and even a runner on third may score. Balks can be made to any base. One to first is created by the hurler either not stepping directly toward the sack when making a throw to catch a runner off the bag or starting a throw and failing to complete it. Making one to second or third is failure to step toward either bag when starting his throw. One to the plate is stopping his delivery or any failure to conform with pitching rules.

Checking On Cheaters

They're clamping down this year in the major leagues on "cheating" tactics. The splitter is completely out and no twirler may now wet his fingers, blow on his hands or use sweat off his person or clothing to assist in an illegal delivery. Southpaws in particular will be watched on throws to first to see that they don't settle for a three-quarter turn on the step. Remember Jack Billingsley's deceptive tosses to first? Nor will a mere pause do when about to pitch to the batter—a flinger must bring the ball to a full stop after his windup or stretch. Just one stop allowed, not two, else it is a balk.

From now on, no batters may scratch out the line defining the batter's box and the batsman must stay fully inside that box. We've noted a lot of softball sluggers at the Bowl getting the front foot over by a few inches on their swings—and getting away with it. Coaches must remain in their coaching lines and will be ejected for scratching lines out. Bill Stewart, National League umpire, says: "Most pitchers do not know that, on a throw to get a runner at second, they may wheel instantly for a complete turn and throw the ball. It is not a balk." These few hints may aid local players.

Old COBL Is Revived

Something we've been striving for—how long now?—for some years was accomplished last night in Belleville. Mainly through the efforts of Eddie Murphy. The revival of the COBL. The loop was formed to consist of Kingston, Batavia, Oshawa and Peterborough. The league was re-organized at the annual meeting held Wednesday evening in the YMCA. At present, four clubs are in: Quaker Oats and Kawartha of Peterborough, Cobourg and Lindsay. There is a good possibility of Campbellford entering, too, so the opening date and schedule questions were left over for the time being until word is received from the Campbellford club.

Ed Haynes of Cobourg was re-elected president of the league for 1948, with Roy Johnstone of the Quaker Club as vice-president, and Mrs. Ed Haynes of Cobourg the secretary-treasurer. Considerable interest was shown at the meeting and a most successful season was predicted by the officials.

Don't Fence 'Em In

Strikes us that pro grapplers need a field at least an acre in area in which to do their stuff properly. Watching 'em at the Brock on Wednesday eve we noted how they were always being broken up in their grips because of the hump boundaries. Yet it is an extra large 24-foot ring up there. Of course, they often play the ropes deliberately. In the main bout, the powerful Masked Marvel made Nanjo Singh—a tough hombre, too—look like another novice as he took him in two straight. Fans had a job for a time figuring which villain to cheer for, but they finally settled in Singh. Mike Mazurki, in spite of his odd underwear, won the semi-final from Tom Mahoney, while Mickey Gold took the prelim from Chuck Harbin.

GRAB-BAG: Four clubs entered the Kawartha Tennis Loop at the Wednesday meeting... Legion and Petes went to a 1-1 soccer draw... Local lacrosseers are considering an invite to play two games this week-end in Quebec City; they drill Friday at seven p.m.... St. Peter's High School field day was a big success yesterday... Ray Garvey, outstanding player in the men's softball loop last season, will be ordained into the priesthood here May 23... Umps at the Bowl on May 13: Morin and Batley, with Phelan and Ranger in the nightcaps; those unable to make any dates should notify Pat Calladine... School softball results in elsewhere... Open drill for Marines' girls at seven tonight in Brimfield Field... Petes and Oshawa will attend the Lakeshore Loop meeting this eve to seek a graceful withdrawal... The COBL finals may be best-of-seven; runners-up go into senior "B" play-downs... Eddie Starr is in hospital after an ear operation... Petes practice in Riverside at 6.15 p.m. Friday and 2.00 Sat'day... Bantams, midgets and juveniles of the north end train at 6.30 tomorrow night in the Oval... Trojan peewees go at 6.15 tonight... Westend juveniles are at Prince of Wales this p.m.... East peewees are in Armour Field at 10 a.m. Sat'day and at 6.45 in the Oval Monday... The works.

Queen Alex Winners

Queen Alexandra eked out an 8-7 decision Wednesday over Central in a Senior School Soft-number all the way and quite ball League fixture. It was a neat close throughout. Queen Alexandra got three in the first frame and finished strong with five to get the decision after trailing. Central counted two in the first, one each in the third and fourth and three in the fifth. Teams: Central: Lush, rf; Tuck, 3b; Hemphstead, ss; Thompson, cf; Shantz, 1b; Delahaye, 2b; Black, c; Foster, p; Yelland, lf; Wall, lf; Laird.

Queen Alexandra: Rogers, Stewart, Seabrook, Bebee, Gould, Nicholls, Withers, Watson, Oliver. Umpire: H. Curry.

King George Victors

King George pulled out a 12-10 School Softball League win over Prince of Wales on Wednesday, a five-run splash in the fifth inning pulling them from behind. They had counted two each in the second and fourth with three in the third. The losers got a run in the first, six in a big third chucker and three more in the fourth.

Teams: King George: Davis, Ferguson, Gellie, McConnachie, Withers, B. McIlroy, L. McIlroy, Bertrand, Clapper, Schweizer, Miles, Barker.

Prince of Wales: Slave, Canpon, Halliday, Moffat, D. Graham, Holbrook, G. Graham, Boate, Jay, Cranfield, Downer, Deck.

Served With Summons

OAKLAND, Calif., May 6 (AP)—Ike Williams world lightweight boxing champion, was served with a summons Wednesday night in a breach of contract suit. Richard K. (Joe) Lynch, former Los Angeles promoter, charged Ike broke a contract to meet John Thomas in a scheduled title fight there a year ago. An attachment also was served to hold up Williams' purse—in a fight Wednesday night—but there was none to attach. Williams had been paid off before the fight, a non-title 10-round in which he outpointed Rudy Cruz, Los Angeles.

Petes Back In Central League As Four-Club Circuit Assured

The Central Ontario Baseball League was revived for 1948 in Belleville last night when 30 interested baseball men from Kingston, Belleville, Batavia, Oshawa and Peterborough gathered. A four-team league was organized, consisting of Kingston, Batavia, Oshawa and Peterborough. The Batavia team will play in Belleville.

The meeting called by Eddie Murphy of the Petes, was an enthusiastic one. The four clubs entered and assurance was given by the Belleville parks committee chairman, Harry Rollins, that the Batavia team would get priority for use of the lighted park in the Quinte city. The league opens on May 22 with Kingston at Oshawa. The schedule will be drawn at a Belleville meeting May 9.

The Officers

League officials elected were: Honorary presidents, Mayor Frank McCallum of Oshawa, A. B. Kendall of Kingston, Dr. Karl Herz of Batavia, and Hugh Campbell of Peterborough; president, Don Thomas of Belleville; vice-president, Vern Dawson of Peterborough; secretary-treasurer, Jack Devine of Belleville; committee, Fred Martin of Kingston, John Harris of Oshawa, and Ed Loucks of Batavia. The league is affiliated as senior "A" with the OBA.

The entry fee is $15 a team. The top three teams at the end of the schedule will go into play-off series, the second and third team meeting in semi-finals, the winner meeting the first-place squad, both series three-in-five. Various other details were checked into and will be settled at the Sunday meeting when the schedule is drawn.

Tangle With Leafs

MONTREAL, May 6 (AP)—Montreal YMHA, their backs to the wall, tangle with Vancouver Clover Leafs tonight in the fourth game of the Dominion senior basketball finals and a triumph for Leafs will give them the crown. Masked Marvel Victor Again Taking Singh In Two Straight

The Masked Marvel remains undefeated in Peterborough—and elsewhere—after taking Nanjo Singh in two straight mat falls here last night before a big crowd in the Brock Arena. Despite Singh's reputation, he didn't gain a fall against the husky hooded one. Iron Mike Mazurki won the semi-final event from Tom Mahoney, while Mickey Gold took the prelim over Charley Harbin.

The Mask, who scales 257 pounds, won the first fall over the Hindu, going 230, in 27 minutes with a rolling slam after three times throwing him hard into the ring turnbuckles, using a hammerlock in the process. He started out in rough style and used his powerful physique to advantage as well as a lot of villainous stuff, and he paid no attention to repeated warnings by Referee Ernie Powers, a 250-pounder himself. Nanjo was no angel, either, and the fans had quite a time figuring which villain to cheer for. They finally settled, most of them, for the turbaned one.

Two Straight

It didn't take too long when they resumed for the Marvel to make it in two straight, though the squat and strong Hindu made it plenty tough for him and should have won. They mixed hard for a spell with everything going, and the referee warning each in turn as they played the ropes and used all the angles they knew. Then Nanjo went on a rampage, after a roughing up, and applied his dreaded "cobra hold"—and unconscious grip on each side of neck. He had the big Marvel groggy near a corner when the Mask suddenly lifted his feet into the ropes and threw Singh back, falling on him. He held him there for the one-two-three count and then sagged. But it was over then.

Iron Mike Mazurki, weighing 242, and wearing long light blue underwear, won over Tom Mahoney, at 240, in 21 minutes with a figure-four body scissors—his specialty—in a fair scramble. It was a popular fall as the Hollywood actor had most of the fans' support. Tom used a lot of rough stuff prior to the fall, with a front headlock and hair pulling and other tactics that kept the ref busy. Mike got in a powerful wristlock for a space and then when Mahoney was working up to a flying mare, Mike got into position to clamp on his peculiar scissors grip and it held for the count. Mike was rough at times, too, during this scrap.

Mickey Won

In the prelim, Mickey Gold (scaling 238) won from Charley Harbin, a 233-pounder with body slams. Gold was popular and he showed a lot of speed and class as well as a thorough knowledge of the mat game. Harbin was wise, too, but he played it a bit rougher and got the crowd down on him. He tugged Gold's hair and used other illegal stuff but Gold came back hard with drop kicks and elbow smashes to make it a real fight all the way, and he generally looked better throughout. Many fans said afterward that the prelim was the best one of the three bouts shown on the card.

Kramer, Stephens Clicking Trim Boston Red Sox 4-3

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston Red Sox' $375,000 deal for Junior Stephens, Jack Kramer and Ellis Kinder finally begin to look like good business.

Red Sox had their misgivings when wins failed to follow the cash outlay. Up to five days ago, neither Kramer nor Kinder had thrown a ball for Boston. Stephens, the boy who was supposed to knock holes in Fenway Park's left field wall, was hitting only .200.

The last few days have served to change that picture. Kramer won himself a ball game Saturday and Wednesday. Stephens hammered an 11th-inning homer than gave Kinder a relief decision.

Stephens' hitting surge is the most heartening development in the Boston camp. After smashing a homer opening day off Philadelphia's Phil Marchiondi, his power disappeared. Sunday he banged a home run off Joe Page of the Yanks and he had two hits in each of the last three games.

Telling Blow

Still far below par at .255, Stephens is beginning to find the Fenway range. Yesterday's clout off Dixie Trout was his most telling blow for Boston. It accounted for the Sox' 4-3 win over Detroit, their fourth straight victory.

Pittsburgh Pirates continue to sizzle in the National, rolling to their sixth straight win by edging Boston 3-2. They now lead the second place New York Giants by a full game.

Kirby Higbe, who relieved Elmer Riddle in the ninth, received credit for the win on a two-run rally with two out in the ninth.

Johnny Sain was the loser. Cincinnati's Ken/ Peterson making his first start of the season after five bullpen jobs, limited New York to five hits in fashioning a 5-2 victory. Homers by Johnny McCarthy, playing his first for the injured Johnny Mize, and Bobby Thomson provided the Giants' score.

McCarthy's two-run boot in the first put starter Sheldon Jones on the ropes. Grady Hatton hit a home run for the Reds in the third. The Phillies won a game for Chicago, 13-9, but lost the services of pitcher Schoolboy Rowe for at least two months. "Schooly" suffered a fractured thumb on his left hand when struck by a liner off Peanuts Lowrey's bat.

Although Rowe was hit freely before the accident, the Phils rallied to win for Sam Nahem. Rookie Ben Wade, up from Nashville, was charged with the loss. Andy Seminick rapped a three-run homer.

Rain washed out Brooklyn-St. Louis in the National, and St. Louis-New York and Cleveland-Philadelphia in the American.

Walt Masterson held Chicago to four hits in a night game at Washington, won by the Senators 6-0 before only 3,846 fans. Masterson had a no-hitter going until Luke Appling singled with one out in the sixth.

Remember When...
By The Canadian Press
A Canadian team won a world baseball championship? You'll have to be more than three-score-and-ten if you do—it happened in the 1860s. The victors were the Guelph (Ont.) Maple Leafs and the event was recalled 11 years ago today on the death in Winnipeg of Harry Steel, 91, who was a member of the championship team.

these men merely missed the weekly fight gatherings at the Garden—now in abeyance (like Rocky's title in New York) because of the circus and the battle with the managers' "guilt!" Those Friday nights were an institution," Francis maintains. "A lot of people liked to go there and see all their friends. And besides it gave them a chance to get away from their wives once a week."

Grimm Humor

When Charley Grimm, the Cubs' manager, recently encountered Milt Woodward, former Chicago sports writer who became general manager of the Grand Rapids, Mich., Jets of the Central League, Cholly bowed several times and followed up with a warm handshake. Asked about this unusual greeting, Grimm explained: "I have a new policy—always be good to general managers, because you never know when they might become your boss."

Smack!

During the recent Florida-Tampa University baseball game, Florida first baseman Bobby Forbes paused between innings to talk with an attractive cheer leader, Lee Robinson. Ab Bobby turned toward the plate, Lee remarked: "G'bye. Hit a home run." Forbes stepped up and smacked the one over the centre fielder's head for four bases. Just shows you what lengths some guys will go to make a hit with a gal.

Davis Cup Choice Accents Youth

MONTREAL, May 6.—(CP).—Canada's Davis Cup selection committee has announced it will place an emphasis on "youth and new faces" in selecting the Dominion's tennis squad, but where this new talent will come from is another question.

From here it looks like youthful "veterans," Henri Rochon and Brendan Macken, will lead the team into international tennis competition for the third straight year.

These two Montreal racket aces played singles against Mexico in 1946 and against the Australians last year. There appear to be few other singles players who have a chance of displacing them, although the make-up of the doubles team should be a wide-open affair.

F. S. B. Heward of Montreal, chairman of the selection com-

Flyers Trounce Senators In Decisive 5-3 Victory

CALGARY, May 6.—(CP).—Edmonton hockey enthusiasts began brushing off a resting place for Canada's most cherished amateur puck trophy—the Allan Cup—today.

Edmonton Flyers' decisive 5-3 victory over Ottawa Senators here Wednesday night was the cause. Victory in the fourth game of the game of the best-of-seven final series for the Canadian championship left Flyers holding a 3-1 lead in games.

Better finish around the nets by the speedy Edmonton sextet, and a questionable second period penalty to Senators, paved the way for the Edmonton victory.

Holding a marked edge in territorial play throughout the night, Senators failed to match Flyers' goal-mouth strategy and passed up numerous game-winning scoring chances.

The break for the opportunistic western champions, who earlier chalked up 6-2 and 7-0 victories in the first and third games of the series and dropped the second 3-2, came at the two minute mark of the second period after Stu Smith's first period goal had given Senators a 1-0 lead. Jake Irvine

Toronto Leafs Nose Out Jersey City 9-8

By The Associated Press

Business-looks good in the International League which drew a total of 57,344 fans to Tuesday's four "northern" openers.

The largest crowd, 15,367 turned out to see Rochester Red Wings, the last place team, make their first home start. They were rewarded with a win, too, for the Wings climbed all over the high-riding Syracuse Chiefs 11-4.

Bob Young and Bernie Cregar each drove in three runs for Rochester and Russ Derry slammed a homer in the 11-hit attack. Jodie Beeler topped the Syracuse batters with a homer and double.

Syracuse clung to a first-place tie despite the loss as Montreal also lost. The Royals dropped an 11-inning contest to Newark 6-3. Frank Laga's wildness and some shaky Montreal fielding allowed the Bears to score three in the 11th to give relief pitcher Dick Starr the nod over Frank Lagan, the second of three Royal hurlers. Two homers by Joe Collins kept the Bears in the ball game during the early stages and Al Gionfriddo homered for Montreal. The paid attendance was 14,739, second best.

Nose Out Giants

Toronto finally nosed out Jersey City 9-8, before 13,684 Maple Leaf fans in a wild affair. The Little Giants scored five in the ninth to go out front, 8-4, but Eddie Sawyer's Leafs came back with five runs on five hits. A triple by Jackie Albright was the winning blow. Johnny Welaj and Stan Lopata homered for the winners. Don Mueller did the same for Jersey City.

Buffalo loosed a home-run attack on Baltimore to earn a 6-3 edge. The crowd of 13,554 saw Anse Moore, Johnny Groth, and Coaker Triplett smash homers that accounted for five runs.

mittie, said yesterday that the accent will be on youth in naming the squad to meet Mexico here July 8, 9 and 10 at the Mount Royal Tennis Club courts, scene of the last two Davis Cup ties.

"It may mean some older players will have to stand aside," said Heward. He hoped the candidate will be able to get some warm-up training below the border under the watchful eyes of an experienced United States coach.

was banished for a tripping offence when he pulled the puck away from Johnny Black at the Ottawa blue line. Black fell to the ice after Irvine had taken two strides past him with the rubber.

Turning Point

It proved the turning point of the game. While Irvine was off, Flyers blasted two fast goals past goalie Legs Fraser and then proceeded to add two more before the period ended. Ottawa battled gamely in the final period, but never pulled within striking distance of the hardchecking Edmonton club.

Alex Pringle paced Edmonton with a brace of goals, while Mory Elmstad, defenseman, Bud McPherson, and Billy Mather tallied one each. Ottawa goals were banged home by Smith, George Greene and Frankie Mathers.

Pringle scored what proved to be the winning marker of the night mid-way through the second period when he finished off a pretty passing play with Freddy Snitten and Elmer Kreller that left Fraser helpless. Senators were two men short at the time with Connie Tudin and Lude Check off for tripping and holding infractions.

Legion-Petes Battle To Soccer Tie

Legion and Petes fought it out to a 1-1 soccer tie at King Edward Park on Wednesday evening before a goodly crowd. It was the second straight draw for the Petes. There are but three Old Country players in the lineup of these two teams.

The Petes early dominated the play as both sides kept up a fast pace. Legion came back strongly with J. Downer and T. Foster, Sr., hitting the crossbar. Jones saved neatly on Lane's drive. W. Post sent a 20-yard drive that nearly registered. Near the interval G. Downer dribbled his way in close to beat three men quickly and give the goal a chance. It was 1-0 for Legion at the half-time period.

The Petes went on the rampage on resuming, but T. Foster, Jr., and Art Downer, full and E. Lane kept off. Byers and E. Lane kept shooting the ball into the centre, with scrimmages resulting, and Jones had to be spectacular to save. Fouls were given frequently. W. Post broke up a raid by Legion to punt clear upfield to his forwards and Whitnall connected to equalize the count near the end.

Legion — A. Jones, goal; T. Foster, Jr., and Art Downer, backs; A. E. Smith, J. Wade, and C. Murdoff, half-backs; H. Foster, B. Woodcock, Jack Downer, T. Foster, Sr., and G. Downer, forwards; subs, H. Cottrell and Art Bromley.

Petes — E. Woodcock, goal; K. Downer and D. Downer, backs; W. Post, J. McMaster, full and E. Lane half-backs; H. Payne, J. Hennessey, J. Whitnall, L. Payne and N. Lane, forwards; subs, George Foster and J. Byers.

Referee—Asa Downer. Linesmen—Newt Downer and D. Gray.

Confederation Wins

Confederation Jrs. and Queen Mary Jrs. hooked up in softball game on the latter's grounds. Confederation won their second game of the season by stopping the West-enders 11-5. Both sides used two pitchers. The losers gave 2 walks while striking out 2. The winning pitchers issued 8 forced trips but fanned seven. Merrett hit a homer for the losers, while Manley, Parry and M. Bryn-a hit three batters for the winners. Goldie played best defensively for the winners.

The teams: Confederation—B. Davis, rf; T. Manley, ss; A. Dooleman, 3b; B. Bryan, 1b; M. Bryan, c; M. Parry, p; D. Goldie, 2b; P. Chesser, cf; B. Bolton, lf.

New Cricket Controversy Hits England

By SHAUN McQUILLAN

LONDON, May 6. — (CP). — When the Australian cricketers arrived in England, wittingly or otherwise, they started another of those cricket controversies.

A columnist of the London Evening Standard started things by saying that Australian cricketer Ernest Jones had once heaved a cricket ball through the massive beard of Dr. W. G. Grace, England's "grand old man of cricket."

At first, there were skeptics who maintained the beard of W. G. Never was subject to such an undignified assault. But C. B. Fry, who was playing against the Australians in the match, confirms the story.

It was said to have happened at Lord Sheffield's Sussex home, Sheffield Park, at the beginning of the Australians' tour in 1896.

Said Fry: "W. G. shouted in expostulation about this beardline ball. Jones replied: 'Sorry, doctor, she slipped.'"

But Charles Greenway, who played for Gloucester in the early 1890's, claims he also did the dirty deed. At practice on the Bristol ground, says Greenway, W. G. boasted one day that he had not been bowled at the nets for three weeks. Greenway accepted the challenge and upset his stumps; then another ball slipped out of his hand and went through the famous whiskers.

W. G. pulled a stump out of the ground, brandished it, and said: "Charles, if you do that again I'll so belabor you, you won't be able to sit for a week."

Then he smiled.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jockey Gordon Richards, who has ridden more winners than any other horse pilot in the world, observed his 44th birthday Wednesday at London by taking it easy. There was no flat racing in Britain anyway, so none of his rivals for honors this season made up any lengths. Richards mounted two winners Tuesday at Birmingham, bringing his total this year to 48 — 24 more than his nearest rival, Eph Smith. Richards' lifetime total is 3,518.

The weatherman lent a feeling of authenticity Wednesday as the Western Canada champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers opened a month's spring training at Winnipeg. It felt like football weather as Coach Jack West hustled the group of 40 Bomber hopefuls through a muscle-loosening exercise.

Leaving the favored Mark Hanna to finish seventh in the eight-horse field, Miss Pegasus Logan, a 21-1 shot, hit the winner's circle in the featured race at Santa Anita's harness racing Wednesday. Miss Pegasus Logan winner by a length over Stoney Grattan, paid $45.90, $15.60, and $7.30.

Australian golfer Norman Von Nida, leading money-winner in Britain last season, threw away his putter and driver in disgust Wednesday while taking an 83 in the Dunlop-Southport professional tournament at Southport, Eng. It was the highest score he ever carded in a British tourney. Von Nida has not won a penny in Britain so far this season.

Directors of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations on Wednesday announced at Toronto that no decision was made at their meeting on the application for re-instatement by owner-trainer Doug Ness. Ness, who topped all trainers at the time of his suspension at Woodbine Park two years ago, was suspended on Wednesday after ICRA officials claimed they found an electrical device known as an "agitator" in the pocket of a coat hanging in his stable.

The International Lawn Tennis Association Wednesday at London denied that the amateur status of Lennard Bergelin, Swedish Davis Cup star, was under investigation. "We have no complaint against Bergelin," an association

Barbara Ann Giving Last Amateur Show

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP).

Almost on the eve of her 20th birthday, Barbara Ann Scott will make what is probably her last amateur skating appearance here when she laces up her skates for the Rotary Club's charity ice revue which opens a three-day stand tonight.

The world and Olympic champion will celebrate her birthday Sunday in complete privacy at a small dinner in her hotel suite here, after filling one of the heaviest week's schedules in her 20 years.

Barbara Ann's mother said her popular daughter was physically exhausted and could think of no better birthday present than complete relaxation.

For the last few days of Barbara Ann's Toronto visit, has been spent hours visiting military, convalescent and children's hospitals rushing by taxi from one appointment to another. During the next few days her schedule is packed to capacity—not even capable of edging in another 15-minute appearance.

Ice Review

But the main appearance this week is the ice revue in which Barbara Ann will star with Dick Button of Englewood, N.J., world men's figure skating champion.

Both perfectionists on the ice Barbara Ann and Dick will pay their own way into the charity revue. All proceeds will be used in philanthropic work, mainly for children's institutions. However as a memento of their part in the entertainment, the two stars will receive a white morocco-bound program book, engraved in gold.

Barbara Ann is expected to sign away her amateur standing for an attractive offer, either from Hollywood or an ice show, after this appearance.

On A Scoring Spree

Central and Confederation played their second game of the junior school schedule on the latter's grounds. It was a slugfest with 43 runs being scored. Maxwell, Armstrong and Kelly hit

Cummings Plans To Make Film In Amazon Area

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, May 6 (AP)—Robert Cummings, one of the most ambitious of the star-producers, announces plans for the filming of an adventure drama in the Amazon jungle.

Cummings and Eugene Frenke who head United California productions, expect to start "Poisonous Paradise" next month in Brazil. Taken from the South American novel, "Jungle," the movie will be shot almost entirely in a six-week location in the Amazon Basin. The company will fly a full crew and cast to Brazil and Cummings plans to join them after he finishes "The Accused." He won't appear in the jungle drama.

Bob has other far-sighted ideas for his company. Of the seven films on the production slate, three are scheduled for filming abroad—in Brazil, France and Sweden.

Best-Laid Plans

Red Skelton's proposed summer tour has been erased by M-G-M, which has other plans ("Neptune's Daughter") for him. "And I haven't been out of this town since I got out of the army," moans Red. The comic, whose wife expects another child momentarily, will move his family to Bel-Air Home.

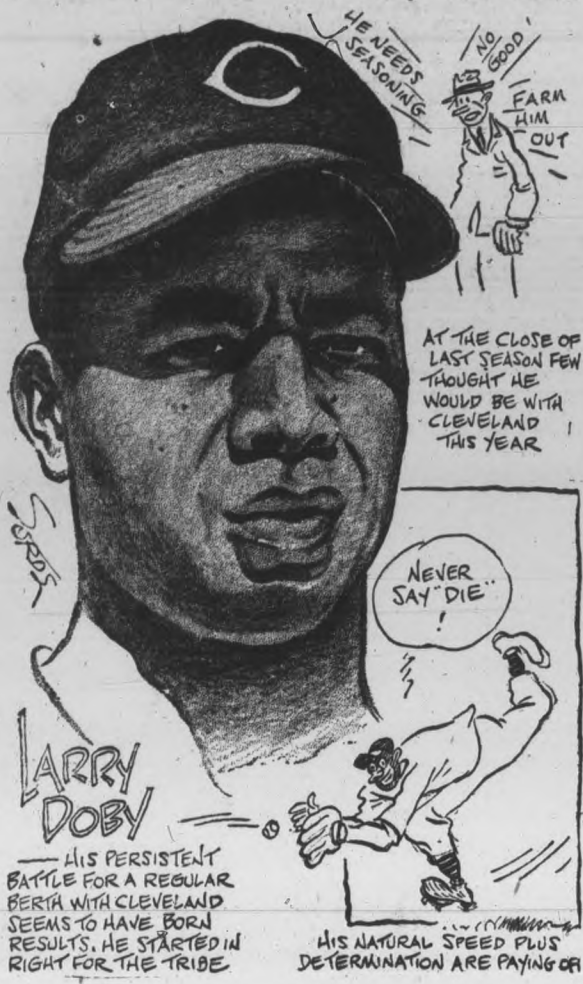

Greer Garson will really get the cheesecake treatment in the "Julia Misbehaves" ads. One of them has her dangling her legs (not bad, either) as she sits in a huge champagne glass. Brian Donlevy and M-G-M are still sparring over a new contract. Meanwhile, he's working in two Metro films, "Command Decision" and "Southern Yankee" releases.

Miscellany

Joe E. Brown now has offers to do a television commentary on New York Baseball games following his Chicago stint. A male stars understandingly happy about a big epic he just finished. He was paid twice for it—first when it was called off just before shooting time two years ago, second when it was finally made. Republic needed a crashed airplane for "Drums Along The Amazon." So the studio bought a surplus DC-4 and hauled it on a stage. Then workmen spent

Big Sulky Racing Program Planned

ARCADIA, Calif., May 6—(AP)—The Western Harness Association offers one of the most pretentious programs in the annals of sulky racing Saturday when three stakes worth around $75,000 in added money will be dished out to the winners.

General Manager Bernard Kearney said it would mark a high point in money distribution, as well as in top-flight horses, in 75 years of Grand Circuit racing. Top event is the $50,000 Golden West Trot, featuring such contenders as Rodney, Chestertown, Chris Spencer and others.

Sharing interest will be the $10,000 challenge pace.

Rider Fined $100

CAMDEN, N.J., May 6 (AP).—R. J. Martin, Garden State Park's leading rider, was fined $100 on Wednesday, and set down for 10 days. The track stewards handed Martin that penalty for "rough riding" and "careless handling" of his mount in the fifth race on Tuesday.

Marmora Rink Now Assured Says Officials

MARMORA, May 6—(ENS)—Plans for the Memorial District Memorial Recreation Centre are developing well. The contract has been awarded a Cannington contractor and foundation work will be started soon. The structure, without its seating accommodation will be ready for use for the Marmora Fair in September.

The district to which the centre will cater has been canvassed with good results. The mailing of circular letters to former residents has been speeded, so that funds are expected to substantially increase within the next month. Officials stated that the much needed rink is now a certainty.

Fans Enjoy Goodall Tourney

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., May 6—(AP)—The only ones who love the Goodall round robin golf tournament which starts here today are the fans. They think it is wonderful.

The players themselves, of whom there are always 16, habitually grumble that the event is unfair, and the only thing that makes them play in it is money in king-size quantities.

The United States Golf Association considers it a hybrid—neither match nor medal play—and not a true test of golfing superiority.

Together in one of the four foursomes were Bobby Locke, Henry Cotton, Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan.

In no other tournament could the customer hope to watch such a group in action all at once.

Eight-Color Poster Announces Olympics

Australia Places Bans On Horror Movies

SYDNEY, Australia, May 6—(CP)—The importation of "horror" films into Australia has been banned by the Chief Commonwealth Film Censor, J. O. Alexander.

Announcing his decision to ban this type of film, Mr. Alexander said they had no cultural or entertainment value and appealed to only a small section of the community who should be protected from them.

"In addition such films are a source of potential danger to women in a delicate state of health," added the censor.

Thriller, underworld and gangster films were not included in his classification of "horror" films.

Films already passed for general distribution would not be affected by the ban. Although no horror-type films were imported into this country in 1947, it is learned that there are about 26 films of the Frankenstein variety circulating in Australia today.

Cinemas banned them from their Saturday afternoon matinees and school holiday programs in 1946.

HER HE-MAN "HUSBAND" IS A SHE—Vida Lorene Danner (left) and her "husband," who looks like a big strapping hunk of man, are shown after they were taken into custody by Fresno, Calif., police on a charge of vagrancy following discovery that the couple who lived together for more than four years are both girls. The "husband," who worked as a cook in a local restaurant, was known as Carl Devine. The Carl should have been Cora. Vida worked in a tavern as Mrs. Carl Devine.

Everything But Athletics On Program In China's Seventh National Sport Meet

SHANGHAI, May 6—(AP).—China's seventh national athletic meet opened today with minimum confusion for things Chinese.

First, a six-hour traffic jam delayed the opening.

Then an unruly mob burst into the stadium, packed with 90,000, just as the national anthem was being played—and all the cops were standing at attention. The mob was beaten off by police clubs with a few cracked heads.

Three thousand trained pigeons took off—in fright—and in all directions—when Chinese air force planes zoomed low over the stadium.

Then the 90,000 spectators held their breath for the day's main event, an exhibition of Chinese paratroopers. It was called off—without explanation.

Finally, panting, torch-bearing runners from Nanking arrived with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's message. It was read by Major K. C. Wu.

Then 2,233 athletes from throughout Asia paraded.

P.S. In the only athletic event of the day, a Chekiang province soccer team beat Manila 6-3.

Finds Peterborough, England, Hospitable

Mrs. Les Groombridge Describes Beauty Of English Spring

Peterborough, England, has sent namesake and extended a cordial welcome to its Canadian visitor.

It was given by Mayor Edward Martin, his wife, and the Deputy Mayor, Mrs. H. Horrell to Mrs. Leslie R. Groombridge, Murray St. who is at present touring England.

In a letter to the Examiner telling of her reception Mrs. Groombridge wrote that the people there were very grateful to local residents for the gifts which have been sent to that austere-ridden country. The work of PCVS students in supplying a Mobile Kitchen was particularly appreciated.

Mrs. Groombridge wrote that Mayor and Deputy Mayoress gave freely of their time and company to show her the many historic sites of the city during her short visit.

She described the City Hall and Municipal Building as "the length and breadth of our own City Block," and apparently it is an imposing piece of architecture. It was designed by the same man who was the architect for the Southampton Town Hall, Berry W. Webber.

The Council Chamber has "a beautifully painted ceiling with the Peterborough Coat of Arms—a blue shield with two gold keys crossed. And it has two large canvases: one of Sir Humphrey Orme, chairman of the civil government authority at the beginning of the 17th century... and the other is of his wife, a dour, mournful looking woman."

This picture of Sir Humphrey was mutilated by Puritan swordsmen, as was his tomb in the Cathedral. The Mayor's parlor is almost half the size of the Council Chamber and is paneled in oak; each panel containing the portrait of a succeeding office-holder.

Office windows overlook an old priory below, and a restored portion of the King's Hunting Lodge which contains two bays of late 12th century vaulting.

"Breath-taking" was her adjective for the priory gardens which are blossoming forth in the full beauty of an English Spring. The Nene river replaces the Otomabee in the affections of the Northampton inhabitants.

Through these meadows by the river, now containing a large car park and an outdoor swimming pool, the Danish invaders swept in 872. And they were followed two hundred years later by Hereford the Wake from the Fen Country, who with his Danish allies made the last-ditch stand of Saxon England against the Norman Conquerors.

"Over in nearby Westwood stands a 600-year-old tower adjoining a grange with vivid frescoes still bright—including an excellent one of King David. Up in the loft is a piece of stone masonry used in ancient plumbing that would delight the heart of Sam-

Wartime Mines Removed From Coastline

By SHAUN McQUILLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 6. — (CP). — Britain's coastline, still showing scars of wartime anti-invasion preparations, is nearly mine-free again. By summer, it is expected holiday-makers will be able to wander about any seashore at will, except for a few black spots.

Of 2,000 minefields sown along the shores with 350,000 mines, only nine remain. German prisoners-of-war, who took over from British sappers, cleared 20 areas.

One of the largest uncleared areas is at Mundesley, Norfolk, now described officially as "a permanently fenced area." Here 1,000 land mines have become lost in a three-mile-long ledge, through the cliff being washed into the sea. Experts have not yet found a way to recover them.

A similar problem exists in two small areas at Folkestone, Kent, and Hastings, Sussex, where hundreds of tons of refuse was tipped onto mined areas.

Three of the last six land minefields now are being cleared in Dorset—at Worbarrow, Kimbridge and Swanage Bay, where the action of the water is washing the mines out to sea.

Use Water Jets

Biggest area is at Saunton Sands, Devonshire. To get at 50 mines embedded in sand dunes, water is being pumped three miles from a stream into high pressure water jets, mounted on armored tractors, to wash away sand so the mines can be detonated.

The remaining fields are on the Yorkshire coast, six miles south of Filey and at Mablethorpe, Lincolnshire. In each place only about half a dozen mines have been cleared.

At Weybourne, Norfolk — the heaviest minefields were laid in East Anglia—14 armored bulldozers were blown up while 4,000 mines were being cleared from a four-mile stretch of beach.

Some mines were located 20 feet under sand drifts.

"One of our main difficulties has been to locate minefields exactly," said one officer. "Many were laid in a hurry at the height of the invasion scare. Then units went overseas and plans were lost."

Freedom of the beaches has not been won without casualties. British accident toll to date is: Killed, 19 officers, 120 other ranks; wounded, nine officers, 37 other ranks. One German prisoner-of-war, described as "the keenest man on the job," was killed when he ignored his British NCO's warning, returned to check a spot, and stepped on a mine.

Except for the Mundesley, Folkestone and Hastings black spots which are permanently banned from the public, the "Mines All Clear" signal is expected to flash to the War Office before the end of May.

KINGSTON, May 6. — (CP). — W. J. Henderson, 31-year-old lawyer Wednesday night was nominated as Liberal candidate for Kingston riding in the June 7 Ontario election. The seat is now held by Dr. Harry A. Stewart, Progressive Conservative. Senator W. Rupert Davies proposed Lorne McDonnell as candidate but Mr. McDonnell declined. He agreed with Mr. Henderson's sponsors that a young man should represent the party.

uel Marchbanks. Ben Jonson mentions it."

After telling of her itinerary through some of the most beautiful parts of Great Britain, she sounds the jarring note: "At the moment there are 23,000 restrictions in England and I will be glad to be back in Canada."

Then she adds "But I must get my fill of England in Springtime while I can."

Injured Doe Finds A Home

ST. CROIX, N.B., May 6. — (CP). — Until last month a pint-size yearling doe was the loneliest creature in all New Brunswick's forests. Since her first timid peep into the border settlement she has been shot at, chased by dogs, injured and nearly drowned.

But now she is in sympathetic and knowing hands.

Two farmers, Percy Christie and Bert Smith, watched the yearling as dogs chased her into the St. Croix river one afternoon. In trying to escape she broke her leg.

The farmers pulled her from the stream as she was floundering to keep from going under. Christie took her home, treated the swollen hock and built a pen for her.

Still fear-crazed, the doe tried to scale the wall of her pen during the night, but didn't make it. Christie found her next morning, huddled on the ground with the leg broken again.

A veterinary was called in and it looked as if the unlucky fawn would have to be destroyed. But Christie decided to try again.

The doe was anaesthetized and the break set and supported with a splint. She is now able to hobble about, nibbling at food and has quieted down. Christie intends to keep her for a pet.

Church Extension Fund Approved

KINGSTON, May 6.—(CP).—Formation of a church extension fund was approved in principle Wednesday at the 82nd annual meeting of the Diocese of Ontario Synod of the Church of England.

Acting on the suggestion of Bishop John Lyons, made in a pastoral charge Tuesday delegates named a committee to study the feasibility of setting up a fund of $50,000. Rev. Minto Swan of Portmouth was appointed chairman.

Rev. Ernest Teskey of Kingston reported growth in the diocese during the year. He said church population increased by 316, with 526 more contributors.

Hiding In Britain

LONDON, May 6.—(AP).—The Daily Herald reported Wednesday that Lt.-Col. J. D. Tessa-jew, a Russian officer who the Russians say was kidnapped in Germany by Americans, is in hiding in Britain as a political refugee. Tessa-jew, a Russian reparations official, disappeared in Bremen recently.

KEEPING ORDER IN JERUSALEM—With a British-enforced truce prevailing, and a possibility that the International Red Cross may be permitted to administer the Holy City, troops continue to maintain constant patrol throughout Jerusalem. Above, a soldier in a British Bren gun post barricaded

Salvation Army Leaves N. China

TORONTO, May 6.—General A. Orsborn, international leader of the Salvation Army, said Wednesday the work of his organization is going ahead in most parts of the world with the exception of North China, where the Communists suppress the movement.

Addressing the Empire Club, the church leader told of the Army's work during the war and what it is doing and will continue to do to aid rehabilitation of the world. He stressed the spiritual needs, rather than physical needs, before this program can be completed.

In Finland and Norway there is a healthy spiritual reaction at the present time, he said. The Salvation Army is particularly strong in Norway. Work in India, where many members have lost homes and jobs through the "population movement" following recent riots is also progressing.

"In China we are executing what would be called a 'strategic withdrawal,'" he said. "We never interfere with politics, but the Communists refuse to believe this. Their antagonistic views have forced us to send our European members to Shanghai—the Chinese members are staying on to continue their work."

Liquor Problem Worries Synod

KITCHENER, May 6 (CP).—Concern about "grievous and unprecedented consumption of alcoholic beverages" was expressed Wednesday in a report placed before the Toronto and Kingston Synod of the Presbyterian Church, meeting here.

Support of the Lord's Day Act and resistance against the "encroachments upon our liberty to maintain the use of the day for public worship," was also advocated.

A committee recommended exploration of the possibility of bringing to Canada Presbyterian immigrants from the United Kingdom.

Urging study of the consumption of alcohol, the report suggested the general assembly of the church be asked to acknowledge the "increasing intemperance of the people of our land is a sign of God's displeasure."

The problem "cannot be completely solved by either legislation or education, but must finally become a matter of individual moral responsibility."

The synod asked the provincial government to pass legislation permitting persons rejected by church law to enjoy a secular form of the marriage contract.

Application Filed To Probate Will

TORONTO, May 6.—(CP).—Application was filed today for probate of the will of the late Alexander Burton Gordon, lumber man, who died March 24, leaving an estate valued at $1,550,513.

Mr. Burton was born at Pembroke and later carried on business in North Bay, moving to Toronto about 40 years ago.

After providing legacies for his brother and sisters and certain employees and an annuity for his widow, the residue of the estate is to be divided among his son and daughters.

He is survived by his widow, the former Freda Fell, a son, Thomas A. Gordon of Guelph, and two daughters, Mrs. Ray O'Reilly, of Sudbury, and Mrs. Marjorie Smith of Montreal.

Demand Meat Industry Explain Holdings Increase

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP).—Chairman Paul Martin told the Commons Price Committee today that the meat industry must explain why cold-storage holdings of meat had risen sharply at the same time as prices went up.

"I feel that this is the crux of the problem," said Mr. Martin, who has warned that his committee plans to get the bottom of the prices problem. "I may be wrong but these figures have to be explained."

The committee had just received a Dominion Bureau of Statistics' report that cold-storage holdings of beef are more than double last year's level and that pork holdings are almost double.

The bureau reported that at April 1, this year there were 35,900,000 pounds of beef in storage, compared with 16,000,000 at the same time last year. Pork holdings were 86,900,000 compared with 44,100,000. Veal and mutton holdings in cold-storage warehouses were also much heavier this year than last.

Peak beef holdings were reached last February when Canadian warehouses held 45,700,000 lbs. Pork holdings have risen since last October but committee witnesses have testified that large quantities are being held in Canada for the British Government. Committee members disagreed over the significance of the large stock of beef held in cold storage.

"If slaughterings are up and cold storage holdings are up, you would expect prices to go down instead of up," Ross Thatcher (CCF, Moose Jaw) said. "If the reason isn't that it's being held for the United Kingdom, it would look like hoarding to me."

Robert McCubbin (L., Middlesex West) expressed belief Mr. Thatcher's answer would be found in increased consumer demand.

Mr. Martin said packing company officials will be questioned about the size of beef holdings. Representatives of Canada Packers are scheduled to appear for a second time tomorrow.

Too Few Nurses Now In Training Says Nurse

VICTORIA, B.C., May 6.—(CP).—Too few nurses are being produced in nursing schools, Miss Evelyn Mallory, president of the British Columbia Registered Nurses' Association, said in an address here.

"Furthermore, those they are producing," she said, "are inadequately equipped to fulfill functions of the professional nurse in present-day society."

Public health was moving more actively into the field of mental hygiene and health and social aspects of nursing should be incorporated into the educational program throughout the entire period of training.

"Nursing education should not continue to be the financial responsibility of hospitals any more than is medical education."

Attlee And Eden Both Agree Third World War Not Inevitable

By JAMES MCCOOK

LONDON, May 6 (CP).—Prime Minister Attlee and Anthony Eden, both front-line war veterans, Wednesday told the House of Commons of their horror at talk of a third world war and agreed that it is not inevitable. Concluding a two-day debate on foreign affairs, held in the shadow of anxiety over Communist expansion in Europe, Attlee said:

"It is utterly wrong and dangerous to talk of war as being inevitable. I do not believe it... If there is a drift to war, and if war does arrive, it will be because someone changed his arm (taken a chance) too far."

Eden, deputy leader of the Conservative Opposition, said: "I do regard the present international situation as very dangerous but I do not regard it as desperate."

Government and Opposition spokesmen came together on another subject—that the British commonwealth must be part of the new pattern of regional collective security agreements such as suggested by Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Canada's external affairs minister, in a speech in the Canadian House of Commons last week and commended by Foreign Secretary Bevin in opening the debate Tuesday.

Early Conference

Eden recommended an early conference of commonwealth statesmen on world questions. Attlee replied that the commonwealth had been informed of steps leading to the five-power western union and he believed that its leaders approved. Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg at Brussels signed a 50-year defence, economic, social and cultural treaty March 17 and now are working out common military defence plans.

The Prime Minister said that Britain planned to have a Commonwealth conference as soon as possible.

Attlee said it had been suggested that the Western union might make Britain closer to Western Europe than to the Commonwealth. But Commonwealth members "are our closest friends after all. I want to get as close as we can to others, but we have to bear in mind that we are not solely a European power but a member of a great Commonwealth and Empire."

Eden said in this connection that there is one condition to the closest co-operation with our countries and "it is that the Empire is with us in the conception and execution of that plan (the Western union) at every stage."

The former Foreign Secretary said there was "no provocation or menace of war" in the project to create a Western European union and he thought there were "men in the Kremlin far-seeing enough to understand this."

Konni Zilliacus, left-wing Labor member for Gateshead, Durham, and one of the 21 "rebels" given an ultimatum to accept the party foreign policy line or be expelled, caused an uproar in the House when he said that Opposition members looked on Fascism as the last line of defence of the existing social order.

"That's not true," came cries from all over the House.

Freight Derailment

Wilson Drinks Russian 'Under The Table'

LONDON, May 6 (Reuters).—Harold Wilson, 32-year-old British Trade Minister, claimed publicly today that he was "probably the only one of His Majesty's ministers who has drunk a Soviet minister under the table."

He did not name the Russian. Wilson, who conducted last year's successful trade negotiations in Moscow, was speaking at a luncheon at the British Industries Fair.

Just Doing His Duty Consul-General Says

TORONTO, May 6 (CP).—H. Earl Russell, United States consul general in Toronto, said Wednesday he was "simply doing my duty" when he supported a United States firm's application for Ontario trucking privileges before the Ontario Municipal Board.

Mr. Russell was commenting on an announcement in the House of Commons Tuesday night by External Affairs Minister St. Laurent that his department had asked whether the state department instructed the consul-general to appear before the board.

The firm sought authority to transport goods in bond through Ontario from Detroit to Buffalo. As his job is to represent U.S.

citizens and interests in Ontario, Mr. Russell said he could not understand why anyone could object to him supporting the firm's appeal.

"The question falls squarely within my jurisdiction," he said.

Stranded Fliers Spend 30-Below Night In Igloo

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., May 6 (CP).—Igloo for rent—apply McLeod and Horley, real estate agents.

It's doubtful if the housing shortage will get that tough, but for anyone interested, that sign can be found atop an igloo 400 miles north of here by two men who claim it is in good condition. H. B. McLeod and William Horley should know—they lived in it.

The two men—a pilot and an engineer for Saskatchewan Government Airways—built the igloo when their aircraft force-landed and smashed a ski at Black Lake. The snow hut came in very handy when a blizzard blew up during their four-day stay in the bush.

During the first day they made radio contact with an operator at their destination, Stony Rapids, 45 miles north. But the message was garbled in transmission and a rescue plane was sent to Wollaston Lake, 100 miles to the southwest, and then on to Stony Rapids.

Pilot Missed Them
On its return to Prince Albert it flew low over the stranded pair but the pilot failed to see them.

Then they built their igloo. Using a butcher knife and shovel, McLeod and Horley cut and trimmed snow block for the hut. Knowing the rescue plane had missed them they again radioed their position to Stony Rapids.

The weather had been warm until then, but that night the temperature fell to 30 below and McLeod and Horley took their sleeping bags into the igloo. They said they spent the night in comparative comfort.

The rescue plane arrived the next day. But before leaving they gave the igloo a spring cleaning and erected the large "for rent" sign.

Canning Factory To Be Built In Millbrook

MILLBROOK, May 6. (ENS)—Millbrook Municipal Council on Monday received a request from the Agricultural Society asking for a grant in connection with the annual Livestock Show on June 10. On motion of Councillors Fallis and Ball, a grant of $50 was made.

H. W. Bremner was granted permission to operate a garage on the premises lately occupied by the Millbrook Electric. The Millbrook Library Board was given a grant of $100. James Godfrey addressed the council asking permission for the Legion to hold a tag day in Millbrook on May 8, and a Sports Day and Street Dance on July 1. The requests were granted.

Ex-Warden Percy Stinson addressed Council, giving a prospectus of a Hamilton canning company, regarding a canning factory they contemplate establishing on the west side of Tupper St. N. The blueprints presented, showed position and dimensions of the buildings, the water supply and disposal of waste material. The clerk was instructed to write to the company, pledging the full co-operation of the council in anything that would promote the success of this undertaking and work to the good of the Municipality.

The clerk was instructed to order 150 feet of fire hose at $1.75 a foot. Councillor Ball introduced a request from the pastor of the Pentecostal church, Peterborough, for the use of the Municipal Waiting-Room to hold meetings the week of May 16 to 22. The clerk was instructed to advise that the council granted the use of the waiting-room the evenings of May 20-May 23.

The following accounts were presented and ordered paid: Docon Telephones Ltd., $5.69; B. D. Armstrong, dragging road, $2; Library Board, grant, $100; Millbrook Hydro, $77.22; Smith Garage, gas and oil, $20.40; Coulter Bros., Ltd., $2.13; Harry Elgar, labor, $12; W. S. Kennedy, dragging roads, $10.50; Howard Lunn, labor, $4; J. J. Kellett, salary, $1.25; Municipal World, supplies, $5.08.

Fire Chief D. Sheppard reported on a practice held. The clerk reported $45 paid out in direct relief in April.

Says Canadian Overbuying Upsets Economy

TORONTO, May 6. (CP).—Canadians are trying to crowd too much into the present, Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, vice-principal of Queen's University, said in an address prepared for delivery Wednesday night to the annual dinner of the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association.

With limitations and resources and manpower "we are bidding for a flow of goods and services which the economy is not producing."

"In proportion to our population we have in the last year and a half taken from ourselves something more than we had planned of the world's output of goods and services."

No Extra Goods

"We are in process of increasing our capacity to produce, but to produce in the future. People are receiving incomes because they are engaged in construction or selling construction materials or other capital goods, but there is no commensurate increase in the outflow of consumer goods."

"This and the resistance of the consumer to any curtailment of his newly-acquired standard of living now are the chief active forces behind the rise in prices since 1945."

Dr. Mackintosh said that "the problems which confront us should not blind us to what has been accomplished."

"There has been a great expansion of our manufacturing capacity; a great deal of modernization of plants and equipment. We have made little headway in reducing the backlog of demand for housing, but we have probably built more housing units in proportion to our population than any other country. There has been an impressive improvement in farm buildings and equipment."

Instal Havelock H and S Officers

HAVELOCK, May 6. (ENS)—annual installation meeting of the Home and School Association on Monday evening was one of the largest meetings of the season.

Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officiated at the installation ceremony when Mrs. James Wilde was installed as president for the third term.

The officers are: President, Mrs. J. Wilde; vice-president, Mrs. B. Jewel; secretary, Mrs. W. J. Nobes; treasurer, Mrs. F. Bennett; high school representatives, Principal L. Cooke, Miss J. Benning; public school representatives, Principal W. M. Patterson, Miss K. Morton; pianist, Mrs. F. Hampton; program convener, Mrs. F. McKay; convener—assistants, Mrs. D. Kirk, Mrs. G. Hubbel; health convener, Mrs. L. Cooke; refreshment committee, Mrs. R. Vansickle, Mrs. R. Pollock.

Dr. H. T. Scott, chiropractor, of Campbellford, gave an address on "Health Through Chiropractic."

A solo was sung by Mrs. S. Southward with Mrs. F. Hampton accompanying.

The pupils from the rooms of Miss A. Gillies and Miss G. Hunter presented a program of vocal solos, recitations, readings and group singing. The attendance shield was won by Miss Hunter's room.

Four Million Eggs Deer Lake Hatchery Told

TORONTO, May 6.—Maskinonge spawning by hatchery experts of the Department of Lands and Forests has now been completed, with more than four million green eggs having been collected. It is expected that over three million fry and fingerlings will be distributed in the Department's restocking program. This is considered by those who understand maskinonge culture to be a good percentage of the original collection.

The year's take was average, although conditions had been against the spawning operations. At first the weather was warm but it had turned cold before the operations were finished. The fish also moved very slowly to the spawning beds. However, despite the conditions restocking will probably be above normal.

Eagerly sought prize of Canadian and American fishermen, the maskinonge presents many problems in its culture. For the first 12 days of their existence, the fry feed on an egg sac which is attached to the body. When this is absorbed, the fry require live food and, being cannibalistic, will eat their own kind unless other food is provided. At the Deer

Lake Hatchery special ponds are maintained for this type of live food. Minnows are the customary food used, but sucker fry and carp fry have been tried with good success.

According to departmental records, one experiment which started out with 32 fingerlings ended when only one muskie minnow remained—an example of the survival of the fittest or most voracious fish.

Over a period of years, many states such as Michigan and Wisconsin have tried to raise maskinonge to fingerling or larger sizes, but Ontario, it is believed, has had more success than any of the neighboring States or Provinces. Experts claim maskinonge will eat their weight of live food every day.

Robinson Denies He's Communist

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 6. (AP).—Reid Robinson, CIO union organizer, who denied a charge by the Canadian government that he is a Communist, was released here Wednesday by a Canadian immigration official.

Arriving by train from Toronto, Robinson said:

"The decision of the Ontario Supreme Court was not unexpected. The court refused to take jurisdiction which left the decision of the Minister of Mines and Resources for (my) deportation stand."

Robinson said he was deported for "union activity." He said his conscience is "crystal clear in restating my denial of the ridiculous charges of advocating violent overthrow of the Canadian government."

He said he planned to leave here "by the earliest plane" to rejoin his family in Chicago.

Robinson said he would "carry on the ordinary functions of international vice-president of the union in the United States."

Robinson said he was not em-

Catholic Schools Field Day Produces Keen Competition

Overcast skies and the occasional fine spray of rain on Wednesday were unable to dampen the enthusiasm of 465 students who participated in the first annual St. Peter's High School-Separate School joint field day at Exhibition Park. Besides the high school contestants, there were others from Grades Seven and Eight of Immaculate Conception, Sacred Heart, St. John's, St. Mary's and St. Peter's Schools.

Champion High School boy was Bill Rudkins, Grade 13, with 17 points, and champion girl in the same class was Mary McTeague with 11 points. Top athletes from the Separate Schools were Glen Shaughnessy, St. John's, with 11 points and Lois Johnston, St. John's, with 9 points.

St. Peter's added to its laurels by sweeping through the field sports with a total of 70 points. Grade 13 with 39 points will hold the form championship for a year. Prizes will be donated before 1:30 p.m. on Friday on the St. Peter's lawn.

Field events were divided into junior and senior sections in both the high school and separate school groups. They included sprints, standing and running broad jumps, high jump, softball throwing for distance and also for accuracy, relay races, marble race, horseshoe pitch, three-legged race, and bicycle race.

Although the last entry on the program, the bicycle races provided more thrills than any other. Spectators shouted themselves hoarse as the contestants jockeyed for positions as they pedalled around the half-mile dirt track. "It has all the thrills of a horse race with the human element thrown in," said one parent as he watched from the grandstand. Although it was defeated by St. Peter's, despite its small size, St. John's made a better than creditable showing.

His Excellency Bishop G. Berry addressed those present in an opening exercise. Relay races and sprints proved particularly popular, but the three-legged race with its complement of skills, spills and laughs was also enjoyed by both the contestants and the spectators.

In each event the winner received three points, second, two points, and third, one point. Rev. J. Coughlin and Rev. J. Houlihan of St. Peter's staff had charge of the events. They were ably assisted by several parents. The results:

Carpet Workers To Vote Soon

In a letter addressed to all Brinton Carpet employees and distributed at the mill gates this morning, John Beggs, president of local 293 United Packinghouse Workers of America and past president of the Allied Labour Council of Peterborough and District, urged the employees of that company to support the Textile Workers Union of America in the vote to be held soon to determine the bargaining agency. Beggs emphasized in his letter, the improvements that had been made in wages, hours of work, vacations and in working conditions, since the establishment of unions in the Peterborough area.

The current vote was brought about by a petition of the TWUA for bargaining rights in the carpet mill. About a year and a half ago, a vote was held in the mill and although the textile workers union polled a majority of the votes cast, it failed to get a majority of all those eligible and subsequent to this vote, an agreement was signed between the company and the United Carpet Workers Association, an independent union.

Last summer, TWUA petitioned the board for bargaining rights claiming that the agreement signed between the company and the association was not a valid agreement due to the fact that it had been submitted to the workers for approval and by majority vote it was turned down. The

Wm. G. Martin Engineer Dies

HAVELOCK, May 6 (ENS)—The funeral took place today (Wednesday) of a highly respected resident of the village, William George Martin 73, who has lived here for 40 years. The service, held in Knox Presbyterian church, was conducted by Rev. J. Davey of Toronto, a former minister, assisted by Rev. F. R. Vandenberg of Havelock United church. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Mr. Martin died at his home on Monday following an illness of six months. He was born in Campbellford, a son of the late John Martin and Susannah Hooper. Prior to coming to Havelock he lived in Norwood. A Presbyterian in religion he served for 12 years as elder and 24 years on the board of managers of Knox church and also saw a lengthy period of service in the choir. He was a member of the Havelock council for 5 years. He followed railroading as an occupation since coming here and was superannuated as a C.P.R. engineer in 1939. Surviving besides his widow, Amy Yule, are two daughters, Mrs. Fred Bennett (Elma), of Havelock, and Miss Marguerite Martin, of Ottawa; a sister, Mrs. Burton Dulmage, of Dartford; two brothers, Charles of Warkworth and Thomas of Rochester, N.Y.; two granddaughters, Misses Beverley and Shirley Bennett of Havelock.

HISTORY IS MADE

For more than a century the parade ground near the Armouries has been used exclusively by army units for training and inspection. Last night, the sea cadets were inspected there, and it is believed to be the first time that a naval unit has taken over the parade ground. Former inspections were on the market square.

79 Sea Cadets Inspected At Armouries

Annual inspection of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps took place on Wednesday evening at the Collegiate grounds. Lt. Cmdr. J. A. Crist RCN and Lt. Cmdr. D. F. Olive RCN, Sea Cadet Area Officers, HMCS Donnacona, Montreal, were the inspecting officers. Four divisions, consisting of 79 cadets including 10 cadets from the Omemeke Corps, were on the parade. Three divisions and the corps guard carried arms. The colors were marched on parade and the Corps presented arms. The march past was carried out in column of route and line of divisions and the salute was taken by Lt. Cmdr. Crist.

The Corps was then inspected by the officer taking the salute in company with the commanding officer, Lt. J. B. Raine RCSC, the officer in charge of the Omemeke division, Lt. R. Naylor RCSC, and the divisional officers. The whole march past was carried out by the Corps under the command of the petty officers with Cadet CPOF Simmons in charge. Lt. W. S. Gardner RCSC was officer in charge of the parade.

After the inspection, the cadets marched back to their ship, RCSC Howe, where they were addressed by the inspecting officers. Lt. Cmdr. Crist praised the cadets for their smart turnout, and said he was pleased to see the petty officers doing most of the work, showing that they were capable of taking the responsibility of their ranks.

Lt. Cmdr. Olive gave the cadets some details of the summer camp to be held August 16-28 at Cholsy, Quebec. Cadets will be formed into dinghy, cutter and whaler crews. It is hoped that the whaler crews, picked from the senior cadets, will go on sailing trips lasting from 36 to 48 hours. A Regatta Day will be held and there will be a full-time swimming instructor. He emphasized that the cadets would have to take charge themselves and look after themselves, and that the more privileges they would get.

40-Year Dream Of Going Home To China Delayed As Hum Hoy Taken Seriously Ill

After all his preparations to return to China, Hum Hoy, who operated the Paris Cafe, George Street, for 40 years, will not be on the ship which sails from San Francisco May 27. He had already prepared to sever his connections here, but he became seriously ill. He is a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital.

With only a few days to go, Mr. Hum took sick suddenly Tuesday afternoon. His tickets have been cancelled and his trunks, filled with gifts for his wife, four daughters and son, will remain locked. His brother, Henry Hum, has cancelled his passage too, and will remain in Peterborough.

Enumerators Work Fast To List Qualified Voters

Enumerators of voters in the provincial elections June 7 were reported this morning on the city polling subdivisions. Their duty is to call at every dwelling place and list the names of qualified electors.

Library Board Hires Architect

Canada's best known library architect, L. G. Bridgman, of London, Ontario, is making a study of the Public Library with a view to modernizing the whole building. He has been retained by the Library Board to make a study and see what improvements could be made to the present building. The Board visited the London Public Library and was greatly impressed with the fine work done there.

Mr. Bridgman visited the library today for the second time, he said he hoped to have his plans completed within a few weeks. They will include new features now being incorporated in the most modern libraries.

"The big thing is replanning a new library," said Mr. Bridgman, "is to give the public the additional features demanded today. These include accommodation for films, records, art exhibits and various exhibition groups and an auditorium, where small concerts and lectures can be given. The auditorium should be equipped with a stage and the facilities of a miniature theatre."

The whole general book arrangement of public libraries has been changed to have books more accessible to the reader," he continued. "Most lighting in old libraries is just about obsolete. Color schemes are being introduced to get rid of the dreary atmosphere of most old libraries."

Mr. Bridgman designed the London public library, which is the most modern and up-to-date in Canada and is visited by people from all over the world. He is at present planning about 14 libraries in different cities, including Sudbury, Kitchener, St. Thomas and Brantford.

They are also required to prepare six copies of their lists. One will be posted at some central place in each subdivision. Each of the three candidates in the riding also receives a copy; another is supplied to the city clerk and the returning officer, Mr. D. J. Lawrie, will also have a copy in his office.

If there is no response at any home, that is if there is no person to answer the call of the enumerator and provide the names of qualified voters living there, an effort is made to obtain the names from a neighbor. When that is done, the enumerator leaves a special form at the house indicating the names received by that means, and also including the name of the informant.

A responsibility rests with the voter to see that his name is on the list. If he has any doubt about that essential to his obtaining a ballot on the day of election, he will have an opportunity of applying to revising officers who will be available next week. The places and time of those sittings will be published in the Examiner.

Qualified voters are every man and woman of 21 years, British subjects and not disqualified by any provisions of the Election Act "or otherwise prohibited from voting". The voter must also have been a resident of the polling subdivision at the date of the issue of the writ of election.

Stewart Horse Wins 4th Race

Hugh Stewart's gelding "Stewart Direct" won another race Tuesday in his California campaign.

"I had a wire that night from Clint Hodgins who is in charge of my horse that he won this mile event in the time of 2:03," Mr. Stewart said today. "Trackmen would say, I think, that time was pretty fair. The pace stake was won last Saturday in 2:33. That was a mile and a quarter and it was run on an off track. That gives Stewart Direct four firsts in the six races he ran. Hodgins is coming east about the middle of this month, and will handle the horse during a summer campaign, but without giving him too much work. The program will be considered later when we get close to the new season."

City Expanding Northward Posing Building Problems

Those pressure twins, stress and strain, have transferred their energy from the North Monaghan to the Smith border of the city. They are remote instigators of the public meeting to be held Monday night next at Queen Elizabeth School to discuss the prospect of annexation. It is understood that the township council and the section school trustees recently decided to submit the problem of additional school accommodation to the ratepayers.

Ald Gordon Armstrong reported to the City Council Monday that he had interviewed the Smith council last afternoon in regard primarily to acquiring new housing property on that side of the city. With houses come children and increased school enrollment.

Queen Elizabeth school section is not particularly interested in the city's straining on its seams and encroaching upon the lands of the neighboring townships. Peterborough is now digesting the big bites it took of North Monaghan, has nipped several blocks off Smith. Latest annexation was the Brookdale property; but another housing project is edging further to the north along the west side of Chemong Road. This movement is not agitating

MAJOR M. E. CLARKE

Major M. Clarke 20 Years An Army Officer

Major Maxwell E. Clarke, 51 Robinson Street, second-in-command of the 50th HAA Regiment (PWR) RCA, Peterborough's HAA regiment, was presented with a Canadian Efficiency Decoration, coveted officer decoration of the Canadian Army, last night, by Lt.-Col. V. M. Eastwood, MC, ED, at a full regimental parade of the unit.

The decoration is awarded for twenty years' service as an officer, with war service being given special consideration. Major Clarke commenced service with "C" Company, 4th CGMC and Prince of Wales Rangers in 1935, and in June, 1940, joined the S D & G Highlanders, with whom he went to England. He did considerable staff work with HQ 3, Canadian Infantry Division, and HQ's 11 and 1 Canadian Infantry Brigades, winding up his active force career with Army HQ in Europe. He successfully passed the Canadian War Staff Course from 1942 to 1943, and on return to civilian life took an active interest in the Prince of Wales Rangers, later the present 50th HAA Regiment (PWR) RCA, becoming first a battery commander and now second-in-command. Major Clarke is a former student of PCVS, 1926-28.

WILD PITCH
A minor Waterloo crushed two celebrants on Water Street last night. The pair were meandering unsteadily along carrying a case of amber fluid to further reinforce their already high spirits. One was half-way across the street when the other, standing on the curb, decided that his fragile bundle should not be his responsibility. Yelling at his comrade, he heaved the heavy load in the general direction. The throw missed. Sorrow reigned. The score: 9 pints broken, 15 intact. — R B

City's Tribute to Princess Expressed in Food Parcels Final Report Submitted

At least 488 families in the United Kingdom will receive much-needed food parcels as a result of money subscribed by citizens of Peterborough city and county in the recently sponsored Princess Elizabeth Gift Fund campaign. Gifts will be sent through the Personal Parcel Service organized in November, 1946, by Lady Reading, chairman of the WVS in Great Britain. After careful investigation Lady Reading said the WVS had found that 300,000 families were greatly in need of extra nourishment. These families have all been investigated and their names are not on any other list, nor have they hitherto received any overseas food parcels.

NICE HIGHWAY—Straight as the proverbial string, No. 9 Highway stretches for 29.7 miles between Mono Mills and Arthur, communities that are more than 100 years old. This is a typical section of the road, rated as longest straight piece of provincial highway in Ontario. Safer for pedestrians with its wide, grassy shoulders, No. 9 is "Main Street" for school children.

4,871 Tattooes World Record

WINNIPEG, May 6.—(CP).—When "Sailor Joe" Simmons sticks out his lower lip he's not pouting. He's merely showing off one of the 4,871 tattoos which give him claim to the title of the world's most tattooed man.

Joe says he's the only man in the world who's tattooed inside the mouth. He claims that the "Lord's Prayer in Chinese" is etched on his lower lip.

The tattoos were counted by Robert ("Believe It or Not") Ripley some years ago when Joe was appearing at the World's Fair in Chicago. Sailor Joe accumulated them in almost every port in the world. He did a 10-year hitch with the United States Navy.

His pride is a huge tattoo on his back entitled "Sinbad in the Valley of Jewels." It required three quarts of ink and took two years to finish. It was done in Shanghai between voyages.

On the lobe of each ear Joe has a small, five-pointed star. "I never have to worry about losing these ear-rings," he chuckles. He's a tattoo artist himself, has completed more than 100,000 tattoos in his lifetime.

Quits For Luck

"The craziest skin job I ever took on was when a character walked into my shop and asked me to put the Dionne quintuplets on his chest — thought they'd bring him luck. He was a wrestler," said Joe.

Another of his clients is an English peer who several years ago had Joe etch a regimental crest on his arm.

Joe has toured with Ringling Brothers' circus, appeared at both Chicago and New York World's Fairs. Last winter he tattooed 400 race-horses on their lower lips for identification purposes.

Many naval veterans will remember Joe's shop on North Barrington Street in Halifax. "But Halifax is only one of hundreds of seaports I've operated in. Sailors the world over know old sailor Joe," he hurriedly to add.

"And once I've sketched them it'll never come off... not even modern surgery can remove a tattoo. The Mayo Brothers have tried and failed."

Joe was in Winnipeg recently to appear with a show.

Empire Youth Sunday On May 9 This Year

TORONTO, May 6.—(CP).—May 9 has this year been designated as Empire Youth Sunday, the day when young people throughout Canada, the Commonwealth and Empire are reminded of the ideals of the Empire Youth Movement.

Following the practice of previous observances, a special service will be held in Westminster Abbey, with the King and Queen and Princess Margaret attending.

The Empire Youth Movement, founded in 1938 by Major F. J. Ney of the National Council of Education of Canada, is dedicated to spreading among young people the ideals of Christian ethics and medieval chivalry which have sustained the Empire in the past. Originating in Canada, the movement spread widely. In the last few years, Major Ney has toured Australia, New Zealand, Africa, Abyssinia and the Middle East. The service recommended for use in churches in Canada this year and distributed by the movement, was used in Australian churches on Youth Sunday, 1947.

15 Suggestions Made At Deloro

MARMORA, May 6.—(ENS).—Deloro safety committee met in the electric shop on Tuesday with C. H. Buskard presiding. The first report, that of the suggestions committee, was given by G. Brooks. Fifteen suggestions were received in the past month. W. M. Regan, presenting the report of the competitive committee, mentioned that five suggestions had been given an award and that the start went to the general division. W. Dickson followed with the report of the inspection committee. G. Brooks was appointed floating member for May. T. Cousins handled the report of the health and investigation committee and R. E. Neal submitted that of the publicity committee. The monthly statement of the benevolent relief fund was given by the chairman.

W. L. Dickson gave the official report of the recent safety convention in Toronto. N. A. Kilpatrick and W. G. Chrysler, fellow delegates, also spoke briefly. The meeting was favored with the attendance of a special visitor in the person of Allan Wood, works manager of the Deloro Stellite plant at Shurley, England. Mr. Wood spoke briefly at the close of the meeting on a comparison of safety first activities in Canada and England.

Hastings WA Holds Meeting

HASTINGS, May 6.—(ENS).—St. George's WA met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. B. Gillespie. The meeting was conducted by the vice-president, Mrs. Gillespie. Mrs. McGrayne led in prayer. The scripture was read by Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Smullin and Miss Williamson had charge of the study period.

The treasurer's report by Miss Plant, mentioned the hope of soon getting the linoleum planned. Tentative plans were made for the Lilac Tea. Miss Child spoke to the ladies about the Anglican Cathedral in Quebec City and the work done by the WA there. A reading was given by Mrs. Spencer. Canon Spencer closed the meeting with prayer and the Benediction. Tea was served with Mrs. Gillespie, Jr., and Mrs. Johnson assisting.

Tomatoes Dear

WINNIPEG, May 6.—(CP).—Tomatoes grown in Vancouver sold here Wednesday for $1.25 a pound. Tomato-starved Winnipeggers were reported eager to buy the tomatoes, which arrived from the west coast by plane Monday. In Vancouver, the tomatoes are selling for 90 cents a pound.

NEVER BEFORE

have you seen such a Washday Miracle!

IT'S TIDE

...Procter & Gamble's amazing new discovery!

You've never used anything like Tide for your family wash! Tide does what's never been done before—washes clothes cleaner than any soap, yet leaves colors brighter! It's a true miracle of modern science, made possible through wartime research. You'll know it's a completely NEW product the first time you try Tide. Tide's wonder suds billow up instantly, even in hardest water... they look different, feel different! And when you see the amazing job they do, your first package of Tide will change all your old ideas about washday!

ONLY Tide DOES ALL FOUR!

1. Washes clothes CLEANER!

No matter what your favorite washday soap may be, Tide gets your whole family wash cleaner than any soap! Even greasy overalls come clean as a whistle with Tide! Tide not only leaves clothes free from ordinary dirt, but actually removes dingy soap film as well.

2. Gets clothes dazzling white—they're CLEANER!

You're in for a real washday thrill when you hang up your first Tide wash. You'll be so proud of that dazzling-white, cleaner-than-soap Tide-washed look! See for yourself next washday!

3. Actually brightens colors—they're CLEANER!

Just imagine! Tide combines the cleaning power you need for heavily soiled work clothes with the safety you need for your bright print dresses! All your washable colors actually come out brighter as Tide washes away dulling film!

4. Gives more suds—prove it in your dishpan!

Kind-to-hands suds! Faster suds! Longer-lasting suds than any soap in hardest water! Tide cuts grease like magic... washes dishes cleaner than any soap! No suds in the water! No cloudy film! That's why dishes and glasses rinse and dry so sparkling clear—even without wiping!

GUARANTEE
Procter & Gamble guarantees that Tide will do everything claimed for it in this advertisement. If you are not completely satisfied, return the unused portion of your package to dealer, and the purchase price will be refunded.

Good Eating for the Lunch Boxes! and so easy to mix!

ALL-BRAN RAISIN BREAD

1 egg 1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
1/2 cup sugar 2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 cup molasses 2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons melted shortening 1/2 cup chopped raisins Beat egg well. Add sugar, molasses, milk, shortening (melted and cooled) and All-Bran; mix well, let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together; add to first mixture with raisins; stir only until flour disappears. Bake in greased loaf pan lined with waxed paper in moderate oven (350°F.) about 1 hour.

Extra good and so different! This rich brown loaf has that delicious nut-like flavor only Kellogg's All-Bran can give... and that marvelously soft, light All-Bran texture. Perfect for the lunch boxes because it's packed with nourishment and keeps fresh. Clip the recipe now.

CPR Welcomes Investigation Of Freight Rate

MONTREAL, May 6.—(CP).—W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, told the annual general meeting of shareholders today that the company "welcomes" the investigation into Canada's general freight-rate structure to be undertaken by the Transport Board.

"Twenty years have elapsed since this structure was last reviewed," he said. "Your company welcomes the investigation of this complex problem which is under way."

Mr. Mather declared the company's willingness to implement the majority report of a conciliation board which last month recommended an increase of seven cents an hour for Canada's rail employees.

He estimated the original demands of the rail employees for a 35 cents-an-hour increase would represent an increase in expenses to the S.U.A. of $13,470,000 annually.

The president asked shareholders to approve new capital expenditures of $79,670,871, of which $34,244,072 is to provide for new rolling stock. Of this total, $36,390,654 had been approved by directors "in anticipation of your confirmation."

He noted that gross earnings were $6,210,268 greater than in the same period of 1947, but that "expenses rose as rapidly as earnings and a net of $1,335,465 for this quarter was virtually the same as a year ago which was a 53-year low."

Charged With Neglect

KITCHENER, May 6.—(CP).—A charge of neglect was laid against a young mother Wednesday after police broke into a car to attend a six-month-old baby which had been left alone. Two city hall officials said they noticed the child lying on the floor of the car. They said it must have fallen from the back seat and expressed the opinion it might have smothered on a roll of blankets.

Lords Hope To Change Felony Trial Procedure

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, May 6. — (CP). — House of Lords' members soon may be freed of the ordeal—or privilege—of being tried by their peers when accused of felony.

This strange legal procedure, used as recently as 1936, brings the accused into the presence of other members of the Upper House, all wearing their formal robes, to hear the charges against him.

The proceedings are colorful but they proved irksome to a distinguished statesman like Viscount Simon, who said in the Lords recently that the court — termed "the Court of the Lord High Steward" — was "a preposterous anachronism."

Lord Simon said the court consisted of "a mob of persons, presided over by the lord chancellor under a special commission, carrying a white wand, which he solemnly breaks across his knee at the end of the proceedings to show the court is for the time being discharged."

The peer facing a felony charge is unable to avoid the procedure and cannot say, "Waive all this and treat me like anyone else."

Time For Change

Other members of the House nodded in approval when Lord Simon said it was time for a change to allow peers to be tried for offences like ordinary people. Lord Simon also posed for the house the delicate question of what is a felony and what a misdemeanor. Obtaining money by false pretences was a misdemeanor, or stealing a felony, but legal authorities sometimes found it difficult to draw the line between the two. But on their decision would depend the court in which a peer would face trial.

Other Quirks

There are other quirks in the law covering peers:

The Irish peer who is a member of the Commons cannot be haled before the Lords' Court, but the Irish peer who is a member of the Lords must appear when charged.

Bishops who sit in the Lords as spiritual peers are not regarded by law as noble by blood. If any member of that group committed a felony he would be tried like an ordinary man.

But the spiritual peers participate in the work of the court trying a peer for felony. When the work is done they ask leave to withdraw before the sentence is passed.

Lord Simon proposes an amendment to the criminal justice bill now before Parliament to remove arrangements for a court of peers. If approved, this would end the ancient procedure in a few months.

Omemees Forms Kinsmen Club Has 17 Members

OMEMEES, May 6. — (ENS). — Arthur N. Weir was elected president of the Omemees Kinsmen Club at the organization meeting held on Friday evening.

Other officers of the new service club include: William G. Earle, vice-president; C. R. Vaughan, secretary; J. E. Jacob, treasurer; G. Pogue, registrar, and L. M. Curtis, G. Stephenson, A. W. Stephenson, directors.

Pledged to follow the Kinsmen motto, "To serve the greatest need of the community," the Omemees branch was assisted at its first meeting by three members of the Peterborough branch, James King, chairman, Roy Phillips and Harry Tewsley.

At a previous meeting those most interested were acquainted with the principles and objects of Kinsmen clubs, and local scouting rounded up 17 who became charter members at the Friday meeting.

Present members are J. E. Hough, C. J. Whitmore, L. M. Curtis, L. McQuade, G. Stephenson, J. A. Jamieson, C. Stephenson, William G. Earle, H. Deyell, J. E. Jacob, G. Pogue, W. F. Hyde, R. Weir, A. N. Weir, C. R. Vaughan, A. W. Stephenson and W. E. Faulkner.

Woman Acquitted

KAMLOOPS, B.C., May 6. — (CP). — A Supreme Court jury Wednesday acquitted Mrs. Cecilia McIvor, 63, of Merritt, B.C., on a charge of murdering John Robertson with a butcher knife last Sept. 14. Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson discharged Mrs. McIvor from custody when the jury also acquitted her of manslaughter.

VENERABLE LOKANATHA, A Buddhist missionary priest from Burma, has to walk on ordinary Los Angeles pavement because of western short hair styles. According to his spokesman he is not permitted to walk on pavements, so when he arrived in Los Angeles to lecture to a club of dozen women tried to provide him with a carpet of human hair. But only one of them had hair long enough to spread before him.

Cheese Producers Decide Plants Need Face-Lifting

TORONTO, May 6. — In the spring even a cheese producer's thoughts are liable to wander a bit off the subject of cheese. Proof of this was offered at Wednesday's meeting of the executive of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

The meeting started off with a discussion of various topics, including marketing and production. Then members of the executive got onto the subject of county branches and, while their gazes drifted to hotel windows and the bright sunshine outdoors, they started to talk about flower gardens and spring painting instead of cheese.

Such discussion led to the birth of an idea which the association hopes will be put into operation as soon as possible. A lot of Ontario's 500 cheese factories, members decided, could stand a bit of beautification in one form or another, and yesterday they drafted plans for a program which, if approved, will go before the county branches.

Executive members thought members of the county organizations, who have heretofore concerned themselves with little other than marketing questions, should be pepped up a bit. They should, for instance, make it their job to see that paint is applied to factories when needed, and roads in the vicinity of factories kept dustproof and in good repair.

Like Flowers

Then there's the matter of flowers. Officials of the organization felt county officers could do worse than arrange for a few flower beds to be planted around the local cheese factory to make it a source of pride as a beauty spot, as well as a cog in the agricultural machine.

That wasn't the only thing, however, that was suggested as a possible job for the county groups. The plan calls for activity on the part of the branch organizations which would be appropriate to the locality, which offers plenty of variety across Ontario.

In some sectors county group leaders could concern themselves with such topics as calico vaccination, a subject dear to the hearts of cheese producers everywhere, or warble-fly control. Junior farmer work also was discussed at the meeting.

The plan, although still in the embryo stage, is due for further discussion by association leaders during the next few months. Whatever the outcome, officials hope to arouse more interest on the part of county groups, and to get local leaders more interested in association activities and community life.

Won't Give Up Post

LONDON, May 6. — (Reuters). — War Minister Emanuel Shinwell Wednesday night denied House of Commons rumors that he would quit the government. "I have no intention of resigning either now or in the future," he told a reporter.

Canada Decides Not To Push Peace Demands

OTTAWA, May 6. (CP). — As a wartime echo, the House of Commons considered and gave first reading to a bill to implement the peace treaties ratified last year with Italy, Romania, Hungary and Finland, Wednesday. It will authorize the government to deal with such things as enemy assets and patents.

Moving the legislation, external affairs Minister St. Laurent said that, if the three western powers — apart from Russia — conclude a separate peace treaty with Germany, they will give Canada a hand in its preparation. Canada still insists that she have a part in the treaty-making commensurate with her part in the war, he added.

In a quiet opening question period, postmaster-general Bertrand said the government can not reduce the postage on food parcels going overseas.

Mr. St. Laurent said in reply to questions about the German treaty that Canada is not pressing for a say in the "semi-permanent" solution to the German problem now being negotiated by Britain, France and the United States. She did not want to hinder their progress.

Maintain Attitude

But, referring to any final and general treaty, he had this to say: "The government of Canada has taken the position that in the preparation of the final treaty, Canada should have a part commensurate with the part she took in the war."

"That is still the attitude that is being maintained . . . The three (western) occupying powers have supported our contention that she should have a part in the preparation of the treaty, so from that I take it that if they were going to do something separately, with respect to their own zones, they would take towards our claim the same attitude they adopted when it was put forward at the meeting of the big four."

Two Planes Collide

DETROIT, May 6. — (AP). — Three men were killed and a fourth injured critically Wednesday when two light planes collided over the eastern section of the city. The dead were Donald Baer, 27, Port Huron, Mich., Joseph McVitz, Detroit and Robert F. Heels, 20, Detroit. Ralph H. Hanneman, 27, Detroit, was seriously injured.

2 Party Chiefs Address Political Groups

TORONTO, May 6. — (CP). — As the Ontario election campaign gathered momentum Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver, C.C.F. Leader E. B. Jolliffe and Leslie Frost, Mines Minister in the Progressive Conservative government, headed a long list of speakers Wednesday night.

In the Progressive Conservative camp, Mines Minister Frost announced at Sudbury that the provincial government planned to give the northern nickel-mining city an annual special grant of $100,000 for the next 10 years, starting in 1949.

Financial aid also would be extended to other mining municipalities which, like Sudbury, provide services for miners and their families without being able to tax the industries which employ them. Nomination meetings were held in more than 20 ridings.

To Aid Hospitals

Liberal Leader Oliver, speaking at suburban Islington, promised that his party if elected will give financial aid to hospitals — "whether the Dominion gives up the amusement tax or not." The provincial government has announced it will take over the 20-per-cent amusement tax when the federal government relinquishes it and devote the revenue to wiping out hospital deficits.

Mr. Oliver pledged his party to reduce the amusement tax. He also criticized appointment by the Drew government of Royal Commissions on Forestry, Milk and Education and claimed that since the present administration took office the commission had cost taxpayers more than $300,000.

Plans For Farmers

C.C.F. Leader Jolliffe dealt with his party's program for farmers. He said at nearby Milton the C.C.F. proposed a farm products marketing act which would enable farmers to set up on a provincial basis whatever marketing scheme they wanted.

"Ontario farmers for years have been trying to get more direct control over the marketing of their own products," said Mr. Jolliffe. "The Canadian Federation of Agriculture last year drafted a proposed national farm products marketing act which would give recognition to the place of co-operatives."

In addition, the C.C.F. proposed to establish a provincial department of co-operatives to assist the co-operative movement.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar, nominated as Progressive Conservative candidate in Ottawa South, said the Drew government planned a thorough review of provincial-municipal relations. He said this would help municipalities in such matters as children's aid.

WINNERS OF PULITZER PRIZES — The 1948 Pulitzer prize for the best original American play was awarded to "A Streetcar Named Desire" by Tennessee Williams, right. The prize for the most distinguished fiction in book form went to "Tales of the South Pacific" by James A. Michener, left. Both awards were announced by Columbia university in New York.

NESTING SEASON

Italian Opera's Increased Costs Bring About Financial Crisis

ROME, May 6.—(Reuters).—The visit to Italy early this summer of Arturo Toscanini will coincide with one of the most serious financial crises in the history of the Italian opera.

The famous Italian conductor is reported to have accepted with "enthusiasm and emotion" the invitation of the playwright, Sabatino Lopez of Milan to be present in Italy for the celebrations next June in honor of the Italian composer, Arrigo Boito.

It is hoped here that Toscanini will take the opportunity of initiating a special summer opera season at the famous Scala Opera House in Milan, now one of the few in Italy which has sufficient funds to function.

The well-known Italian composer and music critic, Renzo Rossellini, commenting in a recent interview with Reuters on the financial crisis which has hit Italian opera, said:

"Notwithstanding all the help that the government has given to opera in Italy in the shape of subsidies never known before, the financial crisis is very serious. It arises principally from the fact that a large number of opera houses are unable to reopen this season owing to the gap between increased production costs and the increases which can be made in prices for admission. Unless a radical change improves this situation, it is difficult to see how and when the traditional activity of the opera in Italy can be restored to pre-war level."

$2,200,000 Subsidy
The Italian government is stated to have set aside funds totaling 1,200,000,000 lire (about $2-200,000) to cover the present opera season. This represents an increase of 800,000,000 lire compared with the 1946-47 season.

But in spite of this large contribution from the government some 286 provincial opera houses are still closed in Italy, causing unemployment among at least 50,000 workers.

It is estimated in operatic circles here that every opera produced is put on at a deficit of at least 1,000,000 lire per production. At the same time, the mass of Italian opera lovers cannot afford prices which average about 1,000 lire ($3) a seat.

The Commune at Reggio Calabria has announced that it will shortly open its opera season, but otherwise only four large state-aided opera houses are at present putting on shows in Italy.

They are: the Scala at Milan; Fenice at Venice; Teatro Dell

Four of the leading Italian opera houses which are closed this year are: the Carlo Felice at Genoa; the Comunale at Bologna; the Politeama at Florence and the Massimo at Palermo.

Another serious problem is the emigration of most of the best-known Italian singers to more profitable centres abroad. The "emigrants" include Beniamino Gigli, who recently concluded successful tours in Britain and France and now is preparing to leave Rome again for South America where he has made his home in Buenos Aires; and the contralto, Cloe Elmo, who is living in the United States.

Teachers Get Raise

PROVIDENCE, R.I., May 6.—(AP).—A teachers' strike that paralyzed public school operations in this city of 255,000 for days ended Wednesday night with a general pay raise for all instructors.

Skipper Quits Sea To Open Laundry

HALIFAX, May 6.—(CP).—Capt. Fergus Cross of Halifax is forsaking the quarter deck for the laundry; the mainsail for the diaper. The 33-year-old master mariner who commanded the Montreal-Australia-New Zealand Line ship Ottawa Valley, will help the city's mothers by washing infants' unmentionables.

"Only $2 a week for the service and we do everything except put the diapers on," said the 250-pound skipper recently. He's the father of three small children and he knows whereof he speaks.

His venture will be shared by Edward Chisholm, a former flying officer with the RCAF. Mr. Chisholm, who just completed a commerce course at Dalhousie, says he hopes to be the bookkeeper of the outfit. Capt. Cross expects to get all the dirty work.

Vel Going Blind But Undismayed

VANCOUVER, May 6.—(CP).—The road ahead for War Veteran Bill Furze is dark, but he is entering it with confidence.

He is slowly, unalterably, going blind. But at Shaughnessy Military Hospital he is preparing for it.

"I've just got to take a smaller piece of the pie," he said. "It's still good pie."

Veteran of the Second World War, he is recovering from his 11th operation. Today he is learning Braille, touch typing, and talking things over with the men of the Canadian Institute of the Blind.

"I'm not sure what I want to study yet," said the 30-year-old man, "but, I'll find something I like and make a success of it."

Stainless steel, introduced by an Englishman, first came into prominence in the early 1900s.

Another news letter was mailed today to all connected with the Camporee. Application forms were enclosed to the Scout Masters, to be acted on as soon as possible.

Craft Show

The annual Scout Craft Show is to be held next Wednesday and Thursday nights, May 12 and 13th in the Market Hall opening at 7.30.

In spite of the lack of co-operation shown by some leaders no doubt was expressed over the success of the craft show. Those making preparations are making every effort within their power to make the show a good one. The Girl Guides are assisting again.

Several troops are putting on special displays. St. Andrews will put on a display of pioneering work, building bridges and other camp equipment. Park Hill will have their toy shop transferred to the show, where one may see the way many toys were repaired for needy children last year. St. John's will build a special patrol den, to be served as a model for other patrols to follow. K. of C. will demonstrate how to make rugs out of wool with several finished on hand. Trinity will demonstrate the different kinds of fire in "The Story of Fire" display.

The Cubs, under the direction of Mr. McKinney will put on a demonstration of cub work on Wednesday night at 7.30, while the Brownies and Girl Guides will put on a demonstration and folk dances on Thursday night at 7.30.

In connection with the craft display, all cubs and scouts were urged to make every effort in the few days remaining to make more articles than intended for the exhibit section. There will be good prizes for the boys that has the highest number of points for their standing. The larger number of articles exhibited will give more points and a better chance for a prize. All articles must be in the hands of the committee by Tuesday night delivered to the Market Hall. Tags will be distributed for proper markings. All articles must be left in their places until Thursday night and can not be removed before 9 p.m. Leaders are asked to be on hand on Monday and Tuesday nights to help in setting up the displays and decorate the tables. It is expected that a tea room will be operated by one of the Ladies Auxiliaries.

Arrangements have been made with Field Commissioner Jackson, Toronto, to send a special display of scout cubs.

Nassau Camp
Recent visits to the scout camping grounds at Nassau, shows that the winter brought no damage to the property.

The Local Association has voted about $750. to the expansion of the ground. A gate, started last fall, will be finished by May 24. Road leading into the ground is to be re-surfaced this spring and new cane troughing, will be installed this spring. New latrines are to be built, kitchen is to be finished and a new coat of paint planned for the buildings. A new incinerator is to be erected before the camping season opens. A canoe and a flat bottom boat is to be purchased, an old commercial ice refrigerator also being sought for the use of the scouts and cubs.

It was Basket night with the Troop last week, with the Group Committee and the Scouts gathering baskets. A total of 1,400 was checked in. The proceeds from the sale of these will go to the cost of Camping this year. According to reports every Patrol is busy preparing for the Camporee.

Leader Expected Home
It was reported today that Miss Peggy Houghton, former Cub Leader for All Saints Pack, who has been working with the Dr. Bernardo Homes in England for the past year, will arrive back this evening. She travelled to Windsor Castle representing Canada on the St. George's Day celebrations. Among the Group travelling from Imperial Headquarters London were two Australians, one Burmese, one Indonesian, three East Africans, one Chinese and two Tasmanians. This group along with a few "honoured guests" stayed at the "White Hart" Hotel as guests of the Overseas Commissioner Colonel Walton. The Chief Scout of the British Empire, Lord Rowallan, greeted them all having a special word from the Canadian leader.

Following luncheon the group gathered in the court and received by the King, and Queen and Princess Margaret Rose.

Life Never Dull For Newsmen Covering Front In Palestine

By MAX BOYD

CAIRO, May 6. (AP)—The life of a newspaper man in Jerusalem has been one of ducking bombs and bullets of both Arabs and Jews ever since the United Nations voted partition last November. But it probably will get worse before it gets better.

Right now, the newspaper men adopt daredevil, dodging and distinctive get-ups to keep out of trouble. But as the deadline for British departure draws near, their troubles become more complex.

The Pantiles Hotel, where many of the correspondents live, is in the heart of the British security zone. The Davis Building nearby commands a view of most of the Holy City. When—and if—the battle for the security zone comes off, the hotel may be right in the middle of the shooting.

This correspondent has just returned to Cairo from a three-day visit to Jerusalem. (Boyd is chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Cairo.)

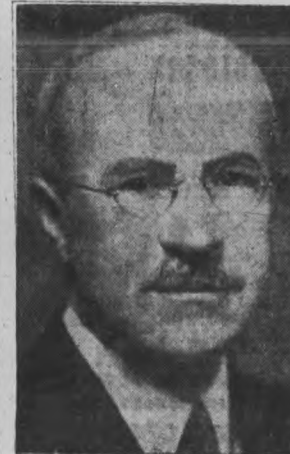

Most Palestine correspondents rely on distinctive automobiles and friendship of both Arabs and Jews. Many drive British roadsters with distinctive markings. Associated Press photographers use an all-white jeep on their expeditions.

Must Watch Feeling
The car driven by Carter Davidson, the Associated Press chief of bureau, has a horn which toots a bar of "Yankee Doodle." It is all right when one side or the other is not mad at the United States. He hasn't been using the horn much lately.

A gasoline shortage plagues newspaper men. Correspondents, much safer in their cars than on foot, are storing up all they can lay hands on. One family told me they were paying as much as $26 for five gallons.

The manager of the Pantiles Hotel already has left Jerusalem. The press bar and the restaurant in the Public Information Office closed last week. Correspondents there often are reduced to fixing SET HISTORIC PRECEDENT—Believed to be the only time that this had happened in the history of medicine on the North American continent, two distinguished Montreal physicians, both from McGill University, are presiding this week at the sessions of the two leading medical societies whose membership is by appointment. Dr. J. S. L. Browne, left, professor of medicine at McGill and director of the University Medical Clinic at the Royal Victoria Hospital, is president of the American Society for Clinical Investigation, which is now holding its annual sessions in Atlantic City. Dr. Alva H. BASIC DRESS OF NAVY—A well-cut, well-designed basic dress or two plus a judicious array of well-chosen accessories is a good fashion formula for the restricted wardrobe. Sheer navy crepe is used for a charming little dress, ideal for the younger crowd. It is suggested as a model to wear with or without a ruffled petticoat; with a flower in its belt, with jewelry that is simple or ornamental, and mayhap with a matching taffeta half-bonnet that also does tricks since it may be changed by turning the brim back or forward, and by clipping flowers or a bow to it.

Modern Old Maids Help To Poorer Married Sisters

In the olden times when marriages were the only profitable avocation open to women, it is easy to see why every girl was in hot pursuit of a husband, and why, if she failed to get one, it advertised her as lacking in charm and desirability.

The fate of the spinster in those benighted days was indeed a sad one, for the unmarried woman was forced to wither away on the parent vine, or else be the unwanted fringe on the family of some relative. A marriage certificate was her card of admission to everything that was worth while in life. And certainly no women were more to be pitied than the Miss Sellys and Miss Marys who spent their dreary years in crocheting baby socks and rearing other women's children, without hope, or interest, or any chance of ever bettering their lots.

So it is no wonder that the unmarried woman was looked upon as a failure, and that the term "old maid" became a mockery

THE STARS SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, May 7

The indications, according to most beneficent sidereal operation of powerful planets, with exceptional stimuli for forging ahead toward most ambitious goals. Under high tension and fiery initiative and aggression, the very hectic and indomitable "will to win" against all possible odds, may result in some sort of atomic explosion. While all energies, faculties and talents may be pitched to great creative work, yet an erratic or wild burst of temper or temperament may apply the match to high explosives. Haste, antagonism, criticism, argument, intemperance, may set off the crash.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are at the era of splendid opportunity for attaining most ambitious goals, with every promise of excellent creative achievement, along spectacular although technically practical and realistic lines. Ingenuity and skill, innovations, sudden brilliant ideas and objectives are in line for collaboration from influential sources, financial, business, social. Nevertheless a rash, intemperate, ungoverned flash of desire, fury, or temperament, born of high pressure and overwrought nerves, may manifest in a rash of strange, disorganized and tempestuous behavior, as to wreck and smash cherished objectives. Tired mind, over work, or depleted energies, may precipitate these violent and disruptive outbursts of far-reaching consequence.

A child born on this day may be so high strung and temperamental as to be detrimental to its own most ambitious goals; its creative abilities overreaching its discipline.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald McKnight, Midland, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. McDowell and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McKnight on Sunday. Bruce Eakins, Peterborough, visited his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mulligan and Mrs. S. E. Eakins on Sunday.

MADE FREE MAN

In old Roman law, the act by which a slave was freed was called manumission.

HORSE "SLIPPERS"

Until comparatively recent times, horses in Japan were shod with "slippers" of straw.

and a reproach, but, thank Heaven, all of that belongs to the Dark Ages. We have become civilized enough now to think that whether a woman marries or does not marry is her own personal business, and it is no more a reflection on a woman to be single than it is a man. It is just whether she prefers to trot in single or double harness.

Copy Bachelors

Nothing emphasizes so clearly how far the emancipation of women has gone as does the attitude they now take about marriage. Of course, there are still plenty of women, with more heart than brains, who will fall for any handsome lad with a way with him, and marry him. But the number of women who marry just to be married, and because they don't want to be old maids is a small one. And it gets less every year.

Men have always been rather proud of being bachelors because they thought it showed how clever they were to outwit the husband-hunters, and the modern women is copying them. Especially is this true of business women, who do not feel that they have to write Mrs. before their names to give them standing, and they are more apt to flaunt being single in your face than to try to cover it up.

Without doubt every woman would like to marry, provided she meets a man who comes up to her ideal and with whom she falls in love. But, baring that happy accident, she does not waste any tears in being single, for most of the drawbacks to celibacy that drove women into marriage no longer exist. No girl of average intelligence has to marry for a living now. She is self-supporting. Nor does she have to live under her mother's thumb. She can set up her own home and live just as independently as if she were a man. She can command just as good a salary as her ability rates. So there is no use in pitying poor Miss Sally. Especially when you see how much better dressed she is than her married sister.

And instead of old maids being social outcasts who are looked down upon as if they were pariahs, no other women are more beloved, or are more sought after as dinner guests. Taking them by and large, they are highly intelligent women who have seen the world and are shrewd judges of character. They are tolerant and broadminded and generous. Many a boy and girl go to college and get a start in life because Aunt Sally never married. And many a woman who has a sick husband or a trifling one would starve if she did not have an old maid sister.

Only fools deride old maids. Wise people honor them. (Release by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Older Women Choose Club Name
"Golden Mile" is the official name of a new club for older women sponsored by the Soroptimist Club of Peterborough. This new club is patterned from the "Second Mile Club" of Toronto which has attracted several thousand members in two years time, and this name was finally selected because of the similarity. Two new members were welcomed by Mrs. R. Tyers, president, at the weekly meeting Wednesday afternoon in the YWCA. An intricately designed quilt has been completed by the Club and plans were made for their next project which will be aprons for a bazaar table at the Soroptimist Garden Party. At this meeting a treasury was started and members will look after refreshments for their future meetings. Next meeting on Wednesday, May 12, will be guest day. Transportation both ways will be provided for all wishing to attend.

Plan Summer Work
Mrs. S. Elliott, 7 McClennan Ave., was hostess for Mark St. Baby Band Mothers Wednesday evening. Mrs. K. Ferguson, president, opened the meeting with "A Thought for Mother's Day." Mrs. H. Pomeroy, sewing convener, outlined the work which is to be accomplished by October. Devotions were led by Mrs. Ferguson in absence of Mrs. A. Downer. Mrs. M. Pomeroy read the scripture and Mrs. D. Hartan gave a reading on Christian Stewardship. Other readings were "A Small Boy's Version of Life" by Mrs. Ferguson, "The Bible" by Mrs. A. Southgate, "Mother's Day" by Mrs. N. Giles, Helen and Jimmie Elliott entertained delightfully with a piano and violin duet. June meeting will feature the quarterly baby shower and will be at the home of Mrs. H. Allen, 112 Hunter St. W.

Refreshments were served at the closed by Mrs. P. Bullied and her committee.

Mission Band Meets
Nettle McKenzie Mission Band of Knox Church met in the primary room with 25 present. President Joan Dunn conducted the opening ceremony and business session. Mrs. J. Donaldson was pianist. David Donaldson gave a reading from the Watch Tower section of World Friends magazine. David Ross, temperance secretary, gave a reading, "Shadows" showing with a chart how the problem of alcohol as the beverage is casting a shadow over the whole world. Christine Douglas conducted the worship service with the theme, "The Best Care of My Body". Marion Henwood and Sylvia Adams lighted candles as the call to worship. Marilyn Barry led in prayer. Scripture was read by Frances Clarke. The story, "Having Eyes To See" was read by Mrs. Donaldson. The offering was taken by Bobby Barry and Raymond Henwood and dedicated with prayer. World Friends magazines were given to the members.

Mother's Day Is Theme
Mrs. W. H. Morton, guest speaker at George St. United Church YPU meeting spoke on "Mother's Day." She used the example of Mary, Mother of Jesus, whose guiding hand and constant source of comfort was ever an inspiration to Him, and showed that mothers of today are just the same. Several short poems brought out the true meaning of motherhood and reminded members to bear in mind what mothers mean to them. A vote of thanks was tendered by Miss M. Telford, Miss Margaret Thompson then read an old poem entitled "Mother". The worship period was in charge of Miss Telford who centered her talk on the thought of "Mother's Day," and read an appropriate poem. Miss Betty Mathew read the scripture selection and Gerald Ivy offered prayer. Plans were discussed regarding another bowling party that is to be held this season. The meeting opened with a lively sing-song with Miss Bernice Davidson at the piano.

Snudden—Aldred
NORWOOD, May 6.—(ENS).—The marriage was solemnized quietly on Saturday at the United Church parsonage, the Rev. E. Pugsley officiating, when Alice Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Aldred, became the bride of Harold Lloyd, second son of Archie Snudden and the late Mrs. Snudden, Oshawa.

The bride was charming in a brown suit and brown accessories, and wore a corsage of pink carnations and sweetpeas. She was attended by her sister, Hazel, who wore a turquoise suit and blue accessories, with corsage of yellow roses. The best man was Roy Snudden, brother of the groom. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received, wearing a sand crepe dress and black accessories. Mrs. Rose Chelbers, sister of the groom, assisted, wearing blue silk crepe dress and brown accessories. On their return they will live in Oshawa.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chelbers, Mr. and Mrs. William Chelbers, Misses Violet and Shirley Chelbers, Dolly Dauby, Betty Claus, Percy Snudden, Ken Jayall, all of Oshawa, and Wallace Syder of Bowmanville.

Baby Joins Band At Trinity On Anniversary
A life membership in Trinity Baby Band was conferred on the youngest member, Catherine Vera Till, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Till, last evening. Mrs. E. Alton, Presbyterian Baby Band president, carried out the honors at the regular meeting of Trinity Baby Band mothers in the church parlors Wednesday evening. She followed with a most pleasing talk on "Christ in the Home."

In celebration of the 10th anniversary, a birthday cake highlighted the tea table. Mrs. V. Skitch, first president, gave an outline of the origin and growth of the organization, and lit the first two candles. Past presidents, Mrs. H. Corner, Mrs. A. Malby, Mrs. N. Elliott and president Mrs. W. R. Philp completed the anniversary ceremony.

New members welcomed at this meeting were Mrs. N. W. Finney, Mrs. E. O. Westbye, Mrs. W. C. Cuddy and Mrs. R. McElroy.

Following the meeting all members helped to pack a bale of good used clothing for European relief, and many particularly good quality garments were noted in the assortment. Refreshments were served later by Mrs. R. Bogle and her committee.

St. James' W.A. Well Attended
A good attendance marked May meeting of St. James' W.A. held on Tuesday afternoon. "Witness bearer" was the theme of the devotional period led by Mrs. C. Olavsen. Scripture reading was taken by Mrs. W. K. Sloane and prayer offered by Mrs. A. E. Prest. Mrs. George Jackson favored with two solos, "My Task" and "In the Garden."

Mrs. G. Harris presided for the transaction of business and offered the dedicatory prayer, following the financial reports. Mrs. B. Seabrook, sunshine convener, reported five plants, six cards and a box of chocolates sent during April.

Regret was expressed that due to ill health Mrs. M. Stokes found it necessary to tender her resignation as devotional convener. A committee was appointed to take charge of the catering for a wedding May 22.

A cordial invitation was extended W.A. members to attend the thirtieth anniversary celebration of the Women's Missionary Society on May 19 at 8 p.m.

Before closing the meeting with prayer the Rev. F. W. Craik expressed appreciation for kindly remembrances during his illness.

Mrs. L. Gibson tendered a vote of thanks to the soloist and ladies who served a dainty lunch.

Rouse-Marshall Nuptials Of Wide Interest
MARMORA, May 6.—(ENS).—A wedding of local interest took place in St. Michael's church rectory, Belleville, on Monday evening, May 3, when Marjorie Christina, daughter of Mr. Gavin Marshall and the late Mrs. Marshall of Belleville, became the bride of Cecil Elric Rouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rouse, also of Belleville. The ceremony was performed by Monsignor J. F. Nicholson.

The bride wore a grey dressmaker suit of American beauty bengaline with white beading, a halo hat of navy blue straw trimmed with Roman stripe ribbon and navy French veil, navy accessories and a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses. Miss Charlotte Stork, as bridesmaid, wore a grey ballerina suit, grey milan Breton sailor with Swiss mohair and Roman stripe trim, black accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. Mr. William Doyle was groomsmen.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Webb, Belleville. The bride and groom left later on a wedding trip to western points. They will reside in Belleville.

Mr. Rouse is well known in Marmora district where he has relatives and was an employee of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company Limited for some time.

Branch Notes

A meeting of District Council of the AYPA was held Wednesday evening in St. John's Parish Hall, Walter Dyer, president, was in the chair, and members present represented All Saints' Junior and Senior Branches, St. Luke's and St. John's Branches.

Business period included discussion on the Amsterdam Youth Conference and the AYPA summer camp at Orillia. Official opening of the Camp is May 24 and arrangements are being made to charter a bus for those wishing to attend. Miss Shirley Brown, Council secretary, is in charge.

Mention was made of a Youth Rally to be held in Midland on September 24 and 25. It was decided that arrangements would be made for all who so desired to attend. John Wood will look after this matter.

The annual District Council banquet will be held in St. John's Parish Hall on Wednesday evening, May 26. All district branches are invited and a program of films and competitive skills is planned.

Refreshments were served at the close by St. John's Branch.

Club 72s May Queen Chosen At Second Annual Ball Gala Spring-time Event

Miss Margaret Breckenridge is the 1948 May Queen of Club 72. She was crowned with jewels and a royal robe of velvet and gold braid placed on her shoulders during the second annual May Day Ball Wednesday evening at Club Aragon. Officiating in the crowning were Mayor Wm. Owens, Club 72's president, Mr. Henry Winslow, and Miss Elsie Bradshaw, 1947 May Queen. A parchment scroll inscribed by the Mayor and President Winslow is a prized document which Miss Breckenridge received with a $50 cheque from Club 72, also merchandise—certificates from local stores that will entitle the Queen to receive goods of her choice to the value of $20, blouses, lingerie, make-up kit, record album and photograph.

Immediately after Miss Breckenridge was announced winner, her sister Queen, Miss Elsie Bradshaw, presented a bouquet of two dozen American Beauty roses. Runners-up for the honor, Miss Elaine Morton and Miss Audrey Buchanan, received nosegays of pink roses. Judges who selected the lovely Queen from a lineup of 25 beautiful girls previously chosen by Club members were Florence Leach Elliott, Dr. Ralph Clark, Alderman P. J. Anglessey, Messrs. Dick Quimmet and Bob Kinsman. The master of ceremonies was Mr. Frank Hamon.

Crowning took place beneath a gay May-pole with canopy of twirled pink and white streamers and the glittering silvered letters "Club 72 May Day Ball," amid a profusion of gorgeous spring flowers arranged in bouquets across the bandstand.

Miniature May-poles for souvenirs were placed on the tables at which more than 600 guests were seated.

The guest register was most attractively made up for a permanent record of the May Day Ball with charming floral decorations enhancing each page. It was attended by Misses Barbara Allen and Erminie Gurney. Tickets were taken at the door by Mr. Douglas Landry and ushers were in charge of Mr. George Quinlan. Decorations in the ballroom were the work of Messrs. B. Wilson, D. Corn and B. Record.

In the receiving line were Mayor Wm. Owens and Mrs. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Ian MacRae, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Canning, Mr. and Mrs. P. Killenbeck and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winslow.

Guests who registered were: Misses Dorothy Menzies, Annie Blackburn, Ruth Peatty, Phyllis Rusaw, Bernice Hillier, Ruth Mein, Vera Buchanan, Betty Craig, Barbara Clark, Connie McGlynn, Clara O'Connor, Lucille O'Toole, Irene Thompson, Joan Hayton, Joyce Hanes, June McConkey, Dagny Sandstrom, June Whitfield, Mildred Gurney, Ruby Downes, Shirley Andrus, Doreen Varcoe, Bette Fee, Kitty Kitchen, Joan Clancy, Isabel Spence, Mary Spence, Iris Hamilton, Wilma Sweet, Shirley Hopkins, Joan Wade, Vi Kidd, Gertrude Leahy, Loretta Booth, Gladys Grayling, Audrey Buchanan, Beth Magee, H. Successful Souffle Needs Careful Handling in Making

The souffle has always been considered a temperamental member of the food family. Because of exaggerated ideas about the making and baking of these egg mixtures many home-makers are afraid to try one. As with a temperamental human, careful handling brings out the most tender qualities and actually a souffle is quite easy to make if a few simple rules are followed.

A souffle is made with a basis of thick cream sauce, to which may be added, cheese, meat, vegetables, fish or nuts for flavoring and stiffly beaten egg whites which give it the characteristic lightness.

The home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, emphasize several points in making souffles.

Serve At Peak

A souffle should be timed to serve at its peak, but may be held for ten or fifteen minutes over hot water if it has been cooked properly. This means never higher than 325 degrees F. Low heat is essential. High temperatures toughen the egg and cause the souffle to separate and fall. Oven-poaching or baking with the dish set in a pan of water, in a 325 degrees F. oven, will keep the souffle soft and smooth. If a crispy brown crust is preferred the casserole may be set in the centre of the oven so that the heat will flow around it evenly and baked at 300 degrees F. It is wise not to peek until the souffle has been in the oven for about forty-five minutes.

Souffles may be cooked in a greased double boiler, but they will not be brown when cooked by this method. The casserole should be greased only on the bottom. If the sides are ungreased the mixture will rise and hold its full height. Then after the souffle mixture is poured into the casserole there is another trick which helps. If a teaspoon is run around, about an inch from the edge of the casserole, making a track in the mixture, the souffle will have a golden brown when baked.

Corn And Cheese Souffle

3 tablespoons fat
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
1 cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
4 egg yolks
1 cup corn
4 egg whites
Melt fat, add flour, salt and pepper. Add milk gradually, stirring until thick. Add grated cheese and stir until melted. Pour mixture over the beaten egg yolks, add corn and mix well. Cool, fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a greased casserole. Bake in a slow oven, 300 degrees F., until set, about 1 hour, or oven-poach at 325 degrees F., for about 1 hour. Six servings.

Budget Souffle

(Cooked on top of stove)
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
1½ cups milk
6 egg yolks
2 tablespoons grated raw carrot
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
Salt and pepper to taste
½ cup grated cheese
6 egg whites
Mix together crumbs and milk, soak ten minutes then beat until smooth. Beat egg yolks, add carrot, parsley, salt and pepper. Combine with bread mixture. Add grated cheese. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into mixture. Pour into the greased top of double boiler, cover and cook over boiling water until firm.

about 40 minutes. Do not remove cover during cooking period. Six servings.
This souffle may be oven-poached in a moderate oven, 325 degrees F., about 1 hour.

MacMillan. Miss Barbara Chamberlain, Peterborough, spent the week-end at her home. Miss Lila English, Norwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, Billy, Lorraine and Glen, Trent River, spent Sunday with Mrs. Jacob Gardner.

Miss Helen Scott, Peterborough, was a week-end visitor with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Scott.

Mrs. Willis Preston has returned home after two weeks spent in Toronto as the guest of Dr. Ryder and Mrs. Ryder.

Mrs. Harold Spencer and family of Brighton spent Sunday with Mrs. Sam McGee.

Mrs. James Long was the guest of Mrs. John Gardner on Tuesday.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cameron on the week-end were the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Binnell, Toronto.

Cliff Parker, Batawa, spent the week-end with his father, J. E. Parker.

F. G. Riseborough, Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Riseborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sedgewick and Barbara Ann were in Peterborough Sunday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lucas.

WA's To Help With Parsonage Repairs

MILLBROOK, May 6—(ENS)—The devotional period at the meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday, with Mrs. F. P. Stinson as hostess, was taken by Mrs. D. L. Lunn. Mrs. J. Winslow was at the piano, and later accompanied Mrs. Gordon Baker who sang a solo. Mrs. A. R. Payne, president, was in the chair.

The treasurer reported more than $63 cleared at the recent afternoon tea and home-made baking sale.

Contributions for the rummage sale, to be held at the Orange Hall, Peterborough, on May 13, are to be left at Mrs. Baker's home. It was announced. The committee to secure them is Mrs. J. McKnight, Miss Maud Finnimore, Mrs. J. Ridge and Mrs. Stinson.

Needed renovations at the parsonage were outlined by the president, and an estimate of the cost is being secured before proceeding with the work. Cavan WA had two members at the executive meeting when the parsonage was inspected, and repairs and changes were noted. As part of the charge, which includes Millbrook and Cavan, they will bear part of the expense involved.

Arrangements for canvassing for the hostess tea in June were completed. The secretary reported $4.63 received at the April meeting.

Mrs. P. I. Bentley, Mrs. Stinson and Miss J. Sutton are a committee to place flowers in the church for Mothers Day. Mrs. Ball closed the meeting with prayer.

Menus For Special Purposes

By MARY MOORE

Low-Calorie Dinner

Quick-Baked Fish Fillets (see note) (6 oz. haddock 120 cal.)
Casserole of Lima Beans and Canned Tomatoes (1 cup 75 cal.)
Shredded Cabbage, Chive and Carrot Salad (30 Cal. with 1 tablespoon mayonnaise)
Fruit Cup: Sliced Pears, Orange and Grapefruit Sections, Canned Peaches (¾ cup 75 cal.)
Coffee Clear (0 cal.)

High-Calorie Low-Cost Dinner

Corned Beef Hash with Poached Eggs
(see method elsewhere on page)
Chopped Boiled New Spinach
Rhubarb 2 crust Pie Coffee

One Burner Dinner

Turkish Pilaf (see note)
Jellied Beet Salads on Lettuce with Mayonnaise
Halves of Grapefruit Sliced Nut Bread Coffee

Directions

The Quick-Baked Fillets are prepared by placing on shallow baking pan or broiler pan, brushing with melted butter or oil and sprinkling with salt, pepper and paprika. Place in very hot oven of 475 deg. Fahr. for about 10 minutes or until fish flakes when lifted at edge with fork. Remove and serve immediately with lemon wedges, and you will find fish moist and tender.

To make the Turkish Pilaf melt 4 tablespoons butter or bacon fat or cooking oil until very hot, just short of smoking, and add ¾ cup washed and dried raw rice, and stir until it absorbs the fat and is golden. Add 2½ cups canned tomatoes, salt and pepper to taste and cover. Simmer until rice is tender. If desired raw onions may be sautéed with the rice, and leftover chopped meat may be added with tomatoes. A versatile dish in which leftovers may be added. Some people insist on adding curry; I am one of them.

WA Hears Talk On Trip To California

BETHANY, May 16—(ENS)—

Feature of the meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church, at the home of Mrs. Dr. G. M. Longfield on Tuesday, was Mrs. J. J. Hamilton's account of her recent trip to California. She told of the trip through the western provinces, a brief stop at Banff, Lake Louise and Yellowstone Park. The journey continued with a short stop at Vancouver and into the states of Washington, Oregon and California to Los Angeles where Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton spent the winter months visiting with his brother Hector and sister, Mrs. Harry L. Lowe.

They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Kyle, who formerly owned a Bethany bakery. The program, arranged by Mrs. Herb Fallis and Mrs. Longfield, joint conveners of Group 1 included a solo by Miss Gladys Bigelow and a reading by Mrs. Longfield. Lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. J. J. Clark, Mrs. Leonard Driver and Mrs. Mansell Wright.

WORLDLY SUIT HAT—It isn't surprising that the suit hat is playing a starring role in this, a tremendously successful suit season. An ideal Spring suit hat is this natural straw semi-cloche with an irregular and flattering brim that is peaked in front. Important height is achieved by a covey of natural coq feathers that take a soaring line.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DO YOU EVER FORGET?
HAVE YOU ever forgotten what your contract was? Have you momentarily thought it was one suit when actually it was another? Or that it was No Trump when it was really a suit? Or that it was a suit when in fact it was No Trump? Of course you have. That is no disgrace, but merely proof that you are a human being. The greatest players in the world have been known to make exactly the same mistakes. When you do it, the best action is to have a laugh at yourself, try to console your poor partner and determine not to do it again in the very near future.

10. With a hunch that East had the guarded K, he put on the 2. Then several great lights broke upon him all at once. First he had been until then under the crazy impression that diamonds were trumps, whereas the contract was in No Trumps. Second, he had blocked his long diamond suit in the dummy, with nothing smaller than the 9 in his own hand. He now had only one chance for his contract—finding the heart K singly guarded in the East hand. If that be the case, four heart tricks plus two in spades, four in diamonds and two clubs would make the contract. But when he tried the heart finesse it lost to West. A later club trick then beat him.

Was this a dub player who pulled such a boner? No. One of the world's most famous. But for the moment he played the part of a dub. So cheer up, all you who do such things once in a while. Everybody does them.

Tomorrow's Problem

North East South West
3 4 Pass 6 NT

That was funny bidding, but South felt that North would surely pass anything he said, having opened with that shutout bid of diamonds. And South wanted to be declarer in the tournament, so the lead of a spade could come up to his guarded K.

West, however, led the club 2, the 10, J and A being played. South led to the spade A and then brought forth the diamond.

Toronto Man Says Canada Incomparable but Undersold Can Triple Holiday Revenue

By BOB BUCHANAN

A human dynamo zipped through Peterborough Wednesday. It would be difficult to meet a man who better fits all of the time-honored and overworked clichés used to describe an enthusiast than Herbert Phillips.

"A one-man Department of Travel and Publicity," a whole publicity agency in one person, "good-will group on two feet" could all be applied to this peppy Toronto radio store operator.

He bubbles over with his self-appointed mission—to sell the "wonder of Canada to the vacationing public of the United States. Descriptive phrases, startling statistics, daring ideas for publicity drives, unusual presentations of tourist area developments—all roll from him as he unfolds his plan to put Canada on the credit side of the ledger.

"The tourist business is the only way Canada can balance her books with the United States," he argues (quoting government and public leaders to back his claim). "Canada's share of the ESP can't do it—that's certain," he continues. The basic problem is that we are buying too much and selling too little to the United States.

"We haven't even tapped the tourist business," he asserts. "We have attractions here in the northern part of North America which can outsell anything the United States has to offer."

How big can the business be if properly developed? The figures he quotes show the annual net to Ontario from the tourist business to be about $125,000,000 and about $300,000,000 for all of Canada. The State of California ("which hasn't anything to offer compared to us") annually nets more than $450,000,000 from its tourist industry—more than from its movies, oil or fruit.

Publicity the Answer
Why this wide difference in development of such a rich source of income?

In a word: Publicity. And a publicity campaign, launched on an ever-increasing scale at the United States is Mr. Phillips' objective.

"Hit them hard and often with the facts about what we have to offer. Let them know about our two million lakes, our lakeland paradise... they'll come."

Mr. Phillips' winter labors—truly a labor of love—points out the effectiveness of advertising.

Last September, when the U.S. dollar shortage began to loom bigger and bigger in the Canadian economy and government steps were taken to try to remedy the situation, Mr. Phillips was preparing for his regular winter trip to Florida.

It was then that the notion of a one-man publicity blitz of America's own vacation territory occurred to him. He consulted officials of the provincial Department of Travel and Publicity. The enthusiasm he brought with him for the idea struck a similar-minded cord there. The Ontario Department arranged to help finance the trip—about one-third of the cost, actually—and arranged for word of its official sanction to reach the places on his itinerary.

11,000-Mile Trip

Reflecting the optimism of the man, the trip was an unqualified success. More than 11,000 miles rolled under the Phillips' trailer as he toured Florida, California, Texas and other southern states with his wife and youngest son—and a heavy load of movie-showing equipment, color films, tourist booklets and guides.

Had 70 Shows

He presented about 70 shows during his trip. One of the features of the movie showings was the film "Call of the Kewarths" prepared by the city of Peterborough for advertising purposes. Its response was wide, he said. With it, the show included a movie of the Niagara district and one of the Manitoulin area.

Well Received

Typical of the places were these films, with the sound tracks and off-track information on the districts by Mr. Phillips, was a trailer camp in Florida—a moving city of 1,500 trailers. More than 2,000 people attended the showing.

During all the presentations, he handed out thousands of the booklets and guides giving detailed information about Ontario's vacationland.

Showings in San Antonio and other Texas centres were exceptionally well received, he reports. "I almost reached into Mexico," he adds.

Fruits of the four months tour are already evident. Word of the showings and talks has reached Peterborough district people vacationing in the south this winter.

Mr. Phillips struck deep, too, into the heart of America's "tiniest" tourist centre—Palm Beach. He emphasized the importance of attracting the travelling public of the U.S. for they have the money to spend. (Remember the $450,000,000 a year?)

Explained the Picture

Here the travel bureau personification encountered a different type of sales resistance. Some persons objected to Canada's treatment regarding embargoes on U.S. goods. He met them on their own ground: told them the basic trouble (buying too much, selling too little), and proceeded to sell the objects on Canada's attractions.

(Anyone talking to Mr. Phillips would not find it hard to believe he would be a good salesman of the province's beauties.)

The combined impression of the grandeur of Canada's offerings to American tourists with the firm belief that it exceeds what the U.S. has to offer in comparison has fired Mr. Phillips with plans for the bombardment publicity campaign he is "talking up" all over Ontario now.

Will it pay? He merely points to the present $125,000,000 annual

GIVES BIRTH TO CHILD WHILE HUSBAND FIGHTS FIRE—While her husband assisted fire-fighters who were checking a bush fire that threatened their tiny home in Loughrin township, 30 miles from Sudbury, Mrs. Charles St. Germain gave birth to a seven-pound daughter. Mrs. Rudolph St. Germain and Mrs. Armand Malette delivered the baby and a doctor arrived from Sudbury shortly afterwards.

net from the tourists—without publicity to attract them to any great extent.

His tour of the "tourist areas" in California and Florida has left him convinced that these states—boasting to be the vacationland of America—have nothing to compare to the glories of Canada's call. He aims to hit for the American tourist's dollar with the type of advertising campaign which sells Canada. Intensive advertising has sold many comparatively meagre features in the U.S.

"Advertised"

"They'll eat it up if we play Canada in their way—advertise."

Opening gun of the campaign is now taking shape under the bustling activity of Mr. Phillips. He has already contacted a number of large manufacturing concerns who have promised to donate strategic 20-second points on their sponsored radio broadcasts through border stations to blast at the American audience with spot announcements about Canada's vacation offers. With some of these stations carrying audiences as far as 500 miles south of the Canadian border, this will be an important spur to the industry, he feels.

The estimated cost of this program of spot news, to be fired at the potential customers with the U.S. dollars, is $200,000. Under the proposed donation scheme from the manufacturers there will be no cost to the public. Faced with the logic of his arguments, business leaders contacted to date have been shown it is to their advantage to help bring about this influx of tourists. By raising the income of American dollars, much can be done to ease the present tax burdens which industry claims is slowing down expansion.

In his present round-the-province trip, he is rolling up support from civic governments, service clubs, business groups and others. He has already obtained the official blessing of the Ontario government for his work.

The radio messages will bang hard on the themes of Canada which cannot be matched south of the border: "Two Million Lakes—the Lakeland Paradise." Another angle already in progress has been started with a promise from the Toronto Retail Merchants Association. This powerful group plans to canvass by mail all affiliated members in the U.S. with tourist literature and, like the radio spots, will stress Canada's invitation to "come on up here for your holidays."

May Television Films

Stickers and markers for cars and licence plates can also be used to spread the word about Canada, he said.

Other brands in the fire point toward television some of the films showing Ontario's holidaying areas—including Peterborough.

Tentative arrangements have been made to have a Hollywood news syndicate cover tourist meetings, with superimposed shots of the natural beauty districts here.

These measures, he emphasises, are just starters. When they have proved their value and the tremendous benefits which can be reaped by selling Canada in the U.S.—and he is confident that they will—there will be further expansion.

He is positive that in this way—and in only this way—can the dollar shortage be solved.

Synthetic Fuel For Motors In Near Future

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex., May 6. — (AP). — How will United States automobiles be fueled in the year 2148?

Scientists studying the problem today indicate the answer will be a synthetic gasoline produced from coal.

The petroleum industry is devoting considerable attention to the problem.

Joining with the industry in its look into the future are government agencies, particularly the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

Participants in the studies don't expect to be around in 2148, but their common goal is to have an answer to the future supply problem just in case petroleum reserves don't last as long as most estimates indicate.

Current studies involve experiments in producing synthetic gasoline from natural gas, coal, shale and tar sands.

Atomic energy also enters the picture, but present indications give it little chance of being used to power automobiles. It apparently is destined for large scale space heating and commercial purposes.

There are two plants now under construction for production of gasoline from natural gas, one in Texas and one in Kansas.

The Bureau of Mines already is conducting large shale experiments in Colorado and has plans underway for two plants which will deal with coal experiments.

Nuclear Power

A member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission recently predicted a working model of a production type nuclear power section will be in operation within 10 years.

R. C. Alden of the Phillips Petroleum Company recently said current oil reserves of 25,000,000,000 barrels could last 13 years at present rates of demand, but that, without being optimistic, one can conclude potential reserves will push the figure from 60 to 200 years.

Alden gave this picture of possibilities of natural gas and coal being converted into gasoline, the estimates being based on current known reserves, demands and synthesis procedures:

Natural gas—present reserves of 165.9 trillion cubic feet would produce 11,700,000,000 barrels of gasoline, which would last approximately 13 years.

Coal—known reserves of 3.2 trillion tons would produce 4.7 trillion barrels of gasoline, a supply sufficient to last several thousand years.

Dr. Paul C. Aebersold, chief of the isotopes division of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, makes these estimates on possibilities of atomic energy as a source of power:

1. Current known reserves of uranium would supply 10 times more energy than known reserves of oil.

2. Coal as a world resource of power is a thousand fold more plentiful than uranium.

3. Total energy demand of the world for all heat, mechanical, motive and electrical power is about 2,000,000,000 kilowatts, the equivalent of 2,000,000 pounds of uranium. Known uranium reserves could meet this demand for 50 years.

Five Czechs Force Plane To U.S. Zone

Woman Holds Gun
At Pilot's Head
Ordering Him To Land

ERDING, Germany, May 7 — (AP) — Five Czechs said today they fled their homeland in an airplane, forcing the pilot as pistol point to land the plane in Germany. Two of the refugees are young women.

As they told their story, Yiri Benes, Czech vice-consul in Munich, disclosed that a Czech training plane crash-landed Wednesday on a highway near Ingolstadt. It was piloted by another man fleeing his country. In all, three Czech planes have landed in the United States zone of Germany with refugees since the Communist coup in February.

The airliner passengers said they fled Czechoslovakia Wednesday because they were being compelled to join the Communist party or lose their jobs. The leader was a former Czech air force pilot. He said he was ready to take over the controls if the pilot had refused to change his course. All asked that their identities be kept secret.

Threatens to Shoot

One of the girls, a brown-eyed Czech of 25, said she held her small pearl handled revolver at the pilot's head and told him: "If you don't go where we say, I will shoot."

The leader said the food situation in Czechoslovakia was becoming critical. He said the Communists have imposed a "complete police state which considers anyone who is not a member of the party an enemy."

"You don't see Russians in the street, but you feel them," he said.

The plane was scheduled to fly from Brno to Budapest.

The pilot and radio operator kept aloof from their passengers and asked United States officers to return them to Czechoslovakia as soon as possible. They refused to discuss the incident.

Two Prisoners Elude Guards

GUELPH, May 7. — (CP). — Guards from the Ontario Reformatory Thursday night searched nearby farmland and woodlots for two of three men who escaped Thursday while working in the prison garden. The third was captured a mile north of here.

Victor Martin surrendered early Thursday night but guards, under direction of Superintendent G. Hedley Basher still hunted for Irwin Fields, 23, of Sarnia, and Wilfrid Ludwig, 17, of St. Williams.

Two other prisoners, who escaped from Burwash Wednesday, also were being sought in the north. They were Frank McCann, 24, of Toronto, serving two years less a day for indecent assault, and Louis Jones, 25, Toronto, serving a similar term for forgery.

37 CSU Members Appear In Court

THOROLD, May 7. — (CP). — Thirty-seven members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (CSU) were scheduled to appear in Magistrate's Court here today on charges arising from the boarding of the collier Glenelg in the Welland canal here April 22.

A further remand to May 14 was expected.

The raid on the Canada Steamship Lines vessel and an attack on its Canadian Lake Seamen's Union crew marked one of the liveliest developments in the month-old jurisdictional dispute among Great Lakes sailors.

Most of the CSU men, together with a free lance photographer, surrendered to RCMP after lowering of the Glenelg in a canal lock cut off their escape. The others, including a union organizer, gave themselves up later. The majority were charged with trespassing.

INDIAN RIVER DEATH CAR—John W. Collins, Indian River, was killed Thursday afternoon at 1.15 when his car was hit by the CPR train as it was slowing down to a stop for the station. The impact rolled the car into the northeast ditch on its top and the driver was fatally crushed. Prov. Constables A. R. Edwards, Left, and G. W. Stevens are shown examining the wreckage after the car had been propped on its side by rescuers who got the passenger out.

Ottawa Ready To Rid Unions Of Communists

OTTAWA, May 7 (CP). — With the deportation of Reid Robinson as a precedent, high government officials today prepared to rid Canadian labor unions of other alien Communists.

They breathed a sigh of relief as Robinson, eastern Canadian president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO-CML), Wednesday was escorted back across the United States border.

Previously, the government had been uncertain how far it could go with its new program of ridding unions of foreign Reds. Now, with the deportation of Robinson completed, they feel more certain how courts will react to future cases.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of Ontario had refused to stay an immigration board order deporting the union official to the United States.

The immigration department had acted under a clause of the Immigration Act, never used, which gave it power to deport persons belonging to an organization advocating the overthrow of government by force.

The justice department considered that it was wide enough to cover members of the Communist party or even Communist sympathizers, but the government hesitated for some time before deciding to try to use the act as it stands.

The court ruling now means that the immigration act will not have to be amended to cover undesirable persons in unions, an official said. Thus, the Robinson hearings constituted a test case.

Mild Earthquakes Occur In Montreal, Cornwall

MONTREAL, May 7. — (CP). — A mild earthquake startled Montrealers today and reports told of the tremors being felt in towns along the American border.

Few hours after the quake, felt a few minutes after 8 a.m., there was no indication of damage. The shock lasted 10 or 15 seconds.

Residents of the northern sections of Montreal apparently felt the tremors more distinctly than those elsewhere.

Buildings trembled, lamps and other pieces of furniture with loose attachments rattled. One north-end resident thought something had happened to the furnace beneath his room and awaited an explosion.

A woman resident taking an early-morning bath felt the house shake and "could see the water move."

Plan Railway Strike Vote But Willing To Compromise

OTTAWA, May 7. — (CP). — Railway workers across Canada were waiting today to vote on the question of a wage strike that would paralyze the Dominion's rail transport system.

Barring a settlement before the poll ends, a majority vote for a strike is a certainty, but Government officials said they are confident a compromise will be negotiated before the 140,000 employees are taken off this job.

Willingness to compromise was indicated Thursday by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers (CCL) as it rejected the recommendation of a conciliation board now on a seven-cent-an-hour increase.

The 30,000-man CBRE had been asking 35 cents, along with 18 international brotherhoods which also rejected the seven-cent recommendation and ordered a strike vote of their members.

The two major railways have accepted the seven-cent award. The smaller lines are expected to follow suit.

Much Too Small

In announcing the CBRE's rejection, President A. R. Mosher made public a telegram to the Labor Department declaring that the seven-cent recommendation is "totally inadequate."

But the telegram added that the brotherhood is "prepared to consider any reasonable proposal for settlement of the dispute."

Mr. Mosher said the CBRE has no wish to call Canada's first general rail strike in almost 40 years. It would be a "major disaster."

"I hope," he added, "that the Government will take speedy action to bring the parties together to arrive at a reasonable and mutually satisfactory settlement before strike action becomes a reality."

Mr. Forrester, United States defense secretary, has had to postpone a visit to Ottawa this week-end because of "pressure of business" in Washington, Defense Minister Claxton announced today.

The U.S. official was to have arrived here late today for informal discussions with Prime Minister Mackenzie King, the defense committee of the cabinet, and defense headquarters officials.

H expressed hope that it might be possible to accept the invitation to come to Ottawa after Congress had adjourned.

Mr. Claxton emphasized there was "no particular significance" to the postponement.

Fighting In Honan

NANKING, May 7. — (AP). — Government dispatches said today that Nationalist and Communist armies are locked in battle in southeast Honan province. Fighting in that area has been progressing with mounting intensity for four days. Casualties were said to be high on both sides.

Cadi Urges Witness Be Charged

Says Man's Evidence Indicates Personal
Police Vendetta

TORONTO, May 7. — (CP). — A recommendation that W. J. Abraham, who recently charged Police Constable John Trimble with aggravated assault, be charged with perjury was made to the crown attorney today by Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow.

Delivering his judgment in the assault case, Magistrate Bigelow said: "The case against accused will, of course, be dismissed, but as well, I make the recommendation to the crown attorney that consideration at once be given to prosecuting the witness Abraham for perjury."

He referred to parts of Abraham's testimony as "typical of a lying witness."

He said Abraham, "as well as being an undoubted perjurer, was willing and anxious in pursuit of his personal vendetta against the police, to condemn a police officer against whom I have otherwise heard nothing, to immediate discharge and a term of imprisonment is to be an appalling state of affairs."

"It is settled in law" that a police officer might use whatever force is necessary to subdue a prisoner but he was not expected to "calculate with nicety and precision" the amount of force necessary for this purpose.

Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden said he had not been notified of the magistrate's recommendation. He said in such a case the fact of the case would be put before him at the magistrate's suggestion and, after a study, he would decide what action should be taken.

Chief Constable John Chisholm said he would be guided by Mr. McFadden's decision.

Labor Council Backs Protest Against Guns

CORNWALL, May 7. — (CP). — Cornwall Trades and Labor Council representing almost 4,000 workers Thursday night approved resolutions protesting the use of firearms, "to menace and intimidate peaceful pickets."

The action stemmed from an incident on the western outskirts of Cornwall Thursday, when non-union workers staged "target practice" with 22 rifles on a job after warning pickets to "stay where you are."

Cornwall township police subsequently relieved the non-union men of the rifles.

Extend Airport Runway

OSHAWA, May 7. — (CP). — Department of transport surveyors have started work to extend the main runway at Oshawa airport, George Hurst, airport manager, said today.

The runway will be lengthened from 2,600 feet to 3,500 feet. Constructed during the second world war, the airport was used as No. 20 E.F.T.S.

Asks European Assembly Be Formed

Churchill Urges States Forget Rivalries And Act Immediately

THE HAGUE, May 7. — (AP). — Winston Churchill urged today immediate formation of a European assembly as the first step toward a council of Europe free of the jealousies and rivalries of the past.

Churchill asked members of a forum of 22 countries to "create a new Europe" whose united voice can be continuously heard.

The new council of Europe should be a subordinate but necessary part of the world organization, Churchill said. The world organization of the future should have three "august but subordinate" regional councils:

1. The Soviet Union.
2. The council of Europe, including Great Britain, joined with her commonwealth.
3. The western hemisphere.

Britain's wartime leader said that the west is grieved and perplexed by the attitude of the Soviet Union, "without whose active aid the world organization cannot function, or the shadow of war be lifted from the hearts and minds of men and nations."

U.N. Truce Team, Arab Leaders Hold Conference

JERUSALEM, May 7. — (AP). — Truce talks were resumed in Jericho today between a three-power UN consular truce team and Arab leaders.

Jerusalem is so quiet it appears to be holding its breath for fear of interrupting the negotiations. Not a single shot was heard throughout the city since a pre-dawn skirmish between Jaffa Gate Arabs and Yemin Moshe district Jews.

It is believed by some that the Jews and Arabs have given the truce commission their terms for peace not only in Jerusalem, but in all Palestine. The Jews are asking that the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv road be kept open, and for the deportation of all foreign Arabs.

Arabs terms are said to be: that the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv road remains closed, with the agreement that Arabs will bring food and water to Jerusalem; that both Jews and Arabs return to areas they occupied last Dec. 1, before the present fight started, and that the truce be implemented by religious bodies of both sides, assisted by an international force.

As fighting continued in Palestine, the Jewish militia Hagana claimed it had taken three more Arab positions, two in Galilee and one south of Jaffa. The village of Katra on the Palestine coastal plane reportedly fell to Jewish forces Wednesday.

Hagana added that, near the Jewish settlement of Mishmar Haemek it broke up a few hundred Arab troops, mostly Iraqi volunteers, yesterday.

Granted Pay Increase

OTTAWA, May 7. — (CP). — Salary increases for about 16,500 government employees, at a cost of $2,500,000 a year, were announced today by Finance Minister Abbott.

The increases are effective from last Oct. 1. All major classes of public employees now have been granted more pay effective from that date.

The total cost of all salary increases in the civil service is estimated at nearly $20,000,000 a year, said Mr. Abbott's statement. The number of men and women affected is 104,000.

Says Beef Price
Rise Till July

OTTAWA, May 7. — (CP). — The price of beef will probably keep going up until July, a Canada Packers official predicted today to the Prices Commission.

"The supply is good compared to last year but the demand remains even greater," L. G. Hall, manager of the firm's beef department, said.

"The demand clears all beef as soon as it is ready, but it is especially strong for the most expensive cuts of the best beef."

"It is particularly enormous for steaks."

"I would think the situation will get worse from now until July. From then on we should have plenty of beef."

Wants Japan Bulwark

ADELAIDE, Australia, May 7. — (AP). — Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey said today Japan must be built up again as a bulwark against Russian expansion.

Blamey, commander of Australian forces during the war, said "Japan must rise again, not as a world power, but as a barrier against the spread of Communism."

Britain Refuses To Appoint Mayor For Jerusalem Asks U.N. To Name Man

New Zealand Declares Proposal Inadequate
Need Strong Police Force
To Carry Out Neutral Mayor's Orders

LAKE SUCCESS, May 7. — (CP). — An authoritative source said today Britain refuses to appoint a neutral Mayor for Palestine and has asked the United Nations to name a man for the job. This source said Foreign Minister Bevin notified Trygve Lie, UN Secretary-General, of his government's decision early today.

It was said Bevin suggested the president of the UN Assembly, Dr. Jose Arce of Argentina, appoint a Mayor after agreement by the Jewish agency for Palestine and the Arab higher committee.

With only eight days remaining before Britain's League of Nations mandate in Palestine expires, little was offered by the UN in the way of solving the problem of stopping warfare between Arabs and Jews.

The one concrete UN action was to approve appointment of a neutral "Mayor" for Jerusalem to ensure continuation of essential services when the mandate ends. But the Jerusalem commissioner to be named by Britain must be acceptable to Arabs and Jews.

The 58-member General Assembly Thursday voted 35 to 2 with 17 abstentions to have a commissioner.

Needs Police Force

Sir Carl Berenson of New Zealand led the attack against the inadequacy of the proposal, predicting that the "Mayor" would not even be able to collect garbage without a police force to back him up.

The question of enforcement now comes before the 58-member political committee. However, the next meeting of the committee has not yet been scheduled and it is expected it will not be until some time next week.

A sub-committee set up to formulate a provisional regime for all Palestine meets today. It may take up the Jerusalem question as intimated in the Australian resolution passed Thursday. The resolution threw to the political committee "and its subsidiaries" the problem of considering further measures for the protection of Jerusalem.

The sub-committee has the task of studying all suggestions for a Palestine solution placed before this second special session on Palestine.

Actually, said the council official, Dr. Harvey and the Chalk River co-workers wrote details of the manufacture and properties of plutonium in an article published by the Journal of the Chemical Society of England in August last year.

That article which followed the original disclosure of the manufacturing procedure by a year, had been approved by Canadian atomic authorities.

The official said he assumed that the article in Nucleonics under Dr. Harvey's name is either a reprint or an author's rewrite of the material published in Britain.

New Floods Threaten Brandon City

Dam Breaks In Night, Second Crisis Expected During Day

WINNIPEG, May 7 (CP).—Western Canada's flood-conscious communities today extended from Manitoba to British Columbia, with rising waters on the rampage in the former province and threatening in the latter.

In between, flood peaks in Saskatchewan and Alberta were believed over and rivers have started to return to normal size. In their wake, however, the shrinking streams were leaving a toll in damage estimated at millions of dollars.

The Manitoba situation remained the worst. Brandon, 180 miles west of here, survived one expected crisis Thursday night when a dam broke without unduly severe effects on the city.

A second crisis was expected today, however, when the peak waters of the Little Saskatchewan River—also known as the Minnedosa River—reached Brandon after joining the Assiniboine River 10 miles west.

The dam break, at the juncture of the Assiniboine and Little Saskatchewan, came before the latter stream's peak had reached the barrier. But thousands of tons of water released when the dam went, poured out over fields at the edge of the Assiniboine Valley.

Prepare Evacuation

Civic officials, meanwhile, were making last minute preparations for the crest expected today—

SIR OSWALD MARCHES—Sir Oswald Mosley marches, centre, with his followers after a political meeting of the new Mosley party, "The Union Movement," in London. Police had stopped the formation of the marchers until after they had left the area of their meeting, Hartford Road, Hackney. They formed outside the area and continued up Holloway Road. At the right of the picture is Geoffrey Hamm, deputy leader of the movement. Sir Mosley and his followers have right to talk as long as freedom is enjoyed in England, court told demonstrators at his May Day rally. His banner is a white lightning flash and circle and red ground.

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO, May 7 (CP).—Wholesale fruit and vegetable prices were unchanged here today with the following exceptions: Asparagus, 11-qts., $3.50-$4; radishes, doz., 75¢-81¢; green onions, doz., 35-40¢.

TORONTO HOG PRICES

TORONTO, May 7 (CP).—Hog prices, in markets reporting today, were:

Stratford: Unchanged, grade A

planning to evacuate the few families still remaining in the "flooded flat" section of the city. It was believed the tidal wave would increase present levels by at least two feet, blocking off the north section of the city from the southern business area. Should the one street now connecting the two be severed, supplies would have to be ferried across to the approximately 450 families living north of the river.

Warm weather and spring rains, coupled with a late runoff, were blamed for threatened floods in British Columbia, with the Fraser Valley being the most menaced section. Residents were busy dyke-building. Danger points in British Columbia were along the 100-mile stretch between Hope and Mission, east of Vancouver. Farmers, fruit growers and ranchers all stood to lose thousands of dollars, with losses already reported from the Cariboo and the South Okanagan Valley.

Butter prices unchanged, 1st grade 69¢, 2nd grade 68¢, 3rd grade 67¢.

Churning cream unchanged, No. 1 lb. 74¢, 75¢, 76¢ delivered.

Eggs: Receipts equal to demand. Market steady at unchanged prices. A large 45¢-46¢, A medium 44¢-45¢, A pullet 40¢-42¢, B 42¢-44¢, C 39¢-40¢, country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free, A large 43¢, A medium 41¢-42¢, A pullet 38¢, B 39¢-41¢, C 36¢.

Butter solids unchanged, 1st grade 67¢, 2nd grade 66¢.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, May 7 (CP).—Minor demand by shippers came into oats and barley trading today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and prices were hovering around previous closing levels. Offerings continued light in dull trade.

Commission house demand sent July rye up the 10-cents limit. May rye also showed the maximum gain, while the October future scored a fractional advance.

Prices:

Oats—May 1/2 lower at 92¢; July unchanged at 85¢; Oct. 1/4 higher at 78¢.

Barley—May unchanged at 11¢; July 1/4 lower at $1.14; Oct. 1/4 lower at $1.05.

Rye—May 10 higher at $4.30; July 10 higher at $3.70; Oct. 1/4 higher at $2.04.

Inspections: Wheat this year 218; last year 472; cars of contract 131; oats 15-76; barley 28-31; flax 10-4; rye 4-3 other grains 5-4; total 280-588.

Pair Refused Bail

BELLEVILLE, May 7 (CP).—Peter Carey and Harry Olsaki, of Toronto, two of three alleged robbers who are believed to have entered the brewers' warehouse on April 12 in Picton and carted away the safe, were refused bail by Judge J. C. Anderson here today. Along with Mickey Metrunitz they were remanded a week.

Magistrate T. Y. Willis refused bail to Metrunitz at the hearing on Wednesday, telling accused "You were on bail when the alleged offence was committed." The two men were returned to Picton county jail.

Oils And Industrials Show Good Recovery

TORONTO, May 7 (CP).—Western oils and selected industrials made pleasing recoveries on the Stock Exchange today, but mining stocks continued easy. Newspapers showed good form in brisk action and sizeable gains, while a handful of mining issues were busy traders.

Volumes for the first three hours were 664,000 shares, about 145,000 more than yesterday's similar period.

International Paper headed the newprints on a gain of 3/4 to a new high at 63 3/4 as Abitibi issues, Great Lakes, Powell River, Consolidated and Brown Pfd. also moved up fractions. Other industrial gainers were Algoma Steel, Aluminum, Canada Steel, Distillers, Dominion Steel, Massey-Harris, Steel of Canada, and McColl.

A few junior golds traded actively, but losses were in majority, with heaviest of these Aunor, Dexter, Giant, United Keno Hill, Teck Hughes, and Sullivan. Eastern base metals were East Sullivan, Falconbridge, Macdonald, Noranda, Waite Amulet, Sherritt and Pend Oreille.

Believe Mountbatten Will Return To Navy

LONDON, May 7 (Reuters).—Speculation is growing about the future of Earl Mountbatten, who will relinquish the governor-generalship of India in six weeks time.

Eminent Indian statesmen declare that he has rendered greater service to his country than Warren Hastings or Lord Clive.

There are predictions of a high British cabinet post, of future ambassadorship at Moscow or Washington, of new and important commonwealth missions.

It is believed, however, that Earl Mountbatten's personal ambition is set for the most coveted diplomatic or political honors. His greatest wish, it is understood, is to follow in his father's footsteps as first sea lord.

Fear U.S. Efforts In Palestine Will Be Futile

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP).

—Beset by a long series of setbacks, the American effort to end the bloodshed in Palestine today approached a crucial deadline with little apparent change for success.

President Truman himself stressed that the effort is continuing in every possible way. But other officials noted that Britain is due to surrender her mandate over the Holy Land at the end of next week and an increase in Arab-Jewish warfare is widely feared there.

The Palestine situation is the centre of current official concern here over unsettled conditions in various parts of the world.

Outside the Holy Land, however, world tensions are less pressing now than they have been in the past.

By some authoritative estimates here Western Europe, for instance, now is believed to be relatively secure for the time being.

The Italian election crisis has been surmounted although the new parliament has still to form a government excluding the Communists. Also excitement over Russian pressure on the western powers in Germany has died down.

Most responsible American opinion is that if some new Russian expansionist pressure is to develop in the weeks ahead it probably will come not in the west but in the south or middle east.

Speculation centres on Greece, where Communist forces are believed to have potential backing in the Soviet satellite countries of Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

There also has been some talk among officials of possible new Russian moves aimed at Iran and Turkey.

18 More Executions Reported From Greece

ATHENS, May 7 (AP).—Eighteen more persons convicted of murder were reported executed today at Agina prison just outside of Athens.

Nineteen were executed there Thursday. Thirteen others executed at Athens and 11 at Salonika Thursday, brought to 61 the total number of executions within 36 hours and to 213 this week.

The British embassy said Sir Clifford Norton had sent a note to Vice-Premier Constantin Triafalis asking "details and explanations" of the recent large-scale executions.

Premier Themistokles Sophoulis, a Liberal, and Tsaldaris, a Populist, now busy reshuffling the Cabinet. The four new Liberals named are: Jean Politis, former foreign minister and Greek minister to Rome when Italy attacked Greece; George Melas, former minister without portfolio in the present government; and a diplomat; Stavros Costopoulos, banker and economics expert; and Anastasios Bakalassis, business man and former Minister of Agriculture.

RULES OF THE ROAD For Safe Driving

No one can be considered a real driver unless his traffic habits include care, courtesy and common sense as fundamentals for safety.

No method of approach to the traffic problem will bring more beneficial results than your observance of the following rules:

1. Consider the rights and privileges of others.
2. Drive your car at a reasonable and proper speed at all times.
3. Give full and individual attention to your driving. If you want to enjoy the scenery or "window shop"—park your car.
4. Know your stopping distance at all times. Reasonable speed in fair weather or on a dry surface may be dangerous in rain or snow or during darkness.
5. Keep your brakes, lights, steering mechanism and tires in good operating condition at all times. Failure to do so is an indication of a dangerous and irresponsible driver.
6. Don't insist on your "right of way". Your life and your health are much more important.
7. Watch the car ahead and don't follow too closely.
8. Watch the car behind and signal your intention to stop or change direction.
9. Never pass another vehicle on a hill or curve or at a point where the view is obstructed.
10. Slow down at crossings, street intersections, schools and when passing parked cars. A few seconds lost may save a lifetime of regret.
11. Observe road signs and signals. They have a definite purpose—to prevent accidents.
12. Be particularly careful when passing pedestrians or bicyclists. Get your foot on the brake, then sound your horn. If it is absolutely necessary.
13. Never drive after drinking—for the same reason that you don't want the other driver to do so.
14. Never drive in a storage road as fast as you would on one that you know. On strange roads you are slightly dependent upon road signs which may not be adequate.
15. Observe this rule: Drive as you would have others drive.

Hit, Run Victim Out Of Hospital

COBOURG, May 7 — (ENS) — Danny Parsons, who has been in Cobourg General Hospital since February 8 of this year, has returned to his home. The Cobourg youth was struck by a hit-and-run driver early on the morning of February 8 and flung into the ditch. He sustained a badly broken leg and had to remain in hospital. Three weeks ago police arrested Robert Dunn of Bowmanville and he was sentenced to the Reformatory for three months definite and one indefinite on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

TORONTO, May 7 — (CP) — Hon. Albert Matthews, former lieutenant-governor of Ontario, has been elected president of the Lord's Day Alliance for Canada, it was announced today.

- KIDNEY TROUBLE
- BLADDER DISORDERS

The kidneys have the non-stop task of helping to eliminate impurities and waste matter from the system. The vital part they play in the smooth running of the human body is usually taken for granted UNTIL THEY GO WRONG—then the effects are felt at once. Faulty kidneys may mean that harmful impurities that may be the source of all sorts of mischief are left to settle and accumulate in the system. MINOR RHEUMATIC PAINS (OR RHEUMATIC TWINGES) BACKACHE, BLADDER DISORDERS, WITH SCALDING AND BURNING may be some of the serious consequences that can follow. Reports Show Good Results In T.B. Tests

COBOURG, May 7 (ENS)—The good health of Northumberland County cattle and the good judgment in promotion of the T.B. test years ago is evidenced in the progress of this work at this time, said W. P. Watson, Livestock Commissioner. He advised Agricultural Representative R. Banbury that in this third general test only 773 cattle from 44 herds have reacted, from the nearly 19,000 tested up to April 14 this year. In areas where the test was not made years ago, many cattle are going down and they are found hard to replace at this time, and some loss in production cannot be avoided, the report said. Northumberland County will lose little in production from this test if the present rate continues.

The Holstein Friesian Association plan to grade Northumberland County cows for the selective registration in the near future. To date 21 herds have been listed with agricultural representative Ralph Banbury. Others interested have been urged to have their farms put on the itinerary, as inspectors may not be again in the county for some time.

All ungraded cows of milking age, for which inspection is sought, must be submitted for

Minister Opposes Marrying Persons Who Are Divorced

KITCHENER, May 7 — (CP) — "If we of the Presbyterian clergy agree to remarry a divorced person we agree to marry a self-confessed adulterer," Rev. L. H. Fowler of Port Hope told the Presbyterian Synod of Toronto and Kingston during a Presbytery meeting here Thursday.

"Yet, if we refuse, we send them shopping around the various clergy for someone to solemnize the marriage ceremony," he added. Mr. Fowler introduced a motion to establish a committee to investigate the problems of divorce, remarriage, and civil marriage, which he considered "serious problems facing the church today."

The committee is composed of Rev. Dr. R. G. Stewart of Toronto and Rev. Mr. Fowler. They will prepare a report and forward it to the General Assembly of the Church.

British film magnate, J. Arthur Rank, has agreed to invest $500,000 in the manufacture of a series of short movies dealing with religious topics, the Synod was told.

Rev. Walter McLeary, former pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Elora, has been appointed the president of the Bacon Productions, which handles the manufacture and making of the religious movies.

It is understood the movies will be made on a location near Toronto. All movies are to be made in Canada.

classification. They are graded for quality and where an animal is graded poor, the registration certificate may be cancelled. Only bull calves from dams graded the equivalent of good-plus or where production is 50 per cent above ROP requirement can be registered. The cost is only a dollar per animal with a minimum of $4 per visit, but it gives the farmer a good picture of how he stands with his Holstein herd in relation to other breeders.

Expect Election To Be Very Tame

COBOURG, May 7 (ENS) — The coming provincial election has so far failed to stir much interest in Northumberland County. While a CCF candidate is going to run in Durham County, it will be a straight Tory and Grit battle in Northumberland. With the Liberals declaring that Drew forced an election to bolster the party's strength and that he had no real election issue, there appears little to argue about, according to some local political observers.

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow seeks re-election as the Progressive-Conservative candidate in Northumberland. His opponent, Len Gordon of Colborne, is experienced in municipal work through his membership in the Counties Council, but is pitting his political future against a Cabinet minister. Old-timers, who recall the days when riot-roaring campaigns were typical of election time, comment that the coming election is going to be a tame affair.

Reprimand Soldier

WINDSFORD, Cheshire, England, May 7 — (AP) — A jury Thursday reprimanded a soldier in a hurry to get home for causing a train wreck which killed 24. The soldier pulled a communications cord and stopped a London-Glasgow express near here April 24. He wanted to get off and cut across the fields to his home. Another train smashed into the express.

Campbellford Postmaster Named Secretary

CAMPBELLFORD, May 7 — (ENS) — J. M. Ferriss, postmaster, has returned from Estevan, Saskatchewan, where he officially took over as secretary of the Canadian Postmasters' Association. Since 1939, he has been secretary of the Ontario branch of the association, and a member for 17 years. He received the appointment as Dominion secretary last November.

Mr. Ferriss is the third generation of his family to be postmaster in Campbellford and has served here 22 years. Postal business in that time has at least doubled, he said.

Early Seeding This Spring, Farmers Report

CAMPBELLFORD, May 7 (ENS) — Seeding operations, as reported by some farmers in this district, are almost completed. Harold Brown, a farmer of Trent River, said this year is the first year he can remember having all the regular spring seeding done in April. Mr. Brown has 45 acres of this 200-acre farm, sown.

Last year, Mr. Brown said, he bought his grass seed on May 8. It was a wet spring, he said, and although he managed to get 40 acres sown one week, there were 25 acres which did not get sown at all.

But pasture lands are not as far advanced this year, it is reported. It has been too cool for ideal growing, he said.

Ward Archer, Hastings Road, although not quite completed with his seeding on his 150-acre farm, said the land was in fine condition this spring and a good seed bed was easily acquired. The grass "looks good," he said, but the cool weather is holding it back.

Mr. Archer is one of the farmers of the old school. He uses a four-horse team on the plow, cultivator and harrows.

"There's something about driving good horses that I like," he said. But he has had an order placed for a tractor for some time.

There is a keen demand for horses, Mr. Archer said. The word has spread around that he has six horses and has ordered a tractor, and offers from near and far for his horses have been coming to him.

Will Announce Raise In Ont. Wheat Price

OTTAWA, May 7 — (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Robert McCubbin (L-Middlesex), told the Commons an increase in West), Parliamentary Assistant to the wheat price paid to Ontario farmers will be announced "in due course." The announcement will be made by Trade Minister Howe, he said, adding: "You can rest assured that the Ontario farmer will be well taken care of."

A Modern Pilgrimage

A pilgrimage is a journey undertaken, from religious motives, to some place reputed to be sacred. They were not always solemn affairs, as Chaucer's Canterbury Tales testify, though there was the tomb of a saint or some relic at the end of the journey for Christian, pre-Christian or extra-Christian veneration. This evening a large pilgrimage is being made from Peterborough to holy Toronto, the 1,500 pilgrims riding not on donkeys or shanks' mare but on two trains of twelve carriage each. There will be festivities on the way—no Wyl of Bath but two clowns, no John Barleycorn (we trust) but pop and bubble-gum, no Knights and Nones Priests but many Merchants, Clerks, and Haberdashers, and some Doctors of Physick, Millers and Plowmen. The object of veneration is no martyred saint but a live angel on skates, the famous young lady from Ottawa. This is a modern pilgrimage.

We hope that our 1,500 people have as much fun, tells as tall tales and see as many wonders as did Chaucer's pilgrims. Miss Scott's art is worthy of praise, her person of plaudits, and the financial profit from the Rotarians' ambitious project is to be put to charitable use.

Fred Rose Is Not Being Persecuted

Fred Rose, the member of Parliament who was imprisoned two and a half years ago for conspiracy to violate the Official Secrets Act, is trying to give the impression that he is being persecuted. He was taken out of prison recently, tried on further charges, and given a further sentence. He would like the public to think that this is unusual and harsh treatment, and his counsel has referred to his new trial as "a Rose special".

This is nonsense. Rose is a Communist, but that has no direct bearing on his treatment in the Canadian courts. He was elected to Parliament, and he used his position in order to get information from government sources by dishonest means, with the intention of giving that information to another country. He was tried on that charge, and sent to jail. There were other charges against him, and owing to the law's delay they have just come before the courts. There has been nothing unusual about his treatment in any respect.

Rose also declared in court that his health had been undermined, his family tortured, and that he had been in solitary confinement for six months. It may be that he is sickening in prison; some men do so. The families of convicted men often suffer shame in consequence. But Rose has not been in solitary confinement; presumably he does not know what that term means.

Fred Rose wants to pose as a martyr, and to spread the impression that Canada has made a political prisoner of him and treated him worse than any other felon. This is quite untrue. Rose is no worse off than any other imprisoned man and, considering the condition of the world at present, he may think himself lucky.

A Word For The Longbow

Our esteemed contemporary, the Kingston Whig-Standard, takes exception to an editorial which we published on April 28, in which we said that we saw no objection to hunting deer with bow and arrow. Our contemporary (who shows, we must say, a sad tendency to succumb to the glamour of almost any mechanical gadget) upholds the deer rifle and the man behind it. But we are unmoved. We see no reason why archers should not hunt deer, and we repeat our assertion that an archer is more likely to be a good shot than a man with a rifle.

Without wishing to become contentious, we doubt if the editor of the Whig knows much about archery. As his editorial shows, he thinks that it is a subject for tall stories in romantic novels. We should like to tell him a few things. First, a deer hunter can shoot to kill at a mile and a half, if he can see his deer; the archer can shoot to kill at 460 yards. Which type of shooting demands the better huntsman and the better sport? The game-hunting archer uses a yew bow, six feet long, and the broad-headed medieval arrow; he kills his game at once, under the conditions governing a rifle shot—i.e., that he hits the right spot. Opponents of archery make much of tales of deer running through the forests stuck as full of arrows as St. Sebastian; have they never heard of a wounded deer which was full of ill-placed bullets? We have always thought that the pleasure of hunting lay in the skill which it required. Are we wrong?

Within the last twenty years American and British archers have hunted everything from squirrels to lions with the longbow. They have killed, with a single arrow, such game as deer, puma, black and grizzly bears, and mountain sheep. The late Saxton T. Pope killed seven Nairobi lions with the arrow only. We submit to the editor of the Whig that this is fast-moving game not to be trifled with.

For the Swivel-Chair Indian, spending a fortnight in the woods every year, the rifle may be a good weapon. But where real hunting skill and marksmanship is called into question, we think that the archer has a place of honour, and should not be barred from the woods by people who have never seen a bow, let alone handled one.

Housing Corporation, Limited

On April 1st a bill was introduced into the Ontario Legislature which was intended to ameliorate the housing shortage. The thirty million dollar program included proposed grants to municipalities (up to half the cost of providing land and services) for new housing projects, money for slum clearance and new types of construction, and loans to individuals to reduce their down payments on new houses. Since this well-publicized Drew legislation was announced a month ago we have heard little about it. Perhaps it is too early to look for results. Perhaps the City Council can expect no promise of thirty or forty thousand dollars' assistance from the Ontario Government until the scheme for 125-200 new veterans' houses is more advanced than it now is.

One part of the legislation has come to life in Housing Corporation, Limited, a Provincial Crown Company set up to administer the ten million dollar fund for loans to individuals. Some Peterborough people thinking of building or buying a new house may wish to be reminded about this. Through the Housing Corporation a person may take out what amounts to a second mortgage on a newly built house. For instance, a person wanting to buy an $8,000 house may, under the National (Federal) Housing Act arrange a first mortgage of $6,000. This leaves him a down payment of $2,000, which is higher than some can afford, but no commercial firm would give him a second mortgage. The new Housing Corporation will lend him (at 3½ per cent. and repayable over a 20-year period) a thousand dollars. Therefore his cash down payment will be only one thousand.

Considering the high building costs and the need for houses, we think that the legislation will be helpful, though as a drop in the bucket. Even with a loan from Housing Corporation, Limited, the man who buys a house with only one-eighth of the cash for it in his pocket is taking on a heavy load. In addition to taxes and upkeep, he will annually have to find money for paying interest and principal on a debt amounting to seven-eighths of the cost of a house built at peak prices.

Pity The Poor Citizen

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics tells us that the cost of living is now 150.4 per cent. of what it was in 1939. This news reaches us at the same time as a dispatch from Australia, which announces that the following notice now hangs outside a house in Sydney:

"The Poor Cuss who lives here helps to support:

"The Commonwealth Parliament, State Parliament, thousands of Public Servants, Sydney County Council, Australian Gas Light Company, local doctor, dentist, butcher, baker, milkman, grocer, landlord—also a wife, two kids, a cat.
"Hawkers please keep away because there's nothing left".

It should not be long before a few similar signs appear in this great land of opportunity.

A new type of public hero is abroad, according to the president of the Kingston branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association who writes to the Editor of the Whig-Standard: "Hats off to our unrecognized unsung artists—the restaurant operators". We usually take our hat off in a restaurant anyway—not out of respect for the artistic food but just because we do not happen to like eating even an Ontario restaurant meal with our hat on.

After Three Years

By
A. VETERAN

THE Dutch evening was pleasant, the front was remarkably quiet—indeed it had been remarkably quiet for a week and more. Hardly a gun was firing. A week ago there had been a kind of truce so that our trucks could carry food across the lines to the starving people in Rotterdam, Utrecht and all that western Dutch district which the Germans were holding. There was an uncertain feeling of peace in the air quite different from darker, earlier days when soldiers took spasmodic refuge from reality in despairingly hopeful rumours of peace. The slow pace of the war, on this front and the reported conditions on other fronts had given a gradually credible validity to the common talk that the war would end soon. Nevertheless, after so many years of war no soldier really believed that the war could ever end, even though his brains told him it must.

It was the fourth of May, 1945. I was intending to take a stroll and visit a friend in a near-by outfit. As I passed the Signals tent a corporal said: "There's big news coming. Listen in at nine o'clock".

I had an idea what he meant by big news, but still refused to believe. Of course I stayed in camp to listen to the B.B.C. news, but I thought—it won't be the end of the war for us. If things were ending on our front, we could hear about it from our military authorities, not from London. Nevertheless I listened in.

Of the actual phrases, the voice, the authority for the statements, I remember nothing. I do remember that the radio announcement convinced me and my brother soldiers that the war was over for us. Never again would Canadian soldiers in this Europe hear a "Moaning Minnie"; never again would we have to go out on patrol; never again would we have to bury a friend killed beside us; never again would the awful kur-umph of an exploding shell have vital meaning.

THERE was no exhilaration. There was a kind of dull feeling of relief, the kind of feeling, in a lower scale, that an athlete has after running his last important race, or a student after having written his last examination. The results are not known, but the effort has been made, all is done that can be required. The cook had saved up some issue rum and we had a sip merely because it seemed necessary to have something by way of celebration. Shortly after the B.B.C. announcement, orders came down from Army and Corps headquarters that there were to be no demonstrations, that men at posts were to stand fast.

I LEFT camp and sought solitude and my friend in the near-by unit. Along the quiet country road I met a group of Dutch women. Their husbands were in hiding or hostages to the fortunes of war in Germany. The Dutch are not ordinarily demonstrative, but these women on this night were singing a patriotic song as they approached arm in arm. They recognized the uniform. They said: "It is true. It is true, isn't it?"

I said, "Yes". They shook hands, they kissed me, they wept.

I found my friend and soberly drank a full bottle of his E.F.I. ration. The war was over.

ON May 7th, the first of the two "V.E. Days", we began to cross the Grebbe Line and to occupy the German-held cities of Utrecht, Rotterdam, The Hague and Amsterdam. The war was over.

Three years have passed. The veterans have come back in their thousands to settle down. They are civilians now. Some of them are doing well, some not so well. They can never forget their experiences and they will forever be different from other civilians who did not have the experience of battle in foreign lands. Nevertheless, they have become hardened to the necessity of grubbing for dollars; they have become domestically placid or resigned; their friends and bosses are civilians. The veteran with a good job tends to be embarrassed when he meets a veteran out of work, in the way that a person meeting a former school pal who has not prospered feels shy and a bit ashamed of the gap that has come between them.

SOME men are taking refuge from the present strain of dollar-power and business competition in chats with others of their kind at reunion dinners and Canadian Legion club rooms. There they talk over the carefree times of the war, forgetful of the miseries of a wet winter at the front and soul-searing fears before an attack. They resort to the past because their humanity was high-pitched then and life, not dollars, had the only valid meaning.

Other veterans spurn the past because it was too harsh or because they know that nostalgia can be diseased. They do not join local reserve units, they shun veterans organizations, they try to live only as civilians.

THE same course for a veteran who has seen combat service lies midway between these two groups. He cannot escape his past, as the men of the second group would do. He cannot escape the present, as many in the first group are attempting to do. He must accept his civilian status but he can never become like other civilians.

Magic Words

"The day before I left London to go to Italy, I called into one of the leading motor showrooms in Piccadilly and asked casually if I could buy a new car on the spot. If I were an Englishman and wanted to use the car at home I certainly couldn't. But as I was a South African and wanted it for export, certainly—what colour did I want?... and would I like it delivered in London, or Dover, or across the Channel? In fact, a magical change was worked in the salesman's attitude immediately I mentioned the words, 'for export'."—(Frank Rostrom talking in the series "Across the Line" in the BBC's Overseas Service.)

STILL HOLDING

Hunting With Bow and Arrow

(THE KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

WE have a reasonably healthy respect for the erudition of The Peterborough Examiner in many fields, but its recent intrusion into the field of venery cannot be allowed to pass without protest. Our contemporary elevated its editorial nose at the contention that hunting deer with bow and arrow was less humane than hunting deer with rifles, and by an admirably selected choice of arguments reached the conclusion there would be no more cruelty in the forests than there is now if archers were allowed to join the hunters with deer rifles.

The Examiner says that the chances are that archers are, as a group, better marksmen than rifle shots, and it invites anyone who doubts the statement to go to the archery butts and watch the skill of the men and women he finds there. Well, we've been to the butts. And we've hunted deer. We have yet to see a butt where archers shoot through avenues of brush and trees, or one with moving targets equipped with horns, legs and a white flag. We have yet to see an arrow that can score a near-vital hit and still kill as quickly as a bullet.

There was a day when The Examiner might have been correct. That was the day that Arthur Conan Doyle—among others—wrote about. If today's archers had the skill of Samkin Aylward and old Johnson, our contemporary would be right in the groove. If we remember correctly, it was in "Sir Nigel" that a murderous baron stood in bronze armour on his battlements, attempting to thrust an English prisoner with a rope around his neck over into the "long drop". The baron's glove of mail hindered him, so he drew it off—and his hand was immediately pierced by three English arrows.

We're ready to believe that. But we do not believe there are three archers in North America who could hit such a mark today. Furthermore, most deer hunters do not, as our contemporary implies, go into the woods each fall without shooting practice in the period since the preceding autumn. And if The Examiner would care to select a team of four Peterborough archers, to compete in a straight test of marksmanship on moving targets—mechanical or otherwise—we will match it with a team of four Kingston rifle-men.

Perhaps the best answer to our contemporary's argument is to be found in the sad record of an archers' buffalo hunt held in the northwestern United States last year. Conducted under almost ideal circumstances—driven, half-domesticated animals, and posted hunters—the net result was a large number of wounded animals which eventually had to be killed with rifles, and a quick prohibition of further archery contests with living targets. Until the archers can produce evidence to offset the conclusions to be drawn from this incident, we suggest they be kept out of the woods.

Why Editors Get Grey

A foe to all unnecessary labour, Editor Horace Tattersale of a small Alabama weekly newspaper, permits a lot of stuff to appear in his publication without adequate proof reading. But not society news! After what happened recently, he examines every social item with an eagle eye before it appears in his paper.

One night, it seems, there was a great ball at a nearby plantation, and Editor Tattersale permitted an account of the affair to appear in his paper without the proper advance scrutiny. And, lo, it carried this intriguing passage:

"Miss Lucy Starbelle wore white, symbolic of her inner life. Miss Theresa Wilkins wore black."

It took a lot of persuading to keep the Wilkins family from annihilating Editor Tattersale.—Wall Street Journal.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord God said unto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life.

And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, of which I commanded is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life. In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return. (Gen. 3: 14, 17, 19.)

Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned. Therefore as by the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all men unto justification of life. For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous.

Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded grace did much more abound: that as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life by Jesus Christ our Lord. (Rom. 5: 12, 18-21.)

Letter To The Editor

NOT EVEN A KIND LOOK

Sir: If Premier Drew and his Cabinet can authorize a million dollars grant to the rich City of Sudbury and proportionate amounts to other preferred municipalities in New Ontario, I cannot see why the Honourable Harold Scott cannot get a million dollars for Peterborough to help build the Memorial Centre, the secondary rink or the Ennisman Bridge. Every one of these plans is an honest and needed enterprise for this community and district.

The rich City of Sudbury has the advantage of the 100 million dollar International Nickel Company in its neighbourhood, one of the richest corporations in the world. The City of Sudbury is wealthy in the rich mines around it and there is no more reason to promise it to Sudbury than to the City of Peterborough and the municipalities of the County of Peterborough.

In other words, we are just as much entitled to a million dollars for our municipality and city projects for this city and county as the wealthy City of Sudbury and I think it is due us from Mr. Harold Scott to tell us why the City of Sudbury has to get a million dollars and the City of Peterborough does not even receive a kind look.

Yours faithfully,
G. N. GORDON.

The Kirk To The People

The octogenarian minister of a Presbyterian church at Cumberland, East Dumbartonshire, the Rev. John Ogilvie, was not satisfied that the people of his 40-square mile parish were attending the services, so he decided to take the church to them.

On two Sundays a month he visits different parts of his parish and holds services in a farmhouse. The neighbours to the number of about 30 turn up, sing hymns to the accompaniment of a portable organ. Mr. Ogilvie gives a short address and a social time follows: "I decided," says the Rev. Mr. Ogilvie, "that if the folks could not come to the kirk, I would take the kirk to them."

The idea is not original. Years ago, before the advent of the automobile, it was quite common for ministers in scattered parishes, or an elder, to hold church and Sunday school services in a farm kitchen.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Where Women Are Taboo

"The village pub is almost wholly masculine. Villagers do not take their wives to the pub. This is not true in the towns but it still holds in the country. At one time it was held that no respectable woman would be seen in a pub. This is no longer true, but it is still a fact that the company in the main room is ninety-per-cent masculine."—(Ralph Wighman, farmer and well-known broadcaster, talking about village life in the BBC's Overseas Service.)

Horn-Honking In Montreal To Be Cut Down

By GUY GAGNON.

MONTREAL, May 7.—(CP)—For horn-honking motorists the heat is on in this old city. How hot it blows remains to be seen, but police are wheeling out "use-your-head-not-your-horn" propaganda and plan to back it up with fines for offenders.

Already—and the anti-tooting fight started only May 3—motorists are quieter, says Police Director Albert Langlois though the pedestrian who has noted any appreciable change has yet to be located.

It can be said that Montreal car drivers have a long way to go to achieve actual quiet and their education must be a bitter thing. Here is why:

No city with streets so narrow as Montreal's old downtown are, has so many cars, so many traffic jams that look like a marbled fishing line, so many horn honkers.

The Montreal driver, ever a voluble and impatient branch of the species, has come to use his horn as an outlet for frustration while passing the time of day amid a traffic jam. It's going to be hard to give this up.

Have New System

Actually the first step in the anti-noise campaign traces to the assignment of mounted police to traffic duty some months back. A mounted man, better than the standing traffic cop, can spot the key car in a jam and untangle the mess fast. That cuts down motorists' frustration time.

Now comes the campaign to make drivers easy on the horn. The campaign followed a meeting of the Metropolitan Police Chiefs' Discussion Group, an organization of police heads in Montreal Island's 15 municipalities which meets periodically to review common problems.

The chiefs found there was a lot of unnecessary noise and police warnings were taken lightly because they were not followed up with court action. So Director Langlois warned that fines would follow indiscriminate horn-blowing; ordered his men to pass out tickets instead of warnings. Now a dozen or so court appearances are scheduled and newspapers and taxi owners are supporting the campaign.

HOOP-RACERS "FIT TO BE TIED"—For the first time in the history of the event, the Wellesley College hoop race, held annually at Wellesley, Mass., ended in a dead heat when Pauline Auger (left), of New Bedford, Mass., and Carmen Ogden, of Portland, Ore., rolled their hoops across the finish line unseparated by an eyelash. As co-winners they share the bridal bouquet together. Tradition says that possessor of the bouquet will be first of the class to wed.

Diamond Drills

Practices for ball teams here are the order of the day and the week-end, weather permitting. Senior "B" lacrosse drill seven tonight in Miller Bowl. The Petes' senior baseball prospects go at 6.15 tonight and tomorrow in Riverside. An open junior baseball workout is listed for two Saturday in Morrow Park. A number of minor baseball teams have open practices, too. The north-end bantams, midgets and juveniles are called to the Oval at 6.30 tonight. The west-end midgets are at Prince of Wales at 6.30 this evening. The East City peewees practice at 10 a.m. Saturday in Armour Field and at 4.45 p.m. Monday in the Oval. And the west-end peewees train Saturday morning at 10 at the Prince of Wales.

Frank Dohaney Competes For Olympics

TORONTO, May 7. (CP)—With 16 Olympic hopefuls eliminated in last night's bouts, 27 others will slug it out today for the honor of representing Central Ontario in the Canadian Olympic boxing finals in Montreal. Many of last night's fighters were outclassed in their matches but all gave it the college try. Referees ended six of the fights by awarding technical knockouts. Two others ended in knockouts. Gus Rubicini, Toronto welterweight, battered out a decision over Mike Zaduck of Guelph. By winning this even slug-fest, Rubicini goes to the third round of the division, having scored an earlier technical knockout. Zaduck, on the canvas in the second round, ended the fight still swinging haymakers. Bob Edgett, Toronto lightweight, will meet Harold Quinlan of Barrie in the finals of the 175-pound class today. Quinlan drew a bye in the first round.

Harding Knockout
Fred Harding won his preliminary tilt by a knockout. Males scored a surprising decision over Golden Glover Glenn Ray of Sault Ste. Marie. Although no heavyweights fought last night, four will battle today. Two are Stan Guignard of Callender and Frank Dohaney of Peterborough. Of 12 welterweights four remain in the tournament. They are Billy Goulding of Oshawa, Doug Peacock of Barrie, Billie Antonnes of Timmins and Rubicini. Four fights are scheduled in the flyweight class. Competitors include two Sault Ste. Marie boys, Joe Brunette and Fred Bumbacco. Of four remaining featherweights, Ernie Keleher of Guelph will see his first action in the tournament today.

Thursday Night Results
Flyweight preliminaries: Joe Brunette, 112, Sault Ste. Marie, scored a technical knockout over Earl Weir, 111, Toronto, first round. Ronnie Muir, 104, Toronto, outpointed Real Gauthier, 107, Timmins, three rounds. Ronnie Sherwood, 112, Toronto, outpointed Ray Anderson, 108, Toronto, three rounds. Bantamweight—semi-finals: Fred Harding, 114, Oshawa, knocked out Ron Donald, 115, Gananoque, first round. Max Males, 115, Toronto, outpointed Glenn Ray, 117, Sault Ste. Marie, three rounds. Featherweight—preliminaries: Ron Bass, 125, Toronto, outpointed Maurice Duclaux, 121, Timmins, three rounds. Welterweight—preliminaries: John Switzer, 146, Toronto, scored a technical knockout over Larry Dureau, 141, Timmins, second round. Mike Zaduck, 144, Guelph, scored a technical knockout over Fred Conron, 143, Barrie, first round. Billy Goulding, 141, Oshawa, knocked out Johnny Stewart, 144, Toronto, in the second round. Doug Peacock, 143, Barrie, scored a decision over Al Kemshead, 142, Georgetown, three rounds. Gus Rubicini, 147, Toronto, scored a technical knockout over Charlie Mathison, 143, Toronto, first round. Bill Antonnes, 147, Timmins, scored a technical knockout over Marnie Sorbara, 146, Guelph, second round. Middleweight—preliminaries: Alec Mason, 154, Toronto, outpointed Dave Wilson, 155, Toronto, three rounds.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Summer sports are upon us again. Some leagues are operating now and others are getting set to pry off the lid. For the next five months or so we will be busy as a fireman at a girls' dormitory blaze. Hence, we would like a lot of co-operation from sports bodies in getting stuff in for the paper and on time. We will cover what we can—and not too much out-of-town stuff, as there's so much going on nightly in local parks—and will publish anything within reason if it is sent in. Loops or clubs should have a press official on their executives if they want regular publicity. Many of them have now, but some figure it's our headache. It isn't really.

As mentioned yesterday, the minor lacrosse will have a secondary box built next week. Not an elaborate affair but it will do for practices and probably some games as there are 12 teams in this setup, four juveniles, four midgets and four bantams, with an OLA affiliation. Ken Kingston has called a meeting of this minor loop executive and all the managers for tonight at seven in the "Y". They will name the various teams and make arrangements for the schedule, as well as deal with other pre-seasonal business. All teams have sponsors and the circuit has the aid and blessing of the senior club.

Ball Fans Pleased

Baseball fans are quite pleased, at least those we've seen lately, over the revival of the Central Ontario League. Made up of clubs in Kingston, Batavia, Oshawa and the Petes. Batavia will play in Belleville under floodlights, and Kingston also has the lights. Schedule will open May 22 or 24 and will be drawn up at a Belleville meeting this week-end. It sure is good to see this old loop operating again and fans can bank on a lot of action and rivalry during the summer months.

Manager Eddie Murphy of the Petes said Thursday: "No one knows better than myself that the Petes aren't a powerful ball club. But, like the Toronto Leafs, there will be some youngsters in the lineup and the team will hustle all the way. And we might just come up with a better club than we expect. In any case we have the COBL going again and if we don't do anything else this year that's a big start for future seasons." Some of last year's veterans, like Eddie himself, won't be playing but a number will, plus some of the younger players of the city. Well have a better idea in another week after workouts tonight and Saturday. Oshawa will be a young team, too, built around Matthews, Bidgood and Jubenville.

Petes Are Accepted

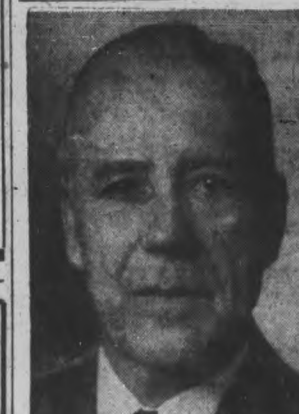

Intermediate Petes were entered Thursday evening in the Lakeshore Baseball League along with Cobourg, Port Hope, Newcastle, Bowmanville, Whitby and Colborne. And the latter place has lights! Yeah, a seven-club setup, the Petes opening in Colborne on May 24 and back here on May 26. Probably a single schedule with the locals having an OBA intermediate "A" bye into provincial playdowns. Wood and Borland were the two Peterborough umpires listed. Jack Turner represented Peterborough at the session in Bowmanville, while Eddie Murphy was there to withdraw the senior Petes, now in the COBL.

Girls' softball executive had a huddle on Thursday and regretfully turned down the Lindsay application for entry. Not enough time available at the Bowl for more than an eight-team league. And 'twas decided not to charge admission this season at Bowl games but to return to passing the hat for a silver collection. Some of the sponsors felt it was better to have bigger crowds on hand for games even if less money were taken by the league. Crowds fell off last summer at the gate and the circuit didn't make much more than the previous year, when no admission was charged but collections taken. Next on the program will be the drawing up of the schedule.

Putting Up Poundage

Five local weight-lifters go to Belleville this week-end for a hoisting warmup: Ab Blondin, Cliff McInroy, Bud Collins, Bill Knight and Stan McBride. The Dominion final Olympic trials are in Montreal on May 22, and Ab Blondin of Peterborough will compete as a lightweight which is under 148 pounds. He lifted 640 here in three lifts this year and once put up a total of 660 pounds. However, 710 in three are required to make the Olympic team and that stiff standard has never been met by a Canadian. Maybe Ab can add 50 more this time.

PICKING 'EM OFF THE GRAPEVINE: Goalie Don Wasson of Lakeside gets a tryout next fall with Galt juvenile puckists... Wrestler Red Simms runs a machine shop in Hamilton betwixt bouts... Frank Dohaney didn't box in Toronto last eve; he should see action tonight... Legion footballers can't make it Sat'day, so O'Halloran's play a picked team at 2.30 in King Edward; CGE goes to Lindsay... Some of the Petes' lacrosse are off for two exhibitions this week-end in Quebec with all expenses paid... Others drill here tonight... Ed Murphy wants all senior and intermediate uniforms turned in for checkup at the Saturday practice... Knights go at 6.15 tonight in the Bowl... Shirley Curtis and Eleanor Whitaker have signed with Marines... And 'tis said Nona Whetung and Aggie Anderson are working out with Electric... TCS of Port Hope has a cricket match with the locals at 2.30 Saturday aft in the Oval... Tip Tops of Toronto meet a local softball squad here May 15 with proceeds for the civic arena... Minor ball coaches wanted; phone Phoebe Brioux at 9357; open junior drill in the Ex. tomorrow at two... Other drills listed elsewhere... S'long.

NATIONAL SECRETARY—William J. Holliday, former religious secretary for the Montreal district of the YMCA, was appointed National Secretary for Lay Activities of the United Church of Canada recently. The appointment was made in Toronto by the Executive Council of the church, which approved a strong national committee to take care of lay activities and back up Mr. Holliday's work. Its chairman is Walter Cowan, KC, of Toronto. Mr. Holliday is expected to take up his new post in Toronto in September.

RENEW SEAL BOUNTY
VANCOUVER — (CP). — Bounty of $5 on hair-seals, salmon destroyers, has been renewed for this year. The fisheries department pays the bonus when seal noses are turned in, though I die.

TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT — Freddie Mills, the British light heavyweight champion, made a further step towards the world title fight when he defeated Ken Shaw of Dundee, Scotland, in the first round of their non-title fight at London recently. The referee stopped the contest after examining injuries to Shaw's jaw at the end of the first round. Here Ken Shaw (right) falls after receiving a right from Freddie Mills (left) during the fight.

Film Actors' Strike Said Looming

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—(AP).—The possibility of a film actors' strike grows bigger every day.

Negotiations for a new contract between the producers and the Screen Actors' Guild broke off recently and no moves have been made to reopen the talks. The guild has filed notification of a dispute, and after the contract ends July 31 anything might happen. Much sentiment among actors favors a strike unless certain demands are met. With more actors out of work than ever before, demands for drastic action are rising.

If there is a strike, you needn't expect to see your film favorites picketing studios with placards and sandwich boards. When the actors walk out, production will stop immediately. Picketing won't be needed.

Lady Trouble
Roy Rogers is still having leading lady trouble. When Lynn Roberts couldn't come to terms with Republic, the femme lead spot in Roy's films was left wide open. Republic is still seeking a gal who will take second billing to Trigger. Meanwhile, Adele Mara is unhappily filling the job in "Night Time in Nevada." What's the matter with Dale Evans as the permanent choice? Or is that too obvious?

Music circles are rife with rumors about a break in the recording ban. The talk is that the Musicians' Union will permit the making of records for home use only, not to be broadcast. Wonder if that would start a rash of home-use discs?

Iron Curtain Reviewed
"The Iron Curtain" (20th-Fox) is Hollywood's first propaganda gun in the cold war. Using the semi-documentary method, it tells the true story of Igor Gouzenko, Russian cipher clerk at the Ottawa Embassy, who uncovered a Communist spy ring which reached to Canada's Parliament. It is strong stuff, bristling with phrases like "Our former capitalist allies" and "When we take over." As drama, it ranks with the better tropical films, although Dana Andrews and Gene Tierney have little to do but act out the headlines.

Background music is supplied by modern Russian composers who have lately been on the Moscow carpet. This won't help them any.

Somers Says Toronto "Wrestling-Happy"

TORONTO, May 7.—(CP).—Toronto grapplers have a full Nelson on the Ontario amateur wrestling championships which open tonight at the West-End YMCA. Of 43 entries, all but two are from Toronto.

Winners and runners up in the two-day AAU sponsored tournament will be eligible to enter Dominion Olympic trials at the Central YMCA May 28-29.

Wrestling authorities suggest two reasons for the dearth of outside entries. Robert Somers, secretary of the Central Ontario branch of the AAU believes Toronto people are wrestling-happy—"there is more interest in wrestling in Toronto than in any other city in Canada."

France Favorite

LONDON, May 7.—(AP).—The European zone Davis Cup tournament, which hasn't produced a cup winner since 1936, pushed into the second round today. Sixteen countries are still in the running. France is the favorite. Britain is the last

Mangrum Looks Hard To Catch In Goodall Tilt

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., May 7.—(CP).—Lloyd Mangrum looked as if he might be a hard man to catch today as he and 15 others of the world's best professional golfers tangled in the second and third rounds of the Goodall round robin tournament.

Mangrum, national open champion of two years ago and leading money winner of the present season, broke the competitive course record in Thursday's opening round to take the lead with a score of plus 14.

He blazed his way around in 34:32—68 to crack the previous mark of 67 established five years ago by Byron Nelson.

The Goodall tournament, is played on a "match play" basis, and Mangrum had no help from any soft touches in his foursome in projecting himself into the lead.

Herman Barron, of White Plains, N.Y., who was only a point behind Mangrum starting today's second round with a plus of 13, shot a 70 yesterday. He had the great good luck of playing in the same round with Johnny Palmer, of Badin, N.C., who bounced around to a 78 and finished up trailing the star-spangled field at minus 18.

That's how it goes in the Goodall—zanyest of all golf events. Today they play two rounds, with the pairings thoroughly scrambled. Tomorrow they play another 18 and on Sunday comes the final. In the end, each of golf-dom's prima donnas will have matched strokes in match play and in the same foursome—against each of his 15 rivals.

Graziano Says He Can't Box

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP).—Rocky Graziano was arguing with an old-time boxer who sought to give him some advice. "I can't box," the Rock insisted. "Every time I try, I get hit with everything in sight. I gotta keep moving in there and giving 'em that left and right." Rocky has just proved that fact to the satisfaction of all observers in his second boxing session in preparation for next month's tussle with Tony Zale.

A couple of speedy sparring partners had managed to evade most of his wallops and to cuff him about rather easily. Of course, there's some explanation for that. Graziano has been galloping up and down the mountains for a couple of weeks and is in magnificent physical shape. He was also looking at his rivals with rather magnificent disdain. He knew they couldn't hurt him and that he didn't dare hit them as hard as he could. A little later he'll start punching against light-heavyweights or heavies and can really cut loose. Meanwhile his job is to speed up and sharpen his punching, which suffered considerably during a 10-month layoff. Enough is enough.

When the Athletics visited Washington the other day, Connie Mack and Clark Griffith began discussing Bobo Newson, the much-travelled pitcher. "I thought you were going to sign him again Grif," Connie commented. "No! No!" Griffith exclaimed. "I just haven't got your patience. I said to myself: 'If he wore out Connie Mack in one year, what would he do to me a fifth time?'"

Remember When ...

By The Canadian Press
Twenty-one years ago today Portsmouth edged into the English Football League's first division by 1/5,000th part of a goal. Climaxing a great promotion fight with Manchester City, Portsmouth blanked Preston North End 5-0 while the City walloped Bradford City, 8-0 in final games. Although tied in points, Portsmouth gained major-league ranking with a better goal average.

European winner that went on to win the cup and Sweden is the defending European zone champion.

Fanovich Hurls Syracuse To 2-Triumph

By The Associated Press
Pitching once again is making Syracuse Chiefs a strong contender for the International League pennant. Syracuse hurlers have pitched the most complete games.

Rookie left-hander Frank Fanovich is the latest Chief to go the route. Fanovich hurled the Chiefs into first place Thursday by shutting out Rochester Red Wings 2-0.

Fanovich gave up seven hits and walked six but he had it in the clutch, leaving 11 Red Wings stranded.

Southpaw Johnny Mikan allowed only four hits but one was a homer by Dick West in the ninth with the bases empty.

Montreal Royals dropped a 5-3 decision to Newark Bears. Two-run homers in the first inning by Joe Collins and Ted Seppkowski sent the Bears off to a lead they never relinquished.

Rookie Don Newcombe, who won his previous two starts, served up the home run balls.

In the circuit's only night game, Jersey City Giants came from behind and outslugged Toronto Maple Leafs 11-8.

Trailing 7-2, going into the seventh inning, the Giants scored three runs in each of the remaining three frames, to pull out the verdict. The winning blow was catcher Sal Yvars' three-run ninth inning homer off Don Carter.

Buffalo Bisons and Baltimore Orioles were idle.

Athletics Climb Into Lead Ambush Cleveland 8-5

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Give a cheer for 85-year-old Connie Mack and his surprising Philadelphia Athletics. Five straight wins, climaxed by a kayo decision over Bobby Feller, have boosted the A's into the American League lead.

Picked to scramble in the second division, the Athletics began to look like serious contenders for a spot among the top four.

Pitching, of course, is bound to be the A's strong point. Lou Brissie, brilliant rookie with an injured leg, has helped out with two wins and now Toronto's Dick Fowler, seems ready to carry his share of the load.

Fowler, worked only two thirds of an inning on relief before Thursday's 8-5 victory over Cleveland. Arm trouble handicapped him in spring training.

Feller was belted out in the fourth inning, never recovering from a four-run first inning drive which manager Lou Boudreau made two costly errors. It was his second straight kayo and his second loss to two wins. Even a grand slam homer by Ken Keltner, his sixth of the year, and another four-bagger by Joe Gordon couldn't pull this one out of the fire.

George Vico, Detroit's rookie first baseman, and Birdie Tebbets, Boston Red Sox' catcher, who used to play for the Tigers, staged an impromptu fight to entertain proceedings at Fenway Park. It started when the two players fell when Tebbets tagged Vico as he ran back toward third base when a squeeze play went awry.

Although the Red Sox knocked out Hal Newhouse in the first inning, they lost the game to Detroit 8-3. Hal White walked six but allowed only four hits in 8 2-3 innings while the Tigers flattened Jack Kramer with his first loss.

There was an argument in New York, too, where the St. Louis Browns claimed Bobby Brown's game-winning homer was a foul ball. The homer, perilously close to the right field foul pole, came with a man on in the eighth for a 6-5 Yankee victory.

Allie Reynolds who worked eight innings before giving way to a pinch hitter, was credited with his fourth straight win, tops in the majors. Cliff Fannin was the loser.

Washington pulled up to the 500 mark by shutting out Chicago for the second night in a row, 5-0 on Early Wynn's three-hit pitching.

Pittsburgh's six-game winning streak was broken in the National League when New York Giants thumped the Pirates 9-2. The result left the Bucs in first place only 18 percentage points ahead of the Giants.

Ray Post held Pittsburgh to four hits, shutting them out until Ed Stevens hit a two-run homer in the ninth. Johnny Mize, returning to the lineup after two days' absence, because of a leg injury, hit his fourth homer, driving in three runs with three hits.

Clover Leafs Tied In Series

MONTREAL, May 7.—(CP).—Vancouver Clover Leafs wanted to become the 1948 Canadian basketball champions Thursday night but Montreal's little Mendy Morein had different ideas.

With only seconds remaining and the score tied 46-46, Morein appeared from nowhere to pick up a loose ball and flick it into the basket, beating the gun by a fraction of a second.

This gave Montreal YMHA the game 48-46 and also tied the best-of-five series 2-2. The fifth and deciding game will be played Saturday.

The game had the capacity crowd of 2,000 on its feet from start to finish with no more than six points separating the teams throughout.

Here and There In Sport

Hockey's Bill Ezinicki is seriously considering becoming a professional golfer. It was learned at Toronto. Barring a last minute change of mind the Toronto Maple Leafs' rugged right-winger will make his debut in the money ranks at a 72-hole open tournament in Philadelphia next week.

Wild Bill in past years has developed into one of Canada's outstanding amateur golfers. In the Canadian amateur championships last year he was beaten in the final round by the top-ranking United States star, Frank Stranahan. If he turns pro, he plans to follow the United States summer circuit of open tournaments.

The Massachusetts Boxing Commission Thursday at Boston launched an investigation of reports that middleweight Johnnie Walker of Everett was stimulated by lighted matches against has back during a pro bout in Salem Tuesday night.

Commissioner Samuel Flaksman said Walker, his manager Joe Dow of Boston, Referee Tom Lannin, and Boxing Commission deputies had been summoned before the board.

President C. J. Warner of the Western Interprovincial Football Union announced at Regina on Thursday night that only one Eastern team—Toronto Beaches-Indians—will travel West for exhibition games this fall. He said Art Chipman, vice-president of union, had negotiated with both Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts for an exhibition series, but none of the Western clubs would be able to meet the guarantees demanded.

James Somers Served Toronto For 65 Years

TORONTO, May 7 — (CP). — City Clerk James Somers, whose 65 years in municipal service set a local record, died last night. He was 84 and had been city clerk 21 years.

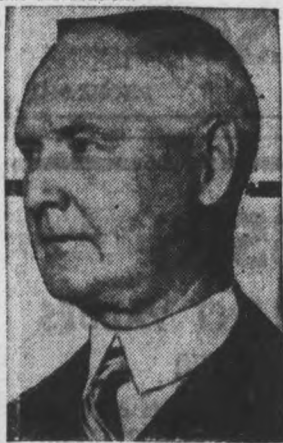

His services to the city were considered so valuable that he was exempted from the by-law which sets 70 years as the retiring age. He served under 28 mayors and often expressed the wish to die in harness.

To the last, the bright-eyed, silver-haired official kept an air of jauntness. His trouser crease was razor-sharp, his shoes gleamed with polish and a dash of color flamed in his necktie. He liked good talk, genial companions and a mild cigar.

Born in Toronto of Irish ancestry, he grew up and went to school here. He worked four years in a drygoods store before going to city hall as a junior clerk.

He made arrangements for the special train which carried the city council to the funeral of Sir John A. Macdonald in 1891 and went along himself.

In 1934 when Toronto celebrated its centennial and Mr. Somers completed 50 years of service, the King created him an officer of the Order of the British Empire. He had been largely responsible for arrangements for the centennial celebration.

JAMES SOMERS

"He was a truly great civic servant and one of the wisest counsellors I have ever been my experience to meet," Mayor Hiram McCallum said Thursday night. "His loss to city hall will be enormous."

He leaves his widow and three sons.

Political Factor Affects Business

By The Canadian Press

The course which business runs is being laid out in many places apart from the counter and the warehouse.

The law of supply and demand may operate in a broad sense, but much of the demand arises from political factors rather than economic, and comes in sudden doses.

For instance, a $3,233,200,000 money bill for expansion of the United States Air Force is virtually through Congress, and plans now are going forward to buy

AID TO TOURISTS—Expecting a record tourist year, the Ontario Tourist Information Branch of the Travel and Publicity Department is opening its reception centres along the border. This attractive booth, beside the Welland Canal at St. Catharines, opened this week. Autos from the U.S. are shown clustered around it as early tourists get information on route, accommodation, fishing and other details.

2,777 new planes, 627 for delivery by next January and the balance by July 1950.

Seldom has such a measure gone through Congress with so little fanfare and so much unanimity. It is just the start of a rearmament program which will slow down only if Russia convinces the western world that she will be permanently easier to get along with. Such is the pace of both international and domestic events, that expenditures like this get little more than a passing glance from the average person as they are thrown into the North American economy.

WASHINGTON — Representatives Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.) said "2,700 Russian spies" came into the United States last year "under the guise of diplomatic immunity." Mundt said a bill he has drafted to "hobble American Communists" may help stop this flow.

Oliver Stresses Liberal Plans On Farm Policy

TORONTO, May 7. (CP)—The Liberal party's farm program, CCF housing plans and a salary increase for Ontario mental hospital attendants were among topics discussed by a long list of speakers Thursday night in the Ontario election campaign.

Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver, addressing a convention which nominated him as candidate in Grey South, said his party had "definite plans" for a new farm policy in Ontario. He said details would be announced in a few days and added:

"It will not only rejuvenate agriculture but will also enhance life in all rural areas. I don't see how any farmer with any sense could vote for the present government. It has done absolutely nothing."

Concerning hydro, he said: "The Liberal party will undertake to remove hydro from politics. Hydro belongs to the people and not to one party. We will ask municipalities to select a representative on the commission board."

Plan 20,000 Houses

Mr. Jolliffe told a Kitchener audience that his party, if elected, will build at least 20,000 low-rental houses. He said a CCF government could borrow funds at low interest rates, buy materials in mass quantities and build the houses—and if monopolies try to hold up the public, we are not afraid to undertake production of building materials under crown corporations.

If the federal government abolished rent controls—and they will probably do so soon—a provincial CCF government

Three Rail Union Heads Confer At White House

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP).

Heads of the three railroad unions set to strike across the United States next Tuesday over wages and working rules carried their wage grievances to the White House today.

In a fresh government move to avert a national transportation crisis, Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman called in the union chiefs for a conference.

President Truman, who told his press conference Thursday the government is doing all it can to head off the threatened strike, is keeping in close touch with the developments but leaving the details to Steelman.

Those invited by Steelman are David B. Robertson, president of the Firemen and Engineemen; Alvanley Johnston, grand chief engineer of the Locomotive Engineers; and Alfred J. Glover, president of the Switchmen's Union.

Steelman talked with W. T. Faricy, president of the Association of American Railroads, on Thursday. Faricy represents management generally. More meetings with railroad executives may be held after Steelman finishes his discussion with the union presidents.

Truman told his press conference every effort is being made to head off the threatened strike, scheduled to begin at 6 a.m.

But he flatly denied that the office of defence transportation is standing by to prepare for possible seizure. Under a provision of a 1916 law still on the statutes, the Secretary of War is authorized to take over the vital rail supply lines in time of war. The Second World War has not yet

Ask Government Pay Costs

TORONTO, May 7. — (CP). — The Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) asked the Federal government Thursday to pay legal costs of defending its labor laws against charges of lake shipping companies that the regulations are unconstitutional.

J. J. Robinette, counsel for four steamship companies charged by the union with violating collective bargaining regulations, said Thursday he would challenge the constitutionality of the regulations.

In a telegram to Labor Minister Mitchell, T. G. McManus, secretary-treasurer of the union, said: "It is felt by the union that government has home responsibility in defending its own laws as it is very difficult for the union to be handed financial responsibility of not only prosecuting the companies but of defending the constitutionality of the law as well."

"We therefore urge the government to appoint a lawyer and to assume financial responsibility for defending P.C. 1003 as we have assumed financial responsibility for carrying out prosecution."

P.C. 1003 refers to Labor Relations Act, passed during wartime and continued in force after the end of the war. Mr. Robinette said he would contend the Act could not legally be enforced in peacetime.

Cattle Bought Cheaply, Then Boost Beef

OTTAWA, May 7 — (CP). — President J. S. McLean of Canada Packers today told the prices committee that his company always seeks to buy cattle as cheaply as possible and to sell beef for as much as its salesmen can get.

"The prices have nothing to do with costs, then," Jean Lesage (L-Montmagny l'Islet) asked.

Mr. McLean replied that the general level of prices was established by the quantity available in relation to the demand.

"I think that's about the whole story," he said. "Purchasing power is very high in this country. I have been amazed that the demand for beef has remained as strong, in view of the rapidly rising prices."

"Whether the housewife will continue to pay these prices, no one can say."

During a previous appearance before the committee, Mr. McLean was asked to explain why his selling price rose late last December in a week when cattle prices fell. Today he said that the general trend of cattle prices at the time was upward. He described it as "an accidental week." The fluctuation in cost was not reflected in selling prices.

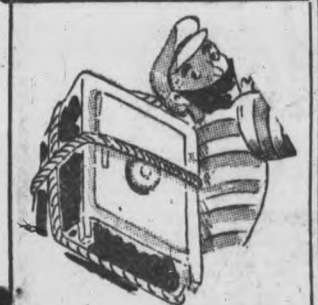

Sold in 10 Days

Mr. McLean said his company owned 10,000,000 pounds of the cold storage total April 1, but that a much smaller amount was "free" meat. Much was held on customers' orders and some was a supply of fresh-killed beef. The company's supply of "free" meat for cold storage holdings would be sold within the next 10 days, he predicted.

Committee Counsel H. A. Dyde summed up the committee's problem:

"We see cattle coming to market at 24,000 a week. You have at the first of April 10,000,000 pounds of beef in cold storage. In April we see the same number coming to market. We are puzzled. We don't see why prices are going up."

"I wish I knew the answer — I don't," Mr. McLean told him.

Build Every House Requested By Municipalities Need More Land Howe Declares

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP).—The Commons talked about housing problems Thursday but did little to solve them. Opposition members hammered at new government housing legislation, terming it inadequate, and focused their attack on two main themes: 1. The Government should lead a national program for low-rent homes;

2. the Government also should take the lead in providing subsidies to keep rents down.

Trade Minister Howe answered the critics with the prediction that "well over" 1,000,000 houses will have been built in the 10 years following the end of the war. Some 200,000 have been built so far—2½ years since the fighting stopped—and the present accelerated rate of building will produce another 250,000 in the next couple of years. This building rate should satisfy anyone, he said.

Subsidies would not increase house building, he added. All they would do would be to change the income group which occupied the houses being built. Houses built at any price could be sold.

One Formal Vote

The day-long debate produced one formal vote. It came when Speaker Gaspard Fauteux ruled out of order a CCF motion expressing belief the government should consider subsidized housing. Mr. Fauteux said it constituted a declaration of principle which could not be moved at that stage.

In the ensuing vote, he was upheld 117 to 38. Progressive Conservatives, though they have plumped for housing subsidies, voted with the government to sustain the Speaker. The Social Credit group sided with the CCF party against the ruling.

The three-party attack kept the government legislation in the resolution stage throughout the sitting. It would provide rental-insurance protection for builders and owners of housing projects renting up to $80 a month. Other changes giving flexibility to the National Housing Act also would be made.

At the House opening, Mr. Howe said Trans-Canada Air Lines has not found it possible to consider a service to Australia. At the moment the Airline is occupied with providing Trans-Atlantic and South American services.

Finance Minister Abbott said no recent representations have been made to the United States for lower tariffs. Canada will consider the situation when circumstances in the United States become "propitious."

Robert McCubin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said an increase in the Ontario wheat price will be announced "in due course."

Need More Land

In the Commons, Mr. Howe said the government last year had built every house the cities had asked it to build or permitted it to build. It regretted that more land was not made available.

The Government also had hoped to reach agreements with municipalities under which 12,000 rental houses would be built this year but the slow rate of negotiations indicated the goal would not be reached. The cities were not providing enough land.

Eric B. McKay (CCF-Weyburn) moved the CCF housing motion, supporting it with the contention that the government's proposals would give no relief to those with low incomes. Most people could afford no more than $25 a month in rent.

Angus MacInnis, (CCF-Vancouver East) told Mr. Howe he was "leaning on a broken reed" if he expected private enterprise to provide enough homes. At the same time, the municipalities could not finance low-rent projects alone. They would need Federal assistance.

Mrs. Gladys Strum (CCF-Quebec) said subsidies would provide the answer to housing difficulties.

A. M. Nicholson (CCF-Mackenzie) termed the new proposals an "insult" to the 75 per cent of the population who could not afford high rentals. Steps also should be taken to solve the rural housing problem and provide farmers with modern conveniences.

W. A. McMaster (PC-Toronto High Park), noting that the government had subsidized industrial expansion after the war, said housing needs should be met first. Construction of more six-room homes would be one way to alleviate the housing shortage.

Instal 455,000 Phones

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP). — The Bell Telephone Company, seeking authority to more than triple its capital, Thursday said that it expects to install 455,000 new telephones in Ontario and Quebec during the next five years. Details of its plans were contained in a brief laid before the Commons Committee on Railways and Telegraphs, which will begin consideration next week of a bill now before Parliament authorizing the capital expansion.

Cattle Prices Increase By 25 Cents; Calves And Lambs Up $1, Hogs Firm

TORONTO, May 7 — (CP). — Cattle prices were fully 25 cents a hundredweight higher on all grades on the Livestock Market this week while calves and lambs advanced $1. Hogs and sheep remained steady.

The cattle run of about 6,900 head was 2,700 more than that of the same week a year ago. Demand for all killers was keen and prices hit a new record high for the Toronto market. The great bulk of the cattle went to Ontario packers with Eastern buyers taking 800 head.

Top for weighty steers was $18.35, with others from $18.75 downward to $17. Butcher steers were $16-$18.75, with a few choice at $19.25. Fed yearlings sold from $16.75-$18.50. Butcher cows were $11.25-$16, with canners and cutters at $6.50-$11. Bulls were $10.50-$15.50. About 300 stockers sold at $13-$16 cwt. Plain to medium quality milkers and springers were $90-$155 each.

Calves closed $1 cwt. higher on the run of 2,300 head at $20-$23 for choice vealers. Plain to medium light weights sold at $12-$19. Thin grassers were $9-$11.

Prices were unchanged on the hog run of 2,600 head. Grade A was $29 and Grade B1 brought $28.60. Sows were $19 dressed.

A few feed-lot lambs sold at a new high of $20-$21 cwt. on the sheep and lamb run of 400 head. Half a dozen spring lambs also brought $23-$25, and sheep were from $6-$10 for a small supply.

Weekly summary of receipts:

Hint US Gas Ration

WASHINGTON, May 7 — (AP). — The possible return of gasoline rationing in the United States within six months was hinted Thursday by a House committee. Didn't Notice Baby In Stove

KIRKLAND LAKE, May 7 — (CP). — A charred diaper, a baby's nursing bottle and several bottles of wine were entered as evidence Thursday in the preliminary hearing of a murder charge against pretty Mrs. Lucille Lamarche.

The 21-year-old wife of a Kirkland Lake lumberjack is charged with murdering her two-month-old son by burning him in the kitchen stove at her home April 1. The baby died in hospital a few minutes after being admitted.

Mrs. Lamarche dabbed continually at tear-stained eyes during the hearing before Magistrate S. Atkinson.

Acting Sergeant Denis of Teck Township police told of answering a call to the Lamarche home early Sunday morning, April 11. He said he found the baby wrapped in a kitchen apron on a table. Its face and shoulders were "burned black," he testified.

"Bob" Matchett Hardware Man Dies In Sleep

Robert James Matchett, senior member of the Higgins Hardware firm, Hunter St., died early this morning in his sleep at his home, 137 Murray St. His sudden death was a deep shock to his business associates and to his many friends. It was learned that he had not been feeling well during the last few days, but it was apparently only a slight indisposition. Mr. Matchett was at the store throughout Thursday, called at a friend's home in the evening and retired as usual without any indication of a serious condition. He was dead in his bed when his sister, Miss Bessie Matchett, with whom he lived, went to his room about 10 o'clock to ask him if he was getting up.

Mr. Matchett was one of the senior retail business men of Peterborough, one of the last of those whose experience and connection with downtown Peterborough extended back to the period of its development from its town status at the turn of the century. For 53 years he had been employed in the same hardware premises at 137 Hunter St., and was widely known among the retail and wholesale trade of the province.

A great grandson of Adam Scott, who established the first industry in Peterborough, a grist and sawmill on the site of the Peterborough Canal Co., Water St., Mr. Matchett was born in Otonabee township. He was a son of James Matchett and his wife, Eliza MacFarlane. His paternal grandmother was Janet Scott. In his teens, Mr. Matchett came to Peterborough to find employment, and went to work with the Peterborough Examiner on

Large Speckles Caught In Land o' Lakes

Lorne Hartman, 832 Lansdowne St., is an ardent trout fisherman and when the season's opening date rolled around, he was on the road to Denbigh in the Land o' Lakes where his father James was ready and impatiently waiting. Being veterans in the district and in the ways of trout, they bided their time working some remote streams for brook trout before tackling a small rock-bound body of water for the lake variety. Their waiting time was not wasted however and they managed to "out wait" 10 for four days in their creels.

On Monday evening between 4 and 7 p.m. the two men, joined by a nephew, Glenn, cast down into the deep brown waters with minnow-baited hooks and caught a total of 34 beauties, the largest of which weighed exactly three pounds. Lorne and his dad have been going to this same spot for years and have nothing but praise for the government restocking schemes that have raised the creel limits, very noticeably over the past three years. They are not interested in seeing how many fish they can take but like to know that they are able to catch their limits at any time during the season. They took nine gray during their afternoon of sport and are planning many more pleasant trips before the season closes on Sept. 15.

Library Board Rejects Staff Request

Authority for the Sunday opening of the Public Library during the present art exhibition was questioned by J. R. Marshall at the monthly meeting on Thursday of the Library Board. He said that he felt the librarian, W. L. Graff, should have obtained the permission of the board for such an opening, although he was not opposed to it. "I am tired," he said, "of approving innovations, introduced in the Library, after they have been carried out."

K. S. Wightman said he thought the board should be consulted on matters of policy, but added, "I think the whole question of no important W. A. Richardson said he thought Mr. Graff had acted wisely and tried to give service to the public. F. J. Hickey and A. E. Borland thought that Mr. Graff should not be hampered, but W. C. Ackerman said he thought the chairman should be consulted on such matters. The Rev. E. C. Moore said that the general policy of the board was laid down and he did not think it was necessary for it to be "cut and dried." Mr. Graff explained that he had opened the library merely as a service to the public and to the board. No action was taken on the matter.

A letter from the Library Staff Association was read stating that the decision of the board to open the library throughout a Wednesday when a public or statutory holiday was observed, meant that the staff were deprived of five days holiday in the year. The letter pointed out that other librarians in Ontario receive their half-holiday in the week in which a statutory holiday occurs.

Mr. Marshall pointed out that the library was short-handed and a motion was passed that no action be taken.

Mr. Richardson, chairman of the Finance committee, presented the financial report which was approved.

Mr. Wightman, chairman of the library committee, reported the resignation of Miss Bette Boyle, who is going to Montreal to take over the children's library at Notre Dame de Grace, and again raised the question of a certified catalogue. Mr. Graff was authorized to interview applicants and engage suitable persons.

Mr. Hickey gave the report of the property committee.

In the librarian's report, Mr. Graff said that there had been a decrease in attendance at the boys' and girls department, which was entirely due to the Saturday morning movie clubs, but there was an increased circulation of books in the adult department.

Mr. Richardson moved that the board adopt the employees' retirement pension plan of the city of Peterborough, in accordance with the recommendations of the finance committee; the board's contribution to the plan would be $606 per year with present staff. The motion was seconded by Mr. Wightman and passed unanimously.

Hotel Operator Ken Poole Dies 51 Years Old

A hotel owner and operator of wide acquaintance in many cities and towns in Ontario, Kenneth St. George Poole of 399 Walton St., died Thursday in his 51st year in hospital after a short illness. He was born in Peterborough, son of the late Bernard Poole and Bertha Dean, one of Peterborough's former prominent families who maintained a home on Rubidge St. Mr. Poole went to Estevan, Sask., at the age of nine, received his education in Regina and Winnipeg and started in the hotel business. At one time he owned and operated the Clifton Springs Hotel in Niagara Falls and was employed later at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. He also owned and operated establishments in Blyth, Huron county and in McGregor near Windsor.

He leaves his wife, the former Grace Bernice Primeau and one son Billie. While in Peterborough was a member of St. John's Anglican Church and a member of Corinthian Lodge No. 101 AF and AM. He was a veteran of the First World War and enlisted in England.

Service will be from the Bellegem Funeral Home on Saturday at 2 p.m. The Rev. W. J. Gill, of St. Luke's Anglican Church will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Have Your Driving Aptitude Tested

Labatt's Safe Driving Demonstration Trailer, in Peterborough for Kiwanis' Safety Campaign, is located on the Market Square. It is open for testing from 8:30 to 8 p.m. tonight and from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Council Gets Enough Lots For 200 New Homes But Contract Is Held Up

"Demand for houses in Peterborough appears to be greater than a year ago," H. S. Longhurst, district administrator for Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, estimated to the Examiner today. On second thought he said he was inclined to change his opinion to a definite statement. "For instance," he said, "we have 785 applications listed in our office, and I believe 500 of them are genuine and represent family need of accommodation."

In the last two weeks we have had at least 25 requests for houses from men who came here last fall and winter from Great Britain. These wives and children, in the case may be, are expected here this month. Where are we going to put them. I understand there were around 100 of these men from the Old Country, and just how many of them are going to ask for houses is more than I know, but we already have 25 on our list.

Would anyone suggest that we move those names up to the top of our list? Ahead of many who have been waiting a long time for houses? You can imagine what would be said."

The information from Mr. Longhurst sharpens the problem of the City Council who are wondering what is going to become of Peterborough's application for 200 houses to rent at $37.50 a month. Council expected announcement this week from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation (successors to Wartime Housing) that a contract had been let for the Peterborough block of at least 125 houses, with the prospect of increasing the number to 200.

Costs Are Alarming

Hon. C. D. Howe declared in the House of Commons Thursday—"If building costs continue to rise the federal government will have to reduce or abandon its low-rent housing program." The sentiment in which his report to the House was pitched sounded a gloomy prospect for the accomplishment of the building program that was contemplated early in the season.

Ald. Gordon Armstrong, chairman of the building committee of the council, told the members Monday that afternoon had not let the contract for the Peterborough houses. Whatever tenders were received, it transpired that they exceeded the unit cost permitting rental at $37.50 a month.

Mr. Howe said Thursday: "We will not enter into construction of rental units if total costs of all kinds are estimated to exceed $6,800 per unit, which under the rental formula involves a rental of $37.50 for a five-room house."

The minister said further: "We realize rental housing is needed, but the point has been reached where we must weigh the need not only against the very high cost, but also against its contribution to the inflationary trend."

The last block of houses in the Ardon subdivision is nearing completion, about 20 of them, and husbands and wives who are eagerly looking forward to moving into them are pressing for speed in the final stage, painting, decorating and the other finishing touches.

The Ottawa report Thursday included this paragraph: "Though he turned down the possibility of subsidies, Mr. Howe said the Dominion government would not be 'dogmatic' about it, and was willing to discuss a long term program with the provinces and municipalities. The recent brief of the Canadian Federation of Mayors was unacceptable, he said, because it called for financing entirely by the Dominion."

The Armstrong committee has arranged for land on which the 200 houses were to be built, but the final steps in acquiring them have been held up until further word is received from Central Mortgage.

Unveil Plaque Near Old Indian Portage

TORONTO, May 7 (CP).—A rich page of Canadian history will be turned back Saturday when a plaque is unveiled in suburban Mount Dennis.

It marks a pathway that was old when the first white man entered Ontario's forests—a forgotten Indian portage on the route from Lake Huron's Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario.

The ancient trail cut in half the distance from Lake Ontario to the upper Great Lakes by eliminating the necessity for travelling through Lake Ontario, Lake Erie, Lake St. Clair, Lake Huron and their connecting rivers.

It was the main thoroughfare through the Huron country in the 16th and 17th centuries, and so well chosen that modern road engineers can do little to improve it. In the main, it forms the route of a new 60-mile, dual-lane highway to link Toronto and Barrie on Lake Simcoe. The highway, somewhat straighter than the trail, is made necessary by the white man's urge to get out of town on summer week-ends.

Famous Travellers

Down this winding trail—known as the Toronto carrying-place in the 17th century—travelled the battle-painted braves of the Huron Indians, through whose country it ran. Later came the white explorers—Etienne Brule, Champlain and LaSalle, their eager eyes fastened always on the horizon to the west. Laughing, bronzed coureurs-de-bois—the French adventurers of the woods—as well as missionaries and traders traversed the 28-mile portage which followed the twists and bends of the Humber river just west of Toronto.

The ancient Toronto Carrying-Place route was abandoned after Yonge street was opened as the main highway from Toronto to the north. But it will be remembered Saturday when the York Pioneer and Historical Society erects the plaque.

Cobourg Golf Club Has Smart Bulletin

COBOURG, May 7 (ENS).—Edited by Frank Pickard, one of the club members, a news bulletin entitled "Tee-Time Topics," is now a regular publication by the Cobourg Golf Club. J. G. M. German, president of Club in a foreword, advises the members when on the "Tee," to take "Time" to discuss "Topics" for the benefit of the club and report them for publication in the bulletin.

In its initial issue, the bulletin points out that 1948 promises to be one of the best years in the history of the club. The season will open on May 22, with a two-ball foursome, followed by a super-dance and a social get-together. A group of the club member have been engaged in a building bee and in the process of construction is a place for the power tools and living quarters for the catering staff.

THE CIRCUS COMES—When children can't go to the circus, the circus goes to the children, and peanuts, candy and balloons are provided. Here Hamid Morton "funny men" got acquainted with some of the small patients at the Shriners Hospital in Montreal, who cannot attend the performances given for less handicapped children. Many of the children renewed friendships with the clowns they'd met before, and everybody was happy. Animal acts, a contortionist's display and numerous other stunts were included in the show.

Truman And Dewey Lead Respective Party Races

WASHINGTON, May 7 (CP).—President Truman and Governor Thomas Dewey of New York are leading in their respective party races for delegate support at the forthcoming presidential nominating conventions.

However, the figures mean very little in their effect on the outcome although they may be a guide to mass thinking. Truman is the only Democratic candidate in the field and if he stays in the running there is little chance of him not being nominated.

The Democratic party will have 1,234 voting delegates at the Philadelphia convention in July when the candidate and running mate will be nominated. So far state organizations have named 614 delegates of which 42 are either pledged to Truman, are known to be favorable, 94-4, claimed by his supporters without challenge. The remaining 191 are uncommitted.

The Republican race is different. The party has not had a president since 1932 and the field is wide open. Ten men have delegate support. Republicans will send 1,094 voting delegates to their convention opening June 21 in Philadelphia. So far 770 have been chosen.

Dewey Has 125
Of those committed by pledges, primary elections or otherwise, Dewey has 125. The winning candidate must have a clear majority—548 in the case of the Republicans and 618 in the Democratic convention.

In the list of 10 possible candidates sharing the Republican support the most significant figure is Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota. Dewey's 125 delegate support includes 97 New York delegates which could be called "favorite son" support. Next in line is Senator Edward Martin who has 73 delegates, representing only token or "favorite son" support since they are all from Pennsylvania, the state he represents.

Stassen is third with 68 supporters resulting from his two-year campaign for the nomination. They are scattered through five states. Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, who may well be the ultimate winner, has only 44 sure support-sheep killed, $15.00; A. E. Wilson, sheep killed, $36.00.

On motion the council adjourned to meet on Tuesday, June 8.

Mistaken Idea

OTTAWA, May 7.—(CP)—Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, Thursday drew attention to newspaper reports of the Senate's 35-to-21 vote Wednesday against removing the ban on margarine. He said the reports neglected to note that 10 senators were paired. This had left a mistaken impression that only 36 senators took part in the division. Actually, 66 had taken a stand.

Hippo On Rampage

LOURENCO-MARQUES, South Africa.—(C).—A hippopotamus, hit by a car here, stampeded into town and into the lobby of a hotel, blundering about, smashing furniture and fixtures. Liberals Postpone Naming Candidate MARMORA, May 7.—(ENS)—The suddenness with which the forthcoming election has been brought on, was responsible for a postponed selection of the Liberal candidate to represent West Hastings at the convention held in Marmora Town Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The appointment rests with the executive and chairmen of local associations who will announce the selection on Friday.

Irvine McCaughey of Trenton, vice president, was chairman for preliminary business after which McLean Haig of Belleville carried on the duties.

The election of officers followed. The death last year of Byron Lott occasioned the election of a new president and Irvine McCaughey, vice president, stepped up to this office.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, Lorne Reid; Bancroft; second vice president, F. Johnston, Marmora; third vice president, Mrs. J. J. McCabe, Belleville; secretary, E. E. Follwell, Belleville; treasurer, Frank Follwell, Belleville.

Ex-Warden Jordan of Hastings County, candidate for East Hastings, A. B. Collins, K.C. of Belleville, and others, spoke briefly

Election Pay Ranges To $600

TORONTO, May 7.—(CP).—Pay for officers on the business end of the Ontario election June 7 ranges from $6 to $600.

Returning officers will receive $300 in the event of an acclamation in their district and $600 if an election is held. Officials who have been watching the pace of nomination meetings doubt there will be acclamation in any of the 90 ridings.

Besides the basic fee, returning officers are entitled to one cent extra for every name on the final revised voters list if one has to be made up in their territory.

The returning officers are allowed $100 for proof reading the lists, 10 cents a mile for necessary travel and are also reimbursed for other expenses.

The election clerk will receive $175 in case of an acclamation and $300 where an election is held. Deputy returning officers may expect $12 for holding the poll.

Other fees: Poll clerk, 8; poll constable, $8; landlord of polling place, $3; enumerators, $32 plus eight cents for each name in excess of 250 they list.

Hold Farewell Supper For Norwood Pastor

NORWOOD, May 7.—(ENS)—Members of Christ Church assembled for a farewell supper in the AYPAs rooms on Friday evening in honor of the pastor, Rev. F. Pitts, Mrs. Pitts and Linda. Mr. Pitts leaves at the end of the week for his new charge, which includes Cannington, Beaverton and Sunderland.

Mr. Pitts has lived in Norwood for the past three years. The parish includes Havelock and Westwood. His successor will be Rev. P. A. Rickard.

Daffodils and pink hyacinths and pink tapers centred the long table with thirty guests at the first sitting.

After supper Mrs. H. Mainland presented Mr. Pitts with a purse of money, and Mrs. H. Bradley, president of the Ladies' Guild, read an address of farewell, expressing the congregation's thanks for his services to the community.

Community singing was enjoyed, with Mrs. George Wright at the piano.

International Civil Servants Demanding More Security

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y.—While the United Nations worries about the fate of Palestine and other embattled parts of the world, United Nations employees are worrying about their own fate.

Three hundred of them on Monday sent a memo to Secretary General Trygve Lie asking for a cost-of-living bonus retroactive to last December 15th. The 300 represented a total employed strength of 2900. They also asked for greater job security. Less than a third—23 per cent—of the 2900 have contracts for a term of years.

It is the security angle which really worries the U. N. Secretariat people. An argument could be made that they are well-paid, too highly in some cases, and that the admittedly high cost of living has merely caught up with them.

The average man, who never signs a contract of employment in his lifetime, many wonder about these international civil servants and their demands for security. But if he were working for an organization which is constantly being assailed, with outsiders shaking their heads about it and even some insiders measuring it for a coffin, he might worry, too.

From the day-to-day financial point of view, the U.N. employee still does very well. He pays no income tax. If he is an American citizen Uncle Sam collects such a tax but the U.N. refunds it to him. At one time all out-of-towners, including Americans from other parts of the United States, received a "per diem" living allowance graded from $5 to $7.50 a day.

Rental Allowance

Persons who formerly received per diem now receive a one-fourth rental allowance. There is also a general cost of living bonus of $240 annually for a single person, double that for married personnel.

If he is a foreigner (i.e. a non-American) as most of the higher grade U.N. employees are, he receives an extra $250 "expatriation allowance" annually if he is single; $500 if he is married. There has been an attempt to set a two-year limit on this allowance. He also receives time and allowances for "repatriation leave" every two years. All these sums, plus the non-payment of tax, are gravy.

The straight pay of U.N. workers is scaled to match that of large corporations in the New York area, rather lower at the top and higher at the bottom runs. Trygve Lie at the top receives a house, rent-free and $40,000 a year in pay and allowances. The nine assigned secretaries general net about $22,500 each. Immediately below them are several dozen top level officials who earn from $10,000 a year to $12,500 tax free. Then there are several hundred in the $5,000-$10,000 a year bracket.

These for the most part are not the people who are doing the kicking. These are mostly contract workers, the senior and just about average civil servants, some useful, some ornamental, some neither. They have this disadvantage compared to civil servants elsewhere, that they are not certain of the morrow. The government worker usually is the fellow who suffers most during a boom time with its expanding prices but he is a little king in a recession when prices come tumbling down; he is secure and he plods on amiably toward retirement and pension. The U.N. people lack this comfortable assurance and they are as unhappy without it as a duck without feathers.

UNUSUAL PETS—Overtaken by an automobile driven by Chief Inspector C. W. Morris of the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, eight-months-old doe

Toronto Man Found With Skull Fracture

TORONTO, May 7 — (CP) — John Allen, 24, was found by a passing motorist early today in West Toronto with blood streaming down his face. He told police he had been beaten and robbed by two men he had met earlier.

Hospital officials said Allen suffered a compound skull fracture. His condition was described as "critical" and police said he might not recover.

junior executive groups.

In the lower-bracket jobs, the salaries are still scaled to the competitive labor market of Manhattan. Stenographers and stock clerks receive from $35 to $45 a week and secretaries to important officials a somewhat higher wage. This is tax-free and in the case of imported help the allowances are added.

There is overtime pay for work beyond a 40-hour week. In the case of staff members sent abroad large per diem allowances are paid, ranging from $12.50 onward and upward.

When it seemed that the U.N. would have to keep a large field force in Palestine, a living allowance above salary of $25 per day was an inducement.

The really critical cases on the U.N. payroll are the casual workers, extra guards, sweepers, messengers and typists who are hired or fired according to the volume of business. Most of these, naturally, are Americans and they are hired and laid off at every quiver of the budget committee.

Because these people are Americans, the American percentage in the higher grades is kept low and it was forced lower last year, chiefly at the demand of the Latin republics. Canadians employed at U.N. felt the sharp edge of the axe at the same time. When it is considered that the United States pays nearly 40 per cent of the cost of running the United Nations and that Canada is the only other country which pays a fair percentage in proportion to population; and when it is further considered that some of the chief kickers were from countries paying less than one per cent, that policy seemed a little harsh.

The persons who complain most bitterly at the moment are the Europeans. Admittedly the lot of a European non-contract employee is precarious but the highest percentage of contracts is among this group. Admittedly they are paying what must be to them a staggering living cost. Yet one thinks of the illiterate but pointed and scornful comment of a casual U.N. employee, "they never had it so good."

LONDON, Eng.—The Evening News said today a "full conference" of British ministers and prime ministers from the Dominions would be held next year at a date still to be fixed. It added that Foreign Secretary Bevin likely would meet the Dominions' external affairs ministers when they pass through London en route to the United Nations Assembly in Paris in October.

MONTREAL—Open to deep-sea vessels for only three weeks the port of Montreal already so busy that shipping officials said today they believed the season would bring record numbers of ships into port. Arrivals for the first week of May are already double those of a year ago.

SANTA FE, N.M.—New Mexico's state prison was reported all quiet in the wake of a near-riot. Five trouble-makers were in solitary confinement. Warden Howell Gage said more than 100 convicts withdrew threats to refuse to work or eat after a two-hour wrangle. Summoned as a "precautionary measure," a dozen state policemen stood by.

EVANSTON, Ill.—Drinking mothers were urged to observe Mother's Day by taking a pledge of total abstinence from liquor. The appeal came from Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union who called drinking "the enemy of a happy home life."

VANCOUVER—An Assize court jury heard a charge that Douglas Gordon, crippled Crown witness in a narcotics case, was a police "informer" and was "paid off" in opium. The accusation was made by Lyle McDiarmid, later convicted of selling narcotics on three occasions to RCMP Constable G. L. Skatfield, undercover agent. Gordon and Constable Skatfield denied McDiarmid's charge.

A Long Wait
CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Birth of the second of twin girls 114 hours after the arrival of the first child was disclosed Thursday. The girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ross Wednesday. The first twin was born last Friday. The girls were the first borne to the couple.

GRAND FORKS, ND.—Six-tenths inches of wet snow blanketed Grand Forks Thursday morning, but a sunny afternoon made most of it disappear within a few hours. The unreasonable snowfall covered most traces of spring greenery with a film of white.

SALT LAKE CITY.—A rare tiglon—offspring of a lion and tiger—was born at the Hogle Gardens Zoo yesterday. Joseph L. Sloan, superintendent of Salt Lake City parks, said as far as he can learn the hybrid is the first to be born in the United States.

TORONTO—Cabinet colleagues made a presentation to Premier Drew on the eve of his 54th birthday. The presentation was made a day ahead of time since most of the Ministers will be out of the city today.

HAMILTON—The Belgian Military Medal has been awarded to Belgian-born Mrs. James Varty for services to the resistance movement. She worked with the underground throughout the war and afterwards met and married her husband in Belgium.

Urge Indian Vote
OTTAWA—The Senate-Commons Committee on Indian Affairs recommended Indians be given the vote on the same terms as electors in urban centres. Indians are regarded as wards of the Crown and, unless they give up their special advantages as wards and take out citizenship papers, they are not allowed to vote.

OTTAWA—External Affairs Minister St. Laurent told the Commons the Government has no information "from any official source whatever" about a reported mass execution of guerrillas by the Greek government. He was replying to M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, who asked whether Canada would join Britain and the United States in their protest against the execution.

TORONTO—If Canadian women want oleomargarine on the market, they can get it, Lady Eaton told a Salvation Army women's rally. "If women want anything sufficiently to go out and vote for it as a body, they can get it," she said. If they wanted oleomar-

READY WITH THEIR MOTHER'S DAY GIFT—Alan, 4, left, and Hamilton Dutcher, 5, are among the thousands of little men whose fathers went overseas, never to return, who will arise bright and early on the day set aside in tribute to all mothers and present their mom with a Mother's Day gift and a great big hug. Mrs. Hamilton Dutcher, whose husband was killed in action while serving as an army glider pilot in Italy, is national U.S. president of the Gold Star Wives of World War II.

Outline Swimming Program As Lions Club Backs Plan

A meeting of the Lions Club Playground and Wading Pool Committee recently discussed the future swimming program sponsored by the club. The committee, headed by Ald. Hurrell Dodds, invited the Recreation Director, Jack Dane, to attend the meeting and outline his ideas on improvements of the deep water swimming facilities.

Mr. Dane said "that a recommendation regarding swimming facilities should come from the newly-formed Peterborough Outdoor Swimming Committee and that he would have them approve his recommendations and have them officially sent to the Lions Club from the committee."

He outlined his plan, recommending that solid wall, from 150 to 200 feet long, extend along the river bank south of the ball park stands. This wall would be one foot above the normal swimming water level and would be made of either wood log cribbing or steel piles driven into the river bottom, and then packed up with cement. The river bottom immediately in front of the wall to be dredged out to a depth of 10 feet. This would allow for deep water swimming and diving off the wall.

A series of towers, three metre, two metre, and one metre would be placed along the wall and separated from each other so that there would be no crowding to one tower or board. This wall when completed would act as one side of a swimming tank 200 feet long.

The floating wharf built by the Lions last year could be anchored out in the stream some 75 feet from the wall, running parallel to it. Separate swimming races could then be held with the swim-day that relief was expected next week.

WINDSOR—Edward Patrick Morand, with 19 years' municipal experience, was nominated Progressive-Conservative candidate for Essex North. The convention was held in his home town of Tecumseh. Six candidates went to the ballot. More than 700 delegates attended.

To the rescue rides the bold "Mountie" while the beautiful maiden—Model Mother Susan Meek of Montreal—smiles her thanks. Her son Tono loves to play at being grown up and has already learned the "game" of keeping his teeth sparkling bright with pleasant tasting Ipana Tooth Paste. He follows the same routine which has made his Model Mother's dazzling smile famous: regular brushing with Ipana Tooth Paste followed by a little extra Ipana massaged into the gums. This helps keep gums firmer, teeth brighter, smiles more sparkling. Ask your dentist about massage for your gums. A nation-wide survey shows that 7 out of 10 dentists recommend gum massage. Get started toward a "model" smile yourself—with Ipana Tooth Paste.

LONDON—The Big Four foreign ministers' deputies, still in an east-west deadlock, suspended indefinitely their talks looking toward a peace treaty for Austria. British deputy James Majoribanks said he will ask his government whether it is any use to resume the discussions.

OTTAWA—Appointment of Maj. John Keefer Mahony, 36, V.C., of New Westminster, B.C., as director of army public relations was announced. He assumed his new duties today with acting rank of lieutenant-colonel.

LONDON, Eng.—All public processions of a political character are to be banned in London for three months from tonight, Home Secretary James Chuter Ede announced. He had received a report from the commissioner of police on a Fascist demonstration in the east end of London last Saturday in which clashes between Fascists and Communists resulted in 31 arrests.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Citation's victory in the Kentucky Derby last Saturday will mean $4,170 for the widow of Albert Snider, Calumet jockey who would have been astride the winner had he not lost his life on a Florida fishing trip. As a result of his own generosity, Eddie Arcaro's share for his winning ride on the Calumet horse will total only $2,065.

SAULT STE. MARIE—A sentence of five years in Kingston Penitentiary was imposed on Edward W. Greschuk, 21-year-old clerk, when Greschuk pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery of $8,000 from the Steelton branch of the Royal Bank of Canada last April 22. Greschuk elected trial before Magistrate McEwen and in a calm, cool voice pleaded "guilty."

4 Girls' Teams To Play Inter-City League

Organization meeting of the new Youth Group sponsored by the Canadian Order of Foresters, Peterborough Branch, was held Thursday evening. Mr. Art Reynolds was appointed youth supervisor and Miss Janet Kearns is assistant supervisor. Appointments made among the charter members of the Group were: Miss Ila Grainger, recording secretary; Miss Betty Allen, financial secretary. The meeting was conducted by Cal Braun, district supervisor of the COF.

Aims and purpose are to provide recreation and relaxation for youths who do not feel able to play in other organized sports, and by teaching true sportsmanship to build good solid Canadian citizens. During the summer months the supervisors will concentrate on sports, with co-operation of Mr. Jack Dane, Peterborough Recreation Director. In the fall it is expected players will blend into an organized youth group.

Four girls' softball teams were planned at this meeting taking in 48 girls of the city. To register they should call Miss Kearns at 3024 or 8507. They will play in an inter-city league against teams from Whitby, Bowmanville and Oshawa. Two managers have been appointed, Alex. Reader and Hugh Dewar. The teams will choose names and an overall name for the organization is to be chosen. Those seeking information could also contact Misses Irene Dallday, Donna Rowat or Winnie Wright who are charter members.

Marie E. Lucano Marries Lockie Longhurst

The marriage of Marie Elizabeth Lucano and Lockie Longhurst was quietly solemnized Thursday in the rectory of Sacred Heart church by the Rev. Dr. F. Grant. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lucano, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Longhurst, all of Peterborough.

A wedding gown of white tulle taffeta with fitted bodice and wide flaring skirt in ballet length was the bride's choice. She wore a headdress of tiny white flowers which held her fingertip veil and carried a nosegay of Johanna Hill roses with forget-me-nots. Mr. Lucano gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Helen Burke was bridesmaid, gowned in apple green soiree fashioned similarly to the bride's gown. She wore a matching halo headdress and carried yellow rosebuds and mauve sweet peas in a nosegay. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Gerald Longhurst.

The reception was held in the Green Room of the YWCA where the bride's mother received, wearing a dress of dusty rose silk crepe with black straw hat and corsage of cream roses. The groom's mother who also received wore turquoise sheer with black accessories and her corsage was of Tallman roses. On their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Longhurst will motor through southern Ontario. For travelling the bride chose a grey gabarine suit with white accessories and carried a topcoat of emerald green. The bride and groom will live at 6 Bruce St.

Suits Too Scanty For Beach Wear

HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—(AP).—The new scanty bathing suits are too scanty for Esther Williams. Esther, a gal with more curves than the Boston Post road, should know whereof she speaks. The movie actress, who was national swimming champion, says the scanty-wanties are "unflattering, impractical. 'They come off in the water,' she confides. 'If you can't swim in them, what good are they? They don't do anything for the female figure. If the object is to get more skin exposed to the sun, I say sunbathing should be done in the back yard, not at the beach or pool where men have nothing to do but look.'"

Honor 52 Heroines Of Second War

LONDON, May 7.—(Reuters).—Fifty-two heroines of the Second World War, some of whom were tortured and burned to death by the Germans, were honored today when the Countess of Athlone, wife of the former Governor-General of Canada, unveiled a memorial tablet in Saint Paul's Church, Knightsbridge. The 52 women, all of whom died on active service, were members of the Women's Transport Service (first and nursing yeomanry) which voluntarily put 3,000 ambulance drivers in the field early in the war and later, after official recognition by the war office, performed valuable secret liaison work on the continent.

Among them were South and East Africans and Frenchwomen who trained and served with the corps. The names of 12 secret agents killed by the Germans were revealed for the first time on the memorial tablet.

One of them, Violette Szabo, was tortured to death after she was captured on liaison work between French resistance chief and the British intelligence in Europe. She was posthumously awarded the George Cross, Britain's highest civilian award for valor.

Two others were captured together with two members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, tortured, and finally burned to death in a German crematorium. Details of their deaths were considered so gruesome by the war office that they were never allowed to be published.

Mrs. Strum Raps Housing Conditions

OTTAWA, May 7.—(CP).—Mrs. Gladys Strum, only woman member of the Commons, told her masculine House colleagues Thursday night she is surprised that housing conditions are not driving more mothers mad and more fathers away from their families.

Speaking in a debate on housing, the CCF member for the Saskatchewan constituency of Qu'Appelle said that the accommodation problem is enough to drive anyone crazy.

She suggested that Trade Minister Howe, who has jurisdiction over housing, gain some first-hand experience. If the minister lived with four or five others in one room, washed the dishes himself and tried to dry the baby's laundry, he would have some idea what many people are facing.

Dramatic Society Honors Mrs. Walsh

The members of St. Joseph's Dramatic Society, with their honorary president and director, the Rev. J. J. McCarthy, visited on Monday night. Mrs. Fred Walsh in her new home at Indian River. Mrs. John Holland read an address and Wilfrid Kennedy and Mrs. Joseph O'Leary presented Mrs. Walsh with a radio lamp and rosary.

John Sheehan was the capable MC for the evening, and arranged a pleasing program of singing and music, with Mrs. Victor Kennedy as accompanist. Mr. Kevin Leahy contributed some delightful numbers on the violin. The ladies served a dainty lunch and a pleasant evening closed with the singing of "Good-night, Ladies" and "God Save the King."

GIRLS' WORK BOARD Mrs. Harold Rehill was welcomed as a new member to Peterborough CGIT Board at their regular meeting Tuesday evening. She will represent the YWCA Girls' Work Board. Miss Catherine Hodgins presided. Miss Jean Malling reported for the Girls' Cabinet. She suggested the president, Miss Joan Krogh, be sent as Peterborough's representative to Camp Council this year, and the board accepted unanimously. Regret was expressed by the members when they were informed that Miss Malling will be leaving the city and has resigned as sponsor of the Girls' Cabinet. She has been called home to St. Thomas owing to illness of her mother.

Mrs. G. Allen presented the report for girls' events committee in absence of Mrs. A. Himm. The annual sunrise service will be held Sunday, June 6, on Armour Hill at 8 a.m. if the weather is favorable. Mrs. B. Gordon, reporting on camp activities for this year, stated that intermediate camp is already staffed, but leaders for senior camp are urgently needed, especially for Bible study and handicrafts.

Interesting reports were heard from delegates who attended the girls' work conference in Toronto in March. Mrs. C. Allen, Mrs. Q. McKinney, Miss C. Hodgins and Miss A. Edmondson. Miss Dorothy Turner brought many helpful suggestions from camp conference which she attended in Toronto a week ago.

A table of literature will be on display at the spring tea being held at the YWCA on May 15 with Miss Ruth Barnes in charge. A leadership training week-end is being planned for September 18 and 19 to be held at Mrs. H. A. Mitchell's cottage at Chemung Park. Topic for study will be, "The leader's book and how to use it." After some discussion the board decided to dispense with the annual picnic this year.

GIRLS' CABINET Arrangements were made for all members of the cabinet to serve at the CGIT Work Board spring tea on Saturday, May 15, in the YWCA. The meeting was held Tuesday and opened with a sing-song led by Shirley Head. Jean DeNure and Marion Brown gave a talk on CGIT camp. Members elected their president, Joan Krogh, to attend Camp Council this year. Miss Jean Malling, sponsor, advised the girls of her departure from the city and a new leader is being chosen.

Tea for Mothers Held at YWCA

Gay spring flowers decorated the walls of the YWCA recreation room Thursday when members of Grade 9 Featherball Club entertained at a tea for their mothers. Piano selections were played by Misses Sheila Young and Margaret Martyn.

Miss June Hutchinson, president, received, assisted by Mrs. R. Hawkey and Miss Grace Veals. Tea was poured by Mrs. H. A. Mitchell and Mrs. R. G. Brooks. Presiding with bouquets of daffodils and tulips. The flowers were a gift from Miss Gwen Martyn. Tea room hostesses were Misses Joan White, Adele Miller, Nancy White, Patsy Hamilton, Gwen Mitchell and Beverley Brooks.

Vary Menus Of Breakfast

OTTAWA, May 7 (CP).—State menus are the cause of breakfast boredom in too many Canadian homes.

And wise is the housewife who occasionally changes that bacon-and-eggs routine for a dish that's equally nutritious, but a little interesting.

A brief study of grandmother's cook-book, and she might come up with a good old-fashioned recipe for Johnny cake.

Ingredients: Two cups butter-milk; one tablespoon shortening; one teaspoon soda; pinch of salt; two cups corn meal; two cups flour; one-half cup sugar, two eggs.

Mix and bake in a fairly large cake-pan for half an hour in a moderate (350 degrees Fahrenheit) oven. This should be served hot with maple or corn syrup.

For variation sprinkle bits of bacon on top of the batter before baking.

And of course there are always muffins.

Ingredients: Two cups flour; 3/4 teaspoon baking powder; two tablespoons sugar; three-quarters teaspoon salt; one egg; one cup milk; 2 1/2 tablespoons melted shortening.

Sift the flour twice with the dry ingredients. Mix the melted shortening with the egg (beaten) and milk. Mix the liquid quickly into the dry ingredients, and change. Served on toast, with a sprig of parsley at the side, they provide a welcome change.

Table-talk also does much to produce either good or poor appetites. Health experts say that bickering and nagging should be taboo at meal-time. In children it produces poor eating habits and repugnance for a period which should be the most satisfying and profitable of the day. Tranquillity should prevail at meals if the full value of the food is to be received.

half-fill well-greased muffin tins with the batter. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for 25 minutes.

Even the most simple breakfasts may be brightened if the cook takes an interest in what she is doing.

Orange-juice mixed with grapefruit-juice will give a new taste. A maraschino cherry in the centre of the grapefruit-half brightens its appearance. And a sprig of parsley can put a new look on that plate of bacon and eggs.

Speaking of eggs, there are other ways of cooking them besides boiling and frying. Try poaching them for a

Woman's Ill-Temper Cured
Becomes Happily Married

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: When I first met my wife she was the worst-tempered person I ever saw. I couldn't say two words to her without her flaring up in my face. We became engaged. A few months later I broke the engagement, but I still loved her, and I got to wondering what made her so ill-tempered. So I found out that it was all because of her unhappy childhood. She was a stepchild and badly treated and her temper was only a cover for her hurt feelings, and her protection against the way she was abused. When she saw that I loved her, she went more than halfway and became the gentlest of women. We have been married for fourteen years and there is not a sweeter woman in all the world.

Dorothy Dix

A HAPPY MAN

ANSWER: In one of Cable's stories the hero is a little priest, who, when he hears of someone committing a crime, says: "May God forgive you and me for that man's sin." I have always been greatly impressed with that little story, for I think it explains so much of the wrongdoing of so many people. They are not criminals at heart. They are just frustrated, bewildered, hurt men and women who are foolish enough to think that they can cure their own hurt by hurting others.

Bitter and Sour

This is particularly the case in domestic life. A young girl marries a boy with whom she is much in love. Her head is filled with romantic dreams of idyllic love, and she expects to be babied and petted and made much of, and because her husband doesn't do it, but just takes her for granted, she gets bitter and sour and turns into a shrew, because she wants to hurt him as badly as he has hurt her.

And the husband retaliates by finding fault with her and neglecting her, and the marriage goes on the rocks. But it could have been saved if either one had tried to find out what was really at the bottom of their trouble.

Many a man takes to drink because his wife is such a poor cook that he is half-starved, and many a divorce could be saved if only the dissatisfied husband and wives would ask themselves, "What am I doing, that makes John or Sally so disagreeable to live with?"

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have widowed mothers. We would be glad to have them live close to where we do, where they could see us often and we could do everything possible to make them happy and contented. That plan would suit my mother perfectly, but my husband's mother insists on coming to live with us, because she does not wish to live alone and will not let anyone go and live in the house with her. She is quite a rich woman and owns a handsome house.

We have a guest, and have to give up our room and use a studio couch in the living room. But that makes no difference to mother-in-law, and she says that I am very selfish because I ask her to live close by, but not with us. I am not well and the tension and confusion of being packed together like sardines in a box is making me a nervous wreck.

Should I sacrifice my health and happiness, as well as the happiness of my child, to let my husband's mother have her own way? MRS. R. H.

ANSWER: I think you would be silly as well as wrong to give in to your selfish mother-in-law when there is no necessity for doing so. Just tell mother-in-law flat out that she will have to get her own home and stay in it, and that's that.

It is such a common thing for old people to wreck a whole family to carry out some whim of their own. I knew of one case in which a dictatorial mother kept her son from making a business deal that would put him on Easy Street because she didn't like the way his prospective partner had his hair cut.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What can I do with a husband who doesn't believe in soap and water? We have been married two years now and instead of his improving he gets filthier and filthier. He has everything at hand—clean clothes that I put out for him, all sorts of bath facilities—yet he goes about so dirty that it is impossible to go near him. He is a good husband, but he is getting so that I can hardly stand to live with him. What shall I do? MRS. B.

ANSWER: Turn the hose on him. If that doesn't work, have him fumigated. No woman is called upon to live with an imperfect ablutement. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Seek Amendment
To Marriage Act

TORONTO, May 6.—(CP)—An amendment to the solemnization of Marriage Act to prevent children under 14 years from marrying has been requested by the Association of Children's Aid Societies of Ontario.

Of Interest to Women

licence to a person under the age of 14, was the reason for submitting the resolution to the Dominion Welfare Department.

Usually application is made for the special licences because a young girl is about to become a mother and the admitted father is prepared to marry her.

Social workers feel this piece of legislation is archaic and believe in cases like this it would be in the mother's welfare to make provision for the child and her own re-establishment rather than enter into a hasty marriage.

THE STARS
SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, May 8

The lunar transit ruling on this day point to the advisability of making it a time of relaxation and diversion, since there is but little encouragement of furthering anything of an ambitious or constructive nature. Working along lines of least resistance is the formula in such static or congested state of affairs. Postpone, take it easy, care for the physical, would be a sounder investment than trying to force lagging or blocked issues.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find things moving along at a snail's pace, with obstacles, frustrations, delays and lack of making the grade no matter what the investment of effort, vitality and resources.

The inertia or stagnation in affairs might be attributable to lowered physical energies or initiative, to slow mental processes or to the general static and retrograde aspect of affairs at large.

A child born on this day may be serious, slow going, indisposed to overcome obstacles or to tackle the affairs of life with any show of energy or determination. It may see the world through the eyes of an introvert.

Mrs. Harold Tate
Elected by WMS

COLLINGWOOD, May 7.—(CP).—Mrs. A. Glen Thompson of Stouffville was elected president of the Synodical Society of Toronto and Kingston Women's Missionary Society of Canada at the first annual meeting here.

Other officers include: Mrs. W. J. McCullough, Orangeville, honorary president; Mrs. Harold Tate, Millbrook, second vice-president. Department secretaries: Mrs. R. M. Hastings, Galt; Mrs. A. T. Barr, Arthur; Mrs. J. R. Ralston, Campbellford; Mrs. C. C. Jones, Lemvale; Mrs. D. M. Hogan, Sault Ste. Marie; Mrs. T. Firth, North Bay; Mrs. D. C. Graham, Burks Falls; Mrs. J. W. McDonald, Kingston; Mrs. D. M. McNabb, Orillia; Mrs. Harry Boyes, Pickering.

BISHOP'S TOWER

The Keep, or White Tower, of the Tower of London was first built in 1078 under Gundulf, Bishop of Rochester.

GALILEO'S THERMOMETER

One of the first thermometers was made by Galileo, but, as it was susceptible to atmospheric pressures, was unreliable.

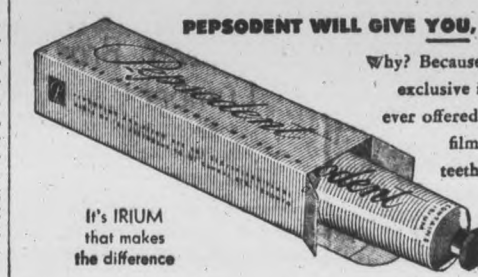

CONVENIENT INNOVATION

Matches began to supersede the old flint-and-steel or tinderbox method of obtaining fire in the early part of the 19th century.

Rambling Reporter

ALMOST—BUT NOT QUITE

Benjamin Epston, O'Carroll
Ave., hit a hot streak at the Duffus Bowling Alley on Thurs day night and began to mow the pins down in professional style.

Sensing that he was at top form a large crowd gathered to urge him on as he bowled strike after strike. When trying for his ninth straight strike he missed, thus ruining his chance for a perfect score. Immediately the onlook ers dispersed to matters of other interest. This morning Ben is philosophizing on the uses of adversity and the fickleness of crowds.—D.W.

SOMETHING TO SEE

A spectacle to behold with open-mouthed wonder took place on Charlotte St. Thursday.
Two men were carrying a 20-foot ladder, but in a way which brought many a gasp along their route. Both were riding bicycles.
The front man had the ladder attached to the rear of his bike seat, the man behind had his head through one of the spaces.
Just to top off the trick com pletely, the man on the rear bike was blind in one eye.

PUZZLING ANSWERS

A plea of guilty in police court this week provided two peculiar answers in the form on the back of the information sheet to be filled out by ac cused. The man's religion was listed as "Presperiterian." In answer to the line "Married or Single," the answer was "Yes."

Barber Shops

Close Wednesdays

Following a province-wide ar rangement, Peterborough barber shops will standardize their hours effective immediately. The shops will be open five days a week from eight o'clock in the morning until 6 p.m. All will be closed all day Wednesday, unless there is another holiday in the same week.

These arrangements were con firmed by Arthur Reynolds, presi dent, and Donald W. Moore, sec retary of the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Barbers Associa tion. They said that, through the Association, hours, conditions of work and other matters are being made standard throughout Onta rio.

The terms of the agreement are under a new code of the Industrial Standards Act.

Before the organization of the Ontario Association, Peterborough was the only city with a barbers organization.

They also spiked rumors on the street that there would be an in crease in the rates of haircuts.
There will be no increase over the present levels, they said.

Y's Men Name
W. Moorehead
Club President

William Moorehead was elect ed president for the 1948-49 sea son at the annual meeting of the Y's Men's Club held on Thurs day night in the YMCA.

Nearly 40 members were pre sent as balloting took place to name the new executive. New officers elected were: William Moorehead, president; Jack Rich ardson, 1st vice-president; Erle
Weibourn, 2nd vice-president;
Joseph Barnard, secretary; and Gordon Morrison, treasurer.

Mr. Moorehead thanked the Y's Men for their support and pledged that during his term of office he would work for the ben efit of the local branch and the general good of the whole Y's
Men's organization.

Installation of officers is ex pected to take place on Thursday,
May 27.

Joseph Rowan, camp commit tee, told of improvements which are proceeding at the boys' camp.
He said that a cabin was being completed that would serve as a hospital, and he explained that the main dining hall was being repaired after damage had been caused by cold weather buckling the flooring. New windows are also being installed.

More than 25 members volun teered to accept the invitation from the Belleville Y's Men to pay a visit next Thursday. It is expected that there will be an even larger turnout when some of the absent members are heard from.

Guest of the evening was Ed ward Brown, Gilchrist St., who was with Mr. Rowan. Robert Simmons was chairman during the election of officers. President Kenneth Jackson, occupied the chair during the business ses sion.

NEWS IN BRIEF

By The Canadian Press

THOROLD—Thorold police put on a private scrap drive today.

But they won't take just any scrap. Under direction of Chief George Minty they're checking all scrap yards looking for a ton of scrap which was stolen from the grounds of the Provincial Pa per Company.

THE HAGUE—A flag for the proposed Federation of Europe fluttered above public buildings in the Hague today in honor of a 22-country forum here to pro mote the European union. The flag bears a large, red 'E' on a white background. It was de signed by Duncan Sandys, son-in-law of Winston Churchill.

DETROIT—Sometimes the end justifies the means, police admit, but they draw the line at auto mobile theft to keep a date with the parole officer. Police are holding Norman Cornell, 20, for investigation in a motor car theft from a local parking lot. Cornell said he "borrowed" the vehicle.
He said he is on parole in a break ing and entering case and didn't dare miss his appointment at the parole office.

ELECTS NEW EXECUTIVE

The new executive for the 1948-49 season was elected at the Thursday night meeting of the Y's Men's Club. Shown are, Left to Right: Gordon Morrison, treasurer; Erle Weibourn, 2nd vice-president; William Moorehead, president; Jack Richardson, 1st vice-president, and Joseph Barnard, secretary. Approximately 40 members attended the election.

Floral Tributes

Numerous At Funeral

Ruby Allen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen,
Norwood, Ont., died suddenly on Saturday, May 1, in Detroit, Mich.
She was in her 42nd year. Since 1927 she had been a resident there, leaving this community to take a stenographer's position near the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Leonard Patterson, the latter be ing her only sister. More recently she has been a valued executive in Fort Shelby Hotel. Her very sudden passing came as a shock to her many friends here and there, but those who knew her best had noticed her health fail ing and had advised her to take a vacation. Her last visit with her parents and Mr. and Mrs.
Percy Allen was last July. Berta and Hugh Allen and Allen Patter son are her niece and nephews.

The funeral took place May 4
from Tedford's Funeral Home,
Norwood. Rev. E. E. Pugsley, pastor of the United Church, con ducted the service.

The pall-bearers were: Walter
Girven, John Knox, Evan Calder, Clarence Taylor, Gideon Brown, and Chas. McMillan. The many floral tributes were beautiful, testifying the love and respect of relatives, friends and business associates. Burial was in Nor wood Cemetery.

Need $600 More

COBourg, May 7 (ENS).—
The Red Cross campaign is mov ing towards its objective, but is still short by over $600.

The campaign treasurer E. M. Mc Pherson, reports collections to date of $2,345.74. The objective for Cobourg and district is $3,000.

Obituaries

WILLIAM DEVLIN

William Devlin, 74, of 489
Rogers St., died Thursday at his residence after being in failing health for some time. He was born in Otonabee township, son of the late Roger Devlin and Catherine Allen, and prior to coming to Peterborough nine years ago, re sided on his farm on the old Norwood Road.

He leaves his wife, the former
Bridget Dwyer, and a daughter, Mrs. Leo Murphy (Loretta), a sister Miss Nora and a brother, Patrick, all of Peterborough. He was a member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception at its Holy Name Society.

Requiem mass will be said at 10 a.m. on Saturday at the Church of the Immaculate Conception and burial will be at St. Joseph's Cemetery, Douro.

AGNES WEDDELL

Agnes Weddell, daughter of Alec Weddell and Mabel Alford, died on Thursday at her home, 383
Park St. Miss Weddell was 21 years old, and had been ill for a long time. As well as her parents, she leaves two sisters and a bro ther: Mrs. H. O. Barrett (Isabel) of Toronto, a twin sister, Helen, and Dr. John Weddell of Red Deer, Alberta.

Miss Weddell was educated at Queen Mary School and PCVS, and was attending the University of Toronto. She was a member of St. Andrew's United Church and was active in the YWCA and camp work.

The Rev. M. J. Aiken of St.
Andrew's United Church will conduct the funeral service and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery. Further details will be announced later.

GOOD TROUT CATCH

One of the best catches since the trout season opened was by a four some consisting of Raymond Tanner, Hunter St. W., Charles Culpitt, Brown St., and Frank and Mary Keeler of Toronto. They landed 80, ranging up to 19 in ches, at a Haliburton lake which they did not identify. The party returned on Wednesday with the catch.

Softball Game
To Aid
The Arena Fund

Toronto Tip-Top Tailors, world tournament finalists in 1947, will play the B-A team on May 15 at the East City Bowl. All proceeds from the game, which should be one of the softball highlights of the season, will go towards the Civic Arena fund. The Toronto team will be visiting Peterboro ugh at their own expense. Local Tip-Top manager Kenneth Sloan, has organized the game and will be arranging for the entertain ment of the visiting team.

A draw will be held at the game for about a dozen or more valuable prizes donated by sports minded business men in the city.

Glady's Mortimer, former presi dent of the Provincial Women's Softball Union, is arranging for a couple of Senior Toronto League ladies' teams to also play an ex hibition game at the bowl in aid of the Civic Arena project.

SALLY'S SALLIES

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

STRATEGY AS IN WAR

WINNING strategy in bridge is much akin to that in successful warfare. Often it consists of keeping the enemy uninformed—or, better, misinformed—about your own situation and what you are doing, while knowing exactly what he has and what he is up to. A man who can display a genius for that sort of thing at the bridge table should also be able in helping plot the defense of his country. In fact, just such a man is—and how!

When he heard East bid 1-No Trump, he made the psychic bid of 2-Clubs feeling sure his opponents could stop that suit and might go on in No Trumps. They did. Whereupon he refrained from the temptation to double and calmly scored six diamond tricks. You will note that they could have made game in either hearts or spades, and no doubt would have if he had bid his diamonds. No wonder he is tops among military men:

Tomorrow's Problem

Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.

East South West North

1NT 2♣ 2NT Pass

You have the bidding actually done in a game involving three officers of the United States Military Academy at West Point and one civilian visitor, who was in the East seat.

The South player was then Lieut. Alfred M. Gruenther, a young instructor of electricity and chemistry. He later became a famous bridge tournament director, secretary of the Vanderbilt Cup Committee and Honorary Member of the American Contract Bridge League.

What sound bidding do you prefer to reach the winning contract on this deal?

400,000 GET BOOST IN WAR PENSION

Will Discuss Beef Ban With US Soon

Canada Asks To Have 400,000-Head Quota Plan Put In Force

OTTAWA, May 8.—(CP).—It was farmer's day in the Commons Friday and there were two substantial developments.

1. Agriculture Minister Gardiner disclosed that removal of the war-imposed embargo on beef cattle shipments to the United States will be discussed with American authorities at a "very early date."

2. The Minister also said he is considering a recommendation to the cabinet for a floor price under butter.

Opposition members from the Western Provinces held the floor most of the day, making suggestions from changes which they felt would improve conditions for the Canadian farmer.

Dealing with beef cattle, Mr. Gardiner said steps would be taken to determine Canada's share in the annual quota of 400,000 head of foreign-bred cattle which will be allowed into the United States and under the Geneva trade agreement. Before the war, Canada was allowed to export 200,000 head into the American market.

Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East) said the cattle ban imposed during the war to provide beef for Britain, should be lifted immediately and Canada given all of the 400,000-head quota. Mexico, the other quota country, had an epidemic of foot and mouth disease and could not ship cattle into the United States.

He warned that farmers in southern Alberta, dissatisfied with the government's agricultural policies, were signing petitions calling for the secession of Western Canada from the East. The secession sentiment would develop and grow if the government did not alter its stand on some questions.

Replying to questions, Mr. Gardiner said more hogs are being received than are required to fill the British bacon contract. Shipments to Britain were about 25 per cent above the contract rate. He could not say whether Britain would take more than the 195,000,000 pounds to be shipped under the agreement.

Earl Drope (PC—Northumberland) called for a statement of the government's 1949 butter policy and said there would be a butter shortage next winter unless producers were assured a fair price. He could not understand why butter was kept under a price ceiling now that production was up to demand.

Ready To Suggest Butter Floor Price

OTTAWA, May 8.—(CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner indicated in the Commons Friday night that he is prepared to recommend the placing of a floor price under butter. He said he has received recommendations urging the establishment of a butter floor price. He had the matter under consideration and planned to make some recommendations to the cabinet.

European Phase Of War Ended Three Years Ago

By The Associated Press

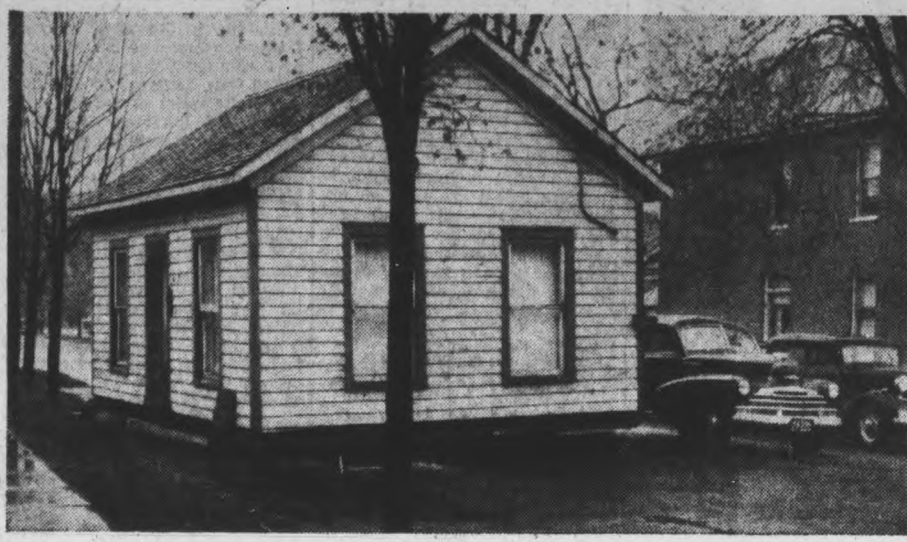

The European phase of the Second World War ended just three years ago today.

Today's anniversary apparently drew more notice in the defeated countries than among the victorious ones. Few public celebrations were reported and no statements were forthcoming on the eve of the anniversary.

But in Germany and Austria, pleas were heard for a joint effort to make the peace last.

German mayors appealed to their people Friday night to love their neighbors.

In a pamphlet issued by the German Towns Association in Frankfurt, they asked Germans to help "all those who have been persecuted in the name of our people for political or racial reasons."

417 ON ITS WAY—The home of Mrs. N. Menogue, 417 Driscoll Terrace, had to be torn down or moved to make way for a bus garage expansion project. She bought a lot on Woodbine Ave., where son Jack of Windsor made a foundation to move it onto.

Six Countries Urge U.N. Drop Atomic Control

LAKE SUCCESS, May 8.—(CP).—Six countries including Canada urged the United Nations Friday to stop work looking toward world atomic control until Russia decides to co-operate.

Britain, the United States and France formally recommended that the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission suspend deliberations on atomic control and toss the whole problem back to the full U.N. Assembly.

If the Commission agrees, it will be the first U.N. body to acknowledge failure.

Belgium and Colombia also endorsed their recommendation.

Russia and the Soviet Ukraine fully opposed the move and charged one more that the United States does not want atomic control. They said the possibilities for agreement were not exhausted.

The Atomic Commission delayed a final vote until a later meeting.

Frederick H. Osborn, American deputy on the Commission and chairman for this month, said the proposal was so serious that it must have full discussion.

The three-power statement said the majority of the Commission had been unable to get the agreement of the Soviet Union even to technical points considered necessary for effective control.

Canadian delegate Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said the measures of inspection and control outlined in Russian proposals "could not be made to give the security and safeguards which nations need and have a right to expect."

"The opportunities for evasion and for clandestine activities are so many and so wide that no nation could safely confide its security to a system developed on any such weak foundation," he added.

ANSONVILLE, May 8 (CP).—"Scab" drivers intending to go to work on an Abitibi construction project will do so "at their own risk," a spokesman for 13 striking truck drivers declared today.

Firing Ends In Jerusalem As Truce Now In Effect

HAIFA, May 8.—(Reuters).—All firing ceased at noon today in Jerusalem as a truce between Arabs and Jews in the city went into effect, reports reaching here said. After the Arab-British agreement Friday, which provided for a truce effective at noon today, the Jewish agency announced that Jewish guns would cease fire at nightfall Friday.

The agreement, covering the whole city of Jerusalem, followed demands from many delegates to the United Nations, concerned for the safety of holy places.

The British statement said Arab League leaders agreed to the truce at a three-hour meeting in Jericho Friday with Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, Palestine high commissioner.

The session was attended by a United Nations truce commission composed of the consuls-general of the United States, France and Belgium.

Belief was expressed that Arab and Jewish leaders have given the truce commission their terms for peace not only in Jerusalem, but in all Palestine. The British mandate in the Holy Land ends at midnight next Friday.

Informants said the chief point at issue was the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv road. The Jews insist that the road be kept open, but the Arabs are said to want the road closed with the understanding that Arabs will transport food and water to Jerusalem's 100,000 Jews.

Announcement of the Arab cease-fire order came while the Holy City was undergoing its heaviest fighting in a week.

Canada Hit Hard In U.S. Rail Strike

OTTAWA, May 8.—(CP).—Canada will be seriously hit if a general rail strike is called in the United States, as threatened next Tuesday, government officials said today.

The tie-up would have the almost-immediate effect of slowing down Canadian manufacturing for lack of imported steel.

At the same time, Canada's export business with the United States would be largely shut off. The ban on trans-border trade would help Canada's dollar-conservation program, cutting off a drain on the Dominion's gold resources of perhaps $2 million a day.

Drives On, Off Ferry Islander Drowned
KINGSTON, May 7.—(CP).—Provincial police said today an inquest will be held into the death of Russel Duffy, 44, of Howe Island, who was drowned Friday when he drove his car off the end of the Howe Island Ferry into about 10 feet of water.

Leslie Bishop, ferry operator, said Duffy drove onto the ferry and right off the other end. Mr. Duffy, married and the father of one child, was on his way home from Gananoque at the time.

His body and the car were recovered a short time after the accident.

25 Per Cent Increase Is Predicted

Statement By Gregg Forecasts Gov't Will Approve Bill

By DOUGLAS HOW
OTTAWA, May 8.—(CP).—A 25 per cent increase in the war pensions that benefit nearly 400,000 Canadians appears to be in the offing.

There is strong reason to believe it will be announced in the Commons next week by Veterans Minister Gregg.

The raise was requested originally by the Canadian Legion and recommended by the Commons committee on veterans' affairs. The government, which proposed a 10-per-cent increase last December, some weeks ago decided to offer 16 to 20 per cent instead.

The committee completed study of the bill containing the 16-0 proposal yesterday and heard Mr. Gregg say it will be placed before the House again "as soon as possible."

Unless the steering committee objects, Chairman Leslie Mutch (L-Winnipeg South) will report it to the House Monday, along with the committee recommendation for a 25-per-cent boost.

With three Federal by-elections and the national convention of the Legion coming up within the next four weeks and several provincial elections not far off, it is not considered likely that the government would want to see the bill so soon if it were not ready to give the 25 per cent. A further argument is that the Progressive Conservatives have made 33 1-3 per cent part of their party platform.

The 25-per-cent addition would raise the monthly pension of a single, 100-per-cent disabled veteran from $75 to $94, and of a widow from $60 to $75. Pensions go to 153,000 disabled veterans, 101,000 wives, 17,900 widows and some 123,000 dependents.

The increases would be retroactive to last Oct. 1.

The committee no sooner finished its prolonged study of pensions than it plunged into a bill to amend the War Veterans Allowances Act. It would raise from $30 to $40 a month the maximum allowance for a single recipient, from $60 to $70 the mount for married recipients.

The allowances go to 29,000 aged and needy veterans, widows and orphans, at an annual cost of $14,500,000.

Expect 20 Million Tourists This Summer
TORONTO, May 8.—Nearly 20,000,000 American tourists are expected to cross the border into Ontario this year, according to estimates of the Travel and Publicity Department. Results of the present provincial government's promotion work are reflected in increased bookings being received by resorts throughout the province.

Travel and Publicity Minister G. Arthur Welsh said yesterday that 18,000,000 Americans had visited the province in 1947 for periods ranging from a few hours to six months or more. This exceeded by approximately 4,000,000 the previous record established in 1946.

Former Premier Hanged In Burma
RANGOON, Burma, May 8.—(AP).—U-Saw, pre-war Burmese premier and five of his henchmen were hanged a dawn today for the machine-gun murders last July 19 of seven cabinet ministers.

U-Saw, convicted ringleader in the assassinations and attempted coup, was hanged at 5.15 a.m. By 6.30 the gallows trap had been sprung beneath the others.

U-Saw was granted a final request — to be hanged alone. He had complained the original plan to hang the six in pairs was not dignified. Officials permitted this final, face-saving gesture.

Two Trains Collide

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 8.—(AP).—Two Louisville and Nashville passenger trains, the southbound Hummingbird and the Florida Arrow, collided 15 miles north of here early today, but first reports said only a few persons were injured and that no major damage resulted.

Oliver Proposes Plan To Aid Soil Depletion

BRAMPTON, May 8.—(CP).—A program designed to halt erosion and depletion of Ontario farm soil was proposed today by Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Peel constituency nominating convention here, Mr. Oliver announced the Liberal farm program in the Ontario election. He said his party would encourage farmers aged 30 and under to start farms of their own by providing loans or guarantees up to 80 per cent of the necessary capital.

"Today there are many areas of Ontario where erosion, soil depletion, lowered water tables and disappearance of our forests are reducing the productive power of our land and dimming its future," he said.

"The Liberal party is prepared to bring in a land-use policy with the object of protecting and preserving the wealth of Ontario's soil, agriculture and rural life by a program of proper soil use and economic betterment."

A conservation board, to be established under the minister of agriculture, would: inaugurate a detailed soil and agricultural survey of any part of settled Ontario at the request of the community; make specific suggestions for the best use of the land; establish demonstration farms operated by farmer-owners.

The board would extend research facilities of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph to enable it to take part in the proposed farm program. Assistance could be available for planting of trees and protection of wood lots.

Ching Looks In On Mediators

DETROIT, May 8.—(AP).—Canadian-born Cyrus S. Ching, one of the top-flight labor trouble-shooters of the United States, "looked in" today on efforts to avert a scheduled Wednesday strike over wages of 75,000 Chrysler Corporation automobile workers.

Ching, a native of Prince Edward Island and now director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, described his part as just "an advisory role" as he met with two subordinates to obtain late reports on efforts to head off the strike.

Detroit area federal mediators indicated they would try to arrange a joint meeting with the company and union if results of the separate sessions were favorable.

Ching termed his visit here "purely social and of no significance." One of the items on his busy day's schedule was a visit to President Walter P. Reuther, of the UMW, recovering in a Detroit hospital from gunshot wounds suffered two weeks ago when an assailant shot him at his home.

Dismiss Vice-Buster Plante From Montreal Police
MONTREAL, May 8.—(CP).—The stage was set today for one of the bitterest fights in Montreal's municipal history following the dismissal from the police department of vice-buster Pacifique (Pax) Plante for insubordination.

Plante, whose nomination more than a year ago as assistant director of police climaxed the first successful drive to stamp out prostitution and gambling in the Metropolis, was ousted Friday night by a majority decision of the city executive committee acting on a recommendation of police director Albert Langlois.

Appointment of Chief Inspector Ernest Pleau in Plante's place was also approved by the committee.

But city hall sources said today his dismissal would be the beginning of a fight-to-the-finish as many civic and religious organizations, as well as the majority of Montreal newspapers, have given Plante unlimited support in the present dispute.

Russians Announce Plans For Troop Withdrawal Immediately From Korea

Hoping To Make US Forces Leave South But No Specific Date Given; New Violence Flares Over Election Issue

SEOUL, Korea, May 8.—(AP).—Soviet commander Kirovov today announced arrangements had been made for immediate withdrawal of Russian troops from North Korea to "make American troops withdraw from South Korea simultaneously."

Both Russia and Korean Communists have been campaigning of late for withdrawal of American troops from South Korea.

The Russian announcement did not list any specific date for the withdrawal. Similar proposals previously have been rejected by the United States.

"The announcement came as new violence flared in South Korea, where a free election to name a constituent assembly will be held Monday. The election was proposed by a United Nations commission with Canada among the dissenters.

One election official was shot to death today and a building housing three newspapers was burned in the first outbreak in Seoul of Red pre-election terrorism.

South Korea and Cheju Island off the south coast have borne the brunt of previous violence which United States authorities say is fomented by the Communists opposed to the election.

400 Killed
So far since the attacks began in February nearly 400 Koreans have been killed. Of these 15 were election officials. Forty-six other election workers have been wounded.

A gang stopped a train near Seoul Friday night and destroyed its steam valves. Another gang of saboteurs rammed locomotives head on at Tsejon and Chongju. Power lines were cut at four points.

Li-Gen Korothkov's announcement was contained in the broadcast of the Pyongyang radio of a letter to Kim Doo-Bong, chairman of the North Korea labor party and chairman of the recent north-south unity conference at Pyongyang.

The Communist-dominated conference urged that all foreign troops be withdrawn from Korea to let the people choose their own government.

Many South Koreans fear that if American troops pull out that the North Korean army of 200,000 would over-run them.

CSU Opposes Law On Discharge Books
TORONTO, May 8.—(CP).—Harry Davis, president of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), declared Friday that his union is "unalterably opposed" to the provision in the Canada Shipping Act requiring seamen to carry discharge books at all times.

Davis stated the union's position in a telegram to Transport Minister Chevrier, which noted that the Senate Committee, studying the Canada Shipping Act, has recommended continuation of this provision.

Plante himself indicated that the battle was just beginning when he said Friday night that "this is not the case of Pacific Plante but the case of vice and morality in Montreal."

"I now place my case in the hands of the well-thinking and honest population of Montreal for the final decision."

Plante's dismissal came as the climax of his suspension from the police department by Director Langlois two months ago, after he refused to order his assistant, Lieut. Armand Courval, to appear before the police disciplinary board on charges of "irregularities" in making a case against a disorderly house.

In two years Plante has risen from a relatively obscure recorder's clerk to the No. 2 spot in the police force. He was the nemesis of bookmakers and gamblers, and was the man largely responsible for the eventual conviction of the alleged king of Montreal gamblers, Harry Ship, six months ago.

Abandon Search For Missing Transport Plane

GANDER, Nfld., May 8 (CP).—Wary crews of 11 search planes headed for their home bases today after three fruitless days hunting for a missing Dakota transport plane which disappeared on a trans-Atlantic flight.

Flying from dawn to dusk—some crews flew as many as 13 hours a day—the aircraft covered 100,000 square miles of ocean searching for the plane which was unreported since it took off from Gander Airport Tuesday night on a flight to Shannon, Eire.

The DC-3 carried a two-man crew—Pilot Lewis Parks and Ralph Warnock, both of Los Angeles—but no passengers.

Decision to abandon the search was announced Friday night by Sqn. Ldr. S. R. Miller, head of the R.C.A.F. search and rescue unit, who directed the hunt.

The missing plane was owned by the Superior Oil Company and was on a flight to Egypt. It was scheduled to arrive at Shannon Airport Wednesday morning. The Dakota carried sufficient fuel for 17 hours flying.

There was a three-week supply of food and water aboard the plane which was equipped with a rubber life raft capable of holding 20 persons.

Specialized—equipped—rescue planes of Canada, the United States and Great Britain combined in the search. They were drawn from bases at Kindley Field, Bermuda; Greenwood, N.S.; Harmon and Gander Airports, Nfld., and Goose Bay, Labrador.

SNOW MAY 8

The wind was blowing both rain and snow at 10.30 this morning—wet snow that melted in a moment, on May 8. Many wintered elders here, been predicting for the last two weeks that spring was due for a few chilly checks.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today: Night low .37 Noon .34
Yesterday: Highest .58 Lowest .40
One Year Ago: Highest .38 Lowest .31
53 rainfall

Sun—Rises at 6:00; Sets at 8:28
Skies are overcast over all of Ontario but the extreme northwestern section this morning. Snow is falling in parts of northern Ontario and as far south as the Lake Huron region. In eastern sections of Ontario rain or drizzle is reported. Skies are expected to clear over southwestern Ontario today but strong northwesterly winds and collected maximum temperatures in the mid-40s will make for a chilly day. In northern and eastern Ontario showers are expected to continue most of Saturday. Clear weather, and not quite as cold, is expected for southwestern Ontario Sunday. In other sections, cloudy weather and not much change in temperature is foreseen for tomorrow.

Forecasts:

Eastern Lake Ontario and Haliburton regions—Cloudy today and Sunday, clearing Sunday afternoon. Showers today. Colder today, not much change in temperature Sunday. Winds light.

Snow Blizzes London

LONDON, Ont., May 8 (CP).—Strong winds carrying rain and snow Friday night ripped power and communications lines in the London district and felled trees across highways. Power line damage caused by falling trees and branches blacked out sections of the city for more than 1½ hours.

79,194 Added To Population

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP).—Canada's population was swelled by 79,194 immigrants during the fiscal year ended last March 31, the resources department reported Friday. This was an 18.2 per cent increase over the total of 66,990 for the previous year.

During the last fiscal year, 9,009 Canadians returned to the Dominion after varying periods of residence in the United States compared with 6,815 the year before. Of the total number of immigrants, 44,788 came from the British Isles. This was about 3,000 fewer than in 1946-47, but the previous year's figures were fattened by 36,922 dependents of Canadian ex-servicemen. Actual figures for ordinary immigrants from the British Isles rose from less than 10,000 to nearly 45,000.

From England came 31,200 compared with 35,596 the previous year, while Irish immigrants totaled 13,460 against 3,073; Scotch 9,107 against 8,166 and Welsh 1,012 against 1,141.

TORONTO HOG PRICES

TORONTO, May 8 (CP).—Hog prices were unchanged at $28.40, grade A delivered to farmers $28.85, to truckers $29, in markets reporting today.

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO, May 9 (CP).—Wholesale fruit and vegetable prices were unchanged here today with the following exceptions:

Asparagus, 11-qt. bskt., $3-$3.50; radishes, doz., 40-50; green onions, doz., 30-35.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 8 (CP).—Produce prices in the spot market here today were reported as follows:

Butter prints unchanged, 1st grade 69, 2nd grade 68, 3rd grade 67.

Churning cream unchanged, No. 1 lb. 74, 78 delivered.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, May 8 (CP).—Coarse grain futures showed modest declines on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, with oats closing ½ cent lower, to 85¢, and barley ½ cent lower, to 110¢. Lack of aggressive demand and increased offerings toward the close contributed to the losses during dull trade.

Rye futures scored good gains, closing 10 to 1½ cents higher, and July futures both moved up the maximum 10-cent limit, with May being bid up as no offerings appeared. Exporters were on the buying side in July rye. Prices of class two wheat remained unchanged.

The United Kingdom was allocated 325,000 bushels of wheat under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement, while the United States during the last two days purchased moderate quantities of Canadian oats and malting barley.

Charge Salsberg With 'Meddling'

MONTREAL, May 8 (CP).—Sam Baron, Canadian director for the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO-CCL), Friday charged J. B. Salsberg, Labor-Progressive Member of the Ontario Legislature, with "disruptive meddling in the trade union movement of Canada."

Baron said a member of his staff received a two-page "personal note" from Salsberg, with the salutation "dear friend," asking support in opposing a federal parliamentary bill which would outlaw the Labor-Progressive party.

Baron's statement criticized Salsberg for his procedure, saying "it is usual democratic union practice for any kind of appeal to be addressed directly to the organization and not to a member of the staff."

Salsberg represents Toronto St. Andrews in the Legislature.

At Toronto Salsberg said the letter is "not meddling of any sort in trade union affairs."

"The letter is simply an expression of opinion on a question of national importance," Mr. Salsberg said. "I have written the letter to a large number of people who are prominent in the trade union movement drawing their attention to a bill which is a menace. It's a perfectly proper thing to do."

Plane Crashes On B.C. Street

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., May 8 (CP).—A heap of twisted wreckage was all that was left today of a light plane after an "aerial joy ride." Its pilot, 24-year-old Wilfred Blair, a newspaper reporter, and Everett McEachern, Prince George business man, a passenger, were in hospital. Both were seriously injured.

The plane crashed on Thursday night in the centre of the residential section here. It smashed into a tree and nose-dived to a street corner. The engine was pushed back into the cabin.

Eye-witnesses reported the plane "buzzed the town" for about five minutes before the crash.

Both men are members of the Prince George Flying Club. Blair, a wartime pilot, has been training for a civilian licence. He was not authorized to carry passengers.

The plane's plunge was witnessed by many townsmen. One, Harry Geise, knew it was "going to crash."

He called an ambulance before the crash and it was racing down the street as the plane plummeted to earth.

McEachern suffered a fractured skull, broken jaw, broken leg, and internal injuries. He is unconscious.

STOCK PRICE TREND

Climbs During Week

(By The Canadian Press)

Stock markets this week went through a period of consolidation and, despite the pressure of spreading strike threats in the United States and to a lesser degree in Canada, the price trend once again turned upward.

This upward turn was considered by many observers as a clear indication of the strength underlying the market today. As proof they refer to last week's corrective recession which, following five successive weeks of substantial advances, was of a minor nature.

Oils and rails as well as selected industrials at New York and on Canadian exchanges resumed the advance which was interrupted last week while newspaper securities on Canadian markets showed strong trends. Mining stocks were irregular with base metals maintaining steady prices and golds again weak.

The rally in golds last week which stemmed in part from the revival of devaluation rumors did not last long. With official sources once again denying the rumors' unclouding followed and net losses for the week about equalled the previous week's gains.

St. Laurent Waiting For More Information

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP).—External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said Friday in the Commons he has not yet received all information on the appearance of a United States Consul-General before the Ontario Municipal Board last week. He was replying to John Hackett (PC-Stand.) Mr. Hackett complained last Tuesday that Consul-General Earl Russell had appeared before the board when it was hearing an application of an American trucking firm for permission to carry cars in bond over Ontario highways from one United States point to another.

Mr. St. Laurent said he did not yet have sufficient facts to make a complete statement on the case.

WOULD CURTAIL—NOT ELIMINATE—U.N. VETO

An interesting study of Secretary of State George C. Marshall as he testified before the House foreign affairs committee at Washington, D.C., in connection with proposed legislation that would commit the United States as an advocate of elimination of the veto in the United Nations. In the event the Russia refused to agree to elimination of the veto, a body of anti-Soviet powers would be created. Secretary Marshall advised the committee that while the U.S. favors amelioration of the big powers' veto in certain circumstances, the government does not favor all-out elimination.

World News In Brief

Reports Confused

BATAVIA.—Reports of an Indonesian bamboo spear attack on Dutch forces near Koenigang apparently were greatly exaggerated, a Netherlands East Indies spokesman said. The spokesman said reports received from the field were so confused clarification has been asked.

PARIS.—Dundee, Scotland, Friday gave the French City of Orleans a bow and three arrows during celebrations of the assault by Saint Joan of Arc, aided by Scottish troops, which delivered the city from English siege in 1429.

CHARLESTON, S.C.—Robert New, president of Charleston's Wallace-for-President Club, was fatally stabbed at the National Maritime Union headquarters here. Police said New, port agent for the NMU, died shortly after a fight at the union headquarters, and that Rudolph Sirio, 49, was charged with murder.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng.—Graham Ford Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, sailed today aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth, en route to Ottawa. He is due to arrive in New York May 12.

ROME.—Jews in Italy are preparing ships and reinforcements of men, arms and munitions for an influx into Palestine after the British withdrawal May 15. Great activity is reported in Jewish refugee camps, where it is believed a general mobilization has been going on for some time.

SYDNEY, Australia.—John Braund, 78-year-old Sydney layman whose claims to cure cancer were investigated by a committee set up by the New South Wales Government, has given an announcement. The government announced.

WASHINGTON.—President Truman observed his 54th birthday today and will take time out from his duties to attend a party arranged by his staff.

MADRID.—Gen. Franco's cabinet announced approval of an accord with the United States, France and Great Britain on the disposition of former German private assets in Spain. No details were given.

PICTON.—A radio beacon is to be set up at Point Petre Light-house on the southwestern tip of Prince Edward county. A similar beacon already on Main Duck Island will enable passing vessels to get a cross-bearing.

TORONTO.—A coin-slot music box, coveted by many collectors, is a prized possession of Cecil Graham of Birchville. Made in 1889 and complete with 50 metal "records," it was captured in Manila during the Spanish-American War.

ST. THOMAS.—Hubert B. Urtel of Buffalo, N.Y., was killed early today when the automobile in which he was driving alone crashed into a ditch a mile east of here. He was president of the Buffalo Athletic Club.

Smothered In Crib

WINDSOR.—Six months old Joyce Elaine Choykoski, of Sandwich, was smothered in the bed clothes of her crib Friday. A half-hour effort by members of the Windsor fire department failed to revive her.

May Ask 20-Day Strike Delay

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP).—The White House was reported today to ask a 20-day rail strike postponement as hopes dimmed of settling the six-month-old wages and rules dispute without resorting to government seizure.

New peace talks were called by top presidential advisers in an effort to end the deadlock between carriers throughout the United States and three labor unions. Informants reporting the possible postponement request said it might be issued if no agreement is reached by May 11.

As settlement efforts continued, six railroads imposed embargo orders on foods, poultry and livestock. At least 54 other lines planned the same step to avoid spoils of strike-stranded cargo.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman called management negotiators into private conference and it was indicated he also will meet again with heads of the three rail brotherhoods before the Tuesday strike deadline.

Will Challenge Code Validity

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP).—Experts of the Justice and Labor departments today were considering the government's course of action in an impending code challenge to validity of the proposed Federal Labor Code.

Officials said it has not been determined what steps the government will take to defend its labor legislation.

The challenge is being launched by John Robinson, Toronto lawyer, acting for three steamship companies which are being prosecuted by the Canadian Seamen's Union (CCL) for refusing to bargain with the CSU under Dominion Labor regulations. Mr. Robinson said at Toronto that he will contend the Dominion has no jurisdiction over industrial relations in railways, shipping, communications and some other inter-provincial activities.

The code has received second reading in the Commons and now is under study before the Commons Industrial Relations Committee.

No Money Ban For Princess

LONDON, May 8 (Reuters).—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will not be restricted to the £25 ($140) allowance of British holiday-makers when they visit Paris at the end of next week as "ambassadors of goodwill" it was learned from an official source here today.

Nor will they be classed as business people, who are allowed $6 a day expenses.

Their shopping, however, will be discreet. In no way could the Royal couple afford an ostentatious spending spree in Paris shops to offend the spirit of present currency regulations in their own country.

HAMILTON.—A five passenger aircraft was blessed and dedicated to the service of missionaries to Borneo and New Guinea. The plane belongs to Albert Lewis, former wartime Ferry Command pilot, who has been assigned a wide pastorate in the South Pacific.

SAULT STE. MARIE.—John Peterbaugh was sentenced Friday to serve a month in jail because he neglected to look after his team of horses. Pictures of the animals were shown Magistrate James McEwan, who said: "I would be most afraid to let the public see these pictures for fear they might take the law into their own hands."

NEWBURY, Berkshire, Eng.—Lady Joan Coventry, 23, daughter of the Countess of Coventry, died in Newbury hospital. Police authorities are investigating the circumstances. She was found ill in a hotel room. Police said that a bottle which had contained tablets was found at her bedside.

To Show Films On Recreation Plan

Peterborough Recreation Commission is working with the National Film Board and the Peterborough Film Council in the selection of films from all parts of the world for the Department of Physical Fitness and Recreation. The films are shown at the previews held twice a month by the Film Council at the Public Library. All organizations in the city dealing with any phase of a recreational program are invited to see these films, which cover a variety of activities, such as sports and athletics, outdoor activities and water safety, community centre and cultural works, and constructive films for children.

The use and value of the films are afterwards discussed and a report sent to the Department. Recommendations are made for the purchase of films by the Department to be made available to individual organizations on a loan basis.

At the next preview, which will be held on Thursday, the following films will be shown: "Out of the Chinese Paint Brush," "Patterns of American Rural Art," "Leather Work," "Invitation to the Dance," "Percussion Group" and "Decorative Metal Work."

Obituary

MISS AGNES WEDDELL

The funeral service for the late Miss Agnes Weddell, whose death occurred on Thursday, will be held on Monday at 2:00 p.m. at the family residence, 383 Park St. Rev. M. G. Aiken of St. Andrew's United Church will be in charge and burial will take place in Little Lake Cemetery.

Flood Situation Some Better

WINNIPEG, May 8 (CP).—Excluding British Columbia, the flood situation in western Canada appeared on the mend today. Manitoba, most seriously affected during the last two weeks, believed they had seen the last in a dangerous series of crises.

In Saskatchewan, however, while flooded areas were drying out, the 17th fatality attributable to floods was reported Friday night. Nine-year-old Dennis Dell drowned when he attempted to swim his horse across the swollen Red Deer River in the Porcupine Plain district.

Swept from his saddle by rushing waters, he was carried away before help could reach him.

In British Columbia, although full impact of floods had not yet been felt, fears were expressed concerning the still-rising Fraser River. Spring rains and late thaws were sending mountain streams tumbling down into the Fraser.

However, while the Cariboo and Okanagan districts had seen floods on a minor scale, the remainder of inland British Columbia still was free from major catastrophes. But residents were afraid that should the Fraser swell much more, farm lands along its fertile valley route would be inundated.

Switch Murder Hunt To Toronto

TORONTO, May 8 (CP).—The hunt for two men sought in the knife-slaying Wednesday of Frank DeLuca, Timmins gambler and highgrader, moved to Toronto Friday night.

Provincial Constable Jack Fulton of Timmins brought a knife found near DeLuca's body, some bloodstained clothing and other articles here for analysis by provincial pathologists.

Two Toronto detectives were assigned to the case.

Sources close to the investigation indicated police were working on the theory DeLuca might have been slain by highgraders rather than by gamblers as originally believed. A quantity of gold-bearing ore was found hidden in his Timmins home.

Police said they believed DeLuca's connections with the underworld extended from the gold-mining east to Welland and west to Detroit.

$500 Writing Award

TORONTO, May 8 (CP).—A $500 award to a Canadian writer will be presented by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire for a Canadian book published in 1947, it was announced today. This year's award winner has not yet been named. This is the second year such an award has been made to the author of a book of fiction, poetry, creative non-fiction and academic non-fiction.

Columnist Raps Adjudicator View

TORONTO, May 8 (CP).—A Toronto columnist took issue today with the Dominion Drama Festival adjudicator's views on cutting the classics.

Specifically, Roly Young came to the defence of Les Compagnons of Montreal, whose presentation of Jean Anouilh's "Antigone" was a close contender for top honors in the festival which ended in Ottawa last Saturday.

In awarding the Bessborough Trophy to the London Little Theatre's performance of "Saint Joan," adjudicator Robert Speaight remarked on the high calibre of Les Compagnons, but sharply criticized the cuts they made in the play which he termed classic of the modern French theatre.

Mr. Speaight, a noted British actor and critic, said he had no patience with those who tampered with masterpieces and deplored "imbecile censorship."

Critic Young commented that the Montreal group apparently had been disqualified for presenting an edited version of their play.

"This strikes me as a most peculiar attitude," said Mr. Young. "It seems to me that a church-sponsored group is certainly justified in adapting its script to the taste of its sponsor and its audience."

May Not Enter Contest

TIMMINS, May 8 (CP).—Possibility that the Liberals may not contest the South Cochrane constituency in the forthcoming provincial election was seen today, following an organizational meeting of the Timmins Liberal Association Friday night. Progressive Conservatives, meeting at Iroquois Falls this afternoon will select a candidate to oppose W. J. Grummett, CCF House Leader in the last Legislature, who is expected to be re-nominated at a convention here today.

11,569 Ontario Homes Built Since January

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP).—A total of 11,569 new dwellings have been completed in Canada during the first quarter of this year, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

During the same period, construction was started on 6,678 new homes and the number under construction was reduced from 42,215 Jan. 1 to 37,329 at the end of March.

Comparable data for last year is available only for centres with a population of 5,000 or more which account for about 80 per cent of the total completions in the first quarter. For these areas, completions in the first three months of this year are 42 per cent higher than in the corresponding period last year.

Ontario led in the number of new homes completed with 4,098, followed by Quebec with 2,887, British Columbia 2,180, Alberta 855, Manitoba 655, Saskatchewan 389, Nova Scotia 359, New Brunswick 209, and Prince Edward Island 36.

Units under construction at the end of March in Ontario totalled 15,042, Quebec 8,346, British Columbia 6,628, Nova Scotia 2,024, Alberta 1,855, Manitoba 1,785, Saskatchewan 1,145, New Brunswick 531, and Prince Edward Island 173.

Small Hotel Fire

PITTSBURGH, May 8 (AP).—A fire atop the 25-storey Pittsburgh Hotel Friday night was brought under control after causing slight damage. None of the nearly 500 guests in the hotel were ordered from their rooms. Smoke, however, filtered through corridors on top floors and also in elevator shafts.

Lions Donate $1,000 To Rink Project

LAKEFIELD, May 8 — (ENS) — Lions Club members wound up their hockey year with a dinner for the players of their juvenile hockey squad Thursday night.

Yellow jackets and crests were presented to each player by Lion Manager Harry Stabler, and President Eric Anderson.

Another highlight of the evening was the club's voting of $1,000 to the new arena fund as a starter in the Lions' share towards the project.

Lion Bob Sutton boosted District Deputy Governor Doug Weaver and the booster prize was won by Dean Wasson. Bill O'Brien was a guest of the evening along with members of the hockey club.

Lion Bill Morrison explained that the management of the new arena was to be by a board of governors for five years. They would have the authority to let out the handling of the rink each season. He also said the board of governors would set aside a fund of $1,000 a year from revenue, towards the upkeep of the structure.

Lion Doug Weaver announced that Harry Sherin had very generously donated 50 young cockerels to him for the club which he will raise and provide as the centre of attraction at the annual convention chicken fry in June.

Lions headquarters asked the club for a four dollar levy which will be used at the Timmins convention in June for the taking of moving pictures of the entire proceedings as a record. This will be available to all clubs. The levy was passed.

Signs Repainted
Repainted Lions signs will be put up this week at either end of the village and a vote of thanks was moved to Jack Twist for his excellent work on these. All members of the club were asked to turn out next Thursday night to help paint the rip-rap and spray weed killer along the water front.

Lion Doug Weaver offered to donate flowers if the club would prepare a bed along the top of the rip-rap above the village name at the bridge entrance.

The members of the juvenile team presented with jackets included: Dean and Don Wasson, Percy and Ross Calberry, Greig and Herb Knox, Tom Birch, Bob Hens, Doug Hunter, Royden Hockaday, Lawrence Montgomery, Joe Sabatino, Don Montgomery, Arden Dracup, Aubrey Morrison.

Hundreds of Library Books Untouched

Survey Shows Unpopularity Of Many Authors

A survey of books borrowed from the Public Library shows that certain authors and some sections of the library are definitely unpopular with most readers. Mark Twain, Joseph Conrad, Marcel Proust, Thomas Mann and Lin Yutang are world famous writers, but few people in Peterborough ever request their books. Humor, poetry and classical translations are sections that are very rarely looked at, according to W. L. Graff, the chief librarian.

Sociology and economics, two subjects which affect everyone today, are little read. Few people have borrowed "Middlemarch" by Lynd, one of the best studies of present day society, but books on pseudo-psychology are requested every day.

Women prefer to read the many books on etiquette to such important books as "Woman as a Force in History" by Mary R. Beard or "Modern Woman—the Lost Sex" of Ferdinand Lundberg and Marynia Farnham.

Most people seem to think that many of the standard biographies and histories are not worth reading because the covers are well worn and the books are obviously not new. An occasional student is about the only reader of such fascinating books as Clarendon's "History of the Great Rebellion" and Macaulay's "History of England". Even such famous modern biographies as "Eminent Victorians" of Lytton Strachey and "Trollope" by Michael Sadleir are rarely borrowed from the library.

Mr. Graff says that American history and Canadiana are little read other than by students, although the library possesses many outstanding books in this field, such as "The Journals" of Francis Parkman and "Roughing It In the Bush" by Susanna Moodie.

Few Read Letters

In spite of the fact that it is often possible to get an excellent picture and understanding of people from their letters, few ask for books of collected letters. Nobody has borrowed the "Letters" of Katherine Mansfield, one of the most influential of 20th century women novelists, or the "Selected Letters" of William Allen White, one of the most remarkable of modern American journalists.

Essays are extremely unpopular with borrowers. De Quincey, Lamb and Hazlitt are hardly ever requested and only the occasional reader picks up a book of modern essays such as Virginia Woolf's "Common Reader."

There are certain writers that borrowers prefer to read about rather than read. Oscar Wilde and Robert Louis Stevenson are two outstanding examples.

Anthologies and collections of short stories are disliked as many people feel that they must read through them systematically. Collections of short stories by one author, such as Somerset Maugham or H. G. Wells, are not so unpopular.

Too many people, according to Mr. Graff, think that the section of books on folk-lore and legends is for children only and do not realize how interesting these subjects are.

Dickens and Thackeray are read by many people, but some famous Victorian novels such as "Last Days of Pompeii" of Bulwer Lytton and "Erewhon" of Samuel Butler are almost forgotten today.

Many people are hesitant in asking for the library's section of books on sex. It includes specialized works such as Havelock Ellis' "Psychology of Sex" and others, such as "The Mastery of Sex" by Leslie Weatherhead or "Marriage" by Groves, which are written for the general reader. There are also books for expectant mothers, books for parents to read to children and books specially written for younger children and adolescents.

Finally, there is a little used section of books on reading itself, which Mr. Graff recommends to all readers. "Reading I've Liked" by Clifton Fadiman, "Enjoyment of Literature" of John Cowper Powys, "How to Read a Book" by Mortimer Adler are excellent guides to anyone seeking broader fields in reading.

Victory In Europe

Three years ago today we celebrated "VE Day". On the eighth of May, 1945, the major task for which 1,086,771 Canadian men and women put on uniform, was accomplished. The nation's effort had been very great, in industry, on the farm, in finance, in the fighting services—far exceeding that in the Great War. Of the male population between the ages of 18 and 45, 40.6 per cent. served in the armed forces; between 1914 and 1918 the total of men under arms was only slightly more than half of the total in the last war. Casualties, however, were lower: 2,300 in the Navy, 74,374 in the Army, 18,463 in the Air Force; a total of 95,137 of whom 41,992 were killed. The fatal casualties in the Great War were 60,661. The cost of victory was nevertheless grievous in blood, in torn flesh, in seared nerves, in labour and production at home; in sorrow and pain of loss.

On VE Day, 1945, there was the blending of joy and sadness which is the essence of great drama. There was also forewarning of travail to come. As the Prime Minister, then attending the great San Francisco Conference, said in his message to the Canadian people: "The hard struggle for peace must go on long after the guns cease firing. Until we win that struggle we cannot say we have won the war". At San Francisco three years ago U.N. was charted in hope. Today the charter is a piece of paper and the Organization is falling desperately into fragments. The Examiner headed its VE Day editorial with a two thousand year old quotation from Polybius' Histories which will bear repetition: "It is no doubt a good thing to conquer on the field of battle, but it needs greater wisdom and greater skill to make use of victory". Today we have in mind this sage admonition, as well as grateful, proud recollection of our victorious fighting forces of whom we say with Lord Howard of Effingham: "God send me to see such a company together again when need is."

What Hope For Canadian Unity?

Alexander Morris, member for South Lanark, said in the Confederation debates in February, 1865: "Sir, I am satisfied one of the great advantages of this union will be found in this, that we will be raised above our sectionalism, and come to feel and act as the citizens of a great country". Today, eighty years after Confederation, have we raised ourselves above sectionalism, has the federation become a nation?

Internationally, it would seem that we have. We are a "Middle Power" with an important voice in international affairs. It must be remembered, however, that this eminence has been reached chiefly as a result of our participation in two major wars, when the Federal Government had emergency powers and extreme "provincial rights" were subjugated to the national interest. At the end of the wars the harmony and concerted action were dissolved. The attempts to find permanent political and economic bases for concord through the Rowell-Sirois Commission (1937-40) and the conferences on Dominion-Provincial relations in 1941 and 1945-46 failed. Proud provincialism (especially in Ontario and Quebec) was too strong. It is unjust to put the blame for the latest impasse entirely on the politicians and Premiers Drew and Duplessis. The need for a basic reform of our constitutional system (not necessarily for basic amendments to the B.N.A. Act of 1867, but for a re-interpretation of that Act) is not sufficiently realized by the citizens even now. The need does exist; Canada cannot afford to face the post-war world with the defects which brought the constitutional paralysis of the depressing '30s, nor can Canada properly fulfil its international role without adequate authority being given the Federal Government to enter into international agreements dealing with food, labour, trade and social welfare.

What hope is there that provincial truly national interests? First, it is obvious that Premiers Drew and Duplessis will not be in office forever. Secondly, the barriers between French-speaking and English-speaking Canadians, and between West and East are slowly disappearing because of increasing commerce in the arts, sciences and professions and through greater mutual contact in business, travel, and education. Our people are experiencing Canada in all its parts.

Soldiers returning from the wars to British Columbia were affectionately greeted by a sign beyond the Great Divide: "Relax, Boys; You Are Now In Good Old B.C.". This pleased the native sons, but could not pervert their pride as Canadians and their belief that the whole of Canada was their native land, not one section of it.

At the end of the valuable historical summary The Canadian Army 1939-45, published this week, Colonel C. P. Stacey, the Army's official historian, makes this comment on our national problem of sectionalism:

It is the present writer's opinion that decided progress was made and that during the war mutual respect and liking between English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians in the service grew in a marked degree. And he is quite certain that to many Canadians, returning from service abroad, who had grown accustomed to thinking of themselves as Canadians, and not as citizens of Nova Scotia or British Columbia, of Toronto or Montreal or Winnipeg, the rediscovery of the abiding localism of Canadian life came as a shock, and not a pleasant one.

Localism has suffered some permanent weakening as the result of the experiences of Canadian men and women during the years between 1939 and 1945 and the "abiding localism" is waning because of the exigencies of modern circumstance and the impact of a younger generation with broad vision and experience.

Death Of A Great Singer

It is with keen regret that we record the death of Cuthbert Kelly, the organizer and leader of that remarkable group called the English Singers, who were heard in Canada many times before the late war. He was seventy-one years old.

The heading which we have given to this brief appreciation may puzzle some of our readers. Was Kelly great? If so, why was his name not known to more people, and why was he never heard at the Metropolitan, or on a radio hour devoted to the interests of soap? Yes, Kelly was great, because he understood a special type of great music as very few men have done, and because he performed it with an understanding artistry which lingers in the mind when showier singing has been forgotten. The gramophone records made by the English Singers are now collector's pieces, and will long be preserved as models for groups aspiring to the highest achievements in part-singing.

Kelly was a pupil of the great Dr. Edmund Fellowes, whose work as an editor of Tudor and Jacobean music brought so many treasures to life which had long been hidden. Kelly formed the English Singers in 1920, and worked with them for some time before giving public performances. When he did so, his group of six brought a quality to the musical world which had been lacking for two centuries; part-singing of such perfection and delicacy by a small group had been unknown, and the beauty of the compositions of the great madrigal school—Gibbons, Morley, Weelkes, Byrd, Dowland and the rest—had not been suspected. New life was found in what musical scholars had thought to be dry bones. Kelly also performed the works of modern composers such as Vaughan Williams, Percy Grainger and Peter Warlock.

A scholar, a musician and a wit, Kelly was greatly loved by a large acquaintance on both sides of the Atlantic. And those who did not know him personally, but who felt the quality of his personality from the concert platform will recall him with affection.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The worst thing about the cold war is the number of cool millions it takes to wage it.

An animal trainer says that alligators are harmless so long as you keep their mouths shut. Shutting them from the outside, of course.

The headline over a news story about a Toronto drug firm which started from scratch 43 years ago was "700 Parlayed Into Millions". That is more lucrative and faster talking than we have ever been able to do to dice in 43 years.

Diary Of The Drama Festival

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: For the first picnic of the season this afternoon, and encountered some goats—three nannies and a kid. Pondered once again upon the curious nature of a goat's eye, with its unpleasant yellowy-gray ball slit crossways by the most uncanny pupil seen in the head of any animal under heaven. The eye of a lizard may be uglier, but it is not intelligent; the eye of a goat is deeply intelligent, and in what seems to be a particularly nasty way. The notion which pops up in the folklore of so many lands that the goat is on particularly good terms with the devil may be attributed to this evil eye, and to it alone. The rest of a goat is in no way remarkable; many animals resemble it closely, and there are animals which smell worse. But no animal has such an eye. It is the very carbuncle upon the door of Hell.

MONDAY: A correspondent writes: "You mentioned a baby carriage in a recent Diary. Are you married or are you living in sin?" That is no question, to address to a man who was raised a Calvinist, my friend. We are all, not excluding the reverend clergy, living in sin. Saw a silly movie tonight called "Captain Boycott" which purported to be about the struggle of Charles Cunningham Boycott with the Irish Nationalists in County Mayo. But the movie failed to tell us that Boycott was simply the agent of the Earl of Erne and had very little to say about rents; it did not tell us that Boycott's life was threatened and that attempts were made to starve him, or that his letters were taken out of the mail and destroyed. The English movie-makers are becoming almost as adept as the Hollywood magicians at distorting history, not for any artistic purpose, but merely to achieve a foolishness which is beyond the scope of Nature.

TUESDAY: Called on a man today who has an oil furnace. His house was filled with a disagreeable stench, and when I asked him about it he told me that the quality of fuel oil has declined so badly in the past two years that his furnace now has chronic halitosis, and when its lights up it puffs nastiness at him from every vent. Had to do some travelling by car at midday, and ate a hasty lunch by the roadside. As I flung away a banana skin I reflected that in another century the whole of Canada should be enriched by beautiful banana forests. I estimate that some 3,637 banana skins a day are flung out of car windows, and surely some of them will take root and grow? Mentioned this to my companion, who informed me that what I had been eating was not a real banana, but a species of plantain which passes itself off as a banana on this continent. Real bananas, I was told, are much smaller and sweeter. This shocked me, I must say, for I have been a devotee of the banana for many years, and to find that the fruit upon which I have lavished an adoration comparable to that of the priests of Priapus is nothing but a measly plantain is a staggering blow.

WEDNESDAY: Make my way to Ottawa, to be present at the Dominion Drama Festival, an event which combines the pleasures of the most catholic of the arts with the thrill of horse-racing. I do not know why devotees of the drama talk louder than other people, but the murmur of their conversation was clearly audible as I passed through Perth, and had become a roar by the time I reached the outskirts of Ottawa. Immediately began roaring myself, and did not stop for the remainder of the week. Was somewhat alarmed to find the matinee performances very ill-attended. And as always there were a great many people present who seemed unable to cope with the word "adjudicator"; some of them called him "the agitator"; others "the educator"; both these terms were applicable to Mr. Robert Speaight, of course, but it was as a judge that his services were retained. As soon as I heard him speak I recalled that the last time I had heard that voice was reciting Milton's "Blest pair of sirens", in a garden in North Wales on a June evening. He is, I suppose, one of the finest verse speakers in the world.

THURSDAY: Hung about the Parliament Buildings for some time, touching my forelock to the Great Men who may be seen scuttling through its halls at all hours, walking with the hasty caution of men who are afraid of slipping on the marble and bruising their fundaments. Was asked to take a dish of tea in the cafeteria, and after fighting through the Civil Servants who were crowded three deep around all the available food, I did so. There seems to be something about their country's affairs that makes these people uncommonly hungry. This evening saw the London Little Theatre play Shaw's "Saint Joan", and afterward joined heartily in the hurrahs, for it was a performance of very rare quality. It is a remarkable thing that Canada should be able to bring forth such a production as this, and a very sad thing that only a few thousand people should see it. Then to a party, and shrieked at the top of my voice for a couple of hours. One rarely sees Canadians excited, but in the weeping, praising, knitting, cursing and general dissemination of hysterics of a drama festival I think one sees them at their best.

FRIDAY: It is at this time in the week when speculation about the winner of the Festival becomes intense. Tonight a heavy contestant—"Les Compagnons" of Montreal—played a modern version of "Antigone". As at all the French plays this week I wallowed desperately, catching about one word in ten and trying to piece out the story from that. Many festival attendants throw in the sponge early in the play, and sit with their mouths open, staring glassily. A professor near me snored lightly, until at last he strangled on a bit of phlegm, and woke noisily; a lady near the stage appeared to be in a form of nightmare; other uneasy sleepers might be seen and heard all over the theatre. Greatly as I admire tragedy I am compelled, as a realist, to admit that there are times when its hold on an audience is less than complete. An ugly

SHOULD CAPITAL PUNISHMENT BE ABOLISHED?

Keeping A Cow In London

ENID Bagnold, the well known novelist who wrote "National Velvet", gave a talk in the BBC's Overseas Service recently telling how she keeps a cow in London. The city was full of stables in Miss Bagnold's childhood; and, earlier, in the eighteenth century, there surely must have been cows in London, but to scandal developed in the Chateau Laurier tonight when a group which had been rather roughly handled by the adjudicator were discovered melting a wax image of him over a slow flame, and muttering spells the while. I was asked to keep this incident from the press, and bribed the Canadian Press Men with a bag of cream puffs and some ginger ale.

SATURDAY: The last day of the Festival, and wild excitement everywhere. This evening, after the adjudicator had announced the usual awards, I was called to the stage to make the Marchbanks Special Awards. These were:

The Marchbanks Shield for the Best Cough in French or English to be heard during the Festival: In spite of strong competition from some sharp Western coughs, this went to a fruity old Eastern cough, like coal sliding down a chute, from the Eastern Ontario region.

The Marchbanks Trophy for the Most Successful Late Comer: Won by a lady from Quebec whose gown was caught in the doors just as they closed on Friday night, and who sat out the performance in her chemise, to the envy of the remainder of the spectators, who were overheated.

The Marchbanks Scold's Bristle for the Most Tactless Remark: Awarded to a lady from the West who approached the only Canadian playwright to have a play in the Festival immediately after its performance with the query: "Well, and when are you going to write a novel?"

keep a cow there in 1948 is decidedly unusual. Miss Bagnold keeps her cow in Kensington, part of south west London fringing Hyde Park. Her house was once the home of the first Mr. Tattersall, the famous dealer in horses and coaches. It is large and commodious and was once elegantly appointed, but when Miss Bagnold returned from the country to inspect it after the war, she found it very different, grimy and down-at-heel, with nettles in the once well-kept garden. Her husband happened to notice in the stables iron rings fixed ready for rope; this was a fine place for tethering a cow, to which they had become accustomed in the country, and so the decision was made.

"A little later," said Miss Bagnold, "the house received us with pleasure and a faint surprise; the motor horsebox drew up the stable door, the ramp was lowered, the little Jersey walked down and stood on the pavement, not moving, as she watched the unpacking of her trousseau, her daily life. Five flat milking pans lay on the pavement, the milking stool, the overalls, the strainer, skimmer, buckets, rake, broom, body-brush, spade and hay-fork—before the hay and straw could be carried out. The cow had come up from the country complete with sixteen trusses of hay packed around her, and four of straw, with her sacks of mangolds (pulled much too early from the ground), her chaff in sacks, her dried grass, and her little bottle of animal cod liver oil. When her bed was made she walked into the loose box and started at once on a meal."

"At a quarter to nine every morning," continued Miss Bagnold, "my daughter (or myself if she is a ray) goes out of the front door and in at the stable door, wearing gum boots, carrying the hooded milk pail, and a jug of steaming water. She then stacks the night's manure and presses it into a box ready to be taken away by the neighbouring gardeners, washes and brushes the cow, sets down her

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, there cometh one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name; and when he saw him, he fell at his feet, and sought him greatly, saying, My little daughter lieth at the point of death: I pray thee, come and lay thy hands on her, that she may be healed; and she shall live.

And Jesus went with him; and much people followed him, and thronged him. While he yet spake, there came from the ruler of the synagogue's house, certain which said, Thy daughter is dead: why troublest thou the Master any further? (Mark 5: 22-24, 35.)

And when Jesus came into the ruler's house, and saw the minstrels and the people making a noise, he said unto them, Give place; for the maid is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn.

But when the people were put forth, he went in, and took her by the hand, and the maid arose. And the fame hereof went abroad into all that land. (Matt. 9: 23-26.)

Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.

For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Rom. 8: 35, 37-39.)

food and milks her. Then her bed is made, her two buckets of water filled, and she is left, munching. She is fed and cleaned again at two o'clock, milked, fed and left for the night at six in the evening. The milk is strained and set in shallow pans and every four or five days I make the butter. We drink, cook with, and give away the skim. In the spring the cow goes back to the country, for in spring and summer she must have grazing there and the pleasure of the London season are not for her.

"Forty years ago there was a cow in Hyde Park, in the Green Park, in St. James' St. Memories place it her and there. The description is always the same. An old woman with a white cap and apron, a she behind her and a fine clean cow in front. People could stop any time they wished. How, I wonder, could that be? Could she be milked at any time? And little and often? A glass at a time? What a marvellously adaptable cow!"

"Forty years ago I think my cow might just have passed; but now she seems as excellent as keeping a crocodile. But if you come to think about it—it you have a cow—why not keep her with you? I and my cow are just one more of the shifts we are put to."

Novel Definition

"It was James Stephens who put the matter in a nutshell many years ago. 'A real novel is about the progress of some soul towards maturity, whereas most novels are about the progress of some male or female person towards matrimony.'—(Professor J. Isaacs speaking about "The Novel" in the BBC's Overseas Service series "Reading for Pleasure".)

Britannia's Rules

"I think England can claim the distinction of having provided the rest of the world with most of the basic rules for athletic competitions and when in 1913 the International Amateur Athletic Federation, that's the body which controls amateur athletics throughout the world, was founded, it was the British rules which were adopted."—(Harold Abrahams talking in the BBC's Far Eastern Service about "Athletics in England".)

There are many pursuits to pursue

80 Per Cent of Peterborough Electors Voted In Last Provincial Election

By ROBERT BUCHANAN

More than 30,000 residents of the city and county of Peterborough will be entitled to go to the polls on June 7 to choose by ballot one person to represent them in the legislature of the province.

Throughout Ontario, 2,500,000 men and women are legally entitled to cast their votes for members of the 90-seat Legislative Assembly. From the records of the past, it can be safely predicted that little more than half of those with that right will exercise this most vital instrument of a democracy. In the last general election in Ontario in 1945—public interest was aroused to a high pitch over the election issues. Charges and counter-charges flew in one of the "hottest" election campaigns in Ontario's history. Despite that, however, only six out of every 10 voters went to the polls to register their opinions on those issues.

Peterborough riding, which has 64 per cent of its voters in the city, 20 per cent in the villages, and about seven per cent in the townships, has a voting record which stands up well in comparison to the overall picture of polling throughout the province. In 1945, of a possible 30,123 votes, there were 24,337 cast—about 80 per cent, which is 20 per cent higher than Ontario's average in that election. And yet the provincial vote at that time was the highest in its history.

Those who may vote on June 7 are men and women over 21 years of age who are Canadian citizens living in Canada for at least a year before the election, and ordinarily living in the electoral district (riding) in which their votes are taken.

Those disqualified by law from voting are: judges, clerks of the peace, crown attorneys, magistrates, returning officers and their clerks (except in cases of tie votes in which the returning officer has a casting vote), prisoners in jails, mental patients, public charity wards. Also denied a vote are Indians living in Indian communities or reserves. A modification to this disqualification gives the right to Indians who served in either World Wars.

The official who directs the actual election in the riding is the Returning Officer, appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council. Under his supervision, the all-important Voters Lists for the election are compiled.

Enumerators for each urban polling subdivision of the riding are appointed by the returning officer. They prepare, by a house-to-house canvass, a complete list of the persons in the subdivisions qualified to vote in the election. (This canvass was completed in the 31 subdivisions of Peterborough City on Friday.)

The lists of the enumerators are posted conspicuously in the subdivisions and copies sent to the city clerk's office and to representatives of each candidate in the election. They are the basis for the applications heard by revising officers.

There is a two-way purpose in the sittings. Names which have been omitted by error can be entered and those which have been included in the lists may be removed if they are not qualified. The right to complain of the inclusion of any names on the list is that of any person listed there. His complaint, with reasons why the name or names should be removed, is heard under oath by the revising officer.

Persons whose names are objected to are notified that a complaint has been made and are given an opportunity to answer the complaint. The revision gives the opportunity to have removed names of those who have died or moved away or are legally disqualified.

Anyone whose name has been omitted from the original list, as prepared on the house-to-house canvass, can appear and make application to have it added. Revising officers have the right to ask for any information to substantiate the applications.

The lists, as finally revised by the revising officers, are sent to the returning officer, who has them printed. These printed Voters Lists are the official lists for the election. Copies are sent to candidates.

So, the Voters Lists are final, the proclamations posted, the "tumult and the shouting" from all candidates reaches fever pitch. Centre of all the commotion is an innocent item of office equipment which is the symbol of the democratic system—the ballot box.

And the man to use that box—the voter—arrives at the place designated for his vote to be taken. There, the deputy returning officer and his clerk have prepared the box, counted the ballot papers, checked the polling booth. All these details are strictly regulated by statute and heavy penalties are provided for deviation from the prescribed pattern. After the British pattern, every step connected with an election is carefully guarded. It is one institution which must be treated with respect and care by all governments of the day.

Nowhere is this care and attention to the insuring of an honest vote evident more than in the innocent slip of paper which elects the men entrusted with the administration of the country. Three closely printed pages of the Election Act specify the nature of that slip of paper—its weight, texture, secret watermark or thread, by whom it shall be made, to whom it shall be delivered at each stage of its progress, who is responsible at every stage, the manner in which the names shall be printed, the numbering.

Inside the polling place, the voter gives his name to the poll clerk who checks it with his copy of the voters' list and enters his name in the poll book. If all is in order, he is handed a ballot paper marked on the back with the DRO's initials. A counter foil or tab, perforated for later removal, is attached to the ballot and contains a number, which is noted beside the voter's name on the list.

With this, the voter enters a compartment ensuring complete privacy and marks his ballot.

The ballot must be marked with a cross with a black lead pencil within the white space containing the name of the candidate. The voter then folds the ballot paper so that the initials on the back and the number on the tab can be seen without opening the paper. Returning, he hands it to the DRO who—without opening it—examines both initials and number to see that it is the same ballot. He then, "in full view of all present," removes the counterfoil and tears it up. In this way, a careful check is made of all ballots and yet there is no chance of violating the secrecy of the voters' choice.

If the voter accidentally spoils his ballot, he may return it to the DRO and obtain another.

In the case of blind, illiterate or otherwise handicapped voters, the DRO may, on request, mark the ballot for them on their instructions. This must be done in view of the candidates or agents. Such a voter may also be accompanied by a friend who may enter the voting compartment with him and mark the ballot as asked. The friend must take an oath to keep the choice secret.

Tallying the score of each candidate is done immediately after the closing of the polls by the DRO. As during the polling, each candidate may have an agent present to ensure proper procedure. They have the right to examine each ballot paper.

Spoiled ballots are those improperly marked, those marked with more names than the number to be elected and any which indicate the names of the voters who marked the ballots.

The report of the count of each polling subdivision is made out and forwarded to the returning officer. Again, in the presence of the candidates, he counts the votes cast for each and declares the total votes cast for each candidate.

The right to demand a recount is that of any candidate or voter, who must swear an affidavit before the county judge within four days of the declared count, giving his reasons for asking for a recount.

Conduct of the returning officer, deputy returning officers and others engaged in the actual election management is governed carefully by statute. Heavy penalties are provided for misuse of the positions.

Fines of $10 to $400 are provided for "corrupt practices" of candidates or their agents. A candidate found guilty of such an offence as bribery may be disqualified from standing as candidate or voting for eight years.

Persons employed for gain by candidates are not entitled to vote at the election.

Open violation of some of the strictest sections of the Elections Act are common in Ontario today. For example, it is counted as a "corrupt practice" to make any bet on the outcome of elections. Probably the most studiously ignored section of the Act, and practised openly and generally is the one which forbids the act of any person to "provide or furnish transportation free of charge or at

I'M UNHAPPY. Why should my life be so ordained that I have to get cross-eyed looking at copy that portrays the world's troubles: Multiple births, divorce, tragedy, price controls, union demands, shortages, housing trouble, death in Palestine, discord in Germany, and the veto for Molotov. What do I care about such trivialities? I want to go fishing. I want to toss an impaled worm into a leisurely trout stream, to lean my back against a tree, to sit back and wait for something to happen. I want to listen to birds singing, to squirrels chattering. I want to squint my eyes across sun-dappled waters, waiting for an aristocrat of the finny tribe to rise and snatch that worm. Why should those factory workers work five days a week and get the 6th and 7th day off? I wonder if they appreciate it?

WE, SLAVES IN THE 4TH ESTATE, work six days a week, sometimes seven, and when Saturday afternoon comes, there are windows to wash, gardens to spade, cellars to clean, verandahs to paint. But what's the use of grumbling, newspapermen are rugged individualists. They wouldn't tolerate union dictatorship. No sir, no arrogant organizer could push reporters and editors around. We think for ourselves. (But don't think we aren't pushed.) Pardon me, our wives think for us, we must do menial tasks as well as get out a newspaper. But let's quit fussing, what made me so annoyed? Here's the low-down. All week I have been listening to trout fishermen tell me about their catches. I have stood still like a well-trained robot while they poured the tales of triumph into my unwilling ears. Then to top it off, I got a phone call at seven o'clock one evening. "Lawrence Heath and two other jokers caught 90 trout in Haliburton, it would make a swell picture." So I toss Greg Clark's story in the Montreal Standard aside and head for Donegal street.

WHAT DO I SEE? More trout than I thought existed any place. To make it worse, the three anglers apologize. They say: "We didn't intend to take so many Pete, but every time we baited a hook, we got a trout". Well, Utopia at last, who can blame them? If there are that many trout in the lake, maybe it's as well that they took so many. But here's the catch, they won't say where the lake is. All they will divulge is, that the lake is in Haliburton. Then when I put the picture in the paper, what happens? All along the main street I hear grumbles from anglers who haven't courage enough to call a game ward when they see a beer-laden poacher selling pickered, or who know where muskies are being speared, but who won't say a word. Aren't people funny? There is no shortage of trout, but muskies are disappearing faster than the whooping crane. Let's get this straight, gentlemen. It's OK for me to call a Provincial policeman and sit on the edge of a lake until two in the morning, trying to catch a poacher, but it's none of your business, how many muskies are speared. Somebody is all mixed up, and I don't think it's me.

LET'S GET BACK to that mess of trout. The three men fished in a Haliburton lake, probably one of those small ones hidden away in the Highlands. There are hundreds of such spots in North Hastings and Haliburton. The anglers used worms and small spinners, and the speckles were hitting like mad. The largest was 17 inches long, and about a dozen went 16 inches. The balance of the catch ranged down to 12 inches in length. It was bright and sunny last Sunday, but the lake was rough, and this was their best day. All told, they fished three days and arrived back in the city about 1.30 Tuesday morning. I suppose there are a million trout; fishermen on the continent who would give plenty for just one day on such a lake. The only one I ever fished where conditions were similar was Bitter Lake in Haliburton near Redstone Lodge. Others that might fit the category are Shanty and Spring lakes near Bancroft, Moccasin and Birch lakes at the head of the Madawaska river, and possibly Diamond lake near Wilberforce.

SIX AMERICANS from Gasport, New York, hit the Land o' Lakes last Saturday to open the speckled and lake trout season. They bunked in a cottage on Grindstone lake. The group included Lee Smith, William Smith, Wes Hudson, Peter Krause, Howard Goodnik and Leo Randolph. They had wonderful luck. Randolph topped the list with a 22 inch speckled trout that weighed 3 3/4 pounds, and all told they bagged 32 speckles. They also caught 30 lake trout, the largest six pounds. None of the lakers weighed less than three pounds. Using flyrods, the Americans found both species of trout took spinners and streamer flies very readily. One of the spots they fished was Mosquito lake, and just as a friendly hint, I believe there are six pound speckled trout in that body of water. A year ago last September I was there, and the speckled trout were moving on to the sandy bars to spawn. I counted 17 fish and not one was under 20 inches long.

THE ANGLER OF LIMITED FINANCES who can only dream of far-away fishing spots may not take too kindly to my references to such places this week, but unfortunately all the toponym catches were made some distance from the city. Fraser Bowen and Jim Blondin found a small lake and stream north of Apsley and caught seven speckles, all about 17 inches long. They are heading north again this week-end aiming at the Gooderham and Harcourt areas. No reports came in on Eel's creek which flows south from Eel's lake into Stony lake. This creek has some lovely browns and speckles in it. Frank Barker visited Lake Simcoe for the perch fishing and his party brought back 25 between 10 and 12 inches long. They used flies and worms, and the anglers were so numerous, one had to almost buy a vantage point. L. J. Hartman, Lansdowne street west, visited his old haunts near Denbigh this week, and the speckled trout he brought back would make one's eyes pop. Eight of these beauties were 18 inches long, and large in the body.

MUSKIES ARE UP in the fast water, having a good washing off after the spawning season, and one of these huskies estimated at 30 pounds was netted at the lower lock this week. The net operator who is taking out suckers with permission of the Dept. of Lands and Forests had to make extensive repairs to his net, and released the fish without harming it. At Lake Scugog where muskies were striped this spring, the following fish were potted. 72 maskinonge, 79 bass, 1,825 pounds of carp and 445 pounds of catfish. A percentage of the maskinonge are spawned and a percentage of the bass are used for hatchery purposes. All the carp were removed from the lake but the other fish were passed through the nets. All the fish listed above were netted in a one-week period by employees of the Dept. of Lands and Forests working on a fish management project at Lake Scugog.

DABS HERE AND THERE: Frog season is closed during June and July. It is illegal to use a light for frogging unless the person is a holder of a licence setting forth that a light may be used. Pickered season opens next Friday night at midnight. Limit is six per day. Minimum size is 13 inches. Pickered are up at Young's Point, Burleigh Falls, and at the lower lock in the thousands. It is not against the law to buy a luginous bait—but it is against the law to use one.

a diminished rate to a voter to or near or from or on the way to or from a polling place. Further provision is made forbidding the offering of "meal, drink, refreshment or provision at the expense of a candidate" at an open election meeting. A penalty of $200 is provided for anyone who, in any manner, uses or threatens the use of force, violence or restraint on a voter to influence his choice or have him refrain from voting.

Books of Three Peterborough Writers In List of 100 Best Canadian Books

By T. J. ALLEN

Three Peterborough writers are included in a recently compiled list of "100 best books" written by Canadians resident in Canada. Two are nineteenth century, one is contemporary. They are the poetess Isabella Valancy Crawford, the best known Canadian woman versifier; Mrs. Susanna Moodie, whose "Roughing It In The Bush" tells the story of pioneer days in this district, and Robertson Davies, author of "The Diary of Samuel Marchbanks", whose Saturday column appears in several southern Ontario newspapers, including The Examiner.

These writers are better known and their books more worthy of note than many of the authors and books mentioned in the list. Lists of "best" books are notoriously poor guides to good literature, but other countries have their lists of "100 best books", and there seems to be a demand for a Canadian catalogue, so here it is. Some honest critics may think, judging from the list that fifty "best" books is all that Canada can aspire to, even if Ralph Connor's "Glenarry School Days" and Sir Gilbert Parker's "Scots of the Mighty" were included. It is interesting to note that Sir Andrew Macphail's "The Master's Wife" has been selected and not his history of the 1914-18 medical services, and that Hugh MacLennan's "Barometer Rising" has been given precedence over his "Two Solitudes".

The list was compiled and issued by a committee of eight judges, representing five cultural societies. A list of Canadian books of special merit written in French is also to be compiled by a similar committee.

The books were selected for the information of people in other countries interested in Canadian literature, at the request of the Arts and Letters Section of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

The selection committee: Philip Child, novelist and professor of English at Trinity College, University of Toronto; F. C. Jennings, chief librarian, Ottawa Public Library; E. K. Brown, critic and professor of English at the University of Chicago; W. A. Deacon, literary editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail; Watson Kirkconnell, president-elect of Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S.; Lorne Pierce, editor, The Ryerson Press, Toronto; B. K. Sandwell, editor, Saturday Night, Toronto; W. Stewart Wallace, librarian, University of Toronto.

From 400 titles nominated by the judges for consideration, the following 100 were selected as "of special merit":

Sunrise for Peter, Will R. Bird; The Strait of Anian, Earle Birney; Brown Waters, W. H. Blake; North Atlantic Triangle, John Baret Brebner; A Dryn in Nanaimo, Audrey Alexandra Brown; James Wilson; Morrice, Donald W. Buchanan; The Search for the West, Lawrence J. Burpee; Now

That April's Here, Morley Callaghan; Poetical Works of Wilfrid Campbell; Bliss Carman, James Cappon; Bliss Carman's Poems; Klee Wyck, Emily Carr; Jean Racine, A. F. B. Clark; Christianity and Classical Culture, Charles Norris Cochrane; Postscript to Adventure: The Autobiography of Ralph Connor, Ralph Connor; Father on the Farm, Kenneth C. Cragg; Collected Poems of Isabella Valancy Crawford; Dominion of the North, Donald Grant Creighton; The Diary of Samuel Marchbanks, Robertson Davies; The Government of Canada, Robert MacGregor Dawson; Whiteoaks Chronicles (including Young Renny, Jalna, Whiteoaks, Finch's Fortune, The Master of Jalna, Whiteoak Harvest), Mazo de la Roche; The Law Marches West, Sir Cecil E. Denny; Complete Poems, William H. Drummond; Grand River, Mabel Dunham; The Art of the Novel, Pelham Edgar; A Study of Goethe, Barker Fairley; Poems, Robert Finch; Feature Symmetry, a study of William Blake, Northrop Frye; Arctic Trader, Philip H. Gossett; Napoleon Tremblay, Angus Graham; Earth and High Heaven, Gwethalyn Graham; Pilgrims of the Wild, Grey Owl; Fruits of the Earth, Over Prairie Trails, A Search for America, Frederick Philip Grove; Brave Harvest, the Life Story of E. Cora Hind, Kenneth M. Haig; Sam Slick, Thomas Chandler Haliburton (edited by Ray Palmer Baker); All the Trumpets Sounded, W. G. Hardy; Saul, Charles Heavyside; The Drama of the Forests, Arthur Heming; Father Lacombe, Katherine Hughes; Winter Studies and Summer Rambles in Canada, Anna Brownell Jameson; Wanderings of an Artist among the Indians of North America, Paul Kane; Lord Elgin, W. P. M. Kennedy; The Golden Dog, William Kirby; Bride of Quietness, Alexander Knox; Selected Poems of Archibald Lampman; Lake Huron, Fred Landon; Leacock Roundabout, Sunshine Sketches of a Little Town, Stephen Leacock; From Colony to Nation, A. R. M. Lower; Out of the Wilderness, Wilson MacDonell; Collected Poems, Tom MacInnes; The Honourable Company, Douglas MacKay; Barometer Rising, Hugh MacLennan; Tales of the Sea, Archibald MacMechan; Lord Strathcona, John MacNaughton; The Master's Wife, Sir Andrew Macphail; In Pastures Green, Peter McArthur; The Champlain Road, Franklin Davey McDowell; The Unguarded Frontier, Edgar McInnis; Who Has Seen the Wind, W. O. Mitchell; Roughing it in the Bush, Susanna Moodie; Gauntlet to Overlord, Ross Munro; Lord Durham, Chester W. New; Mine Inheritance, Frederick Niven; Pindar, Gilbert Norwood; The Master Word, Sir William Osler; A Book of Canadian Stories, Desmond Pacey; When Valmond Came to Pontiac, Sir Gilbert Parker; The Complete Poems of Marjorie Pickthall; Collected Poems, E. J. Pratt; Voyages of Peter Esprit Radisson; His Majesty's Vagabond, H. R. Wallace; Wisdom of the Wilderness; Selected Poems of Sir Charles G. D. CANADA'S FINEST IN SKATING PAIRS — Wally Diestelmeyer of Kitchener, and Suzanne Morrow of Toronto, are happily looking over their trophies which they have captured within the last year. After representing Canada at the winter Olympics and placing third in the pair skating, Suzanne and Wally returned to Canada to gain first place in the Canadian skating trials, held this year at Calgary, Alta. Many have since been thrilled by the beauty of motion exhibited by this pair of blade artists.

Remember When ...

By The Canadian Press
Andy Blair, second oldest player with the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team in point of service, was sold to Chicago Black Hawks for a reported price of $7,500, 12 years ago today after playing with the Leafs since the 1928-29 season. He was a sensation in his first season but the forward pass rule cut down his scoring.

Canadiens Going To Toughen Up During Summer

MONTREAL, May 8.—(CP).—Maurice (Rocket) Richard and his teammates are more determined than ever that the colors of the Flying Frenchmen will fly atop of the National Hockey League flag pole next season.

The Rocket is currently "training" for the next campaign by playing 18 holes of golf a day.

Kenny (the Galloping Gael) Reardon has left for Labrador, you way of tuning up for next season. The barging, bumping Reardon has left for Labrador, where he will do construction work to "harden up."

Jacques Lacombe and Tod Campeau, two native sons of St. Jerome, have both started work in earnest. Lacombe is working a soft-drink concession with his brother and spends his days lifting cases of soft drinks off a truck. Campeau, whose trick shoulder will soon go under a surgeon's knife plans to play his way into top condition on the nine-hole St. Jerome golf course.

Others Less Arduous

Glen Harmon's summer schedule isn't arduous. Glen will make a trip to California with his wife to attend a fall session of a hat show. Mrs. Harmon, who runs her own hat shop here, reports that Glen is an "expert" on ladies' chapeaux.

Elmer Lach, along with Buddy O'Connor, Johnny McHaffie, Pete Morin and Jimmy Haggerty, spends most of his days cracking par over the rolling fairways of the Grovehill Golf and Country Club.

Emile (Butch) Bouchard will spend the summer buzzing with his bee farm while Bill Durnan and possibly Kenny Mosdell intend limbering up on a softball diamond.

Little Normie Dussault has come to terms with the Sherbrooke entry — in the Provincial Baseball League and will comb centre field this summer.

ROW, ROW, ROW YOUR BOAT ... Heavyweight champion Joe Louis finds that rowing is as good a way as any to get back into fighting shape for his title defence against Jersey Joe Walcott. But he doesn't intend to make it all work and no play. He brought a fishing pole along to take time out for a go at the finnies in Bear Lake, Michigan. Walcott, who came within an eyelash of belting out the champ at their last encounter, will have his second shot at the crown in New York's Yankee Stadium next month.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

While the softball served up by the new Civic League is not the classiest to be seen in Greater Peterborough — by several blocks — it is interesting, and provides a lot of fun and exercise for a flock of fellows. Firemen, cops, bus drivers, bankers, service station chaps, telephone tollers, grocers, cafe men, clerks and mailmen, have quite a time twice a week on two diamonds. Some of the early scores were as one-sided as a Soviet news story but there was quite a bit of good ball shown, too. One runner on first did the gentlemanly thing when he reached out and caught a wide throw to first and gave the ball to the first-sacker. It's the little things in life that count.

* * * * *

Quinte columnist, speaking of the COBL meeting, said: "Eddie Murphy was here from Peterborough with Vern Dawson and a strong representation behind him; with Ollie Olsen, manager of the Kingston Locos, and a Limestone City bodyguard. Incidentally, we hear that Nels Magaffin, president of the Ponies, is strongly in favor of the loop and has done much for the Locos. And now, while the shades of Al Heckman, the Indian, Duke Dainty, Jack Oulette, Peony Mills and other former COBL luminaries look on from the sidelines, senior baseball will once again take its rightful place in the Eastern Ontario neck of the woods, the district of forgotten baseball men."

* * * * *

Better Brand Of Ball

"With its revival, fandom of the area will once more see the better brand of baseball and, with lights available in the majority of the parks, we cannot see why the newly-formed league will not be a success. The installation of lights here last year gave baseball a boost such as it has not experienced in years. The league has a strong, capable executive. Men like Murphy, Harris, Dawson and Thomas know a lot of the baseball answers and form part of a governing body that should lead the loop to a successful inaugural season."

* * * * *

There's a possibility that Frank Whitehouse might try out his left arm in workouts with the Petes this season. The veteran southpaw still loves the game in which he starred for years as an amateur and later professional in the States. Brushing 40 now, the big fellow is still younger than Toronto's Luke Hamlin — and didn't such veteran moundsmen as Jack Billingsley and Scotty Maudsley make a fair show in an intermediate comeback here last summer? If he got in good diamond shape, Frank might at least prove a fine relief flinger again, going four or five innings. And if that porridge flipper retains any of its old mound magic, the Petes' pitching staff would be greatly bolstered. It's just a thought.

* * * * *

While on the subject, Whitehouse and Chuck Bradley were two of the outstanding lefthand twirlers developed in Peterborough. Chuck early went to Detroit where he did okay in semi-pro ball before hanging them up. We've always been shy on star southpaws in this city — just as soon as a good one comes up from the minors he moves out. By the way, there are some promising nitches coming along now in the City League and you'll hear more of them (and other players, also) in the near future. The game is back on a firm footing here this season with a senior COBL club, an intermediate Lakeshore League entry, two junior Lakeshore Loop squads, and probably 16 minors in pee-wee, bantam, midget and juvenile. Good stuff.

* * * * *

Stew Loyst tells us that the Junior Chamber of Commerce is putting up a big trophy for annual competition in the bantam section of the City Baseball League. Winning team gets the trophy for a year, with a plate put on it annually, and smaller cups to the individual players. Plus a banquet at season's end by the Jay-Cees. They want to encourage teamwork among the minors, and it is a nice gesture. The trophy is quite apart from the one put up each year by this paper in memory of Fred Craig for the most valuable player in the City League. The Jay-Cees plan a big day, including softball, etc., in Morrow Park on May 24.

Tucked Him To Sleep

Frank Dohane, the big fast-stepping boxer who now makes Peterborough his home, is a step nearer an Olympic boxing berth after his win in Toronto on Friday eve. He whaled the daylight of Stan Guignard of Callander for a technical kayo in the second when the referee wisely stopped it before Stan was hurt. He had been down twice in the first round for nine-counts and was taking a pounding when the bout was halted midway through the second heat. Dohane is not a fancy boxer — he is fast and packs a terrific punch. And he doesn't waste time throwing it. Likes to get it over with quickly. So, he will go into the Olympic trials, finals in Montreal the last week in May.

HITHER AND YAWN: We had the wrong info on the lacrosse — it's next week-end, not this, they're to go to Quebec for two exhibitions. An exhibition soccer match at 2.30 this aft in King Edvard. Marion Timm was the high average winner in the YMCA ladies' bowling league for the third straight year. Big city and district track and field meet will be at Morrow Park on May 15: we have entry forms. No one has yet claimed that Canadian overseas athletic medal we have. City Baseball League executive has a windup meeting on May 19 at seven p.m. in the "Y". East City bantams, under Coaches Currie and Wyatt, drill at two this aft in the Oval. Men's softball circuit opens next Tuesday in the Bowl. Girls' loop will try out four ump's the first couple of weeks. Should the girl softballers be charged $300 for playing in an open park — just passing the hat? Industrial softball entries close at a meeting Monday night at eight in the YMCA. COBL schedule is to be drawn up this week-end. That washes out the week.

Locke Decides To Show Pros He's Still Boss

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., May 8 (AP).—Bobby Locke, greatest—if not the only—golfer ever to come out of South Africa, is hitting each shot even a little crisper than usual in the Goodall round robin tournament presently in progress here.

Bobby is sore because he has been banned from playing in the Professional Golfers' Association championship this summer in St. Louis. He has become fast friends with most of the top American players, but he feels he has been given a fast shuffle by George Schneider, PGA tournament chairman.

He didn't hesitate to express his feelings after he had shot his second straight 69 in yesterday's second round of the Goodall event. This gave him a "plus" score of 23, only one behind the leader, Herman Barron of White Plains, N.Y.

The Goodall, one must explain, is played on a match-play basis. In each of five rounds, each contestant plays hole-by-hole against the three other super-stars in his foursome. It sounds difficult, but somehow, it comes out. But to get back to Locke:

"Schneider has barred me from the PGA championship," he said, "because he says I have been over here so long I no longer am a visitor. The fact remains that I am here on a visitor's visa, which I can get extended."

"I'm tired of this hanky-panky. I couldn't play in the PGA now if they invited me, because I've booked exhibitions during that time. But, in my opinion, Schneider simply is not capable of conducting a business as big as the PGA."

B.A. TO CADDY — Barbara Ann Scott, 19-year-old figure-skating queen, will turn her talents to carrying golf clubs, at the personal request of Mrs. Harry S. Truman, wife of the U.S. president. H. H. Caldwell of Prescott, Ont., Barbara's financial adviser and close friend, disclosed Mrs. Truman telephoned long distance and asked for Barbara's services in a benefit match between the Hollywood stars—Bing Crosby and Bob Hope — in Washington, D.C., May 15. Mr. Caldwell was unable to say which of the two will get Barbara's services when the young beauty pays a quick two-day visit to the U.S. capital. When she returns to Ottawa Sunday evening, May 16, Mr. Caldwell says a professional career may be completely settled and waiting for her.

CAN HE LEE DO IT?—At long last Manager Jim Laidlaw of the Brock Arena has got his hand on a man whom he thinks can handle the Masked Marvel. Laidlaw yesterday signed Sky Hi Lee, the Ozark Giant, who is more than willing to tackle the Mask here. The enormous 300-pounder from Arkansas has been bowling over opponents all over North America. "I've seen this so-called Masked Marvel in action and I don't think he can stand up to me," said the Ozark Giant as he signed for next Wednesday's bout.

Gives Yardstick For Measuring Good Movies

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 8 (AP).—Want to know why you did not like that movie you saw last week? Here's a handy yardstick to show you the reasons.

It comes from genial Charles Brackett, who has formulated 10 rules for screen writers. Brackett doesn't wish to seem professorial, but he is in a good position to deal out advice, being the producer and co-writer of such successful films as "The Lost Weekend," "To Each His Own," and "The Empire Waltz."

As he delivered his 10 points, I realized they are good measurements for the average movie customer to know. So, for our better evaluation of films, here they are:

1—Have a plot you can tell in one line.
2—Have a story of headline quality.
3—Be sure your story has the emotional strength to stand the weight of 12 reels of celluloid.

4—If the story's events are unusual, set them against conventional backgrounds. Or vice-versa.
5—Have the fully developed scenes, not brief indications of scenes.

6—Get behind one central character and follow him or her through the story, watching him or her grow.

7—Be sure every scene has a beginning, middle and end, and a shift of mood.

8—Have your characters changed by events in the story.

9—Avoid scenes between characters with the same point of view, because they won't be scenes.

10—Don't take advice about your work from people like C. Brackett.

"And now I am off to the set," he concluded, "to see which of those rules I have broken today."

War Experience Aids Mangrum No Golf Game

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP).—One golfer who has no reason to complain about losing a few years from the tournament trail while he was in the war is Lloyd Mangrum, early pace setter in the Goodall round-robin tournament. During his three years in the United States army, Mangrum did a lot of playing on those tight British courses that put a premium on accuracy. As a result he learned to place his tee shots where the next strike could be played most effectively and this year that skill has paid off at the rate of $3.57 a stroke—or a total of $12,604.

Here and There In Sport

Calumet Farm's Coaltown and Citation are going to renew their racing duel in the Preakness after all. General Manager Ben Jones announced at Louisville, Ky., Friday that owner Warren Wright had decided to send the second half of the winning Kentucky Derby combination to Baltimore. Jones said Coaltown would be shipped next Monday or Tuesday to join Citation and keep intact Calumet's one-two punch for the second of the three-year-old classics a week from today.

Forty-two Ontario ladies lawn bowling teams will compete June 9 to Sept. 24 for honors in the Ontario Ladies' Lawn Bowling Association. It was announced at Toronto Friday. Most of the competing teams are in the Toronto district, but it is expected teams will enter from Agincourt, Oshawa, Richmond Hill and Niagara Falls.

Theodore Kartsen, operator of the Cafeteria Farm, Birmingham, Mich., was suspended Friday at Arcadia, Cal., for harness racing for one year. The ruling was made by stewards of the Western Harness Racing Association. Presiding Steward Milton Van Gieson said. Kartsen had wagered on another horse in the same race which his own, Swindle Sheet, won last Tuesday. The other horse ran fourth.

Ezzard Charles, Cincinnati, ranking challenger for the world's light heavyweight championship, Friday night knocked out Elmer (Violet) Ray in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round battle in Chicago. The bout was the first fight card in the Chicago Stadium since Sam Baroudi, light heavyweight, died after being knocked out by Charles last February. Charles pledged $5,000 of his purse to Baroudi's parents while the promoters chipped in with another $5,000.

Big Jack Kramer ran his string of victories over little Bobby Riggs to 60 at Quebec City Friday night, winning 9-7, 6-1 in a tennis exhibition match. Prior to the match, Kramer led Riggs 58-19 in their professional cross-country tour.

Trainer Joseph Brazzeau's $100,000 action against the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association in the alleged Ringer case of Willegivt running as Fifty-Seven, has been dismissed. Brazzeau, trainer last year for Norman Heise, was suspended June 24, 1947, when the I.C.R.A. discovered Willegivt was raced as Fifty-Seven, a member of the Heise Stables.

Laabs Has Eye On Homer Mark

By The Associated Press.

Chet Laabs, the hard-hitting outfielder of Buffalo Bisons is off to a good start in his bid to dethrone Baltimore's Howie Moss as the International League's home run king.

Laabs has belted six homers in his team's first 12 games, while Moss has hit four in 10 games for the Orioles.

The 34-year-old Laabs enjoyed his best day of the young season April 23 when he clouted three homers in a doubleheader against Jersey City.

Moss, who led the league in four-baggers in 1944-46-47, is behind his gait of last year when he slammed 53. Moss walloped eight homers in his first 10 games last year.

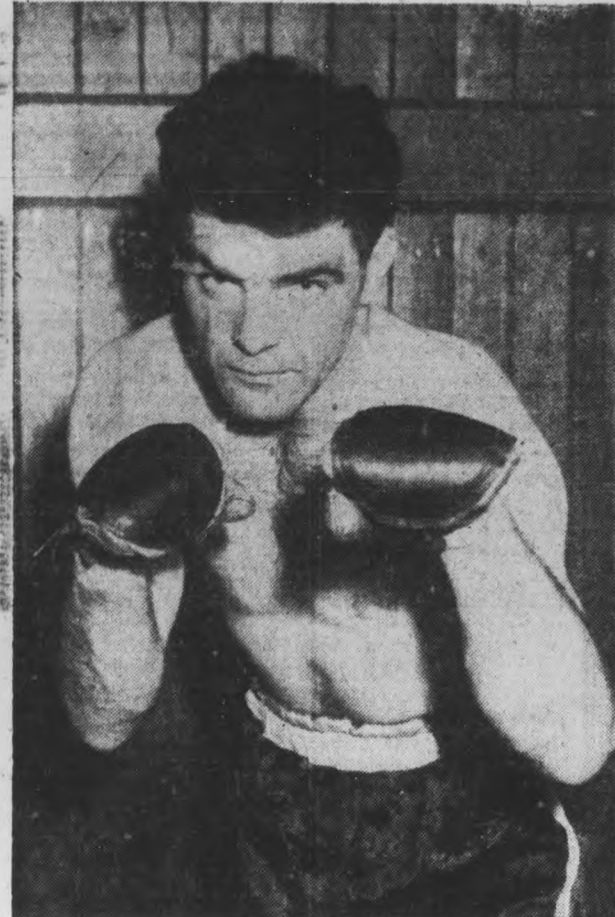

Rain postponed the four scheduled games yesterday.

Flyers Heavy Favorites

CALGARY, May 8. (CP).—History has a chance of repeating itself—in reverse—tonight when the heavily-favored Edmonton Flyers tangle with Ottawa's battling Senators in the fifth and possibly deciding game of the 1948 Allan Cup hockey playoffs.

Flyers, holding a 3-1 lead in games as a result of Wednesday's 5-3 victory in the fourth game of the best-of-seven series, are odds-on favorites to capture the coveted mug and the Canadian amateur hockey championship.

Ottawa's main hope of pulling off a victory tonight and prolonging the series appears to rest on the broad shoulders of two replacements—defenceman Ray Trainor and left winger Alec Smart. They flew here Friday to rejoin their team-mates. Pressure of business prevented Trainor and Smart from coming west with the club for the opening games of the series.

IN OLYMPIC FINALS—Frank Dohaney, Peterborough heavyweight boxer, won by a technical kayo in the second round of his fight against Stan Guignard of Callander in Toronto on Friday night, to qualify for the Olympic finals being held in Montreal toward the end of the month. He had his opponent down twice for nine-counts in the first round and was punishing him severely when it was halted in the second.

Dohaney Among 8 Champions As Boxing Tourney Hits Snag

TORONTO, May 8. (CP).—Out of the confusion that was the Central Ontario Olympic Boxing Trials in Massey Hall here last night, came eight temporary champions and a rhabarb which may be taken to the Ontario Athletic Commission for settlement.

Those named champions—with several dissents—were: Heavyweight, Frank Dohaney, Peterborough; light heavyweight, Bob Eggett, Toronto; middleweight, Alex Mason, Toronto; welterweight, Gus Rubicini, Toronto; lightweight, Remo Odorico, Toronto; featherweight, Ronnie Bass, Toronto; bantamweight, Max Males, Toronto; and flyweight, Joe Brunette, Sault Ste. Marie.

The Oshawa Amateur Boxing Club and Toronto's Diamond Boxing Club threatened midway through the bouts to withdraw their fights unless their respective demands were met.

Result was that Oshawa, with two entries, left the scene and the Toronto club, with 10 contestants, remained. Oshawa boys withdrawn were Fred Harding, bantam, and Billy Goulding, welter. They were favored to win their respective titles.

The argument stemmed from Goulding's drawing a bye into the welter final. The Bagnato brothers of the Diamond Club contended this was unfair to their boy Rubicini, who had fought twice previously and faced another match before going into the final.

Demands Bost
Goulding had drawn a semi-final match with a boxer rules unfit to continue in the tournament by physicians. Oshawa's president, Murray Swartz demanded the bouts be fought as scheduled.

In the middle was Bob Somers, secretary of Central Ontario A.A.U. He agreed that A.A.U. rules forbade a redraw. Faced with the Diamond Club's withdrawal, he threw the rule book out and ordered a new draw.

Swartz then pulled out Goulding and Harding and announced his intention of carrying the fight to the Ontario Athletic Commission. This rattled the saddened Somers, but he had made his choice. Swartz also stated he would seek A.A.U. sanction to take his two boys to the Montreal finals.

No Match
In the heavyweight final Stan Guignard, 189, Callander, was no match for Dohaney. Maritime Intercollegiate champion, now fighting out of Peterborough, Guignard stopped blows that would have felled an ox before the referee ended the bout in the second round.

Other final results were: Light Heavyweight—Bob Edgett, Toronto 173, defeated Harold Quinlan, Barrie, 172, by a technical knockout in the second round. Middleweight—Alex Mason, Toronto, 154, scored a decision over Walter Dwyer, Toronto, 157, three rounds.

Lightweights—Remo Odorico, Toronto, 135, won a decision from John Shields, Toronto, 132, in the third round.

Featherweight—Ronnie Bass, Toronto, 125, won a decision from Bruce Metcalfe, 125, Toronto, third round.

Bantamweight—Max Males, Toronto, 115, won when Harding withdrew.

Semi-finals
Flyweight—Ronnie Muir, Toronto, 104, outpointed Fred Bumbacco, Sault Ste. Marie, 112, three rounds.

Lemon Overshadows Feller Blanks Washington 8-0

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Lemon is forcing Bobby Feller to take a back seat in the Cleveland wigwag. The converted infielder-outfielder tops rapid Robert in victories in complete games and even in strikeouts.

It looked as though Lemon was to be just another relief man last year until July 31 when Manager Lou Boudreau, in a moment of desperation, gave him a starting chance. He responded with a homer, double and single in the last half of the season for a fine 11-5 record.

This season he has gone the route in four starts, winning three. Last night he shut out Washington with four hits, 8-0, to lift the Tribe into second place, a half game behind Philadelphia.

In addition to his pitching, Lemon is hitting .533 with eight hits in 15 at bats, including two home runs.

Joe Gordon banged a two-run homer, double and snipe in the Indians' attack on loser Mickey Vernon and two successors. Lemon collected three singles.

That was the only game in the American League yesterday. Rain washed out the Detroit at New York, Chicago at Philadelphia, and St. Louis at Boston dates. It also forced postponement of the New York at Pittsburgh night game in the National.

Severe Blow
Cincinnati suffered a severe blow when it lost the services of Ewell Blackwell for an indefinite period. The Reds' elongated pitching ace injured his right shoulder and left the ball game in the sixth.

Blackwell, who has failed to go the route in four of his five starts, was charged with the loss as Boston's Bill Voiselle eked out a 4-3 edge for his third straight victory.

Brooklyn made use of 14 walks by Chicago pitchers to outlast the Cubs 9-5. Preston Ward, the dodger rookie first baseman, actually won the game with a triple off reliever Ralph Hamner after Hamner had loaded the bases with three passes in the sixth.

St. Louis Cardinals subdued Philadelphia Phils 7-4, in a night game for Howie Pollet's first triumph in three starts.

A three-run homer by Nipoy Jones was the big blow in the Cards' 10-hit attack.

DOLLY JACOBS—A tiny little lady who commands three huge Indian elephants and puts them through their paces, a feature act with Garden Bros. Circus coming to the Drill Hall, Exhibition Grounds, Peterborough, with two shows daily on May 10, 11 and 12. Circus is sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, and the net proceeds will be used for the wading and swimming pool at the Hamilton Park.

ANGLERS FIND FISHERMEN'S PARADISE—Hundreds of anglers from all parts of Canada and the U.S. have arrived in the lakelands of northern Ontario's Algonquin Park where the 1948 trout season is in full swing and the fish are biting with great fury. Algonquin Park, famed for its never-ending panorama of beauty, is one of Canada's greatest trout fishing areas. A typical Algonquin catch, a string of northern "squaretails," catch, is admired by the fishermen after their morning's sport. The fish caught run up to three pounds and more. From left, are: Vern Bower, Overseer Zev Nadon, Art Martin; back row, Louis Cotterchio, a ranger and Jerry Kendall.

Mrs. John Beatty Elected Roseneath WI President

ROSENEATH, May 8—(ENS)—The election of officers, presentation of annual reports by conveners of standing committees and an address by Capt. Cox of the Salvation Army, Cobourg, provided a full agenda at the meeting of the WI on Thursday afternoon. Capt. Cox was present to solicit the continued co-operation of the society in an appeal for funds for the Red Shield.

Capt. Cox gave a survey of the various aspects of the work. "The danger in the present trend in the lives of mankind makes it necessary for the Army to be continually on the alert," he said. "This year the Army has the responsibility of 286 on parole, a large increase over the past year, and the problem of changing the attitude toward life of these persons."

"Last year 1,900 persons right from the courts were placed in the care of the Army, and the greater majority were successful cases," he said. To quote Capt. Cox's figures, there are 28,000 SA officers in 97 countries, there are 5,726 centres where food, medicine and spiritual help are given; 34 million 7 hundred thousand meals were given away during the past year, and 11 and one-half million people slept under the Army roof last year. The big problem on the Army's shoulders now is re-adjustment, he said, and examples were cited to illustrate.

"The Army needs clothing, food and financial assistance, and because of contacts with Women's Institutes the income from rural districts was doubled last year."

Canvass in June

It was decided to plan the canvass for the S.A. at the June meeting, and a quilt was donated to the Army by the Society.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. G. Mouncey, president, and Mrs. Charles Sandcock, vice president, was in the chair, and introduced the speaker.

Cash Balance

Mrs. B. Thackeray secretary-treasurer, presented the financial statement showing receipts to be $166.58, expenses $122.26, and a balance of $44.32.

Miss Jessie Johnston, sunshine convener, reported 116 cards sent out.

Mrs. H. Taylor, for home economics, reported two roll calls (a) my favorite recipe, and (b) using your head to save your heels. Contest re Canadian dry goods, apron parades and demonstration on salad making. An address by Miss Isa Lewis "Food Conditions in England." Short course on "Salads the year round," studied by two local leaders, and later demonstrated at a meeting with 55 members and visitors present.

Mrs. J. W. Pacey, for agriculture, reported a roll call on an Ontario beauty spot, wherein Rice Lake and Orono led in responses. Discussed and entered the "Better Farm House" contest.

For Historical Research Mrs. C. Grigg reported a display of historical possessions and the story of each; reports of the 50th anniversary held at Guelph; opening of parliament; childhood memories of Christmas in England. Addresses (a) Newfoundland its historical and geographical background; (b) life of Barbara Ann Scott; (c) life of Philip Mountbatten.

Mrs. F. Brown, reporting for social welfare, revealed the branch is not only interested in the local community but in other lands as well. Speakers on this subject were, Miss Polson of the Ontario Hospital staff, Dr. Charlotte Horner spoke on tuberculosis; Capt. Cox of the S.A. of Cobourg also spoke.

Financial assistance from the branch was given to: Cobourg General Hospital $5; to S.A., Cobourg, $24.19; to Hospital for Sick Children $5. Ten food parcels weighing 10 pounds each were sent to Britain. The ill and aged were remembered at Christmas and 88 greeting cards went out to community folk.

Mrs. R. C. White, convener of citizenship, said that citizenship had been stressed at all meetings.

British Papers Rap Executions

LONDON, May 8—(CP)—Four British newspapers protested today against mass executions of persons convicted of murder in Greece—most of them for taking part in the 1944 Left-Wing uprising.

The Greek government announced Tuesday the executions of 152 persons, and it was reported another 830 are under death sentence. The following day the British government expressed concern over the executions.

The Daily Herald, Labor, said the "world has had enough of the doctrine of an eye for any eye and a tooth for a tooth. If the Greek government persists... it will deeply shock world opinion and further harm prospects of unity at home."

Lord Rothermere's Conservative Daily Mail demanded the Greek government "stop the blood." It added: "Stop it every where, in the east as well as in the west; in Russia as well as in Greece."

The Conservative Daily Telegraph warned of "much disquiet" by the executions, and said "it is highly distasteful... that even criminals should languish for years in jail and then be called upon to pay the forfeit for their crimes."

2 Policemen Fined

LONDON, May 8—(CP)—Two city policemen were each fined $25 on Friday as a sequel an altercation said to have resulted from one of the officers quitting work five minutes early. Fined by the Police Commission were Sgt. Wilfred Sadler and Constable Gerald Brennan. The Commission found that Sgt. Sadler struck the constable and that Constable Brennan used insulting language to a superior officer.

Fire In Mine Shaft

STELLARTON, N.S., May 8—(CP)—Fire at the 350-foot level of the Allan shaft here Friday forced 250 miners to the surface and forced a shut-down of operations for several days. The fire started in a section of the mine abandoned some time ago.

Gambling "Epidemic"

LONDON, May 7—(AP)—A church committee on gambling estimated Thursday that Britons are betting nearly £1,000,000,000 ($4,000,000,000) a year on horses, greyhounds and football. "The unadorned facts suggest that gambling in one form or another has become a national epidemic," the group said in an annual report.

British Research A-Stations Soon Completed

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, May 8—(CP)—Britain's experimental research stations for atomic energy will soon be completed, but it probably will be many years before their production is available for commercial purposes.

Supply Minister G. R. Strauss told the House of Commons a low-energy experimental pile has been in operation at Harwell, Berkshire, since August, 1947, and that a larger pile will come into operation this summer.

He described them as "basic tools for the study of the many problems to be overcome before atomic energy can be harnessed for industrial purposes." In response to questions he said: "It is considered it will be at least 10 years, and some hold considerably longer, before atomic energy can be used on any considerable scale for industrial purposes."

A report of correspondence between Government departments and a parliamentary committee investigating expenditures showed that a recommendation for an inquiry into organization of construction at Harwell had been prolonged down.

The committee suggested an investigation because of "prolonged delays" in the work. A memorandum by the supply and works ministries said that in spite of a number of difficulties "building times for these two major projects compare favorably with Canadian experience at Chalk River, where the labor force deployed was of the same order."

The ministries said they had never attempted to fix a hard schedule for completion of the project.

Strauss said the Harwell project was not the only essential part of Britain's atomic energy program before production could become general.

"The production of fissile material at Sellafield is a further essential preliminary. At the same time work is going ahead on planning alternative designs of experimental piles for power production."

5 Million Rural Recreation Program Listed By Kennedy

TORONTO, May 8.—(CP).—The Ontario election campaign continued to gather speed Friday night with CCF leader E. B. Jolliffe explaining his party's platform in a radio address and Agriculture Minister Kennedy announcing a new $5,000,000 rural recreation program.

Premier Drew is scheduled to made his first broadcast speech of the campaign tonight.

Mr. Jolliffe said his party proposed increased health and welfare services, including a contributory hospital insurance plan and increased old age pensions, and establishment of a forest resources commission.

He also pledged the CCF if elected, to setting up a department of co-operatives, to extension of rural hospital and recreation services, to low-cost automobile insurance sponsored by the province, to enactment of a trade union act to guarantee collective bargaining and union security and of a bill of rights aimed at preventing racial or religious discrimination.

Would Sign Agreement

He said a CCF government in Ontario would sign a Dominion-Provincial agreement conditional upon the Federal government carrying out its 1945 proposals for a national-municipal conference would work out a new sharing of responsibilities and revenues.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy, in the main Progressive Conservative speech of the night, said at Brampton that the Government planned to spend $5,000,000 in the next five years in grants to rural townships and villages for the creation of athletic fields, skating rinks, swimming pools and playing fields under new provisions of the Community Health Act.

He also announced his department will spend $450,000 this year on agricultural research, will establish a cost studies branch on June 1 and will launch a province-wide program of calfhood vaccination to eliminate Bang's disease from Ontario herds.

He addressed a convention in his home constituency of Peel which nominated him as its candidate in the June 7 election.

Harry C. Nixon, former Liberal Premier of Ontario, said in a Kitchener speech that the Drew administration has spent large amounts of money on highways but has not protected the investment for former Liberal regime made in roads. He claimed many highway surfaces are deteriorating.

Bonarlaw News

S. H. Gifford of London is spending a two weeks' vacation with his sisters, Mrs. Jennie Wellman, Bonarlaw, Mrs. A. E. Walker and Mrs. Roy Walker, Mar-mora.

Mrs. Gerald Burkitt received word that her mother Mrs. Hubble of Campbellford, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Call For Secession

OTTAWA, May 8.—(CP).—Petitions calling for the secession of western Canada from eastern Canada are being circulated among the beef cattle producers of Southern Alberta, Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East) said Friday night in the Commons. He said many are signing the petition. That indicated how deeply the ranchers felt about the government's beef-cattle policies.

COLD ASSIGNMENT—Lieut. Willard Beham, pilot assigned to the snowbound U.S. air force base at Chitose, Hokkaido, Japan, holds an 8-foot icicle as proof that his 49th fighter group is located mighty close to the north pole. The air force base, situated where the old Japanese 41st naval base used to be, lays claim to the fact that it is colder than any other base in Japan. All buildings at the airfield are connected by tunnels so as to eliminate walking in wintry weather.

Burt Declares Mitchell Should Be Fired

WINDSOR, May 8.—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King should immediately fire Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell or at least change his title to "Minister against labor," George Burt, Canadian director, United Automobile Workers (CIO) urged in a statement Friday.

The labor minister should, at the very least, be removed as far as possible from the Commons industrial relations committee now at work preparing Canada's new labor code for third reading in the House of Commons, Burt said.

"Mitchell was quoted in Thursday's newspapers as endorsing individual bargaining even where a union has been certified," Mr. Burt recounted. "By its very definition, collective bargaining means that a union bargains for the group."

"On the surface that might look like the infringement of the individual's rights which the Canadian Manufacturers Association and Humphrey Mitchell say it is, but how far would I get if I walked onto the floor of the House of Commons some day and started talking? I'd be thrown out and nobody would cry about my rights as a citizen being infringed."

"It is the same thing in industrial relations. The union is the democratically elected representative of the workers and no individual worker has the right to ignore the union and start talking for himself."

Musical Comedy Presented In Hastings

HASTINGS, May 8.—(ENS).—A musical comedy by the Chorallians of Campbellford, under the direction of Mrs. A. G. Watson, was presented in the church auditorium on Wednesday evening, sponsored by the Trinity Evening Auxiliaries.

The Rev. J. E. Glover welcomed the Chorallians back to Hastings.

The program opened with the National Anthem.

What will the CCF do for us?

SOME FOLKS SAY, "Your CCF first-term program sounds wonderful, but can it really be made to work?"

We can answer that question with a definite "Yes." Four years ago, the people of Saskatchewan elected a CCF government on a similar program... Today, that province has the best health program... the best labour legislation... the best farm security... the best auto insurance plan... the only bill of rights in Canada.

We can achieve as much... and more... here in Ontario.

Let's start NOW!

THESE ARE THE HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CCF FIRST-TERM PROGRAM:

Our health

We are pledged to provide inexpensive prepaid hospital care, more hospitals and health centres... (free treatment) for cancer, T.B. and V.D. ... no ruinous hospital and doctor bills

Our home

A provincial Housing Administration will build thousands of homes and rent them at a price we can afford... low-cost loans to buy our homes.

Our Auto Insurance

In Saskatchewan, thanks to CCF government enterprise, all motorists and pedestrians are protected in case of accident... no need to go to court... and they get more protection (for $6 per car than we get for $45 from private companies. CCF enterprise will give us similar low-cost insurance here...

Real help when we need it

For all old age and blind pensioners, $40 a month pension (plus free health services)... increased Mothers' Allowances... more day nurseries and child welfare services... comfortable homes for the aged.

Our hydro system improved

We'll rush new power plants... tap new sources of power... lower our light bill... sell electrical appliances at lower cost...

Our standard of living

Milk, bread and fuel bills will be lower. We'll do this by encouraging co-operative, and municipal distribution of these goods.

Farm security

We'll speed up rural electrification... pass the marketing act... encourage rural community centres... improve veterinary services... (aid conservation)... give maximum encouragement to co-ops...

Labour security

Laws that will assure collective bargaining and union security... (two weeks' vacation with pay)... a 40-hour week... better coverage and higher rates for workmen's compensation...

Mr. business man

The CCF will protect small business by providing reasonable rent controls for commercial premises...

Emily Pays $316 Costs For Sheep, Lambs Killed

OMEEMEE, May 8.—(Special).—Dogs attacking sheep cost the Township of Emily a total of $316 in April. Payments were made for the killing of five sheep, 16 lambs and injuries to four other sheep. There was also the cost of valuating the stock destroyed and payment for one dog shot disturbing sheep.

TAKES OVER BUSINESS—John T. Lane is continuing the funeral service of T. J. Lane & Son, 243 Hunter St. west, in his succession to his father, Thos. J. Lane, who died some weeks ago. Mr. Lane holds an Ontario license as a funeral director and embalmer. During the war he was on active service in Europe with the 12th Armored Division of the United States Army. His wife, prior to her marriage, was Bernice Martyn of Peterborough.

Lawyer Embargo In Labor Code Causes Division

OTTAWA, May 8.—(CP).—Controversial clauses of the Federal Labor Code, which impose a "cooling-off" period before any strike, slipped quietly past the Commons Industrial Relations Committee Thursday. But dissension broke out in a new quarter. The day's big battle developed over a government proposal to continue in the code a provision that has been in Federal labor legislation for 40 years: that lawyers are barred from conciliation board hearings except with the consent of all parties concerned. Lawyers and non-legal committee members were still tussling over that issue at adjournment, and are due for a return bout on the committee's resumption Tuesday.

Three members of the legal profession and two union men on the committee lined up against one another.

Neutral Stand

Labor Minister Mitchell took a neutral stand. He said he was not going to press too hard for passage of the embargo, even though the two big labor congresses wanted it.

"It goes against my grain to bar a man from any trade," the minister said.

Lawyers against the ban were Mr. Croll, Cecil Merritt (PC—Vancouver Burrard) and A. L. Smith (PC—Calgary West). Opposing them were Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East), a former street-car motorman; and Charlie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South), member of the United Mine Workers of America (CCL).

The lawyers said the proposed exclusion was "sheer prejudice" and "gross discrimination" against a class. Further, said Mr. Smith, the clause was so worded that it would bar such union men as Pat Conroy, national secretary-treasurer of the C.C.L., from appearing before a board on behalf of any union but his own the U.M.W.

Mr. MacInnis said the object was to prevent "legal quibbling" in labor disputes. Mr. Gillis said labor contracts involve economic, not legal, matters.

Liberal Rally Tonight

With Chas. H. Elliott as their candidate, Peterborough Liberals are asked to attend the first Saturday Night Rally this week-end in the Committee Rooms opposite the Lech store on George Street.

Liberal executive has taken the old Belmont Club rooms on the top floor as campaign headquarters.

Mr. Elliott accepted the Liberal nomination in the assurance that the forces of Liberalism would muster behind him, men and women, young and old, city and country people.

This is the first call of the campaign. Farmers are busy all week, but they can drop up for a while Saturday night. New residents of Peterborough will be welcomed.

Liberals Select B. W. Hughes

MARMORA, May 8.—(ENS).—Bernard William Hughes, 44, a former Toronto investment man and now employed at Marmora, where he was born, will be the Liberal party nomination for the provincial election in West Hastings. The choice was made at a meeting of the executive of the party in Belleville Friday night. A general party meeting earlier had voted to leave the choice to the executive.

The candidate is a son of the late William Hughes, Marmora lumber man. His mother lives at Belleville.

Since his return to Marmora, about 10 months ago, he has been active in Chamber of Commerce work there. He is chairman of the committee now raising funds for a new rink for the village.

Third Anniversary

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP).—Today will mark the third anniversary of the official end of the fighting in Europe. A statement of unconditional surrender was signed by German military leaders on May 7, 1945, at Rheims, France. An act of surrender, embodying virtually the same provisions, was signed in Berlin May 8, 1945. The May 8 date was officially designated as "VE-Day."

FLY MISSIONARIES—New flying service to shuttle missionaries to and from the interior of Borneo will be inaugurated by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lewis (above) of Aldershot, assigned to that field by the Christian Missionary Alliance. They are members of the Delta Tabernacle in Hamilton. He was former Ferry Command pilot.

ON TRAFFIC DUTY—Goderich boys' school patrol is now doing traffic duty in front of the town's public schools and at main intersections assisting children across the streets. At his post is Fred D. Vincent. The boys are instructed by the provincial police.

Saskatchewan Seething With Political Excitement

By GEORGE FORSTER

REGINA, May 7.—(CP).—Saskatchewan, expecting a provincial election this year, is seething with political excitement. Many people believe Premier T. C. Douglas' CCF government will call an election in June.

Traditional election month in Saskatchewan. If it does, writs must be issued within the next two weeks in order to give the required 34 clear days' notice.

If no election is announced within the next two or three weeks, it's considered a good bet that one will be held after the fall harvest.

In answer to a reporter's query the Premier replied this week that "we might even have to postpone the election until fall" because of weather conditions, and this strengthened the belief held in political circles that the Government wants an election next month.

Meanwhile, four parties are pushing ahead with nominations for the 52 seats in the Legislative Assembly and both CCF and Liberal sources say their organizations are ready for the campaign—expected to be one of the most bitter political fights in Saskatchewan history.

Possible Delay

Veteran political observers see two possible reasons for delaying the first major test of CCF policies until the fall: 1. Announcement of a federal election this summer, which most of them consider unlikely. 2. Further bad weather resulting in new delays in spring farm operation and bad roads which would make a campaign difficult.

Barring these, they expect an election in late June and mention the period from June 16 to 26 as the probable time.

Joint action by Liberals and Progressive Conservatives—suggested ever since 1944 when the CCF landslide to power—has gained new importance during the last month. In seven constituencies—including the important two-member urban ridings of Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw—formal and informal coal-

WELLAND, May 8.—(CP).—

Thirty-nine members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) were remanded for another week when they appeared in court Friday on charges arising from the attack on the collier Glenelg April 22.

Bail was reduced from $2,500 a man to $1,000 each. Free-lance photographer Larry Bocioletti, 19, arrested with 34 seamen during the attack, was also remanded.

The original charge of conspiracy to commit assault with violence, brought against five seamen's union officials including Great Lakes director Michael Jackson, was reduced to "conspiracy to damage the freighter Glenelg with intent to destroy or render it useless."

City's Jim Hawthorne Has Part In Broadway Show

By PAT USSHER.

NEW YORK, May 8.—(CP).—"Inside USA" has hit town with a smash. Any resemblance between it and John Gunther's best-seller is coincidental.

This lavish production of two acts and 18 scenes, supposedly depicting the life and times of the modern-day United States, owes only its title to Gunther's historical work, "Inside USA." It is hardly likely that that noted world traveller and news correspondent ever encountered some of the things that happen in Arthur Schwartz's lively but over-long production.

Beatrice Lillie is co-starred with Jack Haley in this musical which, a hit before it opened last week at the Century Theatre, now has an advance sale of $500,000. The Toronto-born Miss Lillie, in fact, "makes" the show; were it not for the presence on the stage of that veteran comedienne, who can stop a show by the mere lift of an eyebrow, "Inside USA" would be just another musical.

The show, incidentally, is the fourth vehicle in which British-born Jim Hawthorne has appeared since he left his Peterborough home two years ago. He first appeared in the Red Mill and then in Sweethearts. Before his current role, he was in Bonanza Bound, Hawthorne has a big part in the chorus and does well as a member of the singing duo at a Wisconsin Fair. It gives him, however, little scope to display his stage talents.

Sparkling Comedy

A superbly directed and acted revival of Ferenc Molnar's comedy "The Play's the Thing," has moved into the Booth Theatre. First shown here in 1926, "The Play's the Thing" deals lightly with the problem of an actress who is mightily embarrassed when her fiancée discovers she has revived a former romance with a middle-aged actor. Louis gives a polished performance as the playwright and who's who

Scripture—The Book of Esther

By Alfred J. Buescher

Vashti, queen of Ahasuerus, king of Persia, offended the king so that he dismissed her from court; then the king had letters sent to all parts of the kingdom demanding that fair young women be sent to appear before him so that he might choose a new queen. Esther, a young maiden, was his choice.

In Ahasuerus' court was a man named Haman, whom the king honored and to whom he gave power. All saluted Haman but the adopted father of Esther, Mordecai, who refused to bow before him. Haman therefore plotted against him and got the king to sign an edict that all Jews should be killed.

Mordecai informed Esther of the horror about to befall her people, and she promised to intercede with the king, even though she knew she was risking her life to do so if she went to him without being sent for. The king held out his scepter to her, however, and she told him of Haman's savage plot.

Ahasuerus loved Esther above all things, and he had also read in his archives that her adopted father, Mordecai, had once saved the king from assassins, he therefore exalted Mordecai, directed his anger against Haman, and had him hanged.

No Place To Be Neutral
Man Must Be Good or Evil

The unclean spirit findeth the house empty.—St. Mark 12:44.
A brief little known parable and repeated almost word for word by St. Luke. Yet it is very modern. It was uttered first of all by the Lord to His own religious leaders and nation. Their fathers had spent 70 years of captivity in Babylon. The fire of exile burnt out completely their national tendency for idolatry. They hated idolatry—the unclean spirit. As a nation they believe in the one living God. "Hear, O Israel the Lord thy God is one Lord" was the creed uttered by every devout Jew daily. The Jews were privileged above all other nations of the past to receive the revelation of the one living God. It was God's gift to them and that they should pass it on to the gentiles. They did not. They believed they were "a superior nation" intended to dominate the world.

Truly the unclean spirit of idolatry had departed from them. But their house was empty. They entered in the spiritual sins of hatred, pride and hypocrisy. Their spiritual sins blinded their eyes. When the incarnate Son of God born of the Virgin Mary came to them "they received Him not." They hated Him. When they saw God's goodness they called it evil. They crucified Him with the bitter words: "Let God now deliver Him, if God will have Him."

Let us not forget that they were a deeply religious people. They spent money freely in their worship. But the unclean spirits of hatred, pride and hypocrisy developed so strongly that they became as a nation a bitter burden to the Roman government. They were rebelling constantly. The Roman Government decided to cut out this cancer in the Empire. In AD 70 Jerusalem and the Temple were burnt down and the nation were carried away into bitter captivity. The Prophet's words came true: "The last state of that man is worse than the first."

Family Loyalty Claimed
One of Finer Ways of Life

Scripture—Esther
BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL
"Love of one's country" is the dictionary definition of patriotism. In every country of the world, millions of men have died for their countries. They have died to defend their people from aggression; or striven to free them from tyranny.

To plot against one's country is the vile crime of treason, punishable by death. To willingly give one's life for it, is considered on a par with giving one's life for another; or, in Jesus' words, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend."

In the time of which we are studying today the Jews were in exile, and their situation was most unhappy. They were homesick for their own land, and, as a displaced people, their position in an alien country was precarious, to say the least.

This was the situation in the third year of the reign of conquering King Ahasuerus, when he gave a great feast to neighboring princes and requested his queen, Vashti, to appear before his guests, "for she was fair to look upon."

Vashti did not choose to do as the king asked, so she became very angry and cast her out. Then he sent letters to all parts of the kingdom asking that fair young maidens from each province be sent to court so that he might choose the most beautiful for his new queen.

Attached to the court was a Jew named Mordecai. He had at one time discovered a plot to assassinate the king, had foiled it and brought the criminals to justice. This was written in the book of records, but apparently no one read them and the matter had been forgotten. Mordecai had adopted the orphan daughter of his uncle, a very lovely girl named Esther. Mordecai had her brought to the palace to appear before the king, hoping the Ahasuerus' choice would fall on her. King Ahasuerus did choose Esther, falling in love with her at once, and she became Queen Esther.

Also at court was a man named Haman who ranked high in the king's favor. He was selfish and ambitious, and was unscrupulous in obtaining what he desired. Haman demanded that all those first. Even so shall it be with this wicked generation."

You may be a deeply religious person, attending and supporting the Church. Yet you may be filled with spiritual sins. Ponder upon this word of wisdom from a news-paper writer (Aunt Het): "The three things that folks are most proud of are money, family and righteousness. The hateful ones are those proud of their righteousness."

In your religion attractive, revealing to your family and friends the life and goodness and patience of the indwelling Christ? The moving lesson of this parable is that you cannot remain neutral. Your soul must be filled with either evil or good. This unclean spirit enters without invitation because the house, your soul, is empty. Slowly and gradually he will change your character. Till finally the unclean spirit will look out of your eyes. Your eyes will be evil. On the other hand there stands One who waits for the invitation to enter. "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If any man will hear My Voice and open the door I will come in and sup with Him and he with Me. He will overcome the evil."

It maybe your experience some day that the unclean spirit, your besetting sin, will return and he will look into your eyes. You will be horror struck with his evil looks. You will wonder how he ever attracted you. Your eyes are now open. The Spirit of the indwelling Christ is filling your heart.

In a Spanish Church is a beautiful statue of Christ. You look at it but you are not attracted. The verges whisper: "You can see His beauty if you kneel and look up." What an inspiration. THAT CHRIST MAY DWELL IN YOUR HEARTS BY FAITH AND THAT YOU MAY BE FILLED WITH ALL THE FULLNESS OF GOD.

connected with the court bow low when he appeared, and most did, but Mordecai, the Jew, refused to do this man reverence. For this Haman hated Mordecai and plotted to rid himself of the man and all his people. He persuaded the king to sign an edict that on a certain date all the Jews in the kingdom should be massacred—men, women and children.

When word of this came to Mordecai's ears he "rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth with ashes, and went out into the midst of the city, and cried with a loud and bitter cry. Queen Esther, seeing him in such garb, sent for him to inquire the cause. Mordecai told her of the horror about to befall her people, and reminded her that she herself might become a victim of the edict. He asked her to intercede for them with the king.

If she appeared unbidden before King Ahasuerus, Esther told Mordecai, she might be killed—it was the law—unless the king held out to her the royal scepter to touch. Nevertheless she would go, "and if I perish, I perish," she declared.

Dressed in her royal robes, Esther came into the king's presence, and when Ahasuerus saw her he held out to her the scepter, and she touched it and was saved.

What did his queen want? Ahasuerus asked. Only that he would dine with her on the morrow and bring Haman with him. Haman was delighted at this sign of honor, and that night he had a great high gallows built near the palace, on which he planned to hang Mordecai.

That night Ahasuerus could not sleep, and to quiet himself he read the book of records. In it he found the account of Mordecai's heroism toward himself, and he asked what had been done to reward this man. Nothing, was the answer. Next day he asked Haman what should be done to the man the king wished to honor. Haman, thinking Ahasuerus meant himself, advised that the royal robes be put upon the man, the king's horse should be given him to ride, and even the royal crown should be placed on his brow. So do to Mordecai, the Jew, said the king.

The queen told Ahasuerus after a second feast with Haman present what dreadful fate Haman had plotted for her people. The king was furious. He had Haman hanged on the very gallows Haman had built for Mordecai. The edict against the Jews was revoked, and thus this Jewish girl became the heroine of a great true story exemplifying real patriotism. (Distributed by The King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
